Several men were in the shaft house a short time before. Whether they got out alive is not known. All telephone wires in this city and the hills has been cut. RIOT DISPERSED BY RAIN.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 25.—A mob rose last night dispersed several mobs and averted bloodshed. The first took fright near Perryville and marched to Moyer over muddy roads preceded by bands. When the strikers arrived within a quarter of a mile of the plant they were met by a delegation who told them that seventy-five men were guarding the plant and that gatling guns were ready for action. The strikers turned towards the summit but became exhausted, and after many had fallen by the wayside, the mob dispersed.

A second mob of 1,000 marched to Jacobs to make an attack at daybreak, but the wind and rain so lessened their ardor that they sought shelter at Dunbar a large mob also scrambled for cover as soon as they learned the company had secured an injunction. The operators claim heavy gain at all plants today.

A FUSILADE OF BULLETS.

CENTRALIA, May 25. — Fifty Dupont miners at 3 o'clock this morning crept stealthily to the Owen Dunn mines. The first knowledge of their approach was wave a fusilade of bullets was fired against the mine company's office. Fortunately the guards were absent fifteen minutes. They returned the fire, and the assailants fled. So far as known no one was hurt. At 6 o'clock the troops arrived and the town was put under military guard.

News has reached here from Dupont that more strikers are endeavoring to steal a train and come here. At Breese the strikers are preparing to march.

YESTERDAY'S BATTLE GROUND.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 25. — At Washington Run plants, where the battle occurred yesterday, all is quiet today. The workmen there have struck. The night was one of terror, owing to the report that 4,000 men from the River district were marching on Mickle Rolls to avenge the death of their comrades. This match was abandoned when President Calloway of the Pittsburg district arrived last evening. The River miners have been cautioned by the leaders to keep within the law.

The inquest on the four dead strikers executed the deputies. The coroner, however, says the inquest was unofficial and adjourned. Deputy Sheriff Richard is to hold another inquest today.

THREE HUNDRED MINERS ON THE WAR PATH.

SPRINGFIELD, May 25.— Governor Aligeld today received a telegram from Sheriff Dowell, Williamson county, saying three hundred miners from Marquisborough, many armed, arrived at Carterville this morning and stopped within half a mile of St. Louis at the Big Muddy Coal company's works, threatening to destroy them and kill the manager and superintendent. Governor Aligeld declines to send troops.

A FRUITLESS CONFERENCE.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—A fruitless conference of mine operators and owners and representative coal miners of the southern district of Illinois was held here today. The strikers insisted that the national organization be recognized and a settlement made through the committee appointed at Chicago. The operators will deal only with those directly interested in southern Illinois work.

A FIERCE ENGAGEMENT.

The train bearing the deputies reached Victor at 10 o'clock. Armed miners immediately surrounded the deputies and the fighting began. It is not known whether any was killed. The deputies finally sought shelter in the Independence mine shaft house, but they were driven out and are now in the hills east of the mine. Hundreds of miners armed with Winchesters are patrolling the roads. Another shaft house, as well as Strong, has been fired. Report that Pat Sullivan is now on the way to the Victor and Portsmouth mines and after blowing up the shafts there intend to proceed to the Summit mine. At Sunnyside Hill the miners have barricaded of logs and are plentifully supplied with explosives.

At 1 p.m. eighteen or twenty deputy sheriffs have surrendered to the strikers, being told that if they surrender their rifles and side arms they will receive no personal injury. They are being marched to the city under a strong guard but it is an open question if they will go here safely.

The Bar Tender Defies the Authorities of Rhode Island.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., May 25.—Four policemen and the city engineer visited Edward Cunningham's unlicensed saloon, which is located in a cellar of a house standing on the Massachusetts and Rhode Island state line. The engineer traced the line and found that it ran entirely along the inner edge of the bar and that all the liquor was in Massachusetts. The house stands in three towns, Blackstone, Bellingham and Woonsocket. The bar tender can stand in Massachusetts and sell liquor in Rhode Island. The police were obliged to leave without making any arrests. Cunninghams has things so arranged that he can defy the officers.

SAVED FROM A HORRIBLE DEATH.

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 25. — Miss Eleanor Marks, 22 years old, of Mount Prospect, several days ago was seized with a severe cold and grew worse and apparently died. While the coffin was being borne from the hearse to the grave a faint gurgling attracted the attention of the pall bearers, and upon the coffin lid being raised, Miss Marks was found to be alive. She was revived and is recovering.

Miss Marks represents that she has a knowledge of all that passed while the preparations were being made for her burial, but that she was unable to give any sign for fear of burial alive.

LOST IN THE MOUNTAINS.

A Message Found in a Bottle in the Skagit River.

MOUNT VERNON, Wash., May 25.—While four well known citizens were crossing the Skagit river in a canoe they found an old quinine bottle floating in the swift current. In it was a paper with the following letter written upon it:

"Headwaters of South Fork, Cascade Creek, April 15, 1894.

"I have been in the mountains for the past three weeks, snow-bound and having had nothing to eat for three days. We are starving for fear to get out alive. You will find me when the snow goes off. I am almost will. For God's sake try and save me. I have a wife in Mt. Vernon. Her name is Mary Jacobson. In the name of God, what shall I do? Save me!

"H. J. JACOBSON."

The point designated on the letter is about 125 miles above this place, and the snow the last winter up there is reported to have been twenty-five feet deep. Telegrams have been sent from here to parties at Rock City, 75 miles up the river, to investigate the matter.

Mail Carriers on "Bikes."

CHICAGO, May 25.—If the postoffice department listens to Postmaster Hesing, a large number of the letter carriers of the Chicago force will soon be mounted on wheels and will do their mail work with "bikes." Investigation of the question of over-time, which has engaged the attention of the postmaster and his assistants for several weeks, it has been discovered a few of the carriers when monitored on cycles can make better time over their routes than their companions, who walk and use the street cars when occasion offers.

THE BERENT TRIAL.

Foul Smith Before the Presbyterian Governor Assembly.

BALTIMORE, May 25.—The first hour of the Presbyterian general assembly today was set apart for the reception of delegates from the Baptist anniversary in session here.

The Berent case was then taken up. The argument of Elder Daniel R. Shields, member of the Cincinnati presbytery committee, referred as a precedent and for reversal, a 1-2 ago. The hand clapping was stopped by the moderator's gavel and vigorous hissing.

At 11 o'clock Professor Smith began his reply. He regretted that the committee sought to implore the assembly with the belief that he did not value the Bible highly. He always entertained its lively that book. Professor Smith discussed the objection he had made to members to the lower court, who had published impressions concerning his guilt.

The general says that they will move here before next Monday and march to Kansas City where they expect transportation. If the compromise is not accepted yet Sanders and the engineer and firemen will not be tried until September and the army will be free to go to Washington or any other place.

TO THE FRONT TODAY

Chief Pratt and a Squad of Police Go Up to Davis County This Morning.

PREPARED FOR A LONG SIEGE.

Many of the Vegetable Gardens Between Salt Lake and Ogden Laid Bare by the Weakies.

Following the injunction from the Third district court Chief Pratt and a squad of twenty-two Salt Lake policemen went up to Davis county this morning on the 8 o'clock Rio Grande Western train prepared to take part in the turning back of the horde of tramps and weakies who left Ogden yesterday.

They also took with them a box of Winchester rifles for Sheriff Wood's mounted deputies who were sworn in last night. The latter this morning numbered something over thirty. They are all carefully selected men and it is stated that they can be depended upon to do nothing rash.

Sheriff Wood has already provisions enough in the field to last three days and he says he can get as long a supply should that be necessary. The productive vegetable gardens of Davis county have in many places been completely laid waste by the ravages of "industrial" impedimenta, and the people feel that they cannot afford to feed the hordes of weakies that continue to come in to swarm upon them. The purpose now is to prevent them from crossing the line which separates Davis and Weber counties.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC REPENTING.

Officials Declare They Will Bring No More Industrialists to Utah.

Mayor Baskin talked with Governor West over the telephone this afternoon. The Governor has been in Ogden all day and stated to the Mayor that he had consulted with the officials of the Southern Pacific at that place and that they declare they will bring no more of the industrial army into Utah Territory.

This seventh-hour repentance on the part of the S. P. does not seem to satisfy the Governor nor the Mayor, who think the statement should be taken with the traditional grain of salt. The fact that a permanent injunction has been sought for and that the prospects of securing it were most favorable is accepted as the cause of the sudden change of front on the part of the railroad officials. The promise they make, however, is in substance will not become a relinquishment of the idea that the "industrials" at the Weber and Davis county lines must be turned back. The Davis county officials say the men will not be allowed to come this way, and they have strong support from Salt Lake. A good many of the officials of Weber county do not take kindly to holding the men where they are at present. They think they should be permitted to continue their journey eastward, believing that to be the only solution to the question as it now stands.

BEING FED AT OGDEN.

But Are to Start Towards Salt Lake This Afternoon.

Special to the DESERET NEWS.

OGDEN, May 25.—At 1 o'clock this afternoon the last detachment of Pacific coast industrials to come to this city were on the Weed were still at the stock yards in the western part of town. They have been well fed and cared for by the responsible City Relief Committee and are preparing to start towards Salt Lake. They number about one hundred and fifty, while there are three hundred and fifty near the line which divides this county from Davis.

Small straggling squads still continue to come in so every Southern Pacific train and how long they will continue to do so will depend largely on the action of the county court, which is in session at this time. The result of the deliberations of that body is awaited with great interest by the citizens here.

Suspense at Layton.

Special to the DESERET NEWS.

The following message was received from Layton, the nearest point to the camp of the 250 Industrialists, at 2 o'clock this afternoon:

I have heard nothing from the seize or disposal of consequence beyond the fact that the army is still on the other side of the county line, being held there by the sheriff and deputies, and the Salt Lake police. A great many men have gone up there by trains and on foot. Breakfast from all of the surrounding towns and all is suspense here at this time.

LAYTON, 2:30 p. m.—Nothing has been heard from the "army" or our own officers further than indicated in today's next article in the afternoon. All is quiet, though everybody is on the tiptoe of expectancy.

LAYTON, 4:00.—A special messenger from the camp of the 250 at Davis county and Salt Lake City officials are simply waiting at the dividing line for the army. As yet it has not put in an appearance.

Camping at South Salt Lake.

There are a good many "industrials" in the city here who appear to belong to no particular company or regiment. They find shelter in the 100 or more box cars standing on side tracks at South Salt Lake, at nights and during the day only forth in search of food. In addition to these, others of the same character are scattered about town and retreat upon what they can get by begging from door to door.

Enough Police Here.

Captain Donovan stated today that the absence of Chief Pratt and so many of the Salt Lake police force would in no way interfere with proper official protection here, as there were enough men in a quiet time, by resting in 12-hour shifts, to get along with very well. The men at home are now on duty twelve hours a day instead of eight, as is the usual rule.

THE COMMONWEAL HORDES.

An Injunction Granted to Davis County Last Night.

Davis county has now come to the front and demanded legal protection against the troublesome commonwealers.

Last evening an injunction suit was planted in the Third District court, in which it was prayed that the "weakies" be restrained by order of court from entering upon the Davis county territory. The document in question ran as follows:

The said plaintiff complaining of said defendants, John Doe, Richard Roe and 249 others, whose names are unknown, alleges: That said plaintiff is a municipal corporation organized, incorporated and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the Territory of Utah; the plaintiff is informed and believes and on information and belief alleges the fact to be that said defendants, whose true names are to the aforesaid unknown to the plaintiff, are indigent persons, without any visible means of support, and without any lawful business or occupation whereby to secure; that said defendants have combined together to march into and Davis county in a body, and by force and force and threats to drive out from the industrials of said Davis county, food and clothing, and that said defendants threaten to, and unless restrained by the order of this court will so march into said county and resist food and clothing from the inhabitants thereof, and that said defendants threaten to, and unless restrained by an order of this court will march into said Davis county and become subject under the law to prosecution as such vagrants, and that the prosecution of said defendants as vagrants will cause a multiplicity of suits; and that plaintiff believes on information and belief alleges that unless restrained by order of this court said defendants will by their conspiracy or aforesaid unlawfully become and be dependent for their support upon said Davis county, to the irreparable damage of the same.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that said defendants and each of them and every person acting with them be restrained from marching into, upon or through Davis county, or any part thereof, and from in any manner coming into said Davis county or any part thereof.

The complaint was sworn to by Oliver Wood, sheriff of the county, Charles E. Pearson, county attorney of Davis county, E. D. Hoge and W. G. Van Horn are attorneys for the plaintiff.

THE INJUNCTION.

Upon the complaint being laid before Chief Justice Zane the injunction ordered that the said John Doe, Richard Doe and all persons acting in concert and traveling with them, and all other commonwealers, agents and comrades, and all others in aid or assistance of them or each of them, absolutely desist and refrain from marching into, upon or through said Davis county, or any part of said county, or from in anywise coming into said Davis county or any part thereof.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Brigham Young Academy Proceedings at Provo.

The Program Carried Out at the Close of the School Year 1893-4—An Interesting Time.

PROVO, May 25, 1894.—The closing exercises of the Brigham Young Academy occur this week. This institution, founded eighteen years ago, has steadily grown in public favor, and is today as near alike to itself and to the great cause of which it is a worthy and efficient exponent. The history of its progress reveals much of the prominent talents of Dr. Karl G. Maeser, who gave to the institution some of the best years of a life thoroughly devoted to the cause of education and truth. The academy is now in charge of Prof. B. Cluff, Jr., who, with an efficient corps of instructors, is maintaining the excellent standing that Brigham Academy has enjoyed, and whose services have been eminently satisfactory to his patrons. From the academy have gone students who have shed lustre upon themselves and upon their alma mater.

Before the hour assigned for the exercises to take place yesterday, a News representative was shown through the building and saw work exhibited in the sheriff-mail department, in the art department and in the general display of the products of the students, among which were very neat specimens of penmanship, fancy work by the young ladies, including dresses, embroidery, quilts, carpets, etc. There also was an exhibition of school work, very unique and interesting, by the little ones, penmanship, building designs, drawings and various other articles too numerous to mention. Suffice it to say, the exhibit was in every respect a creditable one, and showed the efficiency of the institution.

At two o'clock, the commencement assembly room was comfortably filled with friends and patrons. The room was neatly decorated with white and blue, emblems of the college colors. At the back of the platform was the inscription "Our Temple of Learning," beneath which was an engraving of President Young, above and beneath which was the American flag with patriotic sentiment. At ten o'clock, marching to appropriate music, there filed in the orchestra upon which were to be seated the graduating class, first came the seventh grade students, followed by those of the eighth, then the normal students and last of all the graduates of this year, seven in number.

The exercises were opened by singing under the direction of Professor Giles, which was followed by prayer by Professor J. H. Keeler. Then came an instrumental solo, succeeding which was the principal's report. Miss Nellie Holliday sang beautifully, Our Temple of Learning, the audience joining in the chorus. The exercise was composed for the occasion by Prof. Cluff.

An address was given by Elder A. H. Cannon of Salt Lake. He counseled the students as they entered upon the stage of life to prepare themselves fully for its activities and responsibilities. It is only the man who makes most of the talents given him that makes a success in life, meaning by success, fulfilling within his sphere. The successful man is the exception, not the rule. Attention was called to the words of Daniel Webster, who in speaking of competition in the profession of law, said: "There is plenty of room at the top." There is no room in the world for the sluggard. In the age of activities, thought and progress, he who drives deep into the heavens, whether, who, forces his ideal high, and attempts by every possible means to reach it is the man who rises to the highest sense, the final standard. A strong appeal was made to prosecute earnestly the work chosen for life. Spoken of as a young man for the ministry or profession, and thus devote your best energies to your life's work. The address was delivered in a forcible manner, and was heartily appreciated by all present.

The audience was cast favored with a violin solo, by Prof. Cluff, of Salt Lake, who responded to a hearty encore.

Certificates to members of the seventh and eighth grades, and to those of the Sunday school and M. I. A. courses, and diplomas to the graduates of the normal were then presented by Principal Cluff, assisted by Elder Abraham O. Woodruff, President A. O. Smoot, of the academy board, and by George Goddard, of Salt Lake City. It was an inspiring spectacle to witness these two venerable men, the work of whose lives is nearing its end, commending those who are just entering upon the battle of life, and who are hoping in closing their remarks they wished them a hearty God speed to their future career.

At 2 p. m. the alumni exercises were held. Prayer was offered by the chaplain, B. S. Hinckley, followed by a fine station by Dr. J. M. Tanner, who spoke of the work being done in Utah, and the progress made in educational lines. He spoke of shame in our present educational systems, and concluded by his audience the ideal of the future.

The alumni song was finely rendered by Mrs. D. Pike, and the audience at 3 p. m. Messrs. Hoyt, Hoyt and Hoyt, in a brilliant and appreciatively given. In the absence of E. A. Wilson, the alumni poem was read by Prof. Nelson, the author, amid hearty applause. The alumni oration, "Our Alma Mater," which was to have been given by Hon. W. B. King, was well presented by one of the graduates, Mr. W. E. Spindler. "The Students Report," by Prof. L. E. Eggertsen, "The Alumni of the Future," by Prof. Cluff, and the "History of the Academy," by Prof. H. E. Giles, followed in order.

In the evening the alumni ball was given and was as usual an enjoyable occasion.

By reason of the length of the exercises, the faculty decided to have the essays read and oration delivered today. The morning at 10 o'clock, a program under the auspices of the normals was rendered, the faculty being present as various.

Furthermore the program was the class president's address, by Henry Peterson, after which was a production in black verse, by Miss Lucy Young. H. S. Tanner was an "Tree Class of the Nineteenth Century," and the "Class Humor" by J. W. Booth. The class historian's address by Lillie Robinson was next in order, "Progressionists" succeeding, by J. M. Jensen. "The Student's Fantasies and Realities" was made the subject of an essay by Miss Mazel L. Thurman. The valedictory was by Miss Mary Woodruff.

In the afternoon the program of exercises was under the auspices of the commercial students, the teaching force being again present as visitors. To Francis W. Kirkham was assigned the class president's address. Miss Whiting had the subject "A Commercial Student's Aim," D. F. Stevens "A Dream," and Edgar Reid the valedictory.

Attorneys of those cases requiring a good deal of time to sift the merits of it that is Geo. F. Culbert vs Francis D. Clift, it had already occupied a day and a half when just before Judge Merritt adjourned court yesterday afternoon a motion for a non-suit was made by the defendants counsel. His honor took the case under advisement until this morning, when he overruled it, and when once the case was taken up the defendant introducing his testimony.

The plaintiff seeks to recover a certain sum for work and materials furnished in the construction of the Gladstone block. The defendants plead an offset to the claim.

The hearing is proceeding as the News goes to press.

TAKEN AWAY TO NEPHI.

A pretty little party of twenty-two, all bearing allegiance to the ranks of the commonwealers, made a trip from the penitentiary to Nephi this morning, with Deputy U. S. Marshal Fowler acting as their guardian. The officer arrived in Salt Lake last evening bearing thirty-five indictments found by the grand jury at Nephi against these men, six of whom belong to Carter's contingent and served time with the "pioneers" in the penitentiary, and sixteen are from Thistle. Some are charged with train stealing, others with riding and inciting to riot. It had been arranged that the other thirteen should also be taken up from the jail and proceed with the twenty-two to Nephi. When all have been arraigned and pleed they will start back for Salt Lake, and are expected to reach here this evening. It is believed that the trials will take place at Provo.
