BOY WAS KIDNAPPED

Carried Many Miles Out of the City By a Sheep Herder.

KICKED, BEATEN, MALTREATED.

Unpleasant Experience of Fourteen-year-old George Grigg—Escaped in the Darkness.

On Thursday morning George Grigg, the 14-year-old son of Thomas C. Grigg, suddenly disappeared from home. Night came and passed and he did not return. Not being a truant by, in the habit of staying away, there was great anxiety on the part of his parents lest some evil should have befallen him. The police were called upon to aid in unravelling the mystery surrounding his disappearance, but for his friends they could find no clue. There seemed nothing to do but wait, and wait they did.

Finally yesterday a message from the secretary was known by the lad himself when he returned home as suddenly as he had disappeared. He was almost heartbroken and worn out from the lack of sleep and want of food. He has lived quite at home the little chap added out the story of his experience. To a NEWS man he repeated it today. Here is the narration of his adventure in as follows:

About 8 o'clock Thursday morning a strange man living on horseback passed the Grigg residence on Fifth West street driving a band of sheep. George, who was doing his regular morning chores prior to going to school, with boyish curiosity was attracted into the street, and to the presence of being given a lesson in sheep was induced by the herder to driving his flock of wooly producers as far as the Cement Works in the southwestern part of the city. Before arriving at this point he had coaxed to get onto the horse behind the herder, who first on one pretext and then on another induced him to go on further. The sort of thing continued until Murray was reached and passed. Then the man became abusive and threatening. When he first spoke of returning home he was promptly given a kick or a cuff and sometimes both and I had to hold his tongue.

All day they traveled, the man driving and the boy walking and running here and there to head off or hurry up the sheep as occasion required. The man frequently drew from his pocket a well filled flask of liquor from which he drank freely at frequent intervals, and never he stopped to eat crackers and salmon but not a bite did he give the boy who was frightened into complete subjection. When night came on they were well into the point of the mountain beyond Draper. Sometime after dark a halt was made. The sheep were "bedded up," the horse staked out and a capacious fire made. Soon the man was overcome by the heat and effects of liquor and gathering his blankets about him "rolled in" for the night.

George, exhausted as he was, from hunger and his long walks also sank into a deep sleep. During the night, however, he got very cold and falling into a weakened state. He started up full of strange forebodings and immediately began to make his way. Soon he broke into a run. Fortunately he the northward and when daylight came he found himself in the vicinity of Dry Creek. About that time a Rio Grande freight train came along and by it he succeeded in locating himself. A moment later he was on the track wending his way homeward striving to hail Lake ere in the afternoon, hungry and weary and with an appetite like unto that possessed by a farm hand in harvest time.

He was unable to ascertain the name of the herder who carried him away but says he was about 25 years of age. The fellow claimed that he was going out into the Uquirrh ranges where he had other sheep. On the way to the Uquirrh ranges he saw a big jackass burrowing a hole under the

AFFIRM JUDGMENTS.

Two Opinions in Civil Cases From the Supreme Court Today.

AROUND THE DISTRICT COURTS.

Probate Matters Before Judge Hilton—Several Hearings Continued—Notes Among the Courts.

In the suit of Frank Thompson, executor of the last will and testament of James Thompson, deceased, and Joseph H. Lane, administrator with the will annexed of James Thompson, deceased, respondents, vs Moroni Sheen and Martha Sheen et al, defendants, and Richard Pilat, appellant, Associate Justice Bartch handed down an opinion in the Supreme court today affirming the judgment of the lower court.

In this case it is shown that on April 8, 1893, the defendants, Moroni I. Sheen and Martha I. Sheen, made their promissory note to James Thompson, since deceased, in the sum of $3,000, due in three years from the date thereof, with interest at 12 per cent, payable semi-annually, and at the same time made to him six interest coupon notes, each to represent the remaining 4 per cent interest, due and payable at stated periods as the interest would accrue. The coupon notes for $120 each and the coupon notes for $123 each, were all secured by one mortgage on a certain tract of land, and the six interest notes of $60 each were secured by another separate and distinct mortgage on the same land. James Thompson, the payee, died Feb. 2, 1893, and on March 8, 1893, suit was brought to recover the last mentioned mortgage, in which suit the parties plaintiff and defendant were the same as in the present case. The appellant in the present suit was made a defendant in both suits and claimed and set up in his answer in the first suit that upon the same land as that described in the mortgage.

In the first suit judgment by default was rendered on March 8, 1893, against the defendants except the before-mentioned appellant, and on the day following, upon a trial had, judgment was in favor of the plaintiff.

On March 12, 1895, the second suit was commenced to foreclose the mortgage on the principal sum and coupon notes.

After judgment was rendered in the first suit, but before any sale of the property was made, the two cases were consolidated on motion of counsel for the plaintiff, without opposition from any of the defendants. Thereupon the case was tried and judgment entered in favor of the plaintiffs and against all the defendants and so much of the property ordered to be sold as would be necessary to pay the judgment, interest and costs of one suit, the plaintiffs to pay the costs of the other.

Under this state of facts the first question arising under the appeal was whether the first suit was a bar to the second. The court will consider that the plaintiffs exhausted all their rights under the mortgages, in the first action, so far as the property was concerned, and that the plaintiffs ought to be dismissed the second action.

"It is true," says the opinion, "that section 3464 Compiled Laws of Utah, 1888, provides that there can be but one action for the recovery of any debt or the enforcement of any right secured by mortgage upon real estate or personal property, but we do not think that the case at bar comes within the letter and meaning of this statute. Here there were two separate mortgages securing separate debts, although on the same property, and with the legal requirement of the law we see no legal reason why they should not have foreclosed each mortgage in one suit, still as there was no sale under the first judgment and both cases were consolidated before the trial in the second suit, we do not think the lien of the mortgage foreclosed in the second suit was lost by reason of the first suit. One of the strongest objections to the second suit was, if one suit, where one will suffice, is not such a course leads to oppression by exacting unnecessary costs against the defendant. This has many of its force, in the present instance, by consolidating the two cases and taking the costs in one of them against the plaintiff. Where a mortgage brings two suits to foreclose two separate mortgages on the same property, when one would be sufficient, no will be allowed costs in one only, because in case of two or more mortgages on the same land, whenever practicable, but one suit should be brought to foreclose the same."

The affirmative judgment is concurred in by Justices Zane and Miner.

For Material and Services.

Justice Bartch also wrote an opinion which was concurred in by Justices Zane and Miner, affirming the judgment of the lower court in the suit of Morrison, Merrill & Co., plaintiff and respondents, vs D. W. Gamble, Joseph C. Williams and John Anderson, defendants and appellants, and the Interstate Salt company, defendant and appellant.

The opinion recites that the Interstate Salt company was the owner of a certain parcel of land and contracted with D. W. Gamble to erect a smokehouse and factory thereon; now that the plaintiff, under a contract with Gamble, furnished certain materials which were used in the construction. Gamble failed to make full payment for the materials and the plaintiffs so subcontractor, pursuant to an act of the Territorial legislature, approved March 12, 1886, filed and served notice of lien to claim a lien on the property. The suit filed this opinion was brought to foreclose the lien against C. Williams and John Anderson were made parties defendant and in their answers set up subcontractors' lien on the same property. After trial the case the court rendered judgment against the appellant company and in favor of the defendants Williams and Anderson, who are respondents in this appeal.

Before Judge Street.

Judge Street today made the following orders: In the civil division:

Thos. G. Webber, receiver, vs C. F. Loofbourow; motion of defendant to force states plaintiff upon the security of which taken under advisement.

Charles Bateman vs E. E. Rich; demurrer to complaint argued and submitted and fifteen days allowed to amend.

Alfred Bee vs J. W. Judge et al; demurrer to amended complaint overruled and ten days allowed for answer.

Fraser & Chainey vs Charles Crane et al; twenty days' additional time granted the defendant to prepare and serve statement on a motion for a new trial, and a stay of execution for the same length of time ordered pending the service of the statement.

The court took an advisement the motion to dismiss the appeal in the twenty-one cases against James Dwelshaug et al, consolidated with the Utah Mutual.

Probate Business.

The following probate business was done by Judge Hilton today:

Estate of Thomas M. Dickson; order made for final settlement of account.

Estate of Wm. H. Kook; W. F. Lynn appointed administrator with bonds at $2,000.

Estate of Joseph Weller; order made allowing settlement of final account and petition for distribution.

The hearings in the estates of Milton Atwood, Wm. Dougall, W. G. Young, Andrew Rabolt and Robert Smith were continued.

THE GREEN BAG.

Judge Hilton has postponed the sentencing of McCoy and Kanes till November 9th.

On Monday County Collector Sumner will have turned into the county fund $10,000.

Judge Hilton has gone to Washington, where he will stay a time in the United States Supreme court.

LOOK OUT BOYS.

The Officers Will Arrest all Persons Caught Destroying Property.

Although Halloween seems to have been pretty generally observed throughout the city last night, judging from the numerous overturned bridges, transposed gates, etc., the proper time for its proper observance is this evening.

No doubt the malicious mischief makers will be operating again tonight and all who contemplate such work, the NEWS would say, "look out!" Chief Pratt is authority for the statement that all the officers have been instructed to be in the station, every person who is found violating law by destroying property, and if no boys are caught at it, they may be given a chance to repair the damage done in jail, pending a hearing for their misdemeanor.

O. E. Calder, who has for the last seven years been employed as a clerk in the shoe department of Z. C. M. I., is now in the connection with the shoe trade and will take the management of the shoe department at Walker Bros. Dry Goods company.

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was invited I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, nausea, or bile, and other organic disease. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who has been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. While she was ill, I had to care for and feed nearly all their children, who were peculiarly subject to bilious attacks, and I found that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with Ayer's Pills at hand, I could easily give them such treatment as would prevent it taking in search, even all danger of sickness."—H. TO THE VOTERS in Salt Lake City and County.

If you desire to retain I. Dennis and Republican tickets, which carries with it Brown and Sowall for President and Vice President, put your "X" to the right of the 16 to 1 Reform, and do nothing more. This will be a ballot also for Republican State, Legislative, Judicial, and County offices.

If you desire to vote the straight Republican ticket, McKinley and Hobart for President and Vice President, put your "X" opposite the Reform, and do nothing more. This will be a ballot for the Republican State, Legislative, Judicial, and County offices.

Do not be misled by any statement to the effect that in voting for Bryan and Sewall you will more fully aid the cause of silver by voting any other part of the Democratic ticket. Bewarer, especially of Democratic election officers. They promise everything—give nothing.

It is of vital importance that a Republican Legislature be elected; that will not only send a free-silver man to the United States Senate, but will also be sent upon impaneled and instructed to pass laws essential to the welfare of Utah's people.

The favorable position of Hon. Joseph H. Brown (our candidate for Congress) on the silver question is undisputable. He is a sagacious business man. He will favor all Republican bills for the protection and benefit of wool, lead, sugar and other home industries. If you vote for and elect Brown, no advocacy of free trade, if unconscious, will mar a consideration of the same committee of ways and means which we have experienced under the same Democratic policies for the four years last past.

The Republican Judicial, Legislative and County candidates are as well known, competent and honest as any women. They are worthy your support.

Therefore we say to all non-partisan voters, regardless of politics, to those of them, who desire to promote the best government for all the people, put your "X" as before stated, and do nothing more, which will make a vote for the entire State, Legislative, Judicial, County and President Republican ticket.

Go to the polls early; urge your friends and neighbors to do the same. Have it to say that you voted for the first Presidential election ever placed on the issue in Utah.

You will have no difficulty in handling the ballot. It is men and women, the people, who do not care to give to any information you desire.

You will be as easy to pick out as a crack, to the polls, and to the Republican party, to vote the entire Republican State, legislative, judicial and county ticket. Women will remain at home and will aid in a consideration of our affairs, but will leave the party together for the interest of her people.

Principles are involved as well as offices. It remains now for you to exercise your share of the power that an almost misguided Nation has placed in your hands.

Republican County Committee,
G. S. HOLMES, Chairman.
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH,
Oct. 30 1896.

To the Public:

It has been circulated that my objection to counting the county treasurer's report on interest is Mr. Shurtliff, and of course I do not agree with my personal friend.

As to the first, Mr. McCornick never solicited me to do so, or even suggested I should be a candidate for office. As to the second, I do not know; I can give my personal attention to the duties of the office.

Respectfully,
STEPHEN H. LYNCH,
Candidate for County Treasurer.

A Card From Sheriff Hardy.

To My Friends:

Having been reported in certain quarters that I am opposing the election of Peter S. Condie, the Republican candidate for sheriff, I desire to say in reply that the report is absolutely false.

Mr. Condie having received the nomination from the Republican convention when a fair and open contest, he shall receive my most cordial support. I regard him as a competent man for the position of sheriff and I trust that my friends will, like myself, work for the election and the election of the entire Republican ticket.

HARVEY HARDY,
