NEWS OF THE WEST.

A Utah Man and His Daughter Murdered in Arizona.

FATAL ACCIDENTS ON THE U. P.

Postal Telegraph Company to Build from Omaha West—Human Hair Forty Feet Underground.

A lock of human hair has been found buried in the clay forty feet below the surface in the Kansas mine, near Grass Valley, Cal.

One day last week there were seventy-five barrels of whisky in the railroad freight depot awaiting transportation in Butte, says the Hawthorne, Nev., Bulletin.

In the case of Freddie Warren, the ten-year-old boy who was run over by a Union Pacific car at Granger, Wyoming, and killed last Monday, while he was crossing the track, the jury brought in a verdict of "no one to blame."

The inquest over Conrad Asmus, the U. P. switchman who was killed in the Rock Springs, Wyo., yards last Monday, resulted in a verdict that no one was to blame for the accident in which Asmus was run over.

The surveyors who have been placing sign posts on the Colorado desert report that at Cameron lake, in the New River country and in the heart of the desert, is literally covered with fowl in the surface, and in the water are immense numbers of carp and other fish which have been carried into the lake by overflow water from the Colorado river.

News from Salomonville, Arizona, under date of December 4, says that H. H. Merrill and his sixteen-year-old daughter were murdered on the road six miles west of Ash Springs Tuesday evening, and moments in-dole, which were there attended the dead bodies, indicate that the murderers were Indians. Merrill and his daughter were on route to Clifton in a wagon. The deceased, who was a farmer, went to Arizona from Utah several years ago. Sheriff Wight and posse took the trail of the murderers, which leads north.

Indications are now that the Postal Telegraph company will string its wires along the Union Pacific from Omaha westward. President Chandler, of the company, has been in Omaha conferring with all the interested parties, and court decisions are in no way unfavorable to the Postal company. As the matter now stands, the Union Pacific and Western Union wires are all on one set of poles, and should additional wires prove necessary, the court may order that the Union Pacific wires be put on their own poles, or formally, and commercial business be given a show.

Henry Fischer was found dead near Rock Springs, Wyo., last Sunday. He probably died from exposure and concussion of the brain, the latter caused by the deceased's head coming contact with the earth when he fell from a U. P. passenger train. Fischer had $9.85 in greenbacks and silver and checks for $975. He was on his way from St. Joseph, Mo., to Los Angeles, Cal., and had a second-class ticket in his pocket. He was on the belated passenger on Saturday evening, which passed Rock Springs about 9 o'clock p.m. A basin basket having been found not far from where the body lay, indicates that he jumped or fell from the train, taking his march basket with him. A son of the deceased, Hank Fischer, lives in Los Angeles, and one, Fred Fischer, in Dubuque, Iowa.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Ex-Minister White Has His Ideas About the Solution of It.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 6.—In an interview today, Andrew D. White, ex-minister to Russia, said, when asked his opinion on the Turkish-Armenian question:

"There is a widespread demand in America, arising from the reports of the Armenian outrages, that the sultan be summarily dealt with and deposed by the powers. To do this without taking preliminary precautions would be to invite the most terrible massacre of the nineteenth century. Unless prevented, the sultan would certainly sweep into Asia Minor, raise the standard of Mahomet and call the faithful to a war of extermination. The massacres reported from Armenia are slight compared with the butchery that would follow. Scarcely a Christian in the confines of Mohammedanism could escape. The slaughter would be well-nigh universal. The Turks are never a genius for civilization, but may are, when inspired by fanaticism of religion, among the bravest fighters in the world.

"This is my plan for the solution of the question: Let the powers depose the sultan and place on the throne some able man connected with the royal family of Russia. Then let United Europe guarantee absolutely the independence of such government from outside interference. Fortunately, there are two men in Europe today who would suit the emergency. Primarily my choice would be the Grand Duke Alexander, who married the sister of the present czar. Alexander visited the World's Fair at Chicago, and is a man of ability and liberal ideas. The other available candidate for the Turkish throne is King George of Greece, who is an uncle of the Russian czar.

"I believe, too," continued Mr. White, "that the European nations should register concentrate of the spirit of this East, in order to maintain the stability of a Turkish government such as may extend, to protect the boundaries of the new empire, and to preserve peace and order. Let Russia, for instance, have full swing in Armenia, let Syria to France. Let Englands have Egypt be confirmed. Austria should be allowed Salonika for a Mediterranean seaport, and Italy might to return be given Tripoli, on the Adriatic, by Austria."

Horace Greeley once said: "The way to resume is to resume," speaking of again putting gold into circulation after the war. But you may say "resume" any number of times to the torpid liver of yours and it won't wake it up. Take Simmons Liver Regulator. Many people seem to forget that Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache are all caused by a sluggish liver. Keep the liver active, it

WINTRY WEATHER WEAKENS

The system, lowers the vitality and decreases the power of resistance against colds and chills. Many people are feeling weak and unstrung just now. They complain of cold hands and feet. Their blood doesn't circulate properly, the red blood cells are scanty in the right blood, and consequently they are worn out and lack vigor. They are listless, nervous, have backaches, headaches and a pale, sallow complexion. All these symptoms show that the liver and kidneys are out of order. Prompt steps to put of the bowels shows that the system is in a very low condition. People who feel like this are feeling some danger they little suspect.

Shall Our Boys Learn a Trade?

A gentleman was once asked why his father left all his estate to one son instead of dividing it equally between the two?

He replied: When my brother and I were young, it was father's desire that we both learn a trade. My brother did not take kindly to any kind of mechanical work and from choice always remained on the farm at home, and became an excellent farmer, while I learned the trade of tailor and cutter, and have always followed that occupation, my father paying for my board, clothing and all incidental expenses while I was an apprentice, as well as the full cost for my special instruction in cutting. A few months before my father's death he asked me what my income was. I replied that my salary was $2,000 per year, with privileges which gave me $500 more, making my whole income from my trade $2,500 per year. He then said that while my trade had not cost him as much as his farm was valued at, I was drawing an income greater than the income derived from the farm, and proposed, therefore, to give the farm to my brother, as against the trade he had given me, to which I readily assented, and have always been well satisfied with the arrangement, but I believe my income has always been greater than that of my brother, and should I die now my family would be better provided for than would the family of my brother.

At this writing we know a merchant tailor who makes this most liberal offer to a suitable young man who would like the business. For $500 cash he will give a partnership interest that will pay $40 per month and give opportunity to acquire a thorough knowledge of the trade and business.

Any young man wishing to avail himself of this rare opportunity should write to K. L., care NEWS office.
