Escape of a "Friendly" from County Jail Arraigned for Burglary—Buying Cavalry Horses.

On Saturday afternoon James Price, a trusty at the county jail, escaped. The escaped had charge of a team, hence was calling on the outside, and upon return of the warden he fled full horse, in spite of how could be found. The sheriff and other officers followed in the direction he had started out on foot, but have up to this writing been unable to place his whereabouts. Price had convicted two works ago for burglary in the Southern Pacific car house. He was sentenced to three years in the county jail. He has served about three months, he is said to have been a trusty, for he had the run of the jail, and he seemed to have been treated well. He was good enough for him and seemed to be contented. Price is a girl, 19 years of age, weighs 1 or 2 hundred pounds, is 5 feet 10 inches high, and has been in custody for a little but short and pants.

ARRAIGNED FOR BURGLARY.

Guy R. Halloran was arraigned before Judge Hilliard on the charge of committing a burglary at the Union store in the city jail gallery. He was ordered to appear in court for trial before the District court. Not being able to furnish the bonds he was committed to the county jail. Two Italians were arrested charged with the same offense. Their bonds were fixed at $500 each, and they were unable to furnish the bonds demanded. They are also the bonds can be seen a week's lodging in order to do so.

MICHIGAN VOLUNTEERS.

Tuesday, Sheriff, morning the Michigan volunteers passed through the city on their way to the Southern Pacific to join the Sixteenth Pacific and were now transferred on the Rio Grande Western. There were in each 10 of these social Pacifics, twenty-seven horse coaches, with a caboose and baggage car on each section. The boys were in good spirits, and they were delighted to spend a day in Ogden. Good, sweet home.
