An Old Time Actor.

We learn that Mr. Phillip Margetts, the veteran actor and one of the pioneer Thespians of Utah, is about to take a trip to Europe, where he will spend three or four months visiting familiar spots and renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Harry McKean, also an old time supporter of the drama, is to be his traveling companion. Many friends of friend Phil, have expressed a desire to see him on the boards once more before his departure. We believe that in such a play as "Old Phil's Birthday," "The Chimney Corner," or something of that kind, he would be welcomed and draw a large audience. If he could gather around him some of the old members of the company, they, delighted the public here in early times, it would be something out of the ordinary run of entertainments and be very attractive. This is not looking for a benefit, by any means, but an endeavor to be of service to Prince in the invitation from his friends and admirers to show once more before the footlights. Who will take the matter up?

Family Solicitor—How is it that you have such so much lower than all your customers? Jack—I took your advice, sir, and started at the bottom. I stayed there.

THE R. G. W. PROPOSITION.

E. A. Welby of the Rio Grande Western railway company presented a communication in which he stated that his company would comply at once with the order of the council requiring it to plank certain street crossings. He requested that Sixth West, between Second and Fourth South streets, be granted to the company, and the company would deed to the city street through the centre of the block adjoining Sixth West street on the west for the same distance. This would bring the railway yards together and would be safer and more convenient to both the company and the public. Mr. Welby also asked permission to put tracks on the east side of Sixth West street, and a track on the west, from Second to Eighth South. He suggested that a committee be appointed to meet with him and discuss these matters. The matter was referred to a special committee.

THE LICENSE QUESTION.

The following letter from City Auditor Hoag was read:

To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council:

Gentlemen—In answer to a request regarding the license department of the city, I beg to represent that I am familiar with the duties of the office, which are the issuing of licenses and collecting money in payment therefor, and I believe that it has been attended to in a more thorough and systematic manner in the last few months than ever before.

I have a list of 105 firms who had formerly paid city license but were delinquent all the way from one to four years, and I have succeeded in collecting from the recorder's to the treasurer's office, and also a list of 108 firms who had never taken out a license at all, and were doing business in violation of the city ordinance. These were all looked up and made to pay in less than thirty days from the date of the change and since then our firms have been carefully watched, and numbers collected from them as soon as they began business. The revenues from this source have accrued fully 25 per cent. As the work is now divided it is almost impossible for mistakes to occur, inasmuch as each department checks the other, and I do not see how the present system can be improved in any way.

A resolution introduced at the last session of the council, which has for some time depleted the treasury to $125 per month, is now, I believe, a thing of the past, and has never received per month from this city. The treasurer has been paying him $25 a month out of the general fund, as the work performed is fully equivalent.

Received and filed.

ON STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

The committee on streets made the following recommendations: That the pavement grade on First South street, between Fifth and Sixth East, as reported by the engineer, be approved; that the petition of Spencer Clawson and others asking that the name of First East street be changed to Sixth East street, be granted; that the petition of J. C. Conklin and others asking that South Temple street, east of Sixth East, be repaired, be granted; that the petition of J. R. Gillespie and others asking that First North street be repaired, be granted. Adopted.

CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

The committee on claims, to whom was referred the claim of N. A. Larsen for $150 damages for injuries sustained through falling into a trench in front of his premises on South Temple street on June 9th, 1890, recommended that the claim be compromised for $50, and that he be notified and the amount placed on the appropriation list.

THE SPRINKLING QUESTION.

The following report was received from City Recorder Jack:

To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council:

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

A Jury Cannot Agree.—Action to Recover the Value of a Mare—Other Matters.

Judge Anderson had before him the following cases during this morning's sitting:

The jury in the case of James Hamilton, tried yesterday, came in court, stated that they were unable to agree, and were discharged. An application was made by the defendant's attorney to have the case retried immediately but the court ruled that the trial must come on in the ordinary course.

In the case of Schess vs. Schess, which was a divorce suit, the plaintiff, Attorney Barker Ferguson announced that the matter had been settled out of court. It was therefore struck off the docket.

The false pretenses case known as the People vs. C. L. Blake was ordered to be continued to the grand jury.

The case of T. C. Rockledge vs. J. H. Rowman was dismissed.

ABOUT A BROWN-BAY MARE.

The first suit called was that of John T. Stadler, plaintiff, vs. F. A. Mitchell, J. R. Winner and R. T. Burton. This was an action brought to recover the sum of $200, the value of a brown bay mare named "Nellie," which is alleged to have become sick and died through the negligence, inattention and want of proper care on the part of the defendants, for whom Attorney Le Grand Young appeared. Plaintiff was represented by Mr. Ritsey. The case came to the Third District Court on appeal from the lower court.

The facts as set forth on the plaintiff's side were that the mare in question was entrusted to the keeping of the defendants, on the Church farm, in exchange for other services, and was sent to the farm in August of last year, a horse belonging to the plaintiff being also placed there. Mr. Stadler went down to the farm in the month of October and desired to take the animals away, but his payments being overdue, they refused to do so, and he was unable to find the money then, his application was refused. It was afterwards agreed, however, that the horse should be given up and the mare left behind as security. In the early part of January of the present year a message was received by the plaintiff to the effect that he had twelve fields the mare away, as she was in a very sick condition. He did so, and the animal was seen by a veterinary surgeon, who pronounced her to be beyond recovery. She died a few days later, on the 7th, so the plaintiff alleges, to the exposure to which she had been exposed and general inattention to her wants, her condition being poor and emaciated.

A number of witnesses were called, and the plaintiff's case had not concluded at the rising of the court for the noon recess.

BEFORE JUDGE ZANE.

His honor Judge Zane made the following orders in the course of about half-an-hour this morning, and then adjourned until 2 o'clock:

James Sellett et al. vs. Christian Jensen et al. By consent referred to Judge Sutherland to take testimony and report evidence, findings of fact and conclusions of law.

The case of Wm. M. Curtis vs. John T. Harrington, was dismissed by mutual agreement.

Oliver W. Mink et al. vs. the Utah Central Railroad company. On motion of Attorney Lewiston, the plaintiff's case was continued for the term.

The case of S. W. Driggs, Jr., vs. George Brooksbank et al., was continued till 2 p.m. today.

YESTERDAY'S DOCKETS.

The case of J. H. Linck vs. Salt Lake City et al. came up before Judge Zane yesterday afternoon. The matter has been on the tapis for a long time past, and a settlement has now been reached.

The facts, briefly stated, are these: About three or four years ago the plaintiff purchased a part of valuable land, consisting of some thirty acres, on Capitol hill. The city authorities promptly started Mr. Linck and his men from the ground and removed the fences, etc., erected by them. The plaintiff then brought this suit to obtain possession of the land, and damages. It came up originally on demurrer and the demurrer was sustained, but an appeal was taken to the supreme court and the cause was remanded.

It appears from the evidence yesterday afternoon that when the plaintiff went upon the ground, had it surveyed, put up fences and took other steps to secure the title, Mr. Linck testified that Arthur Brown, Judge Morris and Thomas Higgins were interested with him in the scheme and if it succeeded the three lawyers were to have a considerable interest each, while Mr. Higgins was to have one-third and the plaintiff took in the other third. After the conclusion of the evidence for the plaintiff the defense moved for a nonsuit, on the ground that the plaintiff had made out no case. Judge Zane stated that under the law the citizens had the right to acquire the land within a certain time by making application and receiving a deed from the city, or by action or private sale. As this was never done in this case, the title remained in the city. The motion for a nonsuit was therefore sustained.

Before Judge Anderson yesterday afternoon the case of C. L. Blake, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was called up. The prosecution made a motion to dismiss the indictment and re-submit the case to the grand jury. Judge Anderson took the motion under advisement.

The case of H. J. Crandall, charged with petit larceny, was called for trial; H. M. Zane prosecuting and Mr. Schaff for defending. It was alleged that a short time ago the defendant stole a pump belonging to Hutchinson & Bullock, but it also appeared that there was a financial difference between the parties and Crandall took the pump on account of a debt. As there did not appear to have been any criminal intent on the part of the defendant the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

The next case was that of James Hamilton, charged with a crime against nature. The indictment alleged that the offense was committed with one W. D. Burton. The jury had failed to agree at a late hour last night.

Blessings of Synonymy! Teacher—What is a synonym? Bright boy—It's a word you can use to place of another one when you don't know how to spell the other one.

ANOTHER BURGLARY.

This Time Mr. S. P. Nave Receives a Morning Call.

Between the hours of 8:30 and noon yesterday the residence of Mr. S. P. Nave, at the corner of Third and E. streets, in the 21st Ward, was entered by burglars and property stolen to the value of $15. Mrs. Nave left the house shortly after 9 o'clock, locking the back door as she went out, and depositing the key in a secret place close by. The first member of the family to arrive home after this time was Mr. Nave. It was then half past noon. He entered by way of the back door, but—there being no one of the family on the premises when entered to find the front entrance wide open, the screen door being also unlatched. There was a large hole in one of the squares of glass in the sitting room window facing on Third street. This and the forcible opening of the drawers of Mr. Nave's writing-stand, together with the papers strewn in all directions told its own tale. A six-chambered revolver was, however, the only article which was taken from the desk. The thieves seemed to have made a general search through the premises, having literally turned everything upside down, though the only things missing besides the revolver was a lady's gold chain and locket, a lady's plain gold ring, a watch for a gentleman's watch chain, and a lady's gold brooch. It is supposed that the burglars waited Mrs. Nave safely off the ground after locking the back door, and that they then quickly ran down the wire fence in front of the window, broke the pane, turned the catch, lifted up the sash and got in. In all probability they were disturbed when Mr. Nave entered at the rear, and then made a hasty exit the front way. It is very strange that, in broad daylight, with a lady at home, they had been emboldened without the burglars being seen by some one. Mr. Nave has reported the matter to the police—but there it ends so far.

Amusements.

Milton Nobles at Salt Lake Theatre. Repertoire: "From Sire to Son," Monday; "Love and Law," Tuesday; "Wolfert's Revenge," Wednesday; "Love and Law" is a remarkably clever play. The language is very bright and always quite in the situation. It is a pleasing dramatic, and developed with consummate skill. Mr. Nobles is a comedian in the truest sense.

THE BRIGHAM CONCERT.

The Brigham concert came off last evening at the Salt Lake Theatre. It was an exceptional one, and it was to please the most fastidious. The audience comprised many of the most cultured people of Salt Lake city. The upper realms of the theatre were almost as lonely as the halls of Balaclavia, the mansion of Oudan's forefathers. The lower part of the house was crowded.

The concert was opened by the Apollo club, 30 strong, in "The Spirit Wind." The rendering was excellent, and an encore was demanded. Professor Keane gave a piano solo, which only confirmed the already well established popular estimate of his abilities, that he is an artist of the first order. Mr. Brigham's tenor solo, "Love and Night," was the crowning glory of the evening. His soft liquid tones, which were full of tenderness, pathos and harmony, fairly charmed the listeners. Of course he was encored and applauded to the echo. Wilford Webb's violin solo, "Mi Alma," and Miss Jones' soprano solo, "Casta Diva," were gems of exquisite taste and skill.

The programme consisted of new numbers, all artistically given. The last, a serenade, "The Dewey Wore," was performed by Mr. Brigham and the Apollo club.

A Rosrich Sprinkler.

There is a teamster who runs one of the street sprinkling wagons on Main Street whose contemptible conduct is liable to get him into trouble. As he passes along where there is a knot of people, even when it is composed wholly or in part of ladies, waiting for a car, or for some other purpose, instead of politely turning off a little so as to allow it to drop, splashing the clothing of those within range of the stream. Numbers of persons have pointed, but he generally rides in blissful ignorance. We have not learned the name of the fellow. He is short of stature and still shorter in the matter of good manners. Somebody subjected to the annoyance in which he deals should have him arrested, providing his employers do not appropriately whisper to his ear.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

Address by Hon. L. O. Jeffers on that Subject in the Federal Court Room Last Night.

There was a rather meagre attendance at the silver meeting held in the Federal court room last night.

Hon. L. O. Jeffers, as an advocate for free silver, spoke in substance as follows:

"Utah, with one exception, would receive a greater benefit from foreign legislation than any other locality. California, Colorado, Montana, Idaho and Utah produce $40,000,000 in silver, and be estimated that the total in the states for $4,000,000 by free coinage. Utah would profit by such legislation at least $2,000,000.

"Great Britain, France and other countries, there are States 72 monetary metals. Illinois has not been touched, but Congress was allowed to choose for herself two metals. If $100,000 were spent in educating the country up to the silver question, I think Utah would be set in return. Silver mining has scarcely been developed in your Territory. No wonder you are not attention to the study of political economy but knows that the settlings of all the gold and silver produced would not pay the interest on enough money, and we would all be impelled to resort to paper money. One thing I would suggest, and that is that instead of the standard of 16 to 1 we should use the Latin standard. The United states by joining hands with the Latin nations could maintain silver in spite of all and disasters. Cheers.

On last December when President Harrison was preparing his message to Congress, a committee of three called on him—myself being one of the committee—and we presented the fact to him that the legislation of the country for the last twenty-five years had been in the interest of Wall street and gold. Mr. Harrison said that he was nothing within his power to do but that he was willing to do to bring silver to a parity with gold. I told him that if he wanted to bring silver to a parity with gold he could do it by giving his assent to a free coinage law. Mr. Harrison declined to accept the proposition, saying that he was not agree with you." and he added, "But I believe that I can argue the question with you." From 1873, when it was first known that silver was demonetized in the United States, England has lowered our silver at 37 and 38 cents, and has coined it into rupees at $1.25% and kept circulating it upon India. To meet the men of lesser and trains to produce silver for the benefit of England for that one cent benefit. Free silver would make every valley in these mountains blossom. Do not the people of Salt Lake see that it is to their interest to keep on agitating the question? If we are going to educate the people of this country up to free coinage, when next presidential election it must be done this year. I do not believe that either party will declare in favor of free coinage, as Wall street has too great a hold on the national conventions. All, in the Senate, we can count on is 12 to 20. If we keep this agitation up we will get enough votes to carry it over the Presidential vote—but I don't think he would dare to veto it.

When I left Washington we had demands for more literature than we had on hand, and we hadn't a dollar to start the presses going. We want you other men to send your tickets to help the work along."

Mr. Trumbo introduced the following resolution, which carried unanimously:

"Resolved, That a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Jeffers for his very able address on the silver question and that we heartily endorse his sentiments on this important question and pledge ourselves to assist the national silver committee."

Exciting Runaway.

A span of high-spirited horses attached to a canvas-topped carriage came dashing down South Temple street at a high rate of speed, about noon today, without a driver. Several persons narrowly escaped being run over. The outfit was brought to an abrupt standstill in front of the Jennings' residence by colliding with a real wagon. The carriage was considerably damaged and the horses more or less injured. The driver arrived almost breathless on the spot and removed his property to other quarters.

Gilbody—Are the people who live next door to you rich? Gus de Smith—I should say so. You ought to see the silverware they carry to the pawnbroker.

"Cadley's father made his money in liquor, didn't he?"

"Yes, and Cadley's getting rid of it in the same thing."

A PANICKY FEELING.

Hutchison Mysteriously Disappears and Cannot be Found.

CHICAGO, April 29.—There was a very panicky feeling in the grain pits this morning. July wheat opened 1012 to 1012, again 100 1 at the close. It advanced to 102 and up to its close fluctuated between that and 101. Corn was also lower at the opening, followed by a rally. The break in prices was caused by the rumor that B. P. Hutchinson, the veteran speculator, was in financial trouble. No facts in evidence were given by those who talked of the matter, though it was reported that he had had heavy losses in wheat and corn on the recent heavy advance, and on the subsequent break Hutchinson was not to be found upon the floor of the exchange, and nothing could be learned as to the real situation of his affairs. The early rumors died, but later ones said that Hutchinson was mysteriously missing. Inquiry at the office of the Corn Exchange of the National bank brought out the confirmation of the rumors. Vice-President Hamnill of the bank said his family had not seen him since yesterday afternoon, when the bank closed.

The supposition among Hutchinson's friends is that he has wandered away in a fit of temporary mental alienation. The actual condition of Hutchinson's affairs is not known, though it is understood that nearly all of his trades have been closed out. A private dispatch from Milwaukee says that all his deals there have been closed. Whatever is his financial condition it is believed that any one will loss anything through him.
