THE DISTRICT COURT.

Postponement of the Devine-Montague Hearing Till Next Tuesday.

E. G. FOSTER AGAIN LIBERATED.

Matters Called Up Before Judge Merritt This Morning.—An Unusually Short Session.

Chief Justice Merritt sat this morning in his division of the Third district court and I Relented to motions by counsel. The following matters came up:

The hearing on the alternative writ of mandate issued by Chief Justice Merritt on Wednesday last, calling upon Chief Devine of the fire department to restore Charles H. Montague, a deposed member of the brigade, to his former position, had been set down as one of the special matters for disposal in the Third district court this morning, and by arrangement between counsel (Judge Powers for the petitioner and Judge Hoge for the fire chief) the case went over until Thursday next.

DYING OF CONSUMPTION.

E. G. Foster, formerly the keeper of a saloon on the Slate road, has been of late in very bad health. Some time last year he was arrested on the complaint of a witness on a charge of stealing money from him—while sitting with women of questionable character in his saloon. The case was tried in the police court before Justice Cox and the accused was acquitted, the court finding that there was no evidence to show Foster had anything whatever to do with the alleged theft. Subsequently, however, the matter was taken before the grand jury of the Third district court, who in November last found an indictment against Foster for grand larceny. He was admitted to bail, but recently failed to surrender, whereupon his bondsmen withdrew. A week or so ago, consequently, the defendant was rearrested and taken to the penitentiary, where he has since remained, a very sick man, to the infinitely of that establishment. Foster is said to be now in the last stage of consumption, and is not expected to live more than six months longer.

Under these circumstances Assistant District Attorney Howat this morning applied to Judge Merritt that the defendant be released on his own recognizance, and his Honor made an order to that effect.

Colonel M. M. Ralphs is the defendant's attorney, and through his representations the prosecution was induced to present the motion.

DIVORCED.

Judge Merritt granted a divorce to Mrs. Amy Albright from her husband, Charles C. Albright, on the simple ground of desertion. The case was tried by default. Mrs. Albright was the only witness and the recital of her story did not occupy more than three minutes. The parties intermarried in this city on May 26th, 1893, and in February, 1895, the defendant left his wife and she not since conditioned anything towards her support. When solicited to return he gave as an excuse that he was "sick and didn't want to come home any more."

A. L. Ellis, jr., was the plaintiff's attorney.

GENERAL ORDERS.

In the case of the People vs Fred Alnutt and Elias Thomas, indicted for burglary, the latter, on motion of the prosecution, was released on his own recognizance.

Alma Emmett vs the Utah Gold Mining Co. Motion to set aside previous order and for leave to interpose answer and counter. Point on appeal fixed at $15,000.

Louis Schlesinger vs Edward Ganter et al. Dismissed at plaintiff's costs.

American National Bank vs J. A. Marks et al. Order made of publication on affidavit on the defendant Knox.

Francis J. Gleason vs Wallace H. Clawson et al. Default and judgment.

Holmes Manufacturing Co. vs R. H. Marks et al. Default and judgment.

John T. Stolzen vs Elbridge Tuttle. Five days time allowed to prepare and file new bond upon showing of insufficiency of present bond.

H. W. Brown et al vs Joseph S. Lakin. Leave given to amend papers by interlineation of the name of "Josiah" instead of "Joseph" in the original service having been made under the erroneous name.

Wisenoski vs Page. In this suit T. R. Hughes withdrew as attorney for defendant.

Mormel Edwards vs John Grosstess et al. Order made allowing Frank T. Hunt, Robert T. Burton jr and A. H. Ireland to be added as parties defendant.

Court adjourned at 11:30 till 10 a.m. on Monday.

JARMAN AND JARMAN.

A Son's Manly, Straightforward Letter to His Erring Father.

The Brief Reply Shows Neither Affection for nor Interest in the Welfare of the Son.

Utah people who are familiar with the outrageous proceedings of William Jarman in England and with his former record here will be interested in the following communications. The first is written by an exemplary young man who resides in this city until his departure for England a short time since. His home is still here, the reason of his absence being stated in his letter to Wm. Jarman, his father. He says:

Dear Father—I take great pleasure in writing to you that I am now in London, having been called to England to preach the Gospel of Jesus Christ to any and all who would may come in contact. I know my message is true and the power of God unto salvation unto all who yield obedience thereunto.

My dear father, I do sincerely hope and pray that you may ere long see the error of telling the people that the Mormons murdered your son. I am now compelled to refute your erroneous and false statement. Think of my position as your son, I having to perform so unhallowed a task; but the truth must be told and it is mighty and will prevail.

I hope and earnestly pray to our Father in heaven to open your eyes and see your wonderful position, and repent and be brought again to the true light of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. The Lord is very merciful and will be ready to forgive you of all past sins if you honestly repent and turn from your past ways and worship him with all your heart. Paul of Damascus was a great persecutor to the saints, but when he repented, God forgave him and he became a great man in building his great work on the earth.

My dear father, do think of your future life and the fearful consequences of fighting God's great work. What does it profit a man, though he gain the whole world, if he lose his whole soul? My dear father, do stop and consider your condition. You are now getting along in years, and I feel very much pained when I read and hear people repeat what you have said about the Mormons. You know in your heart that they are the best and most honest and virtuous people on earth. People know your statements are false. I would be pleased to shake a repentant father by the hand and feel proud to owning respect for such man.

I received a letter from Ida while she was in Chicago, and I must take one goodbye when I left home. Mother and all at home are well and happy. My health is good and I hope to be successful in the Lord's service.

Believe me to remain very sincerely,
Your affectionate son,
ALBERT EDDY JARMAN.

Following is the curt reply received by the son:

MINES AND BUSINESS.

Reported Discovery of Gold in the Town of Lehi.

PEOPLE WILD WITH EXCITEMENT.

The Find is Along the Railway Track.—The Union Rock.—News From Nevada and Other Place.

The city of Lehi, Utah county, has got a big thing in the sugar industry, and in the prospective development of gold mines at Tintic, nine miles northwest of the town; but there are few if any people who had an idea that right in the city was a vast gold field of wonderful richness. Yet such is actually the case if the news brought to this city last evening be true. J. W. Pitts, of the Eleventh ward, came up on last evening's train from the south, and stated that the people of Lehi were wild with excitement over a discovery made there yesterday, of gold in good paying quantities right in the city. The precious metal was found alongside the railway track, and people from all around are hunting the Mr. Pitts has been out to Tintville, from which he went to Lehi. He will soon return to the latter place.

AT TINTVILLE.

The news for Tintville does not seem to have abated in the least, and the prospects for gold ever more severe to be brighter than ever. In fact that whole section of country is believed by experienced miners to entitled to be classed as equal to the great California Geneverlies of 1849. Many claims are being staked off. Assays made show $27 in gold to the ton.

CAMP FLOYD.

The snow is disappearing rapidly and a great deal of prospecting is going on in the Camp Floyd district.

The Mercur Herald says that last fall seven young men connected with the electric light works of Salt Lake came out and prelied that lost over the Oquirrh mountains, which were developing some prospects. They have worked steadily all winter, coming home only at Christmas. They now report that they have struck a vein of gold and silver and enough by them has been supply treasured by the development to the Clear Gulf of a Rio Grey of pay ore.

Charlie Jacobs, who, with Judge Sherman, struck ore in the recently abandoned Mercur mines, was in town Tuesday, wearing a very happy and genial paying. He says that so long the lost of ore were stolen last week, and that the ore body is developing in a manner more gratifying. Yesterday he only had a little from the well in Well canyon.

Last Friday night the miners in the Iowa shaft encountered a strong flow of water, which compelled them to cease operations, and to have work done to drain the shaft a pump is put in. As in the gangrine, the water was encountered in the black rock.

Dust to the week just not valued at $[illegible] was shipped from the Mercur mill.

Mineral is on the ground at the Mercur mill for the manufacture of a small building for compact having decided to extract the gold from the product of the mill, thus avoiding the expense of moving it away for treatment.

THE UNION ROCK.

The Union National rock is no longer in existence in that capacity, but is now Walker Brothers' rock, a private institution. The company from which operated the Union National rock has sold its entire holdings to the private firm, which has also taken charge of offices, shops are being taken to move the corporation. The Union has notified the secretary of the U. S. treasury of the change, and notified him that it has all the deposits at its customers on hand to cash.

NOTES.

Secretary Wardlaw of the Bureau of Manufactures, states that all exhibits in the mine industry fair should have their exhibits in not later than Monday noon.

Mount Pleasant Pyramid: Israel A. J. Dennis, who has been teaching school at Birch creek for the past six or seven months, passed through Mt. Pleasant last week on his way to southern Utah, where he intends to take up land and devote himself to farming. Mrs. Dennis accompanies him.

Winder (president) and all the other members of the board were present except Mr. Melville.

Off to the Coast.

Colonel H. C. Lett, of the Utah Commission, will leave on this evening's train for Los Angeles, Cal., accompanied by his daughter, and expects to be absent about a month. The many friends of the Colonel will join in the hope that the trip will prove the means of restoring him to perfect health.

City Payrolls.

Auditor Reynolds states this afternoon that he was paying off all city payrolls today up to the first of the present year except those of the police and county building. The claims were paid to date.

Going to Be Married.

A marriage license was issued by the county clerk this afternoon to Anton Julius Pohlz, aged 30, and Ilo Jane Chaney, 22, both of this city.

Kendall's Claim Vetoed.

The claim of ex-Fred Imposen Kendall, amounting to $[illegible] for back salary, for his month's employment as the president's private secretary. The mayor still thinks the Utah office that Kendall is not entitled to pay for any services he may have performed after he was discharged.

Going West.

The health of Col. H. C. Lett, which has been very poor for a long time, has improved so that he now says he will take a trip to California, in the hope of being benefited thereby. He leaves on this evening's train. The News hopes the trip will prove beneficial and speedily restore his health.
