BREVITIES.

The Methodist Protestant knows of a case where sponge-cake and wine has been used, instead of bread and wine at the communion table.

The city of Trier in Germany, formerly the seat of one of the Electors of the German Empire, will celebrate, in the coming year, the thousandth anniversary of its union with Germany. On the 27th of June, 870, at the division of the Empire of Charlemagne among his grandsons, it fell to the share of Ludwig, the German.

A Dr. Bernier, in Paris, is bleaching noses to which the treacherous influence of liquor has imparted a ruddy glow. He does it by means of electricity. He has restored a lady of the highest rank to happiness, changing her nose, a blooming rose, into a delicate lily, and this case is causing a great sensation in the scientific world. Dr. Bernier is having his method patented.

A singular examination took place recently in Berlin, where a number of candidates applied for diplomas to qualify them for the office of executioner. The candidate, in fact, at present, need not be familiar with all modes of torture, but he must know how to read and write, and be able to describe an execution minutely, and it is essential for him to know which vertebrae of the neck to hit in order to bring about instant death.

A La Crosse gentleman becoming satisfied that some person or persons were stealing his wood, thought to fix them by boring a few sticks and charging the same with gunpowder. He did so, but the wood-pile fell down and mixed the wood so that one of the marked sticks got into his own stove. He doesn't know who stole the wood, but he is satisfied about the way it "goes off." He bought a new stove and will burn coal after this.

The English, who, owing to their better roads, are enabled to make more use of the velocipede than we are, have invented a new bicycle. In this machine the old system of working with the feet is dispensed with; the weight of the body being thrown alternately on the saddle and on the footboard becomes the moving power, and the machine glides forward with ease and rapidity. Elegance is not wanting in the new machine, the rider rising and falling gracefully in the saddle. Ladies can also ride with the same ease as on horseback.

Rev. Thomas Allen, who was the first minister of the church in Pittsfield, Mass., settled in 1764, was at the battle of Bennington, and carried a musket. Once, when asked whether he actually killed any man at Bennington, he replied that he did not know; but, observing a flash, often repeated from a certain bush, and that it was generally followed by the fall of one of Stark's men, he fired that way, and put the flash out.

The following, by Charles Dickens, is beautiful beyond comparison:—"She died," said Polly, "and was never seen again, for she was buried in the ground where the trees grow." "The cold ground?" said the child, shuddering again. "No, the warm ground," returned Polly, "where the ugly little seeds are turned into beautiful flowers, and where good people turn into angels and fly away to Heaven."

A Chicago paper tells a story of election night, which it thinks shows the enterprise of Young Chicago. A party of boys were seen getting together the materials for a bonfire. When they were asked what was the news, they replied they had none. "We don't dabble in politics. We built the fire so that when the news comes we can sell it out to the side that beats!"

I discover a fallacy, whereby I have long deceived myself, which is this: I have desired to begin my amendment from my birthday; or from the first day of the year, or from some eminent festival, so that my repentance might bear some remarkable date. But when these days were come, I have adjourned it to some other time. Thus, while I could not argue with myself where to start, I have almost lost the running of the race. I have resolved thus to befool myself no longer. I see no day equal to to-day; the instant time is always the fittest time. Grant, therefore, that "to-day I may hear thy voice." And if this day be an obscure one in the calendar, remarkable in itself for nothing else, may it be remarkable as the day of my conversion.—Thomas Fuller.

A casual visitor at one of our excellent city schools was somewhat surprised the other day to see a boy standing on the floor, holding in his mouth a piece of lath about six inches long. Our informant gazed at the novel spectacle in wondering silence. The boy was solemn as an owl and his eye wandered scrutinizingly around the room, while the quiet scholars scarcely glanced at him. At length the youth called the attention of the teacher to the fact that one of the scholars was whispering. The delinquent was called up and relieved the lath holder, and began looking for some offender to take his place. We recommend this method to teachers troubled with noisy scholars; it certainly worked to a charm in the case above mentioned. This is the latest plan out, and decidedly the best.—Peoria Transcript.

Seat yourself at a table. Attach a piece of metal (say a shilling) to a thread. Having placed your elbow on the table, hold the thread between the points of the thumb and forefinger, and allow the shilling to hang in the centre of a glass tumbler. The pulse will immediately cause the shilling to vibrate like a pendulum, and the vibrations will increase until the shilling strikes the sides of the glass; and suppose the hour of experiment to be seven or half past seven, the pendulum will strike the glass seven times, and then lose its momentum and return to the centre. If you hold the thread a sufficient length of time, the effect will be repeated; but not until a sufficient length of time has elapsed to convince you that the experiment is complete. We need not add that the thread must be held with a steady hand, otherwise the vibrating motion would be counteracted. At whatever hour of the day or night the experiment is made, the coin will not be the same.
