The charge was partly written and partly oral. When the Judge came to olygamy and cohabitation he got angry as usual. He said the system must be rooted out. The people could do it themselves, but he called on the jury to Americanize the Territory. The people should be independent and not be governed temporally and spiritually by the Priesthood. Saturday next, in the Theatre, is the ten colored plantation singers. They are the best in the country, and will introduce the great plantation testival and Mississippi steamboat scene, the jolly coon quartette and South Carolina slave singers, and a host of new and original povelties characteristic of the South before the war.

A Delicate Operation .- Yesterday Dr. Benedict, assisted by Drs. Pike, Bowers and other skillful surgeons, performed a delicate operation on the daughter of ex-Mayor Hanson Walker of Pleasant Grove. The lady was in this city, and the operation was the removal of an ovarian tumor, weighing about 35 pounds, from which she has been a great sufferer. The patient has railied considerably, and there is now every prospect of a speedy restoration to health.

An Equity Verdict .- This afterneon the jury in the suit of Eliza Durnell vs. Joseph Sowden gave a verdict for plaintiff for $136. The note sued on was given by A. Case to the defendant, who transferred it to the plaintiff. The latter says the defendant endorsed it, but this he denied, alleging the signature of his name to be a forgery: To settle the matter the jury "split the difference," and gave plaintiff about one-half of the amount claimed. Both sides were dissatisfied with the verdict, and ten days' stay of proceedings was granted pending a motion for a new trial on the part of the plaintiff.

Court Notes .- Proceedings in the Third District Court to-day: The People vs. R. H. Shively; trial set for Wednesday, March 23. The People vs. Marsh; robbery; dis-missed for want of evidence. The People vs. D. McDonald and Herbert A. Slade; prizefighting; continued for the term and the request of counsel for defendants. Eliza Durnell vs. Joseph Sowden; verdict for plaintiff for $136.

Charles E. Gomin, Charles J. Bengtzen and James Price were admitted to citizenship.

Wm. Ayrton vs. Thomas Tenant; on trial before the Court.

Railways for Idaho. - Articles have been filed in the Secretary of State's office for the incorporation of "The Elko and Idaho Central Railroad Company," for a railroad to run from Wells north to the Idaho line; capital stock, $1,500,000; length of said road, 100 miles; incorporators, C. C. Wallace, of Eureka; C. W. Friend, Sam C. Wright, J. E. Fones, F. B. Allen, James D. Torryson, Hame Yerington and T. Cofof Carson. Directors T. J.D. Torreyson, and Hume Yerrington.
Also articles of incorporation of the Idaho, Nevada and Moutann Railway Idaho, Nevada and Montaun Railway Company, to run from Winnemucca north to Camp McDermit, were filed. Length of road 100 infles; capital stock $1,500,000; same directors and incorporators so in the Elko and Idaho Central Company. A bill has passed both houses of the Legislature alding the building of the latter road, and efforts in the same direction will doubtless be made, for the former.—I segrora (Nev.) Times-Beview. RELIGIOUS MEETING RAIDED. Latter-day Saints Conference

Visited by U. S. Marshals.

SEVERAL PEOPLE DETAINED, BUT NO ABBRESTS.

On Saturday evening we mentioned a raid by Marshal Dyer and his deputies, made on Bountiful, Davis County, on Friday night. In addition to the events ecorded, a wedding party was interrupted by the search for alleged violators of the Edmunds law, and a hall here a dance was in progress also received attention. On Saturday the

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE of Davis Stake of Zion was commenced at Bountiful. In the forences the President of the Stake, Wm. R. Smith, addressed the congregation. The meeting re-convened at 2 p. m., and, as was afterwards learned, word was sent by a party at Boontiful, informing U. S. Marshal Dyer that there were present several persons who were suspected of disregardprohibiting the leaving of teams un- ing the third section of the Edmunds hitched in the streets would have a law. This was about 2:30 p.m., and beneficial effect on quite a number of the Marshal, accompanied by Deputy people who seem to have unlimited Franks and a penitentiary guard named Kingsbury, started north on horseback; communication between this city and

Stephen Hale, an "apostate," who resides near there, was called upon to identify parties who might be wanted. Elder John Woolley, who was presiding over the meeting, was called out by Marshal Dyer, who had stationed guards at the front and back doors. The Marshal informed Brother Woolley President Wm.R. Smith, Bishop Chester Call, Jas. T. Wood, Wm.S. Multale. and Harvey H. Perkins. He also said that it was his wish that the meeting go on undisturbed, and that when it was concluded only one door should Lucle Tom.—A particular feature represented by the Great Boston Uncle Tom's Cabin in this city, Friday and Saturday next, in the Theatre, is the her head bowed on her desk crying. On asking what the trouble was, she said nothing; she finally told him that her head ached and went home, where she rapidly sank until her death. On she rapidly sank until her death. On the same day, and at the same place, Willis Johnson, four and a half years of age, died of croup, and the funeral services over both were held together in the Hyrum meeting house.

Deputy Marshal Whetstone and Mr. Thomas drove over to Hyrum on Thursday evening and subpensed A. A. Allen to serve as a juryman, and passing the residence of Wm. Williams, of that place, saw him in the yard. They immediately stopped and arrested him on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. He was brought to Logan and placed in charge of Mr. Thomas at Cardon's Hotel over night. On Friday morning, being taken before Commissioner Goodwin, he pleaded guilty to the charge, and was bound over in the sum of $1,000 to awatt the action of the grand jury. Enoch Lewis and of the grand jury. Enoch Lewis and Thomas Roberts went his bonds. Mrs. Margaret and Mary Ellen Ward Williams were bound over as witnesses in the sum of $200 each. Mr. Williams is over 60 years of age, and his second wife has been married to him 19 years.

He is the first victim of the crusade from Hyrum.

That a man can lift himself over a fence by the straps of his boots is being almost demonstrated by the well known inventor Chris. Garff, of Logan, who has conceived and is practically demonstrating the novel idea of making the swift-running streams of these fair mountain regions lift themselves outfof their channels and up on to a bank—or at least enough of the liquid for irrigating, gold. and up on to a bank—or at least enough of the liquid for irrigating, gold, washing, and kindred purposes. The manner of accomplishing this is so simple that it seems strange it has never before been put in practice. It consists of a small iron wheel, or wheels, so constructed and placed between two boats as to secure the power of the running water to operate them. The wheels can be lowered into the stream until entirely submerged or raised, at the will of the operator, thus regulating speed. The deeper the wheels are in the water, the greater will be the power, and an enlimited power can be secured in this way at a very slight expense as compared with the usual ways of securing water power. Of course this power can be applied for all purposes where water power can be used. We understand that the machine that has attracted so that the machine that has attracted as much attention for the past few days, and which was in successful operation yesterday, in the capai, is intended for Snake River, and will be used in raising water for gold-washing, and we feel to congratulate Mr. Garff, as well as the miners who have secured so effective an arrangement for raising water, and are thus ena-bled to secure the wealth which seemed 'so near and yet so far" when water can be had cheaply.

Beaver Bits .- We clip the following points from Saturday's Utonian: The Minersville people are busily engaged on their rabbit-proof fence.

Mr. Bupaix expects to drive a flowing well at Minersville in the hear future. Success is hoped for.

Some non-Mormons were among those summoned as grand jurors who could not take the new oath. We begin to think both shoes pinch a little.

The school in Adamsville was dismissed this week. The rabbit craze has struck that burgh and all hands were summoned to fight the pests.

A prominent non-Mormonsgentleman of this town was overheard to remark this week, that if the Presidens were to send him a commission as probate judge he would reply thanking him for the honor conferred and request him (the President) to please remove the judge, such things having been tried here before with meagre results. The gentleman seems to understand the situation.

was the first speaker. He said he was always led to reflect, when in the assemblages of the Latter-day Saints, upon the marvelous work the Lerd had effected in gathering them together; it was a work before which the wiscom of the wise perished, and the understanding of the prudent had been hidden; a work which none but the wise and seknowledge Him as effected in gathering them together; it was a work before which the wiseoun of the wise perished, and the understanding of the prudent had been hidden; a work which none but the Almighty could have accomplished, and which was a wonder to the world. By it the people of many different nationalities, languages, ideas and habits had been gathered together and dwelt in peace. No man, of his own power, could have effected this work. It was not the result of Joseph Smith's ability, but of the workings of the sea, but here on the spirit of God upon those who had received the Gospel. The Saints, when they heard the principles of truth, received them gladly, leaving all for the Gospel's sake. Before they heard it many were in good positions in the earth, and had no inclination to leave their native lands. But when they had obeyed they Gospel message, their souls had no rest, and their peace was not complete, until they had united themselves with the body of the Church. No man could have induced, them to make this sacrifice, to leave home and friends and to cast their lot with s despised and persecuted people.

Church. No man could have induced, them to make this sacrifice, to leave home and triends and to cast their lot with a despised and persecuted people. Nothing but the workings of the Spirit of God could have effected the chasge, and it was in fulfilment of the great things foretold by the ancient Prophets. The word of the Lord had gone forth for the gathering of His people, and in accordance with that command the Elders of Israel had proclaimed the message of salvation, and the Saints had heeded and obeyed it. The prophecy of the Psalmist David was finfilled in the growth, progress and labors of the Latter-day Saints. Judging by human reasoning, the Prophet Joseph never could have con-ceived the magnitude of the great work he was instrumental in inaugurating. But the visions and powers of the Lord revealed to him what should be. He had gone before the Lord in humility to learn His will as to his course of life, and had been taught what he should do. In due time he received the Gospel plan and the Church of Christ good opportunity for bargains. diffused obedience to the Gospel, and the Church increased in mem out of the meeting house, turned and walked rapidly away, when he was pursued by Deputy Franks, who selzed and held him, notwithstanding his been erected on the earth for hundreds of years which was dedicated to God, and in which He could manifest His will. But Kirtiand, Ohio, was not the place destined to be the Zion of the latten days, where the great Temple should be built. This place was in the western part of Missouri, where the remnants of the land, the Lamanites, would aid in building the Temple. But the Lord, when He revealed this, told the Saints that the land of Zion could not be redeemed only through a strict Dyer seat Deputy Franks, in company with Judge Stoker, who again examined the entire interior of the building, from cellsr to dome. By this time the officers were convinced that their errand was a bootless one, and they returned to the city.

There is still difficulty with getting freights over the U. & N. "No cars, no cars!" is the railroad men's explain the Saints that the land of Zion could not be redeemed only through a strict obedience to His laws; and it could be possessed only after much be possessed only after much tribulation. The Saints had gathered there, but after about two years they were persecuted, scattered and driven. Their numbers, however, increased, and instead of the Church being destroyed, it was stronger than ever. Then, in free America, it was shown that a people were persecuted for their religion, and many honorable people, having their attention attracted by this fact, investigated and rendered obedience to the Gospel.

The persecutions of the Saints continued until they were driven into the

The persecutions of the Saints continued until they were driven into the wilderness, and in the midst of the forbidding wastes of Utah they builded their city. Hungry and thirsty, with their souls sinking within them, they cried unto God, and He delivered them mirrorlesses, from their distresses. miraculously from their distresses.
They acknowledged His hand in this deliverance as they did in all other events. The Lord wrought out His purposes by natural means, and the Saints knew His power and praised

It was frequently said by those not of the Saints, "If you are the people of God, the bearers of His message, of the Saints, "If you are the people of God, the bearers of His message, why does He not come forth and deliver you? Why does He permit your Elders to be sent to prison, or to be murdered? Why does He not manifest His power in your deliverance?" How blind were those whe spoke thus! How was it with the Savior, and what were the words of scorn thrown at Him when He was crucified by those whom He came to save? Was it not said, If thou be the Son of God come down from the cross; and, He saved others, himself He cannot save? Had Jesus heeded these revilings and the power of God been exerted so that He would not have died, there would have been no Redeemer, and mankind could not have been saved. Though, in His agony, He cried "My God, why hast Thou forsaken me!" He knew in His heart that His death was necessary, and He gave His life that mankind might be redeemed. The Almighty had permitted the wicked to persecute and slay His Prophets, that His plan of salvation might be fulfilled, and man have the full and free exercise of his own agency. There had been no drivings no deaths, no imprisonment among the agency. There had been no drivings, no deaths, no imprisonment among the agency. There had been no drivings no deaths, no imprisonment among the Latter-day Saints but what was in accord with the Lord's will and for the advancement of His cause. Nothing could spread His work so rapidly as persecution, and the Saints would not murmur or complain if for a time He restrained His hand.

The faithful all knew that God was just and merciful, and every pain and torture inflicted on them brought with it a joy. They were not tried with more than they could bear. His hand was over them and He delayath not His coming. There was semething of which the world could not rob the Saints, and that was the comforting influence of the Holy Spirit. The wicked were given power to slay Christ, but they could not seal His tomb and He came forth the Lord of lords—the Savior of the world. So would it be with the Saints; they would come out of the trial purer, better and stronger in the truth. Some might ask, in view of what was occurring, Of what avail are your faith and prayers? When Jesus had fasted and prayers of the Latter day.

Let not the hearts of the Latter-day Saints grow faint, for the arm of God is outstretched for their deliverance, and all the nations will yet know that He is God, and that He delivered His people. They were not yet Zion; Ineir hearts were not yet pure; evil was not yet removed from their midst. The faithless still had a place among them. But persecution would purify them, and only the righteous would stand; he who sinned must fall; the Church must purify itself; and God would reveal on the housetops the sinner and the hypocrite. The righteous might have to suffer to accomplish this work but it would come to pass. have to suffer to accomplish this work, but it would come to pass.

In the progress of ancient Israel toward the promised land, they came to Jericho; the Lord directed them what to do to conquer the city; He also directed them to destroy all bot certain persons, and forbade the people to touch the things in the city that were to be dedicated to Him. But Achan disregarded the compands of Jehovah, and one of the results was that when the army of Israel went against the next city it was defeated. Joshus learned from the Lord that it was because of the iniquity in their was because of the iniquity in their midst, and that unless the evil was removed Israel could not proceed in their journeyings. Achas, the guilty one, with his household, was destroyed, but his act brought misfortune on the whole camp of Israel. And may it not be that to destroy.

And may it not be that to-day the Saints are suffering because there are those in their midst who are wicked at heart, and their wrong-doing is passed by unnoticed? God had said that the the people would purify themselve and do His will, their enemies shoul-

Sedom and Gomorrah He told Abraham what He was going to do. Abraham pleaded wha Him he spare the righteous, and God replied that if there were lifty righteous in the city He would not destroy it. Abraham still plead until the Lord promised to still plead until the Lord promised to spare the city if there were ten righteous persons; but there were not, for only Lot and a portion of his family heeded His word and were saved. And fo-day if there was only a part of the people willing to serve God, He would deliver them. The kingdom would not be given to another people. This had been show to Daniel in vision. Though half may be foolish, the wise would go into the supper of the Righteous One, while those who falled to prepare themselves would be ex-
