STAKE CONFERENCE.

Words of Instruction by Prominent Elders.

Necessity of Fast Offerings Shown—Authorities Sustained—Additional Reports.

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPT. 8, 1895.

Choir sang the hymn:

[illegible]

Prayer was offered by Elder John Nicholson.

Choir sang the hymn:

[illegible]

Elder Wilford D[illegible] was the first speaker. He said the welfare of the Latter-day Saints is an object not general and not exclusive. Among the Christian denominations of the world the singing is carried on by a designed few; the prayer is usually offered by one person; for spiritual devotion almost each [illegible] and all that is expected of the congregation of the people is that they assemble and listen to the sermons which have been prepared for them. This has a tendency to prevent the people themselves from entering into heartfelt communion with God. Among the Latter-day Saints the people are frequently called upon to take part in the exercises; various ones who have had special training are called upon to speak unto the people. But only men who are ready to receive the inspiration of the spirit of God, and who hearts are open for the prayers of the Saints in order that proper thoughts and ideas may be suggested to them.

If sermons are prepared beforehand the ideas are suited to the one who makes them, and not often to those to whom he is speaking.

Latter-day Saints should not expect that which is given them by the speaker, not merely as a [illegible] way, but they should adapt their lives to the truths which they receive. The duties of God have a great responsibility resting upon them. The Bishops up to the [illegible] of this [illegible] as the earth is concerned has been entrusted to them and it behooves them to see that they are prepared for the work which devolves upon them.

Elder Angus M. Cannon was the next speaker. He said he was gratified to report that the Bishops in the Stake of Zion are doing faithfully and have the confidence of the people over whom they preside.

There has not been so many High Council meetings as in former years. This speaks well for the people and unless witnesses that the lesser Priesthood exercise themselves in the calling and endeavor to settle difficulties before they reach the Bishops' courts.

There is no improvement to the reports of the bishops wanted for the support of the poor. There has been withdrawn from the Church than during the last six months than in the six months previous, and it is to be hoped that improvement in this direction will continue. The Teachers and lesser Priesthood should urge upon the Saints the necessity of attending their fast meetings, and making their fast offerings. In some of the outlying wards of the Stake there is such a limited number of poor that the people thought they were not called upon to hold fast meetings or make fast offerings. The poor have a tendency to gather into the cities, and there are multitudes of them depending upon the Bishoprics for support. The prevailing notoriety desire the people everywhere to hold their fast meetings and to collect fast offerings. And where there is a surplus it should be reported to the care of the Presiding Bishop that it may go where the same lies of the people are greater than the supply.

The choir sang the anthem:

[illegible]

Benediction by Patriarch John Smith.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Cures

By Hood's Sarsaparilla are wonderful, but the explanation is simple. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, and strengthens and gives vitality to the entire system. "My girl had a disease which the doctors could not cure. She was confined to her bed and for six or seven months the doctor attended without benefit. When she got up she could not walk, but had to be carried from her room. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and could be seen walking about the house. When she had taken one bottle she could walk across the room without crutches. She continued to improve and is now able to attend to her duties. Her appetite was poor, but now she eats well and relishes everything she takes. We cannot say too much for
