MINES AND MINING.

The Overland Property to Have a Mill of 150 Tons Capacity.

DIRECTION TO COMMENCE SHORTLY

Business Transacted at the Stock Exchange Meeting—Other Properties—Pollock's Review.

The Overland property in the Camp Floyd district is to have a mill—a 150 ton mill. In this statement is said to lie the significance of a visit of the company's directors to the property yesterday, and it is stated that the gentlemen were so pleased with the outlook at the mine, that they unanimously concurred in the opinion that a mill should be built and that at once.

Although nothing was mentioned of the erection of the mill at the company's office today, the information was gleaned from one who is pretty well on the inside of all mining movements in the State, and that party stated that the property was looking extremely well, and that as soon as drifting had been prosecuted for a distance of 100 feet from the point now reached, the erection of the mill would commence. It is proposed to run the same by means of electricity.

This addition to the Overland property will not only be a great benefit to the company but will also open up the way for the employment of more men, which an enterprising and forewarning spirit as this should be encouraged to such an extent as to cause further steps in the same direction, and if such movements continue, Utah will soon be able to beat unquitveually of being the peer in mining of any other state in the American Union.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

A Meeting Held Yesterday Pursuant to Call—The Business Transacted.

Pursuant to the call of President Dunnellon about two dozen members of the exchange assembled together yesterday to take up and discuss the future policy of the organization and likewise to consider certain changes in the management thereof. Vice President Alvis presided while Secretary Vigne wielded the fatter with telling effect.

The first business to receive attention after the reading of the call, was a financial report from the secretary disclosing the information that out of the recent assessment levied, which should have brought in $[illegible], a sum of but $[illegible] had been collected, while out of that $[illegible] had been expended, leaving a balance of $427. The names of those who had paid and those still in arrears were read, which later on in the proceedings brought out a motion to the effect that the latter be dropped from the rolls. This motion fell flat, however.

The resignation of Treasurer James H. Bacon was read, but before final action was taken on it, a suggestion by a member that Mr. Bacon make a showing to the exchange and permit it to know just what it had when the collapse took place, caused the document to be held in abeyance until such time as the desired information is forthcoming.

President John T. Dunnellon also tendered his resignation, an act which was heavily regretted by the members. The reasons set forth by Mr. Dunnellon were that he did not have time to attend to the duties of the position, and therefore he asked to be relieved. No action was taken in the matter, but will there be will the future course of the exchange can be mapped out.

A resolution for the appointment of a committee of three to revise the rules and bylaws of the organization and report at a meeting to be held within five days was offered and passed, and called the appointment by the chair of Messrs. Worley, Perry and Downey to constitute that committee. These gentlemen appointed a meeting for today.

Another meeting of the exchange members will be held on Tuesday next at 8 p.m. and all are requested to be in attendance.

Extracts From the Ontario Company's Report for 1895.

Superintendent Chambers has recently submitted the annual report of the Ontario Silver Mining company for the year 1895, to the stockholders thereof. It is an elaborate and comprehensive document and after giving an account of the development work on the property during the year, it goes on to say:

During the year the mill treated 38,250 tons of ore, of an average assay of 45.49 ounces per ton, saving 92.2 per cent., and producing 1,770,547.88 fine ounces silver, and 951.80 fine ounces of gold. The milling cost was $6.30 per ton, and the total operating expense was $22.85 per ton. Compared with 1894, there was an increased tonnage, lower assay, higher percentage saved and less cost for production and operating expenses. The cost of extraction, however, showed an increase of 38 cents, owing to the fact that the ore was taken from the upper levels, out of small and narrow seams of low-grade ore that had been passed over in previous years.

The bullion product for the year sold for $849,851, and the ore sales aggregated $47,297, the total net proceeds of the mine million sales being $855,722. The operating expenses were $[illegible], and the dividends were increased from $[illegible] to $[illegible], and $14,[illegible] was expended on the electric light plant and the water supply. The net cost of the drain tunnel in January was $[illegible], and the statement of mine and mill improvements shows a total expenditure of $1,[illegible]. The total cost of the mine to date is $[illegible], and at the date of the report the company had paid $[illegible] in dividends.

The mine has produced 567,[illegible] tons of ore, containing 21,[illegible] ounces of silver, which sold for $[illegible].

POLLOCK'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

Business Still Favorable to the Local Mining Stock Market.

James A. Pollock says in his weekly mining share market letter under date of today:

The usual midsummer quiet now prevails in the local mining stock market, and the advice previously given, that this is a far better time to buy than to sell, especially with the dividend papers, still holds good. Business was only fairly active during the week, with prices about the same as during the previous same period. A change for the better is confidently expected after the 1st of August.

Alps is reported to be looking exceedingly well and estimates from the properties are quite satisfactory. The stock made little change, although toward the close there was a somewhat increased demand. Another commencement to show a slight improvement, and shows considerably higher than it has been since the properties were closed down. The prospecting going on in the mines is reported to be making a good showing. Bagan continued dull. Boston Rock pays its July dividend on the 20th. The stock was quiet all day and in fair demand, although the quotations were not materially changed.

The option on the Centennial-Eureka properties at Eureka was not taken up. This fact seems to have had any direct influence upon the market value of the stock, which is still held very strongly, the offers being very limited. The usual dividend of $1 per share was paid on the 15th. It is understood that the main reason for the failure of the deal was the fact that the promoters asked a considerable amount in the purchase price, not being satisfied with the 15 per cent commission allowed by the company. Dalton & Lark continued quiet. The July dividend of one-half cent per share was paid on the 15th. Buyers were not numerous. Daly was slightly lower in the offering, without any improvement in the bidding. The properties are making a good record, but the chances of dividends continue to depress the stock. Daly West was in good demand at the previous week's quotations. The improvements at the main shaft are being pushed with vigor.

Neither Four Aces nor Eagle did any business worthy of note. The quotations remained practically unchanged. East Golden Gate displayed no activity, although work with the drill is reported to have commenced. This drill is being used for the purpose of prospecting from the foot of the shaft. Galena is making regular shipments and the properties continue to look well. The stock did some business at quotations of the previous week. Horn Silver continued active although sellers were not willing to make any further concessions. At the delinquent sale of Lucky Bill stock it developed that practically all of the stockholders had paid the last assessment. Work is being pushed at the properties. Development work on the Little Pittsburg continued, with the showing more encouraging.

Mammoth will declare its monthly dividend of 5 cents per share on the 20th, and on the same day the Mercur company will pay its July dividend of 12½ cents per share. Both of these stocks were in fairly good demand during the week and did most of the business although the quotations on each remained about as during the previous week. The Mammoth is reported to be looking extremely well. The Mercur mill closed down for nearly two days on account of flood waters washing into the engine room, but full operations have now been resumed. The damage done by the flood was merely nominal. The properties especially the Mattie, never looked as well as at present. Golden continued quiet with quotations practically unchanged. Overland is looking well. Bigelow and sellers of Silver King did not get together in any marked degree, the sellers being unwilling to make concessions. The work of increasing the mill plant of the Sunshine company is to be vigorously pushed, and it is expected that the new tanks will be in within forty-five days and the mill operating to its increased capacity, which will be between 150 and 200 tons daily. The stock was offered easy in limited amount. Swansea showed no improvement in price over the previous week, but on the contrary sold off slightly, although the close was somewhat stronger.

An encouraging change has just occurred in the Scranton at the Tetro. It now looks like pay ore was not far away. Utah continues making a very gratifying record of production.

Mine and Space.

The Galena office is now ornamented with a new sign which was put in yesterday.

The Mercur plant started up again this morning after having recovered from the severe drenching of Monday.

A quorum of the directors of the Gold Dust Mining company met yesterday, but there was no meeting held.

The Tintic properties which were closed down on account of the death of John McIntyre, will resume actively on Monday morning.

The Evans boys have a very promising property in the Dipper in Little Cottonwood canyon and they are now into ore which shows $10 in gold to the ton.

A gentleman just in from the Dalton and Lark at Bingham is authority for the statement that a body of ore has been encountered at the mine which shows 150 ounces in silver to the ton.

The Utah Power company which is preparing to erect an electric light and power plant in Big Cottonwood canyon has just let a large contract for machinery to the Westinghouse company of Pittsburg, Pa.

The latest advices from the Bullfrogs at Delcrar are to the effect that 12 feet of the ore in work is all shipping ore, while drift and at such as a greater depth in the shaft, the quality and appearance, when sorted out, [illegible] are looked for.

The Imperial Gold Mining and Milling company filed officers of the corporation yesterday with a capital stock of $150,000, divided into $1 shares. The company's properties consist of the Gertie, Champagne, Acorn, Acorn No. 2, Mike, York and the Thunderstorm mining claims in the Pegleg mining district, Lincoln county, this state. George Ramsey Jr. is president, John T. Kelly, vice president, Joseph Thomas, secretary and treasurer, who, with George Ramsey and Henry Dinwoodey form the directorate.

A dispatch from Seattle, Wash., says that the lost venture of J. Edward Addison, the gold blind and disappointed millionaire of Delaware, is to lead a corporation to work for gold in the gravel beds of the Cariboo. The company, which has been incorporated under the name of the British Northwest Gold Mining company, "states, has a capital stock of $2,000,000, and will operate on the Fraser property in the Quesnelle, well known as the most important gold-bearing tributary of the Fraser river. The property is expected to yield to the owners a gross amount of $1,000,000 annually.

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - - JULY 17, 1896.

Junction City Items.

An accident occurred at the mouth of Ogden canyon last evening. Peter Jacobsen and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Christensen were returning home from the Old Folks' reunion, when their team got frightened at a steam roller and ran away. Mr. Jacobsen was thrown out of the conveyance and two ribs were broken. Mrs. Christensen was somewhat bruised. Both were over 70 years of age. They were taken to the home of friends on Twenty-third street, and attended by a physician.

Brother Cyrus Rawson died yesterday morning at Hatchville. His funeral services will be held in the Third ward meeting house today at 2 p. m.

Old General Nathan Kimball smiled all day long at seeing the old fellow. His face looked ten years younger than usual.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - - JULY 17, 1896.

Foul Play Suspected.

Mr. M. L. Shepherd of Beaver passed through Provo yesterday. In Ogden he will be joined by H. C. C. Rich of Pocatello and they will proceed to Salem, Utah, for the purpose of bringing home the body of Ezra Shepherd who died by drowning was noted in Monday's News. They fear that the unfortunate young man may have met with foul play and will make such investigations as they can in order to ascertain the facts in the case. Their fears are based upon a letter received by Mr. Shepherd from a young lady in Grass Valley, Cal., before they knew anything of Ezra's death. She asked Mr. Shepherd if he knew anything of Ezra's whereabouts and expressed fears that he was in dangerous surroundings. This young lady and Ezra were lovers, her parents objected to the daughter receiving allowances from Ezra, and intimate her is correspondence with him. In Ezra's pockets, on the corpse's states in his letter, was found a letter from a lady signed "G" and addressed to "Harry." This letter expressed great solicitation for "Harry's" welfare. The relatives of Ezra think that "Harry" was so mentioned connected in writing to Ezra. The letter "G," with which the letter was signed, is the initial of the young lady's given name. Of course there may be nothing in the fear that Ezra's death was the result of violence, as, so far, there seems to be but slight grounds to base such a supposition upon, but every effort will be made to get at the truth.

County Commissioners.

The following business was transacted in the Fourth district court yesterday:

Commissioner Reynolds was elected chairman for the ensuing quarter.

The county clerk presented statement of fees collected during quarter ending ending July 6, amounting to $[illegible].

The sheriff presented a similar statement, showing fees received, amounting to $207.45. The recorder showed fees received amounting to $[illegible].

A number of reports from justices of the peace and other county officers were received and salaries of county officers and other claims were allowed.

Fourth District Court.

The case of Levi Openshaw vs Wm. A. Hanson occupied the attention of the court all day yesterday. Judge Hatch reserved his decision till this afternoon.

The following cases were continued indefinitely by consent of counsel: Perry city vs Logan Paul, J. W. Smith vs Provo city, Joseph F. Wright vs George Patten, S. M. Doggins vs R-y et al.

Suit has been brought by J. W. Smith et al for renewal of judgment for $[illegible] obtained April 7th, 1891, against John A. Burt and M. L. Burt.

Notes and Personals.

Deputy Sheriff Fowler has returned from Evanston, where he went to look at some men who were supposed to have broken into Wm. Page's store at Payson and stolen some jewelry. The jewelry in the possession of the men arrested at Evanston was not that taken at Payson, and the jewelers were not brought back.

George W. and Joshua Horne of Lake Shore were taken before Justice Mildy yesterday on a charge of unlawfully catching trout in Dimmick creek. They pleaded guilty and were fined $10 each, which they paid.

Henry Hancock, aged 26, and Ella Wightman, aged 19, both of Payson, have received a marriage license.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, - - JULY 16, 1896.

John Jensen, a young man from Hyrum, was arrested on Tuesday morning just outside the city limits by Marshal McCollum, on a charge of resisting the city officers of Hyrum. His case for resistance, though serious, was a trifle to other offenses. He was tried yesterday in Justice E. W. Smith's court, where the following facts were elicited: A warrant existing for him with assault on a girl named Lucia Mathews had been sworn to before the Hyrum justice of the peace. This was placed in the hands of City Marshal Squires, who deputized a young man named Christensen to serve him, as Johnson had the habit of being a hard man, and it was hard to be carried a gun. Johnson was just rising his horse out of town when the officers, also on horseback, overtook and commanded him to halt. He inquired their business and the marshal told him he had a warrant for his arrest. Johnson asked him to read it, but Squires replied, "I don't have to." Jensen evidently concluded that neither did he have to stay, and starting his horse forward at a rapid gait, Squires commenced to call which he has gotten short. He fled away, and as he did not stop Bud has taken it to him. This had added wings to the flight and he was again shot at, the bullet this time hitting the fugitive half way in his saddle and was drawing a bead on figures when his horse jumped an unexpected duck and disturbed his aim and balance. As the officer did no more shooting, Johnson got up his gun and went on. In the meantime it seems that the young lad had industriously skating behind the trees endeavoring to get his pistol to work, but without effect. The officers immediately started in pursuit, but they finally lost their men altogether, and had side to Logan. Johnson says he rode along somewhat easily and in due time reached the outskirts of the city, where he was arrested as above related. He claim was the he was a stranger, and when Squires attempted to inform him the officer gave no insight to indicate the nature of his calling, neither did he question it. He asked that the warrant be read, and when this was refused because impolitic, and stood on his rights as an American citizen. He did not draw his own gun until an attempt to murder him had been made, when he started to argue to find protection from the officers. He seemed to make a very good defense and the judge took the matter under advisement until Friday afternoon.

It is thought by those who claim an acquaintance with the circumstances that he will be brought to trial on the charge that led to his arrest. His wife is in Hyrum his home, so his mother lives there, but he only makes brief visits at long intervals, as he has for years worked in Nevada.

Notes.

The fact that Frank Horton's shiner was high, arose to his eye on Monday morning, when it was caught by a set screw on a rapidly revolving shaft at the Utah & Oregon Milling and Building company's milling mill. He was whirled through a half dozen times of times when his clothing gave way and he fell to the floor, dripping as said. His back was bruised but he escaped serious injury.

F. A. Newbergar has been elected captain; Second Lieutenant Gardner promoted to the first lieutenancy, and Sergeant Jos. Benson to the second lieutenancy of company C, first battalion, second infantry, N. G. U. Major Advocate Warnick supervised the election.

For catching trout on Rock Creek, in Blacksmith Fork canyon, on Monday, George F. Lindsay and Charles Shirley were fined from Paulsen, respectively $5 and $[illegible] each. They claimed the fish they caught were high as Elk, but the law was vindicated.

The county board of equalization has completed its labors, finally passing upon some. As elsewhere in the state, the assessed valuation was heavily increased and much consequent grumbling done.

The very lively case of Elizabeth Ann Hammer vs Wm. T. Alnsworth, came to an end yesterday afternoon, when Judge Hall rendered a decision in favor of the defendant, to cause for action.

Hon. L. C. Thomson has at length got rid of the large wire stack he carried around in his stomach for so many days, and is consequently happy.

Our business and manufacturing friends and the trade whom will be out to Logan next fall, it will pay them to come to Logan.

Mrs. Henry H. Dinwoodey and Miss Helen Mae Williams are visiting in Logan. They are guests of Hon. C. F. Worley.

Hiram Thatcher Jr. is spending a few days in Salt Lake.
