

SKYPILOT SIGN ON WATER RATES

Council Finds a Way to Get Money for "American"
Extravagance.

CORPORATIONS ARE FAVORED.

The Man With a Four Room Cottage
Will Pay the Freight—Salaries Raised Again.

After overriding the opposition, the "American" members of the city council passed an ordinance last night, increasing the water rates, which places the burden on residents and gives relief to the corporations. This ordinance will increase the city's revenue approximately $25,000 a year, of which it is likely to use to cover the extravagance in the department. It provides for fixed rates of six cents for each 1,000 gallons for commercial use and seven cents for each 1,000 gallons for domestic use. The provisions increase the monthly minimum meter rate from 25 to 60 cents by establishing a flat rate of $4 a year for a four-roomed house for domestic use. The ordinance also requires the residents and not the city to pay the expense of erecting the water mains from the curb line. This will save the city about $10,000 a year, it is estimated.

When the ordinance was called for consideration, Councilman Hall objected to its passage because it showed rank discrimination and class legislation, in establishing a lower rate for corporations than for the citizens of the city. In view of the fact that the citizens maintain the waterworks, he argued that they should have what benefits there might be and at least should be entitled to the same rate as corporations.

Mr. Hall was the only member who voted against the ordinance on its final passage. It will take effect as soon as it is approved by Mayor Brandford.

WIDE TIRE ORDINANCE.

The wide-tire ordinance, which was presented by Street Supervisor Raleigh, was passed after it had been amended in several places. It provides that three-inch tires shall carry not more than 1,500 pounds, three and a half-inch tires, not more than 2,000; and four-inch tires, not more than 3,000 pounds.

A protest was entered by citizens living on the west side against the ordinance. The ordinance would place a tax of 150 feet north of South Temple street. The council referred the matter to the street committee and it will be taken up with the railroad officials Thursday night.

Land and water commissioner Frank Matthews sent a communication to the council asking it what course he should take to erect aqueducts from the city property in the old Jordan canal bottom. According to his letter there are 19 persons who are using the ground for various purposes. The case was sent to the city attorney for instructions.

Refunds amounting to $5,828.99 on the east Second South street paving extension and $4,367.51 on sidewalk extension 169 were authorized. Silver Bros. and 59 others petitioned the council to build a fire station in the neighborhood of Eighth South and Eighth West streets. It was referred to the committee on fire.

LIBERTY WARD REUNION.

The members of Liberty ward had an enjoyable reunion in their assembly hall Monday. Dinner was served at 2 p. m., the Relief society taking charge, assisted by the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement association. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and lanterns. The Stars and Stripes adorned the walls with George Washington's picture covered with flowers. A short program was rendered after which dancing took up the remainder of the evening.

DOGS OVERRUN CITY.

Complaints by the score are coming to police headquarters about the damage done by dogs, especially in residence districts of the city where handsome flower beds and lawns are practically destroyed, and the dog catcher and the license dog tax collector are coming in for a share of every criticism for their alleged neglect of duty in the matter.

It is asserted by the police that there are more stray, unlicensed and licensed dogs running at large at the present time in this city than ever before, and that a vast amount of damage is done daily by the canines.

Chief of Police Barlow says that if the proper authorities do not take some action in the matter he will do what he can to see that the nuisance is abated.

(Special to the "News.")
Provo, Feb. 24.—Provo comes down to the mass prohibition convention of Republicans tonight 40 strong, delegates and alternates, with Dr. George H. Brimhall as chairman of the delegation. A large and enthusiastic meeting of Republicans was held in the tabernacle last evening for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention to be held in the Salt Lake theater this evening. City Attorney Daniel H. Thomas was elected chairman and H. C. Hicks secretary.

After reading the call for the meeting by the secretary, Chairman Thomas briefly stated the object. Joseph R. Keeler was the first speaker. He reviewed the action of the legislature on prohibition legislation and spoke in favor of prohibition as against local option or "strict regulation." He stated that the purpose of the convention being to draw up a memorial to be presented to the legislature asking that a prohibition law be placed on the statute books this term. He suggested that a delegation of not less than 30 be sent from Provo.

James G. Duffin, a prominent business man of this city, introduced the following resolutions:

"Whereas, The charge has gone forth that the Republican party has formed an alliance with the saloon element of this state, to the extent of obligating itself to oppose anti-saloon legislation;

"Whereas, The Inter-Mountain Republican, as an organ of the Republican party, has since the last election, changed its entire front on this question, and treated with contempt loyal Republicans who have dared to favor state-wide prohibition; and by its attitude and efforts has virtually assumed to rule a majority of the Republicans out of the party; and

"Whereas, A certain combination of individuals has assumed unwarranted domination over the party to the extent of interfering with the carrying out of the wishes of an overwhelming majority of the people, as expressed by their petitions for state-wide prohibition; therefore,

Resolved, That we deny any alliance between the Republican party and the saloon element, and we further deny the right of any man or men, without due authority, to pledge the Republican party against prohibition;

We also declare the present policy of the newspaper referred to as being destructive of the unity and strength of the party;

And, finally, we do solemnly protest against the compromise of the few who are fighting prohibition legislation in the name of the Republican party, along lines at variance with the wishes of the people.

TIME FOR PEOPLE TO ACT.

James G. Duffin, A. L. Booth, F. E. Brown, Rev. J. Challen Smith and George A. Startup spoke strongly in favor of the resolutions.

Mr. Startup said that a legislator had written him, in criticism of his published views on prohibition, as follows:

"You have a very unfortunate way of referring to certain men in this state, whose ideas have always prevailed, and it is not going to do you any good." Mr. Startup thought that when legislators assumed such superiority, it was time the citizens got into politics to protect their rights.

Walter Adams wanted information. If any of the party leaders had sold out the people to the saloon element, he wanted to know it, and, although he was not in favor of prohibition, he would make the resolution stronger; but if it was not true, he was not in favor of the resolution. Mr. Duffin read the resolution again and showed there was no charge against the party leaders. The party wanted to take a stand that the people might know where it stood. If he were speaking from the point of view of a politician he would consider it good policy to advocate prohibition, because the people wanted it; but there were higher things involved than politics—the protection of the young from the great evil of drink.

NO ROOM FOR DOUBT.

W. Lester Mangum was not in favor of running matters. He did not think anyone could doubt that the leaders were interested in this anti-prohibition movement, after noting the change of front on the part of the Republican organ.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted. The following delegates were elected: George H. Brimhall, J. Challen Smith, Clarence Jarvis, John Stewart, J. G. Duffin, E. H. Hinkley, J. M. Jensen, J. R. Keeler, A. L. Booth, George A. Startup, L. H. Hallgren, Mrs. Louisa McBride, Andrew Knudsen, Mrs. Mary M. Boyden, George Povelson, Mrs. Hattie Buckner, Mrs. John D. Dixon, George W. Gee, Josiah R. Hudson, Mrs. G. E. Anderson, D. H. Thomas, A. C. Lund, Mrs. Thora Hafen, H. C. Hicks, Mrs. J. M. George, George B. Taylor, S. P. Eggerston, J. E. Frith, Arthur N. Taylor, Mrs. E. E. Hinkley.

Beautiful vocal selections were rendered by the Schubert quartet, Miss Lillian Evans and male quartet. The delegates met after the meeting and elected Dr. George H. Brimhall chairman.

COOKE PLEASURES AUDIENCE.

A rather small but pleased audience listened last night in the First Methodist church, to a clever and humorous literary entertainment by Edmund Vance Cooke of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Cooke is known as "The Ohio Poet." He has published several volumes abounding in highly entertaining stories, facts set forth in homely phrase and with a quaint philosophy. The commonplace of life is depicted with pleasing turns of thought, and taking word-portraits of every day experience. The evening was occupied with recitations from the author's own writings in a versatile way with facile adaptation to the matter in hand that was appreciated by the audience. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Fourth league of the church.

"GOD GIVE US MEN!"

(By John G. Holland.)

God give us men. The time demands strong minds, great hearts, true faith and willing hands; Men whom the lust of office does not kill; Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy; Men who possess opinions and a will; Men who have honor; men who will not lie. Men who can stand before a demagogue And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking; Tall men, sun crowned, who live above the fog In public duty and private thinking; For while the rabble with their thorn worn creeds Their large professions and their little deeds, Mingle in selfish strife; let Freedom wreathe! Wrong rules the land, and waiting justice sleeps!

Hamilton School Has a "Poet Lariat"

Dashing Off Verse at the Drop of Hat.

Gerald Hammond, whose schoolmates call "the poet lariat" of the Hamilton school, where he is in the B class of the eighth grade, has made a bid for lasting fame. Gerald, his classmates say, can write verse at the drop of the hat and sometimes with less than that to start him off. That he is only a boy, and not a prodigy, is attested by his uncontrollable desire to whisper in school and indulge in all other youthful pranks which make of school days measures sweeter in older years.

At the Lincoln day exercises held in the Hamilton school, Gerald was on the program to read an original poem on the ground superintendent. It was a creditable effort and one worthy of one more advanced in years. Upon the conclusion of the reading, the youthful poet was asked to stand up and the veterans present who were taking part in the program shook him by the hand and congratulated him. In serious vein his verse is no less creditable than when running to lighter thought.

A recent rule of the schoolroom provided by Miss Leach, the B class is to the effect that the pupil who whispers once must go to "the office," there to make amends to the principal. Twice offending, the delinquent is suspended for bad conduct. It appears that Gerald could not refrain from indulging in

COURT NEWS.

TO IMPEACH MAIN WITNESS.

Thomas Vance Will Make a Last Effort to Save Himself.

In an effort to impeach Mrs. Amanda Vance Ward as a witness and refute her testimony in the case of Thomas Vance, convicted of wife-murder, six affidavits were filed in the Third district court yesterday to support the condemned man's motion for a new trial. The affidavits are from neighbors and acquaintances of the two Vance families. The documents attack the reputation of Mrs. Ward, as well as her veracity. Four of the affidavits state that they would not believe her under oath. The affidavits are: Frank H. Gold, Clara L. Richards, John Abbott of 1742 South Eighth West street, and Mrs. Clara Wunderlich.

After setting forth that he lived next door to the family for three years, Abbott declares that Mrs. Ward's reputation for truth and veracity is bad in the community and that her testimony is not to be depended upon. In his affidavit he says that he often heard Mrs. Ward coughing and drilling Lena Vance, the eldest daughter of the convicted murderer, as to what she should testify to at the trial.

That Mrs. Ward coached Mrs. Vance in her dying statement, is the declaration made by Mrs. Wunderlich in her affidavit. The other affidavits are of a similar character.

The motion for a new trial will be set next week in Judge Armstrong's court. Atty. Fred and Judge Maginnis of Ogden will argue the motion.

SHEPHERD CASES UP AGAIN.

Judge Marshall Grants New Trial in Sheep Damage Suits.

In the federal court yesterday Judge John A. Marshall granted the motion of plaintiffs for a new trial in the cases of Charles J. Shepp and Frederick D. Jaynes against the Utah Consolidated Mining company and the United States Smelting company. The actions were brought to recover $24,850 in each instance for the loss of sheep alleged to have been due to the actions and damages from defendant companies' smelters; $14,850 was demanded in each case for actual damages and $10,000 as punitive damages.

The plaintiff lost the case, but claimed that the verdict was adverse to them because of the alleged fact that the juror entirely misunderstood the scope and meaning of instructions given them by Judge Marshall. It is said that the jury was about evenly divided, when after being out several hours, they returned to the court and asked for additional instructions. It was this latter instruction that the plaintiffs maintain was misunderstood, several of the jury having made admissions to this effect.

quarters. Detectives are working on the case and trying diligently to locate the men who are "stealing the queen." The coins are made of blabitt metal, the thing being the impressions of letters almost perfect, but the coins are lighter than those sent out by the government. They are placed with gold and have an appearance calculated to deceive almost anyone.

The first bogus coin of the kind appeared last Saturday night when it was passed at the Union county store, 100 South State street. Last night another was passed at the Oregon Store, 100 and Union Pacific hotel office at Main and Second south streets, and another was located at the Harding mercantile store, 23 West South Temple street. Both were exactly like the one found Saturday night at the county store.

The case is in the hands of Chief of Detectives Roberts and he has his entire force of men at work trying to locate the men who passed them.

PETITION IN PROBATE.

John A. Forshe, of 314 Jefferson street, son of Mrs. Julia A. Forshe, who died in Salt Lake, Aug. 7, 1908, has filed a petition in the probate division of the Third district court to be appointed administrator of her estate. It consists of lot 27, block 2, Walker's subdivision of block 5, plat A, and is valued at $500. The petitioner names his father and two sisters as the other heirs to the estate.

ROW IN OFFICIAL FAMILY.

Samuel I. Goodman, city license assessor and inspector, refused to pay his poll tax yesterday because he paid his assessment to the "American" party campaign fund last election. He was served with a summons, however, at the request of the street supervisor, and had to pay $5 instead of $3, as required by law. Goodman declares that Raleigh collected his poll tax because he assessed and collected a city license from Raleigh & Harmon, a firm of transients, of which the street supervisor is a senior member.
