THE CASTLE TRIAL.

A Formidable Array of Counsel Engaged on the Case.

MRS. CASTLE TO PLEAD SICKNESS.

The Affair Will Be a Matter of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars to the Husband.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—[Copyrighted 1896, by the Associated Press.]—The case of Walter M. Castle, the San Francisco merchant, and his wife on a charge of shoplifting, preferred by various West End dealers, is on the docket for Monday next, but only the politeness of the case will appear at that time, and there will without doubt be a postponement. It is expected the case will be definitely fixed for Thursday, when the trial is likely to proceed without interruption. A formidable array of counsel has been engaged to take part in the case, and by the service of Mrs. Castle's solicitor the case will be pressed with vigorously.

Of the distinguished counsel who are to take part in the trial, the principal case will be linked after by Sir Frank Lockwood, formerly solicitor general to Lord Rosebery's cabinet, and who has recently returned from a trip to the United States in company with the lord chief justice, Baron Russell of Killowen, and C. P. Ohlt, who conducted the prosecution against Oscar Wilde on behalf of the treasury.

Mr. Castle's case will be defended by Sir Edward Clarke, who was solicitor general in Lord Salisbury's cabinet, and who has set all England by the ears by his recent declaration that no impartial spectator can be expected to decide the Venezuelan dispute in Great Britain's favor, and Charles Matthews. This brilliant galaxy of speaking talent is completed by a fourth barrister on behalf of the defendants.

It is decided that the defense in Mrs. Castle's case shall be based on medical testimony. In addition to the expert affidavit of a San Francisco doctor who was familiar with Mrs. Castle's case, testimony will be offered by Dr. George Henry Savage, lecturer of mental diseases at Guy's hospital and author of a treatise on insanity.

Dr. Gunn, the attending physician at Holloway jail, who had Mrs. Castle under his charge, will also show that she was suffering from a woman's ailment which would account for her mania.

Mr. Castle said today to a representative of the Associated Press: "My wife is still in the same condition as she has been since this unhappy affair, and she requires the constant and watchful attention of nurses and doctors. I do not expect to have her improve until the strain of the present position is ended, for she is staying with relatives in the country."

It is estimated this trial will cost Mr. Castle over £5,000 ($25,000). Sir Edward Clarke and counsel of counsel probably require a retainer of $5,000, with retainers of $500 to $1,000, in addition to which the doctors' and solicitors' fees are to be considered.

Alfred Vilmonnin's Money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Miss Mathilde Nevin has begun suit for the recovery of $50,000 from the estate of the late Austin Corbin. While not explaining what her relations with the millionaire were, Miss Nevin, who is a handsome brunette of about thirty years, alleges that Corbin was a frequent visitor at her apartments, and not long before her death he told her that he had invested $50,000 for her, which would be a provision for her in her old age in the event of his death.

A CAMPAIGN INCIDENT.

Bryan Proposes Sections for McKinley Cards.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—The day was without special incident until Janesville was reached, where there was a disturbance which at one time looked as if it might become serious. Mr. Bryan had scarcely begun speaking, when a procession crossed the railroad track in the rear of the audience. It soon developed that the procession was composed of a uniformed McKinley club carrying banners, mottoes and pictures of the Republican candidates and a large American flag. Immediately after crossing the railroad the procession turned abruptly into the crowd, as if intending to come directly in front of the speaker. There was a disturbance of two or three minutes' duration, which caused such confusion as to put a stop to the speech.

Mr. Bryan stood upon the platform waiting for the situation to be quiet. He said, in part:

"I am glad to have our opponents here, because it is our opponents that we desire to reach, rather than those who are already right. There is one banner which ought to be carried this year by Republican partisans, if I have never listed there. It is a banner which sets forth the idea outlined in the Republican platform on the money question. The banner ought to read: 'We are American citizens, but we think the American people are not big enough to attend to their own business.'

"There is another banner that might appropriately Republican, and it is this: 'We think our government is safer in the hands of foreign creditors than it is in the hands of the American people.'

"There is another banner that might be carried, and it would read like this: 'Our policies are safer custodians of the interests of the people than the people themselves,' and there is another banner that might be carried, and that is this: 'The gold standard advocates like a cheerful giver who is willing to give all he earns, that the rich may be richer and the poor poorer.'"

Watson Gives It Up.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 30.—Thomas E. Watson, now at Sandersville today in behalf of West, the Populist candidate for Congress in the Tenth district, in the course of his remarks he expressed a sincere desire that Bryan be elected at all hazards. Respecting himself he said among other things:

"I am out of the race in Georgia. There are two tickets you can vote next Tuesday—Bryan and Sewall, or McKinley and Hobart, and if you don't want either, stay at home."

Excitement in Odessa.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Times's dispatch from Odessa says the excitement has been caused there by the sudden mobilizing of the reserves of the Imsell and Danube regiments of the Russian army.

This dispatch also states that the town hall of Odessa has contracted to supply the Turkish government 4,000 sheepskin jackets.

A Constantinople dispatch to the Daily News says importance is attached to the report of the immediate departure of Mr. Neldoff, the Russian minister, for St. Petersburg.

Storms in France.

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Heavy storms and floods have occurred in southeastern France. The river Rhone has risen to such an extent that it has overflowed its banks in several places.

Rignasure, Roussaire and Villebrogue have been inundated and the ancient amphitheaters and casino have suffered from the inundation of Villebrogue are living for the time being in the upper stories of their houses.

Great anxiety is felt concerning the condition of affairs at Avignon, lower portions of which have been flooded.

The valleys of the Saone and the Ardeche have been inundated by the torrential rain.

THE GENERALS TO BLAME.

Alfred Vilmonnin's Money.

Palmer and Buckner Provoked the Disorder Yesterday.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 30.—The Times (Democratic) will tomorrow morning print speeches from Paris and Pepelle, Mo., which state that Gen. Palmer and Buckner provoked, and were in a large degree responsible for the riotous disorders at those places late afternoon. The dispatch from Paris reads:

"When Col. Rufus E. Anderson of Hannibal came out upon the rear platform of the car to introduce Gen. Palmer and Buckner, the appearance was the signal for a wild Bryan demonstration from a crowd of Democrats who were hearing a huge Bryan banner. When the shouts had somewhat subsided, Gen. Palmer said: 'I am glad to meet you all, with a few exceptions.'"

The thrust provoked a still greater demonstration by the Bryan crowd, who brought their banner closer. Then, pointing toward a man carrying the banner, Gen. Palmer continued:

"I see a cadaverous face over there with a Bryan picture. Why doesn't he come out from behind the picture, and let us see who he is? I have observed all through this campaign that the men who say they are for Bryan have to go behind with the candidate's name, so they will not target who they are for."

This easily provoked a Bryan demonstration and some whistling at the speaker, and Gen. Palmer retired in anger.

Gen. Buckner then appeared and there was another tremendous shout for Bryan, and Gen. Buckner said he could be heard he came back at them with the following retort:

"You can holler mighty loud for Bryan, but not one of you can give a sensible reason why you are going to vote for him. Maybe the man who is screaming Bryan's name out there is some sneak who wants to slip in without making a sound, but I doubt it. I also doubt that he knows the alphabet, and I'm certain he can't say it backward. The gabble he and it is utterly incomprehensible to me, and therefore I'll pay no further attention to what it may have to say."

At this juncture some one shouted "Hurrah for the McKinley old sandy."

"I'm glad some fool has said that," retorted Gen. Buckner, who endeavored to continue his speech, but the crowd surging around the car had by this time become so aroused that the speaker had to wait a long time before he could proceed, and though he spoke only a few words afterward, his remarks could be heard only by a few of the nearest crowd.

BRYAN'S STATEMENT.

He Is Not a Member of the P. P. A.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—Mr. Bryan today gave out the following statement:

"I have not attempted to answer all of the misrepresentations which have been circulated in the campaign, but in these closing days I feel that it is necessary to call your attention to an attack which has recently been made by the enemy. I find that the Republicans are circulating among many Catholic citizens the charge that I am or have been a member of the American Protective Association. I have also learned that I have been accused of being a member of a society which, I think, is known as the Junior Order of American Mechanics. At the same time I have been accused in other quarters of being opposed to the public school system and of having voted against the teaching of the English language in the public schools of New Mexico. While I have attempted to confine my discussion of public issues to the questions raised by my platform and have considered the money question paramount to all others, I take this opportunity to explain my position upon the religious controversy which has been raised.

"I am not and never have been a member of the American Protective association or of the Junior Order of American Mechanics, or of any other society hostile to any church, religion or race, nor have I ever applied for membership in any such organizations. While I am a member of the Presbyterian church, I have always believed that there should be no religious test applied in the holding of public offices.

"I am a believer in the public school system. I attended public schools myself, and my children are now attending public schools. While I recognize the rights of parents to send their children to other schools if they desire, if they so desire, I believe that the free public school must remain a part of our system of government in order that the means of education shall be within the reach of every child in the land. The Democratic members of Congress voted against a proposed constitution of New Mexico which compelled the teaching of the English language in the public schools, not because the Democrats were opposed to public schools or to the teaching of the English language in such schools, but because they did not deem it necessary or wise to require a judge of the people of New Mexico which had not been required of the people of the other territories seeking admission.

"I trust that those who are with us in the policies set forth in the Democratic platform will not allow themselves to be alienated from any support on any offensive which may be created by political enemies. I have tried so far as I could, to conduct this campaign in an open and honorable way, and have insisted that those who are with us should refrain from personal criticisms of my opponents and leave the people to pass judgment upon the principles which we represent."

School Children at Canton.

CANTON, O., Oct. 30.—Most conspicuous in the throngs of people who crowded the parks and streets about McKinley's home were thousands of public and Catholic parochial schools boys of Canton, waving American flags and shouting for McKinley. Each of them and all around them were the enthusiasts of Canton's population. In the rear were the best parents of these children, men and women of Canton, in numbers.

Major McKinley said to the school children:

"Here is a spectacle of 3,000 or 4,000 boys and girls that have most of the years of life before them. Here is this world, all the possibilities and opportunities within our American boys enjoy, with their hopes, wishes and aspirations to become good and useful citizens of this glorious country. The best advice I can give to a boy is the honest advice that he shall be a good boy, the same way as honest is a good boy in the church, a good boy on the street, a good boy everywhere. If you will follow that advice, there is very little to kill with that you may aspire to that you will not get, for it is the proud and the boast of our great country that the poor boy, as well as the more fortunate boy, has the same chance to the race of life. Don't let the fact that you are poor embarrass you at all, it should only act as a spur to greater efforts on your part.

"Don't have pale hearts, keep yourselves clean, and that is right future is in your you, and I trust and believe that you will realize in the years to come the fondest hopes of your parents. When you want to do a boy to do some useful thing better than anybody else, let them see that you do something better than anybody else there will always be a demand for your somebody will constantly want your services. Remember that the best thing in the world is to have a good name, and that good character will come more and last longer than anything else you can have."

FAIR'S MONEY.

Notary Public Conway Wants Action Done at Is.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Notary Pierce J. Conway of the Fair penal need case began to grind in by himself for relief of the vast actions that is the source of so much litigation. He has complained to the court that Charles L. Fair in the case complained filed in the courts in connection with his answer to Mrs. Nettie Craven test Conway has falsely and maliciously filched from and he said enough to the sum of $200,000. Attorneys Dunne and Shortridge are acting as counsel for Conway and on Monday they filed suits against Charles L. Fair, each for $100,000 for alleged libel in the respective same complaints that the defendant filed his answer in the Craven's suits. They say that Fair overstepped the bounds of the law when he accused Conway in the future of his complicity in the Craven suit.

THE LATE NATE FIELD.

Ashes Remains to be Cremated in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The remains of Nate Field, who died and died in Honolulu some months ago who be cremated in this city. Arrangements for such disposition of the body have been completed by the committee of ladies who have taken charge of the matter. Mrs. Field's relatives will arrive here on the Australia from Honolulu next Monday. That day will be cremated in the wake of Mrs. Sadie, a cousin of Miss Field.

Mrs. Henry C. Higgins and Mrs. Ada Van Pelt of the Woman's Press association have cooperated with Mrs. Smith and the final details will be completed in a few days. The nature of the ceremonies to be held Trinity Episcopal at San Francisco has been decided on the pastor, Rev. Mr. Wilkinson. Walk will not perform the ceremony.

GAME MULTIPLYING.

Thousands of Deer, Elk and Antelope in Yellowstone Park.

LIVINGSTON, Mont., Oct. 31.—All kinds of game always found in or inhabiting region in the Yellowstone National park. There are thousands of deer, elk and antelope. During the past season herds of elk numbering from 200 to 400 have been seen at various times, and the deer are fully as plentiful. The antelope are the shyest of the game and seldom let the tourists get close enough to take a gun out of them. They are so fond that they will enter into the premises of the camps of Lorian and cause the drivers out. The laws governing the park will not permit the killing of them. Meat cannot be sold, and hence they feel getting it and cooks are frequently driven from their tents by the animals.

The park has now been closed for the season and the small herd of buffalo have been moved to a small enclosure near the Lake hotel, and Captain Wheeler, who put them there, has returned to the name at Fond Du Lac, Wis. In the spring he will return them to the island and there are great hopes that a large herd will grow up. They are the only buffalo in the park now, all others having been killed in the past two seasons by poachers.

Damage by Flood in China.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 31.—C. Bernard, a merchant living in Shanghai, who recently arrived from the Orient, reports that the river Pei-Ho, in North China, has again overflowed its banks and inundated the surrounding plains above Tient Tsin into an area six miles. The city is in great danger and trading in China has suffered an immense damage.

Thousands of farmers were driven from their homes. The railroad is unable to cope with the tide of the part in its normal condition and at present the exports and the imports of five provinces are being carried up and down the river forty-five miles in small vessels drawing three or four feet.

Bernard says the Chinese government is doing absolutely nothing in the presence of the disaster, but seems content to rest quietly.

The Brown Scandal.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Oct. 31.—The Dubuque association of the Congregational church does not meet until next April, at Bedford. Dr. Brown's Dubuque friends say the association is likely to reconsider the resolution accepting him into fellowship, as requested by the Iowa conference, but may agree to meet the representatives of the San Francisco church on neutral territory to consider the case.

Shot Her Husband.

VANDALIA, Ills., Oct. 31.—Near Hagenstown, this county, Edward Armstrong accompanied by his wife went out to shoot quail. Mrs. Armstrong was in a cornfield and could not see her husband who was on the other side of the fence. She fired at a covey of birds, the charge striking her husband in the back of the head and killing him almost instantly.

Stricken With Paralysis.

FOWLER, Ind., Oct. 31.—Leroy Hampton, who was delivering a Democratic speech at this place, was stricken with paralysis and now lies in a critical condition. Mr. Tomlinson was the Populist candidate for governor in this state in 1892 and is the proprietor of the Non-Conformist.

THE FAMOUS RED PYRAMID

Its Fame Due to Reports of Living-Alone, Stanley, Hooker and Other African Explorers.

HISTORY OF A TROPIC WONDER.

The Source of African Strength Filtered by Interpreting Americans.

OF all the people who daily stick the two-cent postage stamp on letters, probably not one in twenty can tell you whose face is on the stamp. They have not noticed, nor they know the red pyramid. It is conspicuous and conspicuous. Therefore everybody sees it and asks the meaning of it.

In crowded hotels, on the banker's desk, in the merchant's office, in the haunts of business, in army tents in the most absent outposts, in the midst where young men congregate both mind and money, in the studios of painters, the dusty desks of lawyers, the lonely hard rounds of preachers, wherever stalwart men training, in sanatoriums, in homes and on board ships at sea—point eyes are sure to fall upon the red pyramid.

For many years African travelers and explorers, including Livingstone, Smith, Stanley, Hooker, Bruce and others, have reported the wonderful virtues of a nut, the chewing of which enabled the native to perform feats of endurance and strength wholly impossible without it. It was said to be a life-giving agent of immense potency, yet harmless as bread—the only stimulant, therefore, known without reaction or any bad effect.

These reports proving true, many attempts were made, especially during the past 25 years, to introduce products of this nut which would not be to civilization what the nut itself was to the natives. The most of this sense from the fact that the nut quickly decomposed when taken from the tree and could not, therefore, be marketed in tolerable condition.

These attempts were all failures until the Brunswick Pharmacal Company of 82 William St., New York, solved the problem and gave to the public their Kola preparations.

The chief of these, Vino-Kolatra, contains all the properties of the Brunswick kola. As a stimulant and tonic it is beyond compare. Nervous and invigorates body and mind, doing no harm whatever to either. It vitalizes the strong and lifts invalids into the naturally weak up to a higher level. It has none of the reactionary qualities of alcoholic stimulants. No man follows the use of Vino-Kolatra. It is now almost universally employed by athletes and invalids, and the testimony of any but beneficial results has yet to be reported.

Nature's blessings are mostly mixed, but none is a weary waste one promote joy with its admixture good things—good, straight, honest, wholesome, as "it," as "and" or a "but." And Vino-Kolatra seems to be one of those golden gifts.

On the labels and wrappers of this preparation is the Red Pyramid. It is a trademark, the symbol of the genuine, a suggestion of Africa and the sign of reality, activity and strength.

Mr. J. K. Fowler, secretary and treasurer of the Cortons Mill, Canal and Stock Co., of Corinne, Utah, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy says: "I consider it the best in the market. I have used many kinds but find Chamberlain's the most prompt and effectual in giving relief and now keep no other in my house. When troubled with a cough or cold give this remedy a trial and we assure you that you will be more than pleased with the result. For sale by druggists.

There is one medicine which every family should be provided with. We refer to Chamberlain's Pain Balm. When it is kept at hand the severe pain of a bad cut or bruise is promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate attention, before the parts become swollen, and when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is applied it will heal them without matter being formed, and without leaving a scar. A sore throat may be cured in one night. A piece of flannel dampened with this liniment and held near over the seat of pain, will cure lame back or pain in the side or chest in twenty-four hours. It is the most valuable remedy for rheumatism. Persons afflicted with this disease will be delighted with the prompt relief from pain which it affords, and it can be expected thus to effect a complete cure. For sale by all druggists.

"While down in the southwestern part of the state some time ago," says Mr. W. Greiner, editor of the Chico (Cal.) Enterprise, "I had an attack of dysentery. Having heard of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I bought a bottle. A couple of doses of it completely stopped me. Now I am a champion of that remedy for all stomach and bowel complaints." For sale by druggists.
