The Sbangual Courier, speaking of the concessions, mentions a Philadelphia syndicate as having obtained all rights under the agreement, and that the bank would be established.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The consul at Demarara reports that the planters there are abandoning the manufacture of crystals for the English market and turning their attention to the production of dark sugars for the United States for the reason that Guiana planters can't compete with American refiners or any other country, and the American refiners pay the highest price for this class of sugar. The increase in this trade has resulted in withdrawing the steamers plying between England and Demarara and large ships in the Calcutta trade from their regular routes, to carry sugars to the United States.

To pursue the union at the expense of truth is treason to Jesus. To tamper with his doctrine is to become traitors to Him. Ronan, counsel for the prosecution, denied the right of the defense to ask what had happened in the council at Dublin.

The magistrate said that Harrington's application was founded on the assumption that the statements in the proclamation were false and the court was not competent to decide the question.

The hearing of the evidence was then resumed.

The solicitor for the defense made a formal affidavit in support of the application for the summoning of Balfour, and the case was adjourned.

His London agent is named Melville. Melville's landlady said Cohen had frequently visited him. Commissioner Munroe showed by his questions that he believed that a plot existed to kill Mr. Balfour.

The verdict was rendered that deceased died from natural causes.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 26.—This evening Judge Vandever at Hamilton, appointed Hon. James Campbell, to be receiver of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad. On the way down to Cincinnati the defendants stopped at Glendale, 15 miles north of Cincinnati, and obtained a hearing in chambers by Judge Joseph Cox of the circuit court. Judge Cox issued an order staying and superseding the order of the court at Hamilton, whereby the receiver was appointed. The case will come before three judges of the Ohio Circuit Court tomorrow for hearing under the exceptions. ACCIDENT ON THE WABASH.

MISSOURI CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—The Pacific express on the Wabash, due to arrive here at 7:10 a. m., ran into a washout near Missouri City at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, derailing the engine, killing engineer John Mathias, of Moberly, and injuring C. N. Black, a postal clerk. During the previous night a heavy rain had fallen, and just before the train arrived the water had gathered with great force at a culvert a short distance this side of Missouri City, and washed all the support out from under the track for a space of eighteen feet. The washout was discovered by a farmer's son who resided in the neighborhood, and he made a frantic endeavor to

FLAG THE TRAIN.

He was on this side of the culvert, however, and as the morning was dark and foggy the engineer did not see him in time to bring his train to a stop. He worked quick, however, and although he saved the train and its passengers, he stuck to his post and lost his life. The fireman saw the boy's signal and jumped from the engine and escaped without injury. The engine went down into the culvert, breaking the coupling between the tank and the mail car and allowing the baggage car to pass over. The sudden application of the air brakes and the concussion caused by the sudden stoppage of the mail car caused C. N. Black, a postal clerk, to strike his head against the forward end of the car, sustaining serious although not fatal injuries. A was at once organized in this city and sent out, with Dr. W. J. Jackson, the company's surgeon, on board. When he arrived at the scene engineer Mathias was dead, and, with the exception of Black, all the passengers and train men had been sent to the city on a special train.

More than an hour before the court assembled, the court room was densely packed with people. Even out in the corridor there was a crowd endeavoring at least to get a glimpse of the interior of the court room. The audience was destined, however, to be at least for a time disappointed. A few days ago a very disgraceful disturbance occurred at Smithfield. It happened on Sunday and the following Monday night, and the participants were a crowd of hoodlums. There resides in Smithfield a quiet and inoffensive gentleman named G. W. Gustafsen. On the nights above referred to these rascals went to Mr. Gustafsen's house and engaged in various exploits of a disgraceful nature. They shot Mr. G's dog, shot through one of the doors of his house, threw rocks at the house and otherwise disturbed the quiet of the neighborhood. Not content with carrying on in this manner, they did not leave his premises without stealing a gun and several skins from his premises. It is to be hoped that those guilty will be punished to the full extent of the law.—Logan Journal, Oct. 26.

ST. JOHNS, ARIZONA.

Miscellaneous Items Respecting the Town, Climate, Etc.

We are in receipt of a communication which describes the present status of matters in general, in and around St. Johns, Arizona, as being in a very satisfactory condition. A considerable number of "Mormons" have located in that region, but there is little or no clashing between different classes of citizens. The administration of the law by Judge Wright is spoken of as being impartial, and the District Attorney, Harris Baldwin, Esq., is said to be taking a similar course. Crops have been good this season, and young orchards and shade trees are growing finely. Some grapes and a few pine apples were raised this season. The St. John's reservoir is a success, and did much good this season. It is expected that next spring water will flow in the new city ditch, which will greatly hasten the improvement and growth of the place. A grist mill, recently erected, is doing a good business, and the St. Johns C. M. & M. I., a mercantile establishment, is prospering. An addition to the Latter-day Saints' meeting house is being constructed, which will materially increase its capacity. The town has a

which has been playing to good houses, a tailor, several shoemakers, ect. Rock and limestone are handy, and a load of wood can be obtained in less than a day. There is a rumor that coal has been discovered near St. Johns. A board of arbitrators has been established for the purpose of settling differences arising between the "Mormons" and their neighbors. Most of the year the climate and weather are delightful, the spring winds being the most unpleasant feature. Little or no snow falls, and out-door labor can be continued the year round. A class for the study of the Spanish language has been organized under the auspices of the Sevens.

It is believed that St. Johns will yet be an important central point. The region surrounding the town is rich in mineral wealth.
