This was anything but a "Blue Monday" on the exchange. Nothing was done in the stock, and scarcely every stock brought out an offer. The list features of the day was, Northern Light, Lower Mammoth and Joe Bowers Extension, while Beehive, Dalt, South Swansea, Swansea, Yankee, and Rubber Hill were all active.

The bears started a raid on Daly, but only succeeded in bringing it down to $1, while but two lots were brought out. The stock is apparently in strong hands.

Dalt was looking up a little and sold as high as $1.

Harry Joseph, as usual, made the market in Lower Mammoth. A heavy amount was made by the bears, but they could not get the stock down, and at the close, after the bears had made a sale of stock and covered same, it opened at 63¼, with 65 asked. In the afternoon it touched 64 with a sale of 10,000 lower Mammoth.

Mammoth with the highest sold up 74¼, or 9¼ cents, with 75 asked, and $1.10 asked. No sales.

Northern Light created a furore as usual, and, as it was not for half an hour, the excitement in the pit was for some. It was a battle royal between the bulls and bears, both apparently looking for terms of the other. It was evidently pushed up, and at the close the bulls had gained the victory, the stock both cash and futures being strongest then on Saturday. Over 32,000 shares were sold at from 19¼ to 19¾, and it closed 19¾ bid, 19¾ asked.

South Swansea has up its decline, selling as low as 12 cents, having a slow recovery.

Nothing could keep Swansea up to Saturday's mark, and starting at 13 cents, it dropped to 12 and was weak at the close, 5,500 shares having changed hands.

Joe Bowers Extension found favor from the start, carrying a two cent advance, and it remained within at its top, and began about noon it could was paid for it, when it dropped back a little. Over 20,000 shares were sold.

Yankee remained strong, but only 1,000 shares were sold, bringing 20 cents.

Rubber Hill was active and moved lower, sales at higher prices, closing 8 bid and 8½ asked.

The day's business emphasized the fact that the long period of inactivity is at an end.
