IN THE COURTS TODAY

Supreme Court Hears Argument in Ogden Tax Cases.

ONE DIVORCE CASE IN PROGRESS.

Admission of Citizens—The Hunter Held to the Grand Jury—Other Legal Business.

Chief Justice S. A. Merritt and Associate Justices Geo. W. Hurtch and Wm. H. King were in attendance this morning at the opening of the Territorial Supreme Court. There was a large number of attorneys present, Ogden having a goodly share of the representation. After the reading of the minutes, the chief justice stated that owing to the absence of Associate Justice H. W. Smith, the announcement of rulings in several cases which it had considered would be deferred until Judge Smith returned.

Edwart C. Hoffman, formerly of Nevada, was admitted to the bar.

Lester R. Biggs, of Utah, was admitted to the bar on recommendation of the examining committee.

Several motions to dismiss appeals, owing to failure of the appellants to comply with the statute and rules of the court were filed.

The appeals from Judge Smith's court, in the case of Ogden City vs. Daniel Hauser, in which both parties appealed on different points, were then taken up, each side being allowed an hour and a quarter for argument. F. S. Richards, C. C. Richards and Judge McMillan appeared for Mr. Hauser and H. H. Waipple and David Evans for Ogden city. In this case the collector of Weber county sold property for county taxes, under the Territorial statute, and sold the same property for city taxes, under an ordinance of Ogden city. In 1893, six pieces of property were thus sold, and in 1894, 730 pieces. Ogden city insists that Collector Hauser is not entitled to any compensation for the sales made for city taxes; that the law requires him to do it, but does not provide compensation therefor. He is entitled to fees for taxes not paid, and which could not be collected. Mr. Hauser insists that he is entitled under the statute to the same compensation for each sale whether city or county; and that his sale of the property relieves him, as it was all he would do under the law. These propositions were argued pro and con, until 1 p. m., when the matter was submitted to the court.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Merritt held a session of the district court this afternoon, admitting several applicants to citizenship. There was not a number of passages between the court and would-be citizens which created amusement for the audience, this being a sample: Court—Do you renounce the form of government you are under, kingdom, republic, or what? Applicant—Cleveland. All but two applicants were straightened out in their replies, and passed.

One divorce case was up in court this afternoon, there being an application for temporary alimony. Mrs. Louisa C. Adamson, wife of William Adamson, of South Cottonwood, is suing for divorce, on the ground of failure to provide, and pending a final decree asks alimony for the support of herself and children. The husband opposed the application. Mrs. Adamson separated from her husband about a year ago. She took one child, the baby, and her mother-in-law took the other two until the mother took them away from home. Mrs. Adamson said her husband was as able to work and support the family as she was. He did not work full time, though he could have done. She said she would not run in debt to get things for them to live on, when she did not know where the pay was coming from. Her husband was able to provide for his family if he would do so. Mr. Adamson testified in her own behalf, and Mrs. White corroborated her statements as to having to support herself, and Mr. Chalmers, mother of the plaintiff, did likewise.

Wm. Adamson, the defendant, testified that his wife left him a year ago, taking all the furniture. He denied having $900 worth of land, the place referred to being his father's estate, and not yet in a position to be handled by the defendant. He got $2.025 a day at the Geneva, but had work less than half the time. He had not heard his wife complain of him because he would not work and she had to earn the living. Mrs. Adamson, mother of the defendant, testified that she had helped to support her son's family. He was not in good health now. George Hutchins also testified to Adamson's inability to do hard work at the smelter.

The court ordered the defendant Adamson to pay $10 per month alimony, $10 clerk's fees, and $20 attorney's fee, at the same time remarking that it was a pity that the parties could not live together, and that the husband do some work to support his wife and children.

COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

In U. S. Commissioner Hemmer's court today Abe Hunter had a hearing on the charge of passing a forged piece of paper. It was alleged that he got a wagon, signed by Charles Cummings, the signature being made by Cummings's partner. The case was not strong, but the commissioner thought it one the grand jury should investigate, and held Hunter in the sum of $500.

Mrs. Ella Butler was brought in on the complaint of Mrs. Belle Hutchings, on a charge of disturbing the peace. Instead of being a drill.H person to arrest, as the story of the complaining witness implied, Deputy Montgomery had no trouble at all in serving the warrant. This afternoon the case came up, and as Mrs. Hutchins did not appear, and it was shown she was not free from blame, Mrs. Butler was acquitted of the charge against her.

SUITS FILED.

A $20,000 damage suit was filed last evening by Mary Hepworth, administratrix of the estate of Thomas Hepworth, deceased, against the Lewis Paint Paper company, the Jennings Brothers Investment company and others, for the death of her husband, who fell down an elevator in B. on June 13, 1895. She alleges the defendants were negligent in leaving the shaft unguarded. The deceased was only eleven feet, but was so badly injured that he died three days later. This is the case where the Lambert company at the time of the accident, explained that they were not the parties using the elevator and were in no way responsible for its being left open.

Mary E. Roberts, who was granted a decree of divorce from Henry Roberts in 1890, and married germanson afterwards, has filed a petition in the Third district court praying that the decree be modified so as to allow her $400 per year additional for the support and education of six minor children.

Harvey M. Bacon filed an action late yesterday afternoon against Hamilton G. Park, Agnes S. Park, A. L. Simonsen, Junius Thompson, Frank W. Ingersoll and Charles F. and Martha M. Fisher, which involves the possession of the premises known as the Bishop hotel, 1; it is alleged that Hamilton G. Park and wife leased the real estate to Simonsen, Thompson and Ingersoll for a term of twenty-four years on April 1, 1892, that valuable improvements were erected thereon; that on July 1, 1895, Simonsen, Thompson and Ingersoll being largely indebted to the American National bank, transferred their interest on lease to J. H. Bacon, who in turn transferred it to the plaintiff. The plaintiff then alleges that being informed that there were some arrearages of ground rent and taxes which it was incumbent upon the lessee to pay, he went to Mr. Park and informed him that he was ready to pay the same, but he never been able to ascertain the amount. Continuing the plaintiff alleges that Mr. Park has attempted to declare a forfeiture of the lease, and to execute to Simonsen, Thompson and Ingersoll, or to one or more of them, a new lease for the remainder of the term on substantially the same terms as originally agreed upon. He also complains in this connection that this attempt is the outgrowth of collusion between the defendants, and that they desire to deprive him of his title in said leasehold. It is also alleged that the defendant Fisher is in possession of the premises as a tenant, paying the sum of $400 per month as rent, and that he has refused to pay the said rents to the plaintiff, for the reason that certain of the defendants are threatening to put him out of the premises if he does not pay the rent to them. Mr. Bacon prays that Mr. Park be required to render an account of the amount which he claims as arrearages, in order that plaintiff may pay the same; that the contract of lease be signed to plaintiff be retentate upon such payments being made; that Simonsen, Thompson and Ingersoll be restrained from transferring or assigning to any other person any lease or contract which Mr. Park may have executed to them; that defendant Fisher be restrained from paying over any rents to Simonsen, Thompson and Ingersoll, and that Fisher's interest be declared subsequent to the right and title of the plaintiff.

This action was followed later in the afternoon by an attachment suit against Frank W. Ingersoll, A. L. Simonsen and Junius Thompson, the plaintiff being F. W. Ross. Mr. Ross sues to recover a balance of $19,540, alleged to be due on a promissory note executed by the defendants to the American National bank, and assigned to him. The note is secured by a mortgage on the Manhattan hotel building. Attachments were immediately served on all the defendants, and a garnishment was served on Charles S. Fisher, tenant of the building, to prevent him from paying any sum to the defendants which may be due for rent.

No need to scrutinize the merits of Dr. Price's Baking Powder. They're conceded.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

Chapman's Case Continued Until Monday—Minor Cases Disposed Of.

The case of the People vs Charles Chapman was booked for this afternoon in the police court. The case involves the larceny of a check for $1,605.25, alleged to have been stolen by Chapman from one Robert Weir in May last. Judge Henderson, for the prosecution, asked that the case be continued until Monday, as Mr. Weir was not present, but would be on Monday. The case was accordingly set for Monday, at 2 p. m.

G. M. Butz forfeited $5, for being drunk, while Jake Apsohy for the same offence was fined $7.50. This is Jake's second offence this week.

Vincent Jackson, for passing bills on the street, was mulcted of $2.

Mamie Ross forfeited $5.60 for prostitution.

William Heimen was run in for stealing a rake. He explained to the judge that he was dead broke, and was attempting to make his way east when arrested. Judge Smith dismissed the case by bidding him go east.

The trial of John Cavanaugh on the charge of assault with intent to kill, which was in progress when the News went to press yesterday, resulted in a dismissal being discharged on the ground of insufficient evidence, but a complaint was made out charging him with using profane and obscene language, on which charge he was fined $100.

This morning Cavanaugh was arraigned for using abusive language, and through his attorney, Mr. Corey, entered a plea of guilty. Mr. Corey pleaded in Cavanaugh's behalf, stating that he had previously borne a good reputation, was a hard working man, and, although he had used abusive language, he was somewhat justified in view of the circumstances connected with the case, therefore Mr. Corey asked that the court be as lenient as possible in imposing a penalty.

Justice Smith stated that the evidence adduced yesterday had been sufficient to show that the defendant had used language very unbecoming, and felt that the defendant should be taught a lesson. He therefore imposed a fine of $50.

Annie Thomas and Katie Anderson, who were arrested several days ago for prostitution, and in whose behalf Mrs. Paddock interceded, were this morning taken to Ogden by that lady and placed in the Industrial Home. An effort will be made to have Anna Dale, the girl who was taken in for stealing a pair of shoes, and who plead guilty to the charge, committed to the same place.

MUNICIPAL MENTION.

A Week's Business Transacted In and About the Joint City and County Building.

There has been nothing unusual in the transaction of public business in the joint city and county building during the past week and the only excess of activity was shown in the collector's office, where 1895 taxes are now being paid.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Building Inspector Folsom issued the following building permits during the past week: R. F. Hedman, 4-room brick addition at 254 east Second South, $1,250; Dr. A. W. Harrows, 5-room brick addition at 254 east South Temple, costing $1,500; John J. Kirby, 1-room barn at 214 south Seventh West, to cost $80; J. M. Lyon, frame barn at 879 east Third South, to cost $90; E. W. Dunn, 6-room brick on corner of First East and First South, to cost $1,600; James E. Jennings, 15-room brick on corner of South Temple and D, to cost $9,000.

HEALTH REPORT.

Report of the health department for the past week:

Births, 6; males, 3, females, 3; deaths, 7; males, 3, females, 4; received for burial from other places, 3; contagious diseases, 2; diphtheria, 1, scarlet fever, 1; diphtheria, 1; typhoid fever reported for the week, 7.

POLL TAXES.

The poll tax collections for the past week amounted to $423, in labor and cash.

Total	[illegible]

TAXES COMING IN.

The taxes are now beginning to roll into the county collector's office, quite a good amount having been paid during the past week. Collector Spencer says that all the notices have been sent out, and that he expects at the postoffice for them should ask for tax notices, as they are kept separable from the regular mail. The collector has received notice from Treasurer Lyon, that warrants issued from May 15, 1894, to January 1, 1895, will not be accepted. All issues on other dates, however, will be accepted as usual. Taxes become delinquent October 31st.

Educational Items.

Miss Emmeline Wells, who has been so successful in kindergarten work in this city, has now five kindergarten schools under her direction, the total enrollment being 183. The schools are in the Fourteenth, Sixteenth and Eighteenth wards, Forest Dale and L. D. S. College. Miss Wells has also a training class which is well patronized and is anxious that there should be a large attendance, as there is an increasing demand for kindergarten teachers and an efficient training school will equip teachers well for their duties.

The following program was rendered yesterday afternoon by the library society at room 15, Ogden school:

Essay on Columbus	Arthur Johnson
Recitation	Lucy Smith
Point Reading	Daisy Smith
Recitation	Ethel Rawlins
Handkerchief meeting	Bert Twisselmann
Chorus
Dialogue	Frances Dunyan
Frank Moore	Little Winifred
Reading of Hickory Star by Esther Mamie Malin

The Library Star well deserves its name, as it is a paper that would do credit to any society. The witty sayings, the poetry, and the historical facts were thoroughly adapted for the occasion. The editors are: Chief editor, Mamie Malin, editor; Mattie Jackson assistant editor; Bert Phippen, reporter.

No first-class hotel can do without it. What? Dr. Price's Baking Powder.

Political Matters.

Chairman Dunbar of the Salt Lake county Democratic committee has announced meetings as follows:

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS.

The formal opening of the Republicans workingmen's headquarters at 54 Commercial street, will take place this evening. Addresses will be delivered by J. M. Allen, H. E. Carter and others, and sitting music will add to the enthusiasm.

Judge C. W. Bennet and Junius F. Wells will commence a stumping tour in Sanpete county on Monday evening next. On that night they will speak at Milburn; Tuesday at Fairview; Wednesday, Mt. Pleasant; Thursday, Fountain Green; Friday, Manti; Saturday, Gunnison. These are evening meetings and a postponement of the latter two days is necessary on account of Conference.

The filling up of the Tunnel has been completed, and now everything is in readiness for the fray.

A Republican rally will be held in Granite tonight with J. R. Rowe and Tom Ferguson as the speakers.

The Scandinavian Republicans held their grand opening rally in the Social Hall last evening, a good attendance being present. J. C. Sandberg acted as chairman, and speeches were made by J. C. Sandberg, Martin Christensen, J. F. Lynch, J. P. Harmon, Judge Lochrisan, A. H. Goetz, interspersed with music by the Bellman quartette.

BRIEF MENTION.

An enthusiastic meeting of Eighth ward Democrats was held last night. The speakers were Mrs. F. S. Harris, Dr. Mattie Hughes Hubbard and H. B. Allen. The Democratic ladies can enlivened the occasion by their music.

ASKS SALT LAKE FOR HELP.

Proposition to Raise Money to Help Denver's Chair Co Come Here.

Secretary John James, of the Commercial association, received a telegram this afternoon from R. J. Tarrant, who went to Denver on Friday to inquire into the difficulty that existed with reference to the Denver chair's trip to this city. The message states that the railroads have all signed an interim rule demanding $18 to advance per passenger, for the round trip, and that as a result the chair people are short in the amount of $400. Mr. Thomas asks if anything can be done at this end of the line to help them out of their dilemma. The secretary has called a special meeting of the executive committee to consider the matter, and which time something may possibly be done in aid of the Denver electrics.

Just what can be done, if anything, by the home people under the circumstances, is not known. Certainly they have been very generous up to date but the matter of raising funds to assist in defraying the expenses of an outside musical organization is some here and empire with home talent is a unique and extraordinary proposition to say the least.

A LAST CHANCE.

The Registration Lists to be Open for Revision, Beginning Monday.

Registrar Wilson will open for revision the city registration lists on Monday morning at 8 o'clock. The office is at 105 south State street, and will be open each day until Saturday, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. There are a great many people who have not yet checked up and it is absolutely necessary that they do so next week. This is their last chance and a personal call at the registrar's office may save a world of trouble on election day.

The county revision will come on the same days and in most instances the officers in the different precincts will be at the residences of the deputy registrars.

Registrar Wilson desires the prompt attention of the last part of the month, which is due to this important matter. The coming election will be one of interest to all and each should see to it that his name appears properly upon the list in his precinct.

Fort Douglas Concert.

The Sixteenth U. S. Infantry band will render the following concert program at Fort Douglas tomorrow afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock:

Dr. Shoberdine will be found for the first three weeks of September, at 304 Progress building, where he will fit glasses that will give perfect satisfaction to those who are troubled with defective eyes, causing headaches, inflamed eye lids, vertigo and many other kindred nervous troubles.

It is unnecessary to go into detail about his ability, as hundreds of Salt Lake citizens testify to the satisfaction he has given them, and what relief they have experienced through wearing his glasses. If your glasses are not right or you need some, see him before he goes east. He leaves after the third week in September, to accept a position in an eastern optical college.
