EVENING NEWS.

Friday, June 15, 1877.

TO INFIDELITY.

Begone, thou dastard infidelity!
Antithesis of all that's just and true.
Excrescence of insensate subterfuge.
Thou'rt like a slimy snail, that crawls the earth,
Marking its course with film and noxious dregs
Of black apostate alienating power.
Thou art a sly old serpent and thy Breath
Is deadly poison as carbonic fumes,
Confined in subterraneous passages or cells,
Or deepest mines, or caves of mother earth.
Thy tongue is thousand-fork'd with pointed fangs,
And with a sugar-coating of deceit
Speaks suicidal words, which fall
Like drops of liquid into listen'ng ears
Of worshippers before the shrine of Truth.
Thy voice is mellow, winning, musical.
Thy limbs by blighting falsehood are propelled
Towards Truth's green oasis, which lies
In error's desert wastes and prairies vast,
Where arid plains of vanity appear
So uninviting unto virtue's sons.
Insatiate spleen, lust and ingratitude
There mock their victims, fill the air with death,
And bid all beauty fade, all things to die.
All principles of purity and peace
Are banished thence, while thou dost roam at will,
Like vicious reptile killing choicest seeds
And plucking fruits and flowers and tender plants
Of bright intelligence from out the mind.
Thy dark abode is superstition's gloom.
Thy best companions, damning fear and doubt,
Invidious sarcasm, supercilious pride,
Dogmatic censure, misconception, hate.
Hence to thy haunts of misery and shame.
Thou art a dangerous foe to all mankind,
And fain would'st trample reason 'neath thy feet,
Tear wisdom from her high exalted throne,
And stop the source of inspiration sweet,
And vail the glorious and resplendent light
Of revelation's lustre so divine,
Defy the Great Eternal, angels too,
And change the laws that are immutable.
'Tis all in vain, thy efforts all must fail,
Thy doom is sealed, thy end is drawing near,
And all thy votaries must meet their fate
Beneath the crumbling walls of ignorance.
Happy that soul, wherein the lamp of faith
Doth ever brightly burn, ne'er growing dim;
Whose aspirations reach to higher spheres,
Where gods reside and truth doth sit enthroned
Above the countless ages as they roll
And endless progress crowns each grand design.

Worms and Bugs in the East.

The tide of empire moves west, but just now the tide of Bugdom moveth east. The west has had its seige, and the east now suffers. The Middle and New England States are overrun with measurers and potato bugs, and now the seventeen year locusts have piled up the agony. Their clatter is so loud that in passing through any small clump grove where they congregate, no conversation can be had. They silence every word.

Leaves are falling in all the New England towns. The farmers west of New Haven, protected by tar and wooden boxes, are being eaten up. In the vicinity of Hartford and Boston, whole orchards are already destroyed. The famous Connecticut greening will be scarce next fall. Every town and hamlet should have the sparrows, and yet they are not to be found. Brooklyn, the most beautiful shaded city of the east, was overrun with worms until the advent of the sparrow. Now not a worm is there seen. Philadelphia has sparrows in the city proper, while they are wanting in the suburbs. The result is so marked that the line can almost be drawn between birds and no birds, by the appearance of the trees. One side the line the trees are flourishing; on the other they are completely denuded.

We are sorry for our eastern friends. We are recovering rapidly from grasshoppers and kindred pests, while they are just beginning to feel the scourge. We recommend Paris green, and notice that the celebrated Alfred Cook, Vice President of Rutger College and State Geologist of New Jersey, has carefully analyzed potatoes almost grown in Paris green, and reports that he found not a trace of poison after examining bushels. So much for the potatoe bug. The locusts are furnishing food for chickens, and the fowls are growing fat thereon. With remedies at hand we trust that our friends at the East will rapidly overcome their trouble. In the meantime, should they need fruits and cereals we have an abundant supply to which all who want are welcome. —Omaha Herald, June 10.

HIGHEST HONORS

AT THE

UNITED STATES CentennialL World Exhibition, 1876.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS

Unanimously assigned the

"FIRST RANK

IN THE

"SEVERAL REQUISITES" of such Instruments!

The MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. have the honor to announce that the Organs of their manufacture have been unanimously assigned "the FIRST RANK in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of instruments of the class" by the Judges at the CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION at Philadelphia, 1876, and are the ONLY INSTRUMENTS OF THIS GENERAL CLASS AWARDED THIS RANK. This is after the severest competition by the best makers, before one of the most competent juries ever assembled.

They have also received the MEDAL, but, as is well known, medals of equal merit have been "awarded all articles deemed worthy of recognition; so thus it will be easy for many makers to advertise that they have received "first medals."

The differences in competing articles, and their comparative excellence, are recognized in the Reports of the Judges from which the following is an extract:—

"THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.'S exhibit of Reed Organs and Harmoniums shows instruments of the FIRST RANK IN THE SEVERAL REQUISITES OF INSTRUMENTS OF THE CLASS, viz: Smoothness and equal distribution of tone, scope of expression, resonance and singing quality, freedom and quickness in action of keys and bellows, with thoroughness of workmanship, combined with simplicity of action."

(Signed by all the Judges.)

The Mason and Hamlin Organs are thus declared to rank first, not in one or two respects only, but in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of such instruments, and they are the Only ones assigned this rank. This triumph was not unexpected, for the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have uniformly been awarded the highest honors in competitions in America, there having been scarcely six exceptions in hundreds of competitions. They were awarded highest honors and

FIRST MEDALS

PARIS, 1867; VIENNA, 1873; SANTIAGO, 1875 PHILADELPHIA, 1876;

and have thus been awarded highest honors at

Every World's Exposition!

at which they have been exhibited; being the Only American Organs which have ever obtained Any Award at any competition with best European makers, or in any European World's Exposition!

NEW STYLES, with improvements, exhibited at the CENTENNIAL, elegant new cases in great variety. Prices very lowest consistent with best material and workmanship. Organs sold for cash on installments, or rented until rent pays. Every Organ warranted to give entire satisfaction to every reasonable purchaser or THE MONEY REFUNDED. ☞ ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES sent free.
