Another Effort Made by Prisoners to Escape Wholesale from Jail.

KILLED ON CHRISTMAS DAY.

A Butcher's Apprentice Fatally Stabbed in a Quarrel—Death of a Prisoner.

Sacramento, Cal., is having an epidemic of burglaries.

Owing to the early and heavy snow in the mountains near Cedar City, Cal., elk are coming down much earlier than usual. [illegible] are hunting them at Cedar Mountain, within six miles of the town.

James P. Hughes of Portland, Or., Master Mechanic of the Oregon, left there a Union Pacific train on Thursday last, and was horribly kicked. The deceased was returning to spend Christmas with his family, and when the train was within five miles of Baker he slipped on the icy platform and fell, striking on his head.

For a year past the Stockton, Cal., steamers carried passengers from San Francisco to Stockton for $1 and upwards. This week the rate was cut to twenty-five cents. This was the price charged a few years ago. But then only twenty-five miles of rail and seven miles of city cars made the competitive rates. On the first of January, or right after, the rate of fare will be raised to $1.

E. S. Pomeroy, a pioneer of 1849 and an old miner, died at his residence in Centerville, Santa Clara county, near San Jose, Cal. He was a native of New York, aged 65. At one time he was well off, but lost his fortune in mining speculations, and for the last seven years has been clerk in the New York Exchange hotel. He was recently discharged and temporary illness has led to his death.

A dispatch from Baker, Cal., says that reports from that part of the state indicate a hard winter for sheep and cattle. The details of the manner in the foothills, and the cattle are going into the valleys very low and continue to meet the storm. William Dyer, State Game Warden and Fish Warden C. W. White reports that there are thousands of deer in the neighborhood, but that many will die from want of feed, and the loss in cattle from the same cause is expected to be fearfully severe.

The Boise Statesman is authority for the report that H. W. Early of that city has commenced a suit in the form of a claim for damages for $50,000 against Allison & Co., of Buffalo, N.Y., and Isaac Downs, a representative of this firm. It was Downs who swore to the complaint on which Early was arrested on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the firm of T. A. Early & Co., and which resulted in Early's being incarcerated in the county jail for several months pending the action of the grand jury, which only recently ignored the charge.

Charles Arpe, a butcher's apprentice of Stockton street, San Francisco, was stabbed to the right side on Friday night in the butchery owned by Paul Escalier, a young Portuguese butcher. The wound, which penetrated the lung, may prove fatal. The alleged circumstances of the affair are that Escalier had a quarrel with Arpe, and with such severity to the former as to make it necessary for the latter to leave the place. The knife used in the stabbing was taken from the premises by the assailant, who was arrested by the police.

Some fresh light on the mystery of the wires connected with Independence jail at the bottom of the swimming tank at the Sacramento Athletic club, at 2 o'clock, on Christmas night, crowded with commotion for a time. Several persons who plunged into the bath were severely shocked by the escaping electricity and were unable to help themselves. Friends who rushed to their assistance were similarly shocked by the live wires lying around the tank, and to the controller the battery room was being drained but no live wire was pulled out. The wire connecting with the large was finally cut and no harm got to the tank.

A bold but unsuccessful attempt was made by the prisoners confined in the county jail at Riverside, Cal., to set their cell in flames on Friday night. At present there are twenty-five prisoners in the jail, mostly tramps. When discovered the jailbreakers had succeeded in removing a quantity of brick from the jail corridor wall, and a short additional time would have been all sufficient for the success of their plan. Investigation shows that they had been at work the night before and had concealed their work from the jailor by hanging a blanket over the broken parts. One prisoner, whom the others dared to "peach," was threatened with death and was watched in an empty cell to prevent his giving an alarm. A couple of men escaped in the jail so vagrants were the holders.

The champion trigger of the season was fired in the municipal court recently, says the Portland Oregonian, and when she had paid the amount she still had a cool balance of $90 in her pocket. This trigger was a woman who gave her name as Natalie Vetsenweide and claimed to be a native of France. She came to town several years ago, accompanied by her husband and two children, and she, not more than a year ago, claimed that her name. Natalie took occasion to call upon Chief of Police Hunt soon after her arrival with a pitiful story about a killed husband and two small children, and a request that her music might be allowed to play the hand organ on the street. The chief refused the request and sent the woman to Secretary Walpole of the city board of charities. She wanted to go to San Francisco, and the city board of charities would not send her, so she went to jail. She made a case very convincing, for a few days later she invested $150 of her savings in a ranch in Washington county, she also carries a very fine gold watch.

A Contest For Buttons.

A great contest is now in progress for the coat buttons sell. For a time this trophy seemed to be in the possession of Buffalo, who was the happy possessor of a charged [illegible] of different kinds of buttons, which had come to him as a legacy from his sister. It is stated, however, that he claims to be possessed of no [illegible] supplies. A claim for it has been put in by a gentleman in Gotham, who has a [illegible] of Tillman, in two miles, which [illegible] in Jan. 1893, and which has been in his possession ever since. [illegible] contest for the sitting of Lou [illegible] in question, which bears so hard on [illegible] month, might be added to stress which the Yale and Silk men's assembly to the trophy or future will determine the number of buttons necessary for the [illegible] Kansas Journal.

Two Stepping Stones

to consumption are scrofula and lung disease. Weak lungs and scrofula. Consumption never spared is rightly termed "Consumption from scrofula."
