RIOTOUS STRIKERS.

A Desperate Fight Reported at Morewood; Eleven Killed and Twenty-Seven Wounded.

FURTHER COMMENTS ON THE ITALIAN QUESTION.

Sweden Will Accept the Invitation to Participate in the Columbian Exposition.

By Telegraph to the News.

A DESPERATE BATTLE.

Strikers and Armed Guards Have a Fierce Struggle.

PITTSBURG, April 2.—A desperate battle is reported between the strikers and armed guards at Morewood this morning at 4 o'clock. Three or four hundred strikers approached the works of the H. C. Frick Coke Company and began to hammer down the gates. When ordered to desist, they fired on the deputy sheriffs, slightly wounding several and killing seven Italians. Many shots in all were exchanged. The guards fired two volleys before the Italians retreated. Previous to the raid, the strikers cut the telegraph and telephone wires.

ELEVEN MEN KILLED.

A private dispatch from Greensburg says that eleven men were killed and twenty-seven wounded in the Morewood riot mentioned above. The dead miners are all foreigners.

AGAINST THE THUG.

MT. PLEASANT, PA., April 2.—At 5:45 this morning a mob of five hundred men began rioting the Standard Works, destroyed some of the company's property and cut the telegraph lines, so that no warning could be sent to the people at Morewood. About three o'clock a party marched to Morewood. In the meanwhile the wires were hurriedly repaired, and word was sent to Morewood that the strikers would attack the works in three places and destroy the whole place. Deputy sheriffs were sent for and made preparations for the attack. The men were divided in three parties, Captain Laure having charge of the guard posted behind the big gate of the barn and stable enclosure. As the strikers passed the company's store they called it a free store, and the ringleaders attempted to break down the gates. They succeeded in doing this and as they entered, Captain Laure called out to them to halt or they would fire upon them. Their answer was to fire a volley fire in the direction of the deputies, some of which were seriously injured. Captain Laure then gave fire. Two volleys were fired before the mob broke and ran. Eleven men fell dead in the road and the wounded are estimated as high as twenty-seven. The deputies who took part in the fray were experienced men, armed to the teeth.

Last night superintendent Richard Mott received a note in which was printed on the works, and presented such man with a bullet. "Leave, I have promised protection," he said. "No one touches me and even give it to them. When the rubbers come, they me. Fire the first shot from the attic. Keep the people in front, fire a second shot and keep firing while you have ammunition. Protect the company's property, protect the men who are loyal to your interests. The man in my employ who uses I will shoot dead on the spot. Any man who is not willing to accept my terms will please drop into the rear, and I will send him home under guard." "Is everybody satisfied?" asked the superintendent. "Yes, yes," rang out all sides of the line. Each man was supplied with twenty cartridges in a water-proof belt and the superintendent, they marched to a convenient point. All night the strikers were preparing for the raid. Delegations headed by a man named Magnetti went from place of registration. An occasional rebel shot could be heard in the darkness. Now and then a rocket flashed into the sky and from the adjoining hill top the waving lights could be seen.

There were three parties of strikers. One came from Greenville and another from Morewood, and a third from the mines in the neighborhood. They were very noisy, cheering and shouting and beating drums, as they came along. The three parties met and decided to make a march on the works. Some of the strikers say today, that there was no intention of doing any damage, but simply to march to the works to intimidate those at work. The dead this morning were carried into the company store at Morewood. The strikers surrounded the bodies of the victims, but were refused, and the place is now surrounded by an armed mob of over 2000, who say they will turn loose on the first officer who the dead bodies are given up. The feeling is very bitter among the people, who threaten vengeance if the deputies in no uncertain terms.

SOLDIERS ORDERED OUT.

PITTSBURG, April 2.—The governor has ordered the Tenth regiment to aid the sheriff of Westmoreland County in quelling the trouble in the coke region. The Eighteenth regiment of this city has been ordered to hold itself in readiness.

The West Coast Sugar Refinery Company.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The Chronicle says, the combination between Spreckels and Havemeyer is completed. The new organization will be known as the West Coast Sugar Refinery Company. The arrangement is that the two local refineries shall work alternately.

Death of an Indian Chief.

SPOKANE FALLS, April 2.—Word has been received of the death of Tonasket, chief of the Colville Indians. Tonasket has always been a warm friend of the white.

THE QUESTION OF THE DAY

The "Telegraph" on the Italian Trouble.

LONDON, April 2.—The Telegraph says: "It could scarcely appear prudent in Italy to lay the blame that was attributable, whether the murdered men were Italians, while they were treated and the lynching was palliated on the ground that they were members of an Italian secret society. The contrast between the secure prestigious of the slayers and the consequency of the murdered subjects of New Orleans, and the indifferable suspicion of Italian might well have moved a less high-spirited nation than Italy to resolute measures. We are clearly justified in declaring that the opinion of the civilized world ranges itself against America. It is sincerely to be for the American people to blunder, for the Italian navy is in a condition of the highest efficiency. The force of a speedy expulsion should most of this perilous quarrel lies with the vast body of citizens of upright, honorable feeling, prevailing in the Republic. There is no reason that King Humbert will state his just demands."

STANDARD'S OPINION.

The Standard says: "Marquis de Rudini has every right to insist that the slayers of his fellow countrymen be visited with the utmost penalty of the law. President Harrison's mistakes appear to have brought that a serious complication not only suffice, but Italy is the last country from which such fame compliance can be expected. Still, there is no occasion for alarm. A conflict between two civilized, imperial, political and strategical, why Italy should not hurl herself against America, Baron Fava's instruction is designed to bring home to the Federal authorities the unsatisfactory character of their attitude. It is unfortunate for President Harrison's success that others are compelled to suffer the errors for which they are by alleged impotence. Meanwhile Humbert is doing service to the world at large in thus drawing attention to the defect in the American Constitution.

THE CHRONICLE'S OPINION.

The Chronicle says: "Baron Fava is not entitled to fix the day and hour of redress. If he can disregard the American Constitution, he must not ignore the American people. He must allow reasonable time for inquiries. We can scarcely believe that the Washington Government will acquiesce in the view that it is impotent to deal with the question, especially as the party in power successfully asserted the authority of the Union over all states at the time of the civil war, and is pledged to make the federal power supreme on all international questions. It is plausible to believe that the Marquis di Rudini, was pleading to the popular clamor, that what if America should reply to Baron Fava's malice by prohibiting Italian immigration?"

Sweden Will Be There.

(Special Cablegram to the DESERET NEWS.)

STOCKHOLM, April 2.—Minister Thomas has stated, although not officially, that Sweden will accept President Harrison's invitation to participate in the Columbian World's Fair. The Riksdag of next year will probably be asked to appropriate a certain sum for the government exhibit at the exposition.

Literary Notes.

Cardinal Gibbons discusses in a masterly article in the North American Review for April the subject of "Wealth and Its Obligations." His paper is the first of a series on that subject. Mr. Henderson on "The Obligations of Wealth," begins in this number, originated in an article written for the Review two years ago by Andrew Carnegie. Sidney Dillon, President of the Union Pacific Railroad, argues "Railroads are not oppressive engines of capital, and are not the creation of labor, but potent factors in the development of the civilization." Under the head of "The Best Sign of the Times," Senor Emilio Castelar considers the progress of democratic revolution and evolution in Europe. The Hon. J. M. Rusk, Secretary of Agriculture, in an article which is the first of a series by United States Cabinet officers, treats the practical agitation in which the farmers of the country have so actively engaged. Mayo W. Hazeltine writes on novels. Professor Richard T. Ely presents his views of "Pauperism in the United States." The second centennial anniversary of the birthday of the great philanthropist, Peter Cooper, is duly celebrated by Abram S. Hewitt. The Review is proud to present some facts and incidents never before published concerning the life of New York's benefactor. Henry W. Loey, editor of the London Daily News, gives a vivid and interesting picture of the men who compose the Salisbury Parliament. The startling frequency of suicide in all countries, and the causes which contribute to swell the list, are timely and analytically shown by William Matthews. "Humors of the Cookery Book" is the subject of a sparkling and witty essay by Agnes Repplier.

Herbert Spencer's views on socialism, published in the April Popular Science Monthly, are sure to attract wide attention. His essay is entitled "From Freedom to Bondage." "Street Cleaning in Large Cities" is another timely subject treated in this issue. The article is by General Emmons Clark, of New York, and contains practical suggestions for properly performing this important work. There is an article by the Duke of Argyll, entitled "Professor Huxley on the Wa-path." "What Keeps the Bicycle Upright" will be explained and illustrated in a paper by Charles R. Warring. "A Brief History of the Ohio River," describing some wonderful geological changes, is long and quite in order. It is contributed by Prof. Joseph F. James. A paper by Prof. Henri Barton, under the title "Training for Business," gives valuable hints on the care of young women. "Social Changes in California," by Charles H. Shinn, sketches the development of a community which the world will never see again. There is a brief account of Dr. Schliemann, with a portrait, in addition to the regular sketch and frontispiece portrait, the subject of the latter being Prof. Daniel G. Brinton, of Philadelphia. "The Badger and the Fox," with six illustrations; "Race Influence and Disease," by O. H. Hollowday, M. D.; "Science Notes," by Prof. Lloyd Morgan; "Recent Publications," by Dr. H. C. Bolton; and "Wide-edening at Point Barrow," by John Murdoch, are all very readable articles. The "Editor's Table" contains a very creative view of "Koch's Consumption cure," and some remarks on "Intellectual Liberty." New York: D. Appleton & Co.

The complete novel in Lippincott's Magazine for April is entitled "Madge Changing." Its author is Mrs. Eden Gray Rice, who under the pseudonym "Hugh Pierce" wrote the widely successful novel "Lo Bonny of Mount Kent." Mrs. Rice is well known also as the author of many charming stories, among them "Susan and Daughters," "Quiet Money" and "Wallack." "Madge Changing" is bright and amusing, while there is a touching of tragedy with the romance. The second installment of "Some Familiar Letters to Home Folks," edited by Joel Benton, appears in this number. The letters prove to be interesting and valuable, and as a revelation of certain sides of Greeley's character will doubtless be of great advantage to the future biographer of Mr. Greeley. "The Elizabethan Dramas and the Victorian Novel," an article by T. D. Robb, institutes a comparison between the Elizabethan and Victorian views of life and art. In "Curse about Diamonds" David Graham Adam relates some interesting facts about diamonds generally, and relates in detail the stories relating to the discovery and history of some of the most famous of these gems. Charles Morris, in an article entitled "New Africa," tells how easily the whole African continent has been taken up by European powers. Other articles and poems are "Heavy in Fiction," a plea for short novels, by Frederic M. Bird, and "A Plea for the Little Girls," an amusing sketch, by E. T. Andrews. Verses Paul and E. C. Wirth contribute poems.

The Ladies' Home Journal for April is before us. The exquisite Easter cover designed by W. Hamilton Gibson) is a fair index to the charm of the whole number. The prevailing Easter spirit finds perhaps its happiest expression in the Bridal. Mrs. Whitney's delightful serial, "A Golden Gossip," being continued; while Maud Hutton and Charlotte A. Mason contribute enjoyable short stories. The "Mrs. Rorster Lamar" of the latter, an exceptionally strong story, for its exceptional feature as the clever sketch of Mr. T. De Witt Talmage, which is accompanied by a fine wood-cut portrait. Other articles which will be widely read are Amelia E. Barr's "Mothers as Matchmakers," dealing with a question of universal interest, and the joint of George W. Cable's modest paper on "Teaching the Bible?" The article by C. F. Blander, the New York florist, on "Flowers for the House" is an open "Bookselling as an Occupation for Women," and Mrs. Dallas's delightful pages of Spring Fashions will no doubt be especially appreciated. The number is richly illustrated throughout. The Curtis Publishing Company, 425 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

Table Talk for April has come to hand, full of good things as usual. This month's number contains several new features, and will be packed with even more than ordinary pleasure. Following is the table of contents: "Seasons for April," "Creole Recipes," "Housekeeper's Inquiries," "The Dead of the Nations," "Eclectic Sandwiches," "Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Table," "Dainty Dishes for Tired Tours," "Getting Ready for Summer," "How One Woman Managed," "Fashionable Cracks," "Perhaps Inquiries," "The Kind's Home," "Louisiana Bows," "Sunbeams and Tears," poem, "Some Calls," "Mysterious Washington," "A Little Talk," "Aprille"—a poem, "April Fool's Day at Elmwood Hill," "A Woman's Trip South-Attractiveness." Published by the Table Talk Publishing Co., 1017, Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

"From Ocean to Ocean" is the title of a neatly printed book of 192 pages, just received, which gives in natural form the story of the march of the Salvation Army from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is written by Commissioner Ballington Booth and gives much valuable information in reference not only to what the Salvation Army have done but what they propose to do for the elevation of humanity. It will doubtless have a wide circulation. Handsome cloth edition, postpaid, $1.00. J. S. Ogilvie, 57 Rose St., New York, is the publisher, from whom copies may be obtained direct.

The latest book issued by the Minerva Publishing Company, is Twenty Place, New York, in connection with the "Minerva" series of popular novels, is entitled "Attila, the Hun," the author being the well known German novelist, Felix Dahn. It is a meritorious production and the interest of the book is well maintained from the opening chapter to the end.

"Money," one of the most recent books from the pen of Emile Zola, translated from the French, has just been issued by Benjamin R. Tucker, publisher, of Boston, Mass. There is an admirably executed portrait of the author as a frontispiece. "Money" is a novel full of exciting incidents, the story is told in Zola's best and rarest style. It should command a large sale.

Idaho Weather.

A terrible snowstorm is sweeping from the mountains, bringing with it clouds of snow. In a few hours roads are blockaded, hollows and ravines jewled and banks like mountains of snow piled up. The worst storm of the season. After a little spring, all nature seems to rejoice and everything is smiling with the prospects of the death of winter. A cold blizzard sweeps over the country and chills all living things. To those dwelling in more congenial climes a recital of affairs out in the northwest may not be uninteresting.

When your correspondent left home in Brigham City (the early garden and orchard of Utah), on the 19th day of the present month, trees were being trimmed and gardens planted, the roads were dry and clean, and everything assumed the appearance of spring, indeed. Traveling in a northwesterly direction ten miles from home brings us to Bear River City, a thriving burg of Box Elder County, on the banks of Bear River, and four miles north of Corinne Station, on the O. S. L. R. R. The mountain road being in an split condition for travel at this time of the year, the writer took the southern route along the rail road, and via Promontory Station, Golden Spring, Salt Wells and Dixie's ranch to Garrville. From Bear River City to Garrville is a distance of about seventy miles this way, and only forty-five over the mountain back of the Promontory. The country is remarkable for its variety and uniqueness. For a great distance west, reaching almost to Little Mountain, by aid of the canal now being made—water will some day be brought from the Bear River. From there to Blue Creek, east of Promontory, is a successful novel of Utah farm and cattle ranches. The promontory is noted for grazing purposes and is mostly claimed by the P. C. & R. Co., who have a Blue Creek house near Promontory Station, also several small places in different localities where water is to be found. To the west of Promontory is a stretch of alkali flats and sage brush, as far as the eye can reach.

Snowville is a promising settlement in Box Elder County, located about after our colored Apostle Lorenzo. It is situated in Curlew valley, in an open sagebrush country, which some of industrious and prospering Latter-day Saints would think of locating certainly, as the Prophet Isaiah said, the Saints have made the desert "blossom as the rose." Bishop Arnold Goodliffe, who came from Malad and left well-to-do homes and the comforts of an older inhabited valley, to fill a call, continues undaunted in the determination of redeeming the desert and blossoming at the head of his little flock of newly baptized Saints.

West to Curlew Valley, and twenty miles from Snowville, is Point Spring, on the old emigrant road. A little north and west of here is the Idaho line, there the mountain takes a turn from northwest, leaving on a short turn and running west. At the foot of the mountains on the north is the finest water and hay meadows. Some four years ago, a settlement came in from Curlew to Stanford on Cow Creek, a settlement recently made up of Nineteenth Ward boys from Salt Lake City, the Barnes boys, Lorenzo Clark, Thomisons, and others. We cross the Bear River and leave Utah, entering now into Cassia County, Idaho. The mountains again run north and south, and on either side of this range is Cassia Stake, Afton, Elba, Albion, Oakley and Oakley. Along the western slope are these three settlements located where the writer is now, helped in the chase. The wind comes from the west, for days and sometimes over a week, snow will continue to fall.

I am among friends and quite able to stand a little of this. If the good people who dwell here are compelled to suffer almost a continuous blizzard.

DRESS GOODS.
EVERY DRY GOODS HOUSE KEEPS DRESS GOODS, BUT scarcely a house in America can show the collection of superb things we are prepared to offer this Spring. They are strung along from New York to Salt Lake, and SOMETHING NEW IS ARRIVING DAILY. The purchases of six past seasons would not equal the selections of this season's line, and Ladies cannot form the faintest idea of how elegantly and tastefully they can dress, except by calling and examining our choice stock of French Novelties and the other artistic effects in our Dress Goods Department.
We shall show a line of French Challies, the patterns and colorings of which are pronounced works of art.
Our Combination Plaid Robes are the most tasteful, at a moderate price, ever produced and about two hundred patterns of European Novelties, of which no two dress patterns are alike, are something to be proud of.
The Wool Plaids embrace colors never before attempted, and, together with the patterns, are simply immense, and in styles suitable to all ages.
Our Black Goods stock is very complete, in which we are showing many novelties that are offered at the very low prices we place on Henriettas, Serges, Cords, Diagonals and Twills.

WASH DRESS GOODS.
THE TERMS APPLICABLE TO OUR WASH DRESS GOODS are handsome, pretty, sweet. These three styles of beauty are all embraced in the choicest line ever offered in any one house. The cream of all Importers and manufacturers are collected in this one grand display.
We lead with the great European Novelty, Korah Moire, in printed goods, a new weave made from Egyptian Cotton and Combed Yarns, combined with the Moire effect, producing a richness only to be found in the highest class silks. Every house advertises Scotch Ginghams and Zephyrs, and show more ugly than pretty patterns, but with us it is different; we have an immense assortment, and every pattern is a beauty, the colors rare and rich, producing effects never before witnessed in this class of goods, and are perfectly fast.
We are also showing stylish patterns in American Ginghams.
The old stand-by, Printed Sateens, is largely represented in all qualities, and the new Canton Cloth, made by Simpson & Sons, deserve special mention for its richness of design.
The patterns in Prints this season are so very pretty we must speak of them.

WHITE GOODS and EMBROIDERIES.
WHITE BLACK GOODS IS THE ONE NEW THING UNDER the sun you want to see them; they are in Embroidered Flouncings, India Linens, Nainsook Checks, Lace Effects, Cords and Stripes. Ladies of more advanced years can have all the comfort there is in wearing a white muslin dress and yet be dressed in black. You should buy them early, the novelty being so great, there are doubts of there being enough to supply the demand.
We have a more extensive line than ever in White Embroidered Flouncings in forty-five-inch goods for Ladies, and twenty-seven inches for children. You will, of course, see Flouncings in other stores, but if you want style combined with cheapness, you will buy them of us.

R. K. THOMAS.
