Sudden and Distressing Death of a Young Man at Heber.

MOUNTAIN FIRES IN WYOMING.

An Amusing Affair in a Logan Court.—Grasshopper Pest in Idaho.—Other Newsy Paragraphs.

The postoffice at Hunter, a station on the Boise branch of the Union Pacific, has been discontinued. The Hunter people will hereafter receive their mail at Boise.

Millions of grasshoppers have taken up their abode in the gardens of the Nez Perce district, says the Lewiston Daily Golden. As they can devour no crops but some other damage their presence is not objectionable.

John Farrill, a young farmer, who lives near Blair, Idaho, was terribly injured on Sunday evening. He had attended service at the church near Blair, and mounted a colt to ride home. The vicious animal ran away, and some agent or one that stood in the road. The force of the collision was great. Man, horse and cow came to earth. While it is thought Farrill will die, he may recover.

Mr. Jas. P. Jensen, who resides in the northwest part of Logan, has been troubled for some time with a varicose vein on one of his legs. While working in the field near his residence, the vein burst, and Mr. Jensen very nearly bled to death. He was alone at the time it occurred, and when found shortly afterward, he was unconscious. He was conveyed to his home, and Dr. Snow was summoned. It was a very raw escape, but the doctor expects he will recover.

Laramie Boomerang: The mountain fires which are raging in the hills about us in all directions are daily becoming worse. They have already destroyed an incalculable amount of timber. Away in the northwestern part of the state there are ranges being fired by the hunter, even to such an extent that the attention of the government has been called to them. Parties have suggested to the government the propriety of entering into a contract with parties to put the fires out, but if there is no appropriation for this purpose nothing can be done. Besides the destruction of timber these fires beat the mountain valleys and seeding the snow, thus diminishing the water reservoir.

The Chinese of Boise City have decided to ignore the recent proclamation from the Six Companies association of San Francisco, commanding them not to comply with the provisions of the Geary Chinese law, and requesting each one to subscribe $1 to be used in testing the validity of the measure. The Six Companies have assured the Boise Chinese, in common with their countrymen throughout the United States, that if any of them were arrested because of their refusal to comply with the law they would receive assistance from the association, and other inducements to treat the American law with contempt have been held out to them. The local Chinese fail to see, however, that by pursuing this course they will be benefited in any way, and they will not heed the proclamation. H. C. Wyman, deputy collector of internal revenue, says that several of the Chinese merchants in Idaho City, who are contemplating trips to their native land, have applied to him for certificates of residence. They will immediately have their photographs taken, and will then proceed to San Francisco, where they will secure return certificates.—Idaho Daily Statesman.

The people of Heber were startled yesterday afternoon (Oct. 3), says the Wasatch Wave, when the news flashed over the town that Heber Giles was dead. It was sudden and unexpected. Mr. Giles, who was in his thirty-fifth year, had not been enjoying the best of health for several years. About seven years ago he was called to go on a two-years' mission to England. Since his return his health has not been so good as formerly. This summer he had been working in Park City until about three weeks ago, when he came home sick. Since then he has been confined to the house but his been able to be around most of the time. Yesterday he was feeling better and took a walk in the yard. A young woman who was washing clothes at the house saw him fall and immediately ran to his assistance, accompanied by Mrs. Giles. They supposed he had fainted and tried to revive him, but being unable to do so attempted to carry him to the house. By this time assistance arrived. Doctors were sent for but their services were unavailing.—Heber Giles was beyond all human aid. Deceased leaves a wife and five small children, the youngest being only three weeks old. He was the oldest son of George and Mary Giles and was born in Provo on the 23rd of February, 1857. He lived and died a member in full fellowship of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

A laughable case has just come before Commissioner Fletcher at Logan. Samuel Schenck of Providence sued Charles Cheekette for damages sustained by him during the course of a severe drubbing given him by Cheekette. The men quarrelled some time ago, and Schenck was knocked out in the first round, losing several teeth by the operation. Cheekette was arrested for battery, and fined by Commissioner Fletcher. It was thought that this would settle it, but it did not. Schenck brought suit for damages. The plaintiff, with the aid of an interpreter, unfolded a tale of woe a yard long. The loss of his teeth, that had all been extracted at one time, and by a method that was far from being painless, had caused him the pangs of indigestion. The poor man did look as if his attenuated frame had not been properly nourished for some years. He claimed that he had swallowed some of the teeth, and if the few that were saved from the wreck were fair specimens, it was no wonder he had indigestion. One of the attorneys had the interpreter carefully inspect the man's mouth, and the opposing attorney, thinking that some demonstration was insufficient, had the interpreter file up one at a time and put their fingers into the cavernous receptacle. The jurors looked as if they had caught Schenck's complaint. They hastily rendered a for verdict.—Logan Journal.
