

ANNA AND ITS PEOPLE.

An Island that Does Not Have a Population of 2,000 Has Now but 400.

An Interesting Letter from a Young Lady, Secretary of the Western Excursion Train and for the TERMINAL ANNA, Nov. 14, 1902.

My dear Anna, I am writing you a few lines to let you know that I am still alive and well. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you.

It is many years since I have seen you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you.

At this time I am in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you.

There are three things that I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you.

During the past three months I have been very busy. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you.

This is the way I am feeling now. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you.

The chief occupation of the native is to make a living. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you.

I will close by saying that I am very happy to hear from you. I am now in the city of Salt Lake, and I am very happy to hear from you.

With the best wishes to you and yours, I am, my dear Anna, very truly yours, your friend, J. W. Woodbury.
