UNION THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

Commencement of the Second Year Since the Briggs Trouble.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Union Theological seminary began the second year since the outbreak of the famous Briggs trouble by holding a formal and festive gathering. In the presence of the students, faculty and directors, the Rev. Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Brooklyn, speaking for the directors of the seminary, outlined the future course of instruction in that institution, namely: To persist in the use of biblical criticism for which Dr. Briggs is now undergoing trial for heresy. In part he said:

"We have come here for spies or suspicious men looking around for political teachings. Gentlemen who let it be widely in a union seminary and they must be on the lookout for mistakes and better go to other institutions. On the other hand if there are men who in the days of their youth become so broad they lean to rationalistic views of inspiration or shipwreck they need have no expectation of finding congenial atmosphere in this place. They will find only here the most liberal, the most spiritual, the most evangelical teachings concerning the divine inspiration and divine Christ."

TWO NEW VESSELS.

An Important Addition to the Navy.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 29.—The two vessels for which proposals were yesterday made an important addition to the navy. The armed cruiser will cost, exclusive of armament, about three million. She will be six feet longer than the load line, sixty-four feet beam, twenty-three feet draft, 7,000 indicated horse-power, speed twenty knots. The armament is eight eight-inch rifles, twelve five-inch and a strong auxiliary battery, gatling guns, six-pounders, and torpedo tubes. The armoring cruiser now will be 15,000 tons at a ten foot draft rate. The battle ship will be 350 feet long, 68 feet beam, 24 feet draft, 11,000 horse-power. 16 inch guns. The armament will be four inch-inch, six four-inch rifles, twenty six-pounders, and five compounds.

A Stormy State Convention.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 29.—The Republican state convention, which convened here today was stormy throughout. The two factions headed by Webster and Irvine respectively fought every two years. This time the Webster's were on top and carried the temporary chairman. Then Webster tried to get the electors nominated before the temporary organization was complete. Great confusion followed. Very few whites were in the convention and they seemed in bad order with the great mass of colored delegates. At one o'clock Friday morning, after much wrangling and several narrow escapes from a serious fight, permanent organization was effected, with C. Crum chairman. Webster, who is collector of internal revenue at Columbia, was elected state chairman, opposition to him being withdrawn.

A Paper on the Wage Question.

TORONTO, Canada, Sept. 29.—In the Presbyterian Council today Rev. Dr. Grant read a paper on the wage question in which he expressed some rather radical views. Dr. Hall of New York replied, hoping the public would not consider that the council endorsed all the papers read. There is, he said, too much condemnation of capitalists. Labor organizations are not always equitable and don't teach raising funds as well as the profits of capital. It is not the business of churches and ministers to discuss these questions. The business committee recommended the adoption of strong resolutions in favor of Sabbath observance and Professor Bonsfil of Australia asked why the princes condemning Sunday newspapers, which was originally attached to the resolution, was now omitted? The chairman said the committee felt it largely protected the piece of Sabbath observation should be singled out for condemnation in a general resolution of this kind.

The Women's Foreign Mission Society of the church, now in convention, have determined to demand grand international union with branches in every part of the world. Mrs. Rankes was chosen president.

A Matter of Concern to the State Department.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 29.—The climatic plaint upon American commerce by action of some Central American countries in closing our ports to ships from the United States, is a matter of deep concern to the state department. Aside from the actual loss to our merchants resulting from this action, the interruption of mails is a sort of vexation. Unreasonable fear of the introduction of cholera is at the bottom of these troubles, no doubt.

The United States steamship "Concord" went to Colon yesterday to convey the United States General to the United States and Commissioners from the government of Panama to Curtipos, where the President of Columbia resides, and endeavor to arrange some terms of settlement of the guarantee question. The Pacific mail steamer "Columbia" still lies off Colon, unable to enter.

Killed Himself While Insane.

CLINTON, Sept. 29.—The coroner's jury in the case of Dr. Horton, who shot himself, found dead Monday, returned a verdict that he killed himself while insane. The coroner received a letter from Dr. Hamm, written Saturday night. In this he said: "There was no intention of a separation between me and Mrs. Hamm, therefore I will join her as quickly as possible. I have no doubt her death was due to natural causes. Existence to me would not be worth having if through myself my promised bride had committed suicide. I therefore take an overdose of morphine."

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 29.—The British steamer "Highland Chief," from Buenos Ayres, reports that Sept. 16th she met the British tank steamer "Chemnitz" on fire. Part of the crew were taken to a boat. MANAGEMENT OF MANURE.

Utilizing a Larger Proportion of Its Useful Constituents.

Experience shows that manure commonly kept in heaps or scattered around in barnyards loses largely in volume and value. As soon as it begins to ferment it loses some of its substance in the form of gas, and the other there is an additional loss from drainage, which proper care might have prevented. For this reason the belief has been constantly growing that a larger proportion of the useful constituents of animal manure can be utilized by incorporating it in the soil as thoroughly as possible while it is fresh than by having it to undergo decomposition through fermentation and exposure to atmospheric influences. As experience has exposed it, manure never contains more fertilizing elements than when it is newly made, and to this it might be added that nowhere can these elements be better preserved than when mixed with the soil they are to fertilize.

On all the instances that from the horse stable is unprofitably subject to the general loss from fermentation to exposure for heaps, whether in the barnyard or fields. Especially must this be true of manure, which will be 15,000 pounds a ten foot rate. The battle ship will be 350 feet long, 68 feet beam, 24 feet draft, 11,000 horse-power. 16 inch guns. The armament will be four inch-inch, six four-inch rifles, twenty six-pounders, and five compounds.

THE IRISH WANT AID.

A Manifesto Issued at a Meeting of the National Federation, Dublin.

CHEERFUL PROSPECTS BEFORE THE PEOPLE.

Help Needed to Maintain the Movement for Independence with Vigor.

By Telegraph to the NEWS.

IRISH MANIFESTO.

An Appeal for Aid to Carry on the Political Struggle.

DUBLIN, Sept. 29.—At a meeting of the National Federation today, Justin McCarthy presiding, a manifesto was adopted to the Irishmen in America and Australia. It says:

We address you on the National cause at a critical time. Our demand for home rule has been sustained by the power of the people in another stage that is decisive and all but final.

The prospect now before us is full of cheer and should lend to renewed and redoubled effort. For it shows the sure way to victory is a general election at which the supreme question is home rule. Unfavorable issue to given the just demands of Ireland without loss of time. We are convinced of the sincerity of the Liberal leaders, but only "hitherto" has the course pursued by the Liberals shown Gladstone adopted home rule, but she because their interests demanded such a resolution as Ireland can confidently expect. Legislative industry applied to other purposes would be simply labor lost.

We do not forget the declarations of Mr. Balfour that no matter what the bill may be the House of Lords will reject it. We also bear in mind Gladstone's warning, that if the House of Lords reject the measure accepted by the country they will do so at the peril of their chamber. To suppose a House of Lords elected by popular suffrage would venture to offer obstinate resistance to the will of the people would be to imagine something contrary to the intuitive tendencies of the English Parliament, besides being opposed to common sense. If they so obstruct the House this bill as to delay the passage of other measures required by the British people they can be effectually dealt with in such a manner as will not only pass the Home Rule bill, but will end all hereditary obstruction. Success is near.

In the meantime we need the help of the people to maintain the movement with the vigor of the crisis is increasing and will increase as the final struggle approaches. We need help urgently to save tenants.

Great News Failures.

A notice in the Great Dispatch has been coming some months, about the failures of a news supplier since it was down to it is necessary to have a letter belonging to very poor common tools to refer to to good one's account. Probably the current number has done up better. Many of the good men since were the sons of day laborers. Pope Adams's ancestry on the father's side was a trade builder yet, he long the son of a beggar. Charles Lamb is described as "a scrivener and" Socrates was indebted for the uncommonly beautiful resemblance in early life, to his father, a common day laborer. Tilton, the gentleman and statesman, and historian, statesman and prominent of Paxton, was the son of a man who did only pass as a lock tinker and mender.

Tom Hood was the great Martin Luther, who changed the theology of half the Christian world, the son of a bookseller, poor and worldwise. Thomas Paine's father was a tobacco cutter. Lord Eldon and Hat Polmer's ancestor, taught for one and a quarter centuries, and the pudding record by three sermons, Marshall Hall, the quarters were at 1000, 1500. The third quarter was worse in 1500.

The second hand was worse in 1500. Guy before in the first quarter and Marshall Hall there about at the three quarters. Flying Jib then neither in nor there, about all the half in one minute and three quarter minutes. This time for the first half was remarkable. At the three quarters Flying Jib had by two lengths. Guy forward and making an effort to reduce himself. It was impossible, however, and Flying Jib finished in 2:11, the quarter being 32, 1:07, 1:37. The second quarter in thirty seconds in the world's record.

In the third heat Guy and whirling off at the turn in a wonderful manner. Marshall second, Jib third. At five eighths Guy was one length, but Marshall had advantage in a head and Guy came to the front at the quarter being 32, 1:05, 1:37. In the fourth heat Guy moved to the turn almost. Marshall from at the eighth and Guy forward and Marshall gaining close to him until the stretch, when Guy got about fifty feet the advantage. Time, 2:11, quarters, 32, 1:04, 1:36. Now the fifth finished the race, Marshall second, Jib third, in 2:08. The winning was the most startling and remarkable race in the annals of the turf, from more of the events.

First race, 2:19 class—Cleveland won, Vanitie second, Joe Jett, third, three distanced. Best time, 2:17.

Second race, 2:28 class—Charlotte won, three straight. Dingo second, Sallie third. Alex Lida fourth. Best time, 2:16.

Third race, 2:22 class—Major won, Little Sprague second, Julien third, Malesh fourth. Best time, 2:14.

Other Stars Are Flying.

There is a class of men, particularly in the western country, who set into the belief of attributing the trouble of mankind to the influence of the planets, which are ever in their phases thus ruling. One of the most prominent of these is the Freemasons, whose home now is near Wine Pine, Tuolumne county. Here is one of Jim's remarks: "Sir, and my pocket, I'm observed, made their money in three days. Then I knew what to do with. For last time, when we left the big government contract for wood we were still in money. Money was cheaper than chewing gum and it wasn't gum, and it was rather easier to digest. Well, I'm sick of it. Pain in my bones and no disposition of wood. We got with a cook and we made money were good. What was the matter? Why, we slept with a much wood? Well, I don't know. Thought it was used by the Indians
