J. F. Jensen asked for $60 in payment for services rendered as police officer prior to his resignation.

These bills were all referred to the committee on claims. The first three petitioners allege that they were illegally ousted from office, inasmuch as charges were not preferred against them and that no investigation against their conduct was ever made.

John Winter and others asked for an extension of waterments on Fern street, from present terminus east to First West street. Committee on waterworks.

Ellen C. Clawson and others asked that waterments be extended from South Temple to First South streets, on Third East street. Committee on waterworks.

TODAY'S COURT ECHOES.

The Big Mining Suit Drawing To a Close.—The Alleged Counterfeiters, Etc.

George E. Tendel, a British subject, and now residing in this city, was admitted to citizenship this morning by Judge Zane. His honor sat in chambers for about a quarter of an hour, and this was the only matter that came before him.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

There is now some prospect of the end being reached in the great mining suit which has been going on in Judge Anderson's court for the last two or three weeks. The last witness was examined this morning, and the arguments were then taken up. These will in all probability consume a couple of days' time, and the case will then be submitted for the consideration of the judge, whose decision will be awaited with deep interest, not only by the litigants but by mining men generally. The point involved in the dispute is an extremely knotty one, and there is an immense amount at stake.

THE BAD COIN CASE.

The alleged counterfeiters were to have appeared before Commissioner Greenman this morning for preliminary examination, and the defendants' attorneys and several witnesses were present, but Prosecuting Attorney Stephens inexplicably came upon the scene, accompanied by Marshal John M. Young, and applied for a further continuance until Saturday next, as he wished to secure the attendance of some witnesses. After some quibbling on the part of one of the defendants' legal representatives the commissioner granted the application. So on Saturday, at 10 a.m., another effort will be made to reach the cases, which promises to develope some interesting features. It is stated that one of the accused men has a serious thought of "making a clean breast of it."

SUMMARY DEMANDING SATISFACTION.

The $10,000 damage suit threatened by Ben F. Stewart against the City Council for revoking his liquor license, as the Franklin Avenue Theatre, became an actual fact this morning, the complaint having been placed on the file of the Third district court. A copy of the complaint will be found elsewhere in our columns.

A young goldsmith emigrated from Soderhamn to America twenty years ago, leaving his young betrothed behind. As a souvenir he gave her a silver brooch, which he had made himself. He stopped in Chicago the thousands of his countrymen, and was successful in his work. He now received to fetch his old love across the water, and wrote one letter after another to her, but received no answer. She had married another man and moved with him to a saw mill in the neighborhood of Sundsvall. She preserved the brooch with great care, and in spite of the poverty which visited her home she had made up her mind not to sell it. But one day she found to her great sorrow that the brooch was stolen. The thief could not be found, but a man, who lived at the same place, and who made his way to America shortly afterwards, was suspected of the theft. This suspicion was correct. He arrived at Chicago, and one day he went to a jewelry store and offered the brooch for sale. The proprietor took and weighed it, but how great was his astonishment when he recognized it as the brooch he had made and presented to his betrothed in Sweden twenty years ago! The seller told him that he had bought it at an auction at a sawmill near Sundsvall, and gave him the names of the parties, whereupon the jeweler bought the brooch. Not long ago the woman who had lost the brooch received a letter from her former lover, who is still single, that he would be very glad to render her assistance, if she should ever be in need of anything.

Two of the latter, however, are known to be in favor of the cabinet so that its position is not at all precarious. It is also believed that a further accession of six Moderates can be counted upon thus reducing the vote of the opposition to 45. The country obeys its whim, and back on their conservative understanding are South Trondhjem, Lister, Busherud, Jarlsberg and Sandsvaer while of other Christiania, Moss, Larvik and Bamur took a similar course.

Amusement Notes.

The event of the week in musical circles was the concert given last night by the Mendelssohn Quintette Club of Boston, assisted by our Tabernacle Choir, directed by Professor E. Stephens. It is to be regretted that there was not a larger audience, for a thousand persons in the vast Tabernacle present the appearance of but a hand full, and the effect of this on all is anything but inspiring. It is the more to be regretted, because the music offered last night was not the efforts of dilletants, but the productions of masters of the divine art. The programme commenced with Pinsuti's elephant grand anthem, "Arise my soul," which was sung by the choir in the usual excellent way. The Quintette Club then gave one of Mozart's compositions. It appeared for a few minutes as if the delicate harmonies of the stringed instruments would be lost in the immense building, but soon the brilliancy of the music captured everybody in the audience, and it became evident that the concert would be all that had been expected.

The piano demon, Miss Marie Hartnell, delighted the audience by the way in which she rendered Bishop's "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark," and in the vigorous applause she continually responded with a trilled. Miss Hartnell is a mezzo - soprano, and she has her rich, beautiful voice under perfect control. Director Ryan received a hearty welcome as he stepped forward to give his clarionet solo, and when the last notes of his wonderful instrument died away, a storm of applause burst forth.

Mr. Herman Diesel is a master on the violoncello and Mr. Paul Henneberg seems to be to the flute what Ole Bull was to the violin. Mr. Paul Steering, in the rendition of "Baiden Alta," handled his violin very creditably. All were most cordially applauded, as was "Comrade in Arms," sung by the gentlemen of the choir. The entertainment closed with "Ustold ye Portals" rendered by the choir.

ONE MASS OF SCALES

Afflicted 3 Years by Decadful Skin and Blood Disease, with Intense Pain and Loss of Hair.

All Other Remedies Fail. Relieved in Stantly and Cured in Four Weeks by the Cuticura Remedies.

I have a few words to say regarding the Cuticura Remedies. I was afflicted for three years with a very severe form of eczema and blood disease, which I had for over three years. My appearance was so that people would look at me, and always ask what was the matter with my face. I had to wear a cloth over my face and my hair came out in large patches, which I was afraid would be all gone in a few days. When I saw the good the Cuticura Remedies were doing for me, I was so much better, I continued to use them. I feel that I owe my life to the Cuticura Remedies. I would be glad to do any thing I could to let people know what a blessing they are, and I have the right to use my name in any way I think best to make the Cuticura Remedies known to the world.
