TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 238. TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1896, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXIX

DELEGATES GATHER.

A Large Attendance at the Indianapolis Convention.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S BOOM.

The Selection of Candidates to Be Given to the Middle, Western and Doubtful States.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—Delegates to the national gold Democratic convention came in at a lively rate last night and this morning. They are bringing a throng of visitors in their wake. Indications point to as large an attendance as anticipated.

The boom for the nomination of Cleveland started last night by Hugh Wallace of Washington, is being discouraged by the President's friends who say he would not accept. Comptroller of Currency Eckels favors Vilas's nomination. Oathwaite of Ohio says he does not think Cleveland will accept the nomination.

A discussion is developing in the East which is considered safe for gold, to allow the Middle, Western and doubtful border states to select candidates.

The Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee and Alabama delegations seemed to be for Watterson who seems to have undoubted lead. Should the nomination go to Watterson, a northern man will be named for Vice President, probably Bragg, of Wisconsin, Judge Moran of Chicago, or David Lawyer of Minnesota. Some of Cleveland's friends with the memory of Watterson's famous prediction before the Chicago convention in 1892 that if Cleveland were nominated, "Democracy would go through a slaughter house to the open grave," ringing in their ears, are inclined to push Vilas forward. Efforts are being made to induce Senator Gray of Delaware to reconsider his distinted decision not to accept the nomination, but apparently without success.

THE BRYAN PARTY.

Prominent Republicans Visit the Democratic Nominee.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 1.—The Bryan party started for Columbus over the Big Four road at 10:45 this morning, escorted by a delegation of politicians who came here yesterday to attend the meeting. Before leaving the city Mr. and Mrs. Bryan held a short reception at Hollenden. The first persons received were thirty or forty members of the Bryan club of Republicans. In the party were Judge S. C. Parks, delegate to the Republican national convention in 1860, a life long friend of Lincoln who appointed him to the supreme bench of Illinois in 1862, Judge J. H. MacMath, appointed minister to Morocco by President Lincoln; Col. J. F. Herrick and ex-Senator W. H. Hackney. A big crowd followed the party to the station. The train will arrive at Columbus about 2:30.

Convention of Illinois Republicans.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 31.—The state convention of the Illinois League of Republican clubs met in this city today. Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania who will deliver the principal address, arrived last night. A telegram from Congressman McCleary announces that he will arrive this afternoon. The morning session of the convention was devoted to routine business, the afternoon session to the election of officers and the address of Governor Hastings. In the evening there will be a parade followed by a meeting. Quite a fight is on for the state presidency, the only office for which there is at present any contest. Ora Chapin, Chicago, Ira Copley, Elgin, and Judge C. W. Raymond of Watseka, the present president, are all after the place.

In Charge of the Polish Republicans.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Mr. Meyendorf of New York has arrived in Chicago to take charge of the Polish bureau at Republican national headquarters under the direction of Julius Goldschmidt of Wisconsin, who is managing the German bureau. Mr. Goldschmidt has just finished the organization of a German bureau at the New York headquarters, which have been placed under the management of Prof. H. W. Diedrich.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 1.—A state warrant has been issued for the arrest of "Paddy" Purtell, the pugilist who vanquished Jimmy Ryan of Cincinnati, on Sunday. He is charged with abandonment of his wife and baby, who are in destitute circumstances in this city. As a result of Sunday's fight, Purtell and his managers carried off a purse of $750.

Withdraw From the Pacific Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Two more foreign insurance companies have announced their withdrawal from the Pacific coast, owing to poor business. They have maintained general offices in this city for many years, but hereafter all Pacific coast business will be transacted from Chicago.

Northern Pacific Receivership.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 1.—The Northern Pacific receivership after an existence of three years and a few days was ended at midnight when all property of the former Northern Pacific Railroad company passed under the management of the new Northern Pacific Railway company. The officers at this end who go out with the receivership are Receiver A. F. Burleigh, General Manager G. W. Dickinson, Western Counsel J. H. Ashton, Second Vice President C. H. Prescott, Assistant Superintendent of Telegraph Lines J. Q. Mason and Assistant Purchasing Agent S. D. Mason. W. G. Pearce, for four years past assistant general manager at St. Paul, has arrived and will at once assume the duties of assistant general superintendent with headquarters here. He will also perform the duties heretofore assigned to the assistant purchasing agent. Crowley and Grosscup succeed Ashton and Chapman as western counsel, their jurisdiction covering all lines west of Fargo.

A Record Broken.

OMAHA, Sept. 1.—The fast passenger train service record in the West was broken by the Union Pacific's overland, limited, last night. The regular schedule time of the train is over 50 miles an hour including stops. Yesterday the train was an hour late at Grand Island, 150 miles from Omaha. With sixteen coaches the time was fully made up before the train reached Omaha.

The Bulgarians did not suffer any losses. The Bulgarian government is reinforcing the troops on the frontier.

REBELLION IN FORMOSA.

The Japanese Still Struggling With the Insurgents.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 1.—According to Japanese advices received today Formosa continues in a state of rebellion against Japanese rule. Japanese forces are kept constantly on the alert in an endeavor to subdue the rebels. Discussing this state of affairs the Japan Daily Mail urges the immediate suppression of uprisings and says:

"There are certain foreign countries that have long turned longing eyes upon Formosa, and are most anxious to gain possession of it. If in view of these repeated disturbances and failures to administer the island the world decides that Japan is not competent to hold it, what a bitter disgrace it will be to her."

Continuing the paper says: The only way in which the government can raise funds for the suppression of disorder and to bring about peace is "to take a really bold step, raising a loan, domestic and foreign, on security of the island. If Formosa be placed in pledge there would be no difficulty in obtaining 100,000,000 yen, for foreigners would be delighted to go into such an investment."

AN OCCASION OF REJOICING.

The Arrival of the First Steamer of the Seattle-Oriental Line.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 1.—The Miike Maru, the first steamer of the new Seattle Oriental line, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha arrived last night. The arrival of the steamer was made the occasion of a great celebration in which all of the commercial interests of the city joined. The new steamship line will work in conjunction with the Great Northern and when fully equipped it is believed that it will prove a formidable factor in the Pacific carrying trade.

SECRETARY SMITH RETIRES.

His Successor Expected to Take Charge this Week.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Secretary Smith closed his administration of the interior department today and retired from the cabinet. Today the secretary devoted almost the entire time in taking leave of his associates and employes. When ex-Governor Francis will arrive from Missouri is not yet definitely known, though it is thought it will be before the end of the week. Secretary Smith will leave for Atlanta this evening or tomorrow night, leaving Assistant Secretary Reynolds in charge.

All important matters have been disposed of, so Francis will have a clear field to begin with. The record for volume work performed the past three and a half years is probably ahead of any period in the history of the department. Secretary Smith has enforced the strictest civil service rules, making merit the sole ground of promotion. He unhesitatingly discharged his own appointees if their work was not well done and the face of the department all over the country has been brought to a high state of proficiency.

In the general land office the work is now practically up. This has involved not only the disposition of current work, but a large quantity of accumulated work.

A Powder Plant Explodes.

ALTON, Ills., Sept. 1.—Part of the Equitable Powder plant, three and a half miles east of Alton, blew up shortly before 3 o'clock this morning. Three persons lost their lives. The shock was felt for 20 miles. In Alton buildings were damaged.

Merchants decline to cash the checks with which the men were paid Saturday.

THANKS TO LI HUNG

American Ministers Call Upon China's Great Statesman

AND EXPRESS THEIR GRATITUDE

For the Protection Accorded Missionaries in the Empire—His Reply.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Thirty ministers representing the American missionary societies headed by Rev. F. F. Ellinwood, called upon Li Hung Chang today and presented him an address, thanking him for his interest in the missionaries in China. The address, which is quite long, says that in no nation of the world have the American missionaries received more just and even generous treatment than in China. The address, after thanking Earl Li for his proclamation in behalf of the missionaries issued by him in 1891, says it is extremely gratifying to observe at the present time that the disinterested spirit of the missionaries seems better understood and more appreciated in China than ever before. The address refers to the work in behalf of the Chinese here and says that were Earl Li to visit the Pacific coast, he would see the homes and refuges which, with the co-operation of the Chinese consul general, the Christian women on that coast have provided for unfortunate Chinese girls, "sold into debasing slavery." The address closes with the expression of satisfaction that the missionaries had an opportunity to thank his excellency in person and hopes he may long be spared.

Li Hung Chang responded by thanking the ministers for the kindly expressions, adding that his government had only done its duty in protecting the missionaries. In conclusion he thanked the missionaries for their efforts to stop opium smoking which he characterized as a curse, and expressed gratitude for their prayers for his recovery from the wound inflicted by his Japanese assailant.

IRISH CONVENTION.

Efforts to Induce the Various Factions to Unite.

DUBLIN, Sept. 1. [Copyright by Associated Press.]—At the first session of the Irish national convention today it was estimated that the Irish race throughout the world was represented by 600 to 700 delegates. It was hoped that at least 1,000 more delegates would arrive during the day. The United States, Canada, Australia and South Africa are represented.

Charles Dillon expressed the opinion that the success of the convention was already assured and the attendance would be twice as great as they dared to hope for. He said the delegates present represented four-fifths of the Irish nationalists and there was a good number of Parnellites present in spite of the opposition of the leaders of the latter party.

A meeting of forty foreign delegates took place last night, thirty-five being from the United States, at which it was proposed to appoint a committee of seven foreign delegates to personally interview Messrs. Redmond, Healy and Dillon with the object of inducing all factions to support one leader. It was suggested that all donations from all sources should be stopped in case the warring factions failed to come to an understanding. The resolution was stubbornly opposed by Mr. J. Ryan of Philadelphia, who insisted that action should be postponed until tonight. After a heated discussion of two hours the meeting dispersed without having accomplished anything.

The convention was called to order at noon by Justin McCarthy, M. P., who nominated Most Rev. Patrick O'Donnell D. D., bishop of Raphoe, for permanent chairman. The bishop was unanimously elected amid the wildest applause. Bishop O'Donnell read a message from the pope in which his holiness prayed that the Irish leaders might end their dissensions. The chairman then specially welcomed the delegates from the United States and Canada and delivered an address, pleading for unity.

Hanged for Murder.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 1.—Joseph Gross was hanged this morning. His crime was the murder of Teresa Bobak. He also shot himself but the wound was not serious.

THE EVIL AND ITS REMEDY.

Senator Teller Addresses a Large Audience On This Subject.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. Aug. 31.—Senator Henry M. Teller delivered tonight in this city the only speech which he will give in the state of Colorado in this campaign. Long before the hour of opening the doors an immense throng, numbering thousands crowded the streets leading to the hall in which the address was to be delivered. When Senator Teller arose to speak over three thousand people occupied every available space in the Coliseum and a thousand people crowded the outside of the hall and cheered from time to time.

Senator Teller was given a regular ovation when he arrived in Colorado Springs this afternoon and later at the Antlers hotel. The scenes which greeted him at the opening of the meeting beggared description. This city is called the hotbed of the McKinley sentiment of the West, and the meeting tonight was all the more remarkable for that fact.

Senator Teller was introduced by Mayor Plumb. The senator was greeted with prolonged applause and cheering. He said in part:

"Such a gathering here tonight shows that the people of this section are interested in the issue now before you. I came to talk to you not principally of the silver question, but of a remedy for the existing evils.

"There has been no interest that so touches the welfare and prosperity of the people as the monetary standard. Tonight, as I have been, in thinking this question, I have been brought to break away from the old party. I do not believe that any relief is to come on the money question through the Republican party. Although elected as a Republican, I did not serve that party alone through these years. I served all, Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists. I have broken away from that old party because of a heresy a thousand times worse than the heresy of free trade. We must do our duty to the financial question, for if we settle it here we will settle it throughout the world. [Cheers.]

"If we could strip this question of partisanship you would find a great majority of this country in favor of bimetallism. The free coinage of both metals is no new theory. It was a success, it was not a failure. We propose no doubtful experiment. We ask that we return to the prosperous times prior to 1873. From 1792 to 1873 there was not an hour when the mints of this country were not practically open to every ounce of metal coming to them. We are told that Jefferson stopped the coinage of silver dollars because of the shrinkage of the currency. That is true, because they were being exported. But still silver dollars were coined and were legal tender. Not one man in a thousand knew that silver had been demonetized two years after the act of 1873. I have not talked of the crime of 1873. No American citizen knew of it. That act was formed and promulgated by an enemy of the human race. [Cheers.] I think we all agree that it was an unfortunate act. Think of it, twenty-three years of constantly falling prices. Our 70,000,000 people ought to be the happiest people on earth. I find them poverty-stricken. I find one-third without means of supporting themselves.

"I tell you, after twenty years of thought and study, that our trouble arises from a deficient monetary system. I find that every other nation that has abandoned this standard is in the same condition of poverty. In 1886 a commission was appointed in England to find what was the matter with her stagnant trade. It reported in 1888 that in every country where a gold standard exists only poverty and stagnation existed. Every gold country of the world was suffering in 1886, and it is infinitely worse now. I am asked what country has prospered on the double standard? Take France. She maintains her $900,000,000 of silver with $800,000,000 of gold. Germany was prominently prosperous under a silver standard alone from 1852 to 1872, when she attached her silver and went to the gold standard. Prior to 1873 there was not a man whose opinion was worth weight who did not declare that silver was the only stable money. We say that silver is the stable money of two-thirds of the world today.

"Louis went to a silver basis, and has made more progress since 1855 than she did in the previous 300 years. President Diaz and his associates say: 'We do not want to see the United States go to free coinage, because we could not advance as we are doing now.'

"I don't care who it is that says that the free coinage of silver will drive out the gold. To him I say that such a theory denies history. [Cheers.]

"They say you will go to hell through the Republican party. At the convention in St. Louis that party voted down all the measures that were proposed for relief. I left the convention. Do you suppose that I would have left that organization if I could have obtained relief through that party? [Cries of 'No, no!']

"You need not be afraid of the fifty cent dollars after living under the 200-cent dollars. Can we afford to try this experiment? The Republican party says that we can try it when all the leading nations of the world say we can. Is not this question the paramount one? Can we not lay aside all party lines and vote for Bryan? [Cries of 'Yes, yes.']

"I have never met a man in public or private life his superior, Mr. Blaine not excepted. Some says he has spoken disrespectfully of the Supreme court. I deny that. There is not a word of disrespect to the Supreme court. It is merely a statement of a Democratic principle. I remember how Abraham Lincoln criticised the Supreme court on the Dred Scott decision. [Cheers.] I have heard the Supreme court severely arraigned in Congress. The end of this government is near when we cannot criticise that which we think wrong, even the Supreme court."

The speaker next discussed some features of the income tax and its constitutionality.

Not the Poet Scout.

ST. LOUIS, Sep. 1.—A special to the Globe-Democrat from Tacoma, Wash., says:

The Jack Crawford who was killed yesterday in the Swauk mining district in the Cascade mountains, is not "the poet scout," as was at first reported. The dead miner had been a scout like his namesake, but was not the famous poet, although Swauk miners did not distinguish him from the poet as he resembled him very much. Miner Crawford died holding a hydraulic mining hose nozzle against a high bank, which caved in upon him. The Swauk camp is twenty miles from the nearest telegraph office and authentic information could not be secured without great difficulty.

A Fatal Railroad Wreck.

ST. LOUIS, Sep. 1.—A special to the Globe-Democrat from Albuquerque, N. M., says:

A fatal wreck to passenger train No. 1 on the Atlantic & Pacific occurred at Williams last night. The engine ran into an open switch derailing it and the mail car. Fred Dowse the engineer was caught between the engine and tender and badly scalded. Frank Flickinger, the fireman, was caught under the engine and almost instantly killed.

Knights of Pythias.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—Over the railroads blockaded by such immense passenger traffic as never before was known in the northwest, the Knights of Pythias, hours behind the schedule time, continued to pour into Minneapolis today singly, in divisions and in battalions, and in Illinois and Iowa came solid brigades. At 4 o'clock this afternoon occurred the ceremony of transferring the command of the camp from Adjutant General F. B. Wheeler, of the executive committee, to Gen. L. Loper, of Iowa. Addresses were delivered by Mayor Pratt, Chairman William Eustis of the local executive committee, Col. E. Mitchell of Minnesota and visiting brigadier generals.

IN MINING CIRCLES.

News Items From Our Correspondent at Silver City, Tintic District.

MANY WORKMEN BEING LAID OFF.

A Fairly Good Day on the Stock Exchange—The Situation in Leadville—Slips and Spurs.

Special Correspondence of the News.

SILVER CITY, Aug. 31, 1896.—The Yankee Girl Mining company has laid off its employes and the men will be out of work for some time to come. The company will not ship any ore for some time owing to a contract being entered into to sink the shaft down 150 feet. There are quite a number of miners out of employment at Silver City at present, notwithstanding the flourishing condition of the busy little camp.

The returns of the Shoebridge Bonanza strike have just arrived here. The value of the ore goes over 200 ounces of silver to the ton. Mr. Joseph Gries of Salt Lake is supervising the work at the mine and he says that the Shoebridge Bonanza will shortly have a first-class hoist and commence the hoisting of good pay ore.

There are several workmen busily engaged in building a new hoist for the Apex mine at Robinson, which has been making good headway the last few weeks, and the shaft is now down quite a distance. The mine is on Mr. John Cowan's ground. Mr. Thomas Coupe is also interested in the new venture.

The Mammoth mill closed down this morning for the usual monthly clean up. When the mill starts up again tomorrow, there will be very little of the precious metal left in the mill as almost every clean-up means the shipment of two or three gold bricks and a large number of silver bars.

The Swansea Mining company commenced the loading of one car of ore this morning and will make several shipments this week. All the buildings of the Swansea company have been recently painted.

The Cleopatra Mining company, which is making good progress in the Cleopatra shaft, will commence the work of drifting as soon as they get down to bedrock. The shaft today is down 20 feet, and that is very good work taking into consideration the fact that the mine has only been opened up a few weeks. Mr. C. E. Allen of the Centennial-Eureka is largely interested in the Cleopatra and the gentleman will visit Silver City on Wednesday night and speak on the free silver question.

Mr. Chas. Wilson who had a very close call for life at the Swansea mine some a few days ago, is now able to get about. His head was very much cut and bruised, and the left side of his jaw which was crushed is much better. In conversation with Mr. Wilson today he said that he was working down at the bottom of the shaft putting some timbers in place with his partner when some one shouted look out and before he could get out of the way the ore had struck him on the head, bringing his bottom jaw in contact with the bar. He says he has worked in the mines for many years, but this was the closest call he ever had. Dr. Field of Eureka successfully stitched up the cuts on Wilson's head and also extracted several pieces of bone from the broken jaw. Mr. Wilson will be able to go to work in a week or so.

The Sioux Consolidated mining company and the Utah will discharge quite a number of their miners in a few days. Nine men were laid off this morning and it is expected that quite a number will be dismissed tomorrow. Why the Consolidated and Utah are doing this we are unable to state. The teams which have been busy of late for these companies will also stop work tomorrow. This will put quite a number of workmen out of employment and there will be a large number of miners out of work also.

The South Swansea is getting into good shape; the carpenters are quite busy around the new hoist and it is safe to say that good news will shortly be heard from that property.

The Official Order.

Following is a verbatim copy of the official order shutting down the Mingo smelter, and throwing 300 men out of employment:

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17, 1896.

Samuel James, Esq., Superintendent Pennsylvania Smelting Works, Sandy, Utah:

Dear Sir—After two years' experience under the Democratic Wilson tariff law, which reduced the duty on lead from 2 cents to 1 cent per pound, the directors of this company have decided that they are unwilling to assume the risk of the election of Mr. Bryan, who is a free-trader, openly proclaiming his opposition to any protection whatever; consequently they have ordered the closing down of the works at Sandy as soon as practicable. The free coinage of silver would afford us no relief, it would reduce our cost of labor, but that saving would not be sufficient to offset the removal of the present low duty on lead. The purchasing of ores has been ordered discontinued, and you will work up the stock on hand as speedily as possible. Yours truly,

J. E. SCHWARTZ, President.

A FAIR DAY ON 'CHANGE.

Two Listed and Four Unlisted Stocks Share in the Day's Trading.

The stock brokers played a fairly good game on 'change today and chronicled more transfers than has been recorded on the blackboard for a good while past. Bullion-Beck met with the first sale, when fifty shares of the stock changed hands at $1 per share—a figure a little in advance of the market price. Sioux Consolidated was another listed stock dealt in, 100 shares going at 50 cents.

The unlisted stocks captured most of the day's business, four out of the ten called meeting with sales. They were Swansea, which handed over 100 shares at a good figure, Rogan and Shoebridge Bonanza 500 shares each and Buckeye in Tintic 250 shares.

The closing figures were as follows:

THE PUMPS STOPPED.

Leadville Mines Being Flooded Out Throwing One Thousand Men Out of Employment.

The following special from Denver, Colo., under date of yesterday, appeared in this morning's Tribune:

That large smelters operating near Leadville will be forced to shut down very soon, received authentic confirmation from several authoritative sources this morning.

Manager Eben Smith of the Moffat interests, comprising the Maid of Erin, Penrose, Wolf Tone and Louisville mines, on Carbonate hill, in an interview this morning gave a statement explanatory of his action in ordering the pumps closed down on the Penrose and Bon Air.

"The reason why I stopped the pumps," said Mr. Smith, "was because we have been doing the pumping for our neighbor's ground as well as our own. There was nothing to warrant us in continuing to do so, as we had enough work in our own territory. The added expense was not shared by them, and after the case was laid before them they still refused to come forward in the proper spirit. Before any pumping is resumed it will be necessary for them to come up and contribute to the amount expended in operating the plant."

Mr. Smith was asked regarding the prospective shutting down of the smelters in the valley near Leadville.

"The smelters are receiving practically no ore of consequence from Leadville," he replied, "or from the adjacent territory, outside of the product of the Weston. The Bimetallic smelter will have to close down. In fact, before a great while they all will be forced to close down. It will be a case of have to."

Manager Smith absolutely declines to discuss the strike situation. The flooding of these mines will throw 1,000 men out of employment, and if the smelters are compelled to shut down another 1,000 will be added to the idle list, while hundreds of thousands of dollars of property will be ruined.

Slips and Spurs.

The Mammoth dividend of $20,000 was distributed among the stockholders of that company today.

Iron County Record: Arthur McCloskey came in from the Portland mine in Leeche's canyon last Monday, and says that the mine is looking good at a depth of forty-five feet with streaks of ore now in sight. He expects to strike the ledge at a depth of about seventy-five feet from the surface.

J. M. Templin, the mining man, is now in northern California looking the landscape o'er. He writes to his partner in this city stating that in that part of the country there is a mine which looks for all the world like the red hill lying just south of Fort Douglas. Mr. Templin will go up into British Columbia before returning.

The new superintendent of the Centennial-Eureka, Captain "Hank" Smith, arrived yesterday from Oregon to take upon himself the responsibilities of his new office. Mr. Smith once presided over the Bullion-Beck, but of late years he has been looking after the interests of Lawler's gold mines in the state of Oregon. He reports great activity in that district and says that the company operates a 20-stamp mill, putting through sixty tons of ore per day. The Centennial-Eureka company has a valuable and efficient acquisition in the person of Mr. Smith.

A Postmaster's Shortage.

BOONE, Iowa, Sept. 1.—Postoffice Inspector George M. Christian took charge of the postoffice here yesterday. They found Postmaster W. C. Bremerman short $3,000. Bremerman fainted when the shortage was discovered. In a written confession he declared that the shortcomings arose from being obliged to pay a large sum for the appointment of postmaster and give away much of his salary. He speculated, hoping to make some money and lost $1,800 on a bucket shop.

POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

Democratic Judicial Committee In Session This Afternoon.

ARRANGING FOR A CONVENTION.

Which Will Be Called at An Early Date—Figuring Out the Number of Delegates.

The Democratic judicial committee for the Third district, representing the counties of Salt Lake, Summit and Tooele, was in session at press time this afternoon wrestling with the apportionment of delegates to the convention. Nothing had been decided at that hour beyond the fact that the convention would be held and that it would be called for an early date. The members in attendance were Chairman Day, Heber Bennion, S. W. Darke and James H. Moyle, Salt Lake County, and F. L. Williams, proxy for Seine Spiro of Summit, J. C. De LaMar, the remaining member of the committee was absent.

SILVER IN MEXICO.

Andrew C. Brixen of This City Says It Has Made Prosperity Widespread In That Country.

Andrew C. Brixen, who has become largely interested in mining in Mexico, a country where silver is used as money in its widest sense, was asked by a News man today what he thought of the system and whether it was a success in the republic of the south. His answer was prompt and emphatic. "It simply means that in Mexico you never hear the cry of hard times. The Americans there are the most prosperous people to be found anywhere and while wages are low, everybody, including the slow going Peons, who desire to work can find it in abundance any time and without the slightest trouble."

Mr. Brixen modestly admits that he is in a promising way to secure vast concessions and a large amount of money in Mexico, whither he will go again some time next month. He has unbounded confidence in the future greatness of that country.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

They Will, in a Blaze of Glory, Show Their Strength at Ogden on Thursday Evening.

The white metal champions in the Republican party of Utah are rapidly and emphatically declaring themselves in opposition to the two convention proposition announced by the State committee. Under it they claim to be deprived of rights they hold dear. In order that they may give public utterance to their views a great mass meeting has been called at Ogden for Thursday evening of this week. Among the speakers will be Senator Cannon, Judge Goodwin, C. S. Varian, Thomas Kearns, E. B. Critchlow, J. D. Murphy and possibly Judge Dickson of Salt Lake and Senator Dubois of Idaho. Senator Teller wired that he could not come on account of previous engagements. The meeting will be presided over by Congressman Allen and music will be furnished by Salt Lake, Ogden, Park City and Coalville bands and glee clubs.

THE COMMITTEE DEFENDED.

"Republican" Supports the Two Convention Propositions and Tells Why.

To the Editor:

For the reason that your paper while it is not the organ of any political party yet reaches probably more voters than any other, I trespass upon your space with some words of commendation for the action of the Republican state committee in calling two conventions, one at Mount Pleasant, to nominate presidential electors, another at Ogden to nominate a candidate for Congress.

The committee was confronted with a difficult situation. In such emergencies moderation is much better than radicalism. It had a certain duty to perform, and that was to call a convention which must do two things, nominate electors and a congressman. It was compelled to recognize that there are two classes of Republicans, whose wishes must be in some measure consulted. The first class is prepared to support McKinley and Hobart and to that end insist upon having McKinley electors for whom to vote. But at the same time this class recognizes that other class of Republicans who refuse to vote for McKinley on account of the St. Louis platform.

The Bryan Republicans, however, claim, if their organ correctly represents them, that they still remain Republicans on every other question, and desire to vote for a Republican of their own choosing for Congress. They do not and of course cannot deny that McKinley is the Republican nominee and those Republicans who desire to do so, ought to have an opportunity of voting for him, by voting for McKinley electors. This being the situation there were but three courses open to the committee. One was to call a convention simply to nominate a Congressman. I do not consider the alternative of calling a convention to nominate Bryan electors and a Republican for Congress, because by that act the committee would prejudge the case, and by its own act sever the connection
