NEW YORK POLICE.

Letter to the Core, Says Captain Schmittberger.

OFFICER INDICTED FOR BRIBERY

Makes a Confession Implicating a Number of Men—Byrnes an Exception.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Maximilian C. Schmittberger, captain of police and now in command of the Tenderloin district, made a confession before the Lexow committee today to the effect that the entire police system of New York, with the exception of Superintendent Byrnes and a few others, was rotten to the core, that blackmail and bribery, extortion and corruption were common crimes in the department, and that moreover mothers alone escaped his fellow officers. His charges implicated Inspector Williams and Max Levy, ex-Inspector Brennan, Police Commissioners James H. Martin and John C. Sheehan, Captains Price, Gastlin and Martens, ex-Captain John Gunner and Wardmen Dunlap, Robert Vail and James Gannon.

Captain Schmittberger is under indictment for bribery. He had previously refused to testify before the Senate committee. Yesterday, however, he was re-arrested and his bail increased. Today he took advantage of an offer of immunity from punishment made out to him by Mr. Goff and agreed to make a clean breast of it.

Father Ducey was present.

It was late in the day when Captain Schmittberger took the stand. He said he joined the force in 1874. His duties at first were light on account of a pull he had with the sergeant at the desk.

"Captain, have you ever heard of a case where a patrolman paid a sergeant any money to be assigned to light work?"

"Yes, I have heard of them."

The captain went on to tell what he knew of several dives in his precinct which were frequented by all the criminals of New York. He said further that no pretense of observing the excise law at these places was ever made, and the fast women and criminals did as they pleased.

"Would it have been possible for these places to run open without special arrangements with the police?"

"Certainly not."

"Now, captain, about the time you were in command of the steamboat squad, you learned, of course, that the men on the docks had to give up half of their salaries?"

"Yes; Wardman Vail told me of it. I told him I did not want to keep it up, and he told me that I was a fool, that the men had just as soon give it up as not, and I might as well get it."

"How much did Vail collect for you each month?"

"About $100."

"Well, captain, was you ever called upon to divide your collections?"

"I was."

"With whom?"

"Inspector Williams."

The audience was thrown into a commotion, and it was some time before Mr. Goff could continue.

"How much did you pay him each month?"

"Fifty dollars."

"Did you at any time ever pay him more than this?"

"I paid him $100 one month."

The fact was then developed that Schmittberger had been transferred in the general shake-up from the Twenty-fifth to the Twenty-seventh precinct.

"Were there any policy shops there?"

"Yes."

"And how much did the collections amount to?"

"About $600."

"Were there any poolrooms?"

"There were three."

"How much did you collect from these poolrooms?"

"Two hundred dollars each per month."

"And during the time you collected this money, did you ever divide with any politicians?"

"I gave Gannon, my collector, 20 per cent, and gave Williams $250 per month."

"And why were you finally transferred from that precinct?"

"For interfering with liquor dealers."

Witness then explained that when Byrnes was made superintendent, he instructed all the men not to make excise arrests unless they were sure of a conviction as he did not believe in expensive. Schmittberger made too many bona fide arrests, and he gave it as his opinion that this was the cause of his transfer.

At the Forty-seventh street station he collected between $500 and $600 a month from gaming shops and disorderly houses.

"Well, captain, were there any instructions given you about protecting any disorderly houses in that precinct?"

"Yes; I went to see Commissioner Martin, and he told me to let the houses in Forty-sixth street go for the present."

"Did he mention any other houses?"

"Yes; it was No. 254 west Forty-first street. I sent one of my men to investigate once, and afterwards some one made a complaint to Commissioner Martin and he sent for me. He told me that I would have to send the same man here to apologize."

"Did you do it?"

"I had to do it. The next day my man had to go and apologize."

There was a fresh burst of laughter at this point, and Mr. Goff paused for several minutes before continuing.

"Were there any houses that received protection without paying for it?"

"Yes."

"What were they?"

"I once received a letter of introduction from Commissioner Meekins introducing a man named Proctor, and telling me I could do what Proctor asked. Proctor then told me he was a partner with Maynard, a storekeeper on Broadway, and that Maynard wanted to open a gambling house. I told him I would not let him do so until I saw Superintendent Byrnes. I then saw the superintendent and told him the whole story, and he told me not to allow the house to open."

The witness after some further testimony said it was common talk in the police department that any one could get on the force by the payment of $300.

"Now, captain, have you told everything you know about this matter, without reserving anything?"

"Yes, sir, I have made a clean breast of all I know, holding back nothing. I feel that the prince of the church we talking and in justice to my wife and family, I have told everything."

"Then you think the department is rotten to the core?"

"Yes, sir, I do, and acknowledge the part I have taken in it."

Chairman Lexow said he thought that next week's session should be executive, but Mr. Goff said a few more witnesses may be examined publicly. He said he would sit up nights with the committee if necessary.

Adjournment until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday.

More World's Congresses.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Arrangements are being made to commemorate in this city, January 15th, the world's parliament of religions and to inaugurate the world's congress extension. The arrangements are in charge of the fraternity established at the close of the auxiliary at the old office with C. C. Bonney, president, continuing. The object of the fraternity is "the establishment of fraternal relations among the leaders of mankind, the review of progress already achieved, the statement of living problems awaiting solution and the suggestions of means of future advancement."

THE SUBSIDY BILL.

Introduced in the House by Chairman Springer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Before the close of the session Mr. Springer, chairman of the banking and currency committee, presented the amendments to the measure agreed upon by the Democratic members of the committee and endorsed, it is said, by the secretary of the treasury. The bill, as altered by those amendments, will be offered in the proper house as a substitute for the original bill and upon this substitute, the fate of the measure will depend.

Atchison Affairs.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—When the meeting of western lines convened this morning, Passenger Traffic Manager White, of the Atchison, announced that before the meeting to perfect a Transcontinental Passenger Association had been called the Atchison road had been admitted by the Southern Pacific that if it would become a party to the agreement the old troubles at San Diego would be settled. The meeting had gone on for three weeks, and as yet the Atchison had been able to have nothing done toward the adjustment of its affairs. The road could not go on longer, and Mr. White made a demand for the adjustment of the matter.

The roads at once took up the subject and were engaged with it for the entire day. No definite action was taken and the same thing will be under discussion tomorrow afternoon.

The earnings of the entire system of the Atchison road for the second week in December were $700,953, a decrease compared with the same week of last year of $64,515. The earnings of the month to date are $2,666,033, a decrease of $90,125.

Rainier Expedition Heard From.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 21.—A message brought by a homing pigeon from the Post-Intelligencer Mount Rainier party dated Carbon river canyon, Thursday noon, says the party is five miles from the Carbon glacier. The camp was delayed by heavy packs, heavy drifts and a recent flooding of Carbon river. The temperature Thursday morning was 20 degrees above zero, but was moderated by warm wind from the steaming crater. It may be necessary to go entirely around the mountain and approach the summit from the south. The men are all well.

A STRANGE CASE.

Miss Simonds Was Bitten by a Dog and Now Thinks She Has Visions.

MILLWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 22.—A strange case is occupying the attention of physicians of Stevens Point. The patient, Miss Cora Simonds, of that village, is a young woman about 22 years of age. She was bitten by a dog about two years ago and from her symptoms of barking and frothing at the mouth it was thought at first she had hydrophobia, but on her case developing, it seems more probable that she has hysteria. She claims to have had visitations of all that is taking place in the village. She says she has died and gone to heaven, talked with her loved ones who have gone before, seen the angels and returned again to earth. The physicians are puzzled over the case and are unable to determine just what her complaint is.

Sir Wilson in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 22.—Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, the special delegate of the English bonders of the Central Pacific railroad securities has arrived in the city. He represents sixty per cent of the $25,000,000 of Central Pacific stock held in England, Holland and the United States and his mission here is to ascertain the precise condition of the railroad's affairs.

In an interview he expressed his dissatisfaction with the Reilly funding bill. He thinks that on the basis of three per cent, as proposed in the bill, there would be nothing left for the stockholders, and he thinks the bondholders have been having things all their own way long enough. Sir Charles says that the foreign stockholders are also dissatisfied with the present law by which the Southern Pacific operates the Central Pacific. Under the old laws the stockholders were guaranteed annual dividends, but under the operation of the present contract not a dollar goes out for this purpose. The reason for this, Sir Charles says, is that although the foreign stockholders own a majority of the shares, the stock is unregistered and so they had no voice in determining the present arrangement and in fact their wishes were not even consulted when the existing contract, was under consideration.

BATTLE OFF YALU RIVER.

Reports of American Officers to the Navy Department.

Lessons Drawn from the Naval Engagement Between the Chinese and Japanese Fleets.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The Chinese mail which has just arrived at the navy department brings the first reports which have yet reached the department from its intelligent officers at the seat of war touching the great naval engagement off the mouth of Yalu river.

In substance they show that the heavily armored vessels were practically unhurt by the Japanese fire, and as this fact tends strongly to bear out the arguments in favor of the battleship against the cruiser, as set out in the report of the secretary of the navy to Congress, without doubt the reports will be exhibited to the naval committee in connection with the pending proposition for the construction of three more battleships.

These reports describe the formation of the opposing ships in the line of battle. It is said that after the action commenced, the Chinese were unable to make signals on account of the shouting away of halyards, etc., and therefore no tactical evolutions were performed by them, each vessel maneuvering independently. The Japanese, however, signalled throughout the action and maneuvered in concert. The Japanese opened fire at 5,000 yards using their rapid fire guns to great advantage and keeping up a true rapid fire. The fire of the Chinese throughout the action was much slower and their shooting high.

The Japanese fire directed against the two battleships is said to have been terrific, the Ting Yuen being hit about 4,000 times and catching fire several times, while the Ting Yuen was badly set on fire forward, which was extinguished with difficulty. The Chen Yuen gallantly placed herself between the Japanese vessels and the Ting Yuen, taking the fire of the fleet, while her flagship extinguished the flames. The main Japanese squadron continued the action with the battleships, but although their projectiles hit time and again, the four-inch-deck armor was more than a match for the Japanese light guns. The Japanese loss consisted of two officers and sixty men killed and 160 of all ranks wounded. None of their vessels was lost, the Matsushima, Hiyei and Akagi sustaining the most severe damage.

The Chinese loss in officers and men is unknown, but it is not thought that any were picked up from the three ships that sunk in action. None of the Japanese vessels used torpedoes in action.

GOVERNMENT GOLD.

New York Exporters Said to Be Working All Sorts of Schemes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Subtreasury officials say an effort is being made in New York to juggle the government gold. Exporters are working all kinds of schemes to get full weight coins. They are very anxious to get hold of gold bars and bricks with the government's stamp of fineness on them. Uncle Sam has $10,000,000 worth of these, but in order to cut down exports some time ago, made it a rule to redeem treasury notes only in gold coin. The light weight coins complained of are all within the legal limit, one-half of one per cent, but the shippers have felt the loss and have sorted the coin, keeping the light weight ones home. The banks objected to taking them and one foreign house took a lot to the subtreasury and asked that they be redeemed in paper. This the treasury officials declined to do, saying the redeeming of paper promises to pay did not carry with it the reverse duty of redeeming gold in paper. The only thing left to do was to deposit the gold in the bank, whence it would work its way back to the sub-treasury. The assay office has received a novel proposition from an exporting house. It wanted to deposit American gold coin and have it melted into stamped bars. The proposition was declined though if the coin was light weight or mutilated it would be re-melted at the regular loss.

A private detective called at the assayer's office for assistance in tracing two gold bars which he said had been smuggled in from Mexico.

It possesses some medical property that relieves the little sufferers immediately. It is, in my opinion, the best cough medicine in the market." If the remedy is freely given as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is also an ideal remedy for whooping cough. There is no danger in giving it to children, as it contains nothing injurious.

AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. Richards, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been to nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am frank in my opinion that this valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are cheap, in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and submit those seeking pleasant and profitable homes to locate in this country."
