THE DISTRICT COURT.

A Good Deal of Miscellaneous Business Transacted Today.

THE COPPER PLANT LITIGATION.

An Echo of the Recent Election Proceedings—Some Arrangements, Etc.

Both branches of the Third district court have been in session today, Chief Justice Merritt sit on the entire forenoon, but Associate Justice Bartch, whose time was taken up largely with the drawing of grand and petit jurors for the January term, adjourned just before 11 o'clock until 2 p.m.

The Chief Justice, after rendering a lengthy opinion in the Chamberlain-county suit, reported elsewhere in this issue, proceeded to hear the motion Saturday morning, which reversed Judge Bartch and led to his giving the injunction in the matter of the meeting of the board of canvassers.

THE REPORTER GIVES ASSAYS.

Attorney John M. King, of counsel for the petitioners in the election case from Juab county, recently tried, called up the motion for a new trial before Judge Bartch. His honor, it was said, had passed upon the motion some time ago and allowed the writ, but now went over the prohibition clause of the question, which, he intimated, he is the humane, was under advisement.

Judge Powers, on the order of counsel for the Utah Commission, reserved until Saturday morning, was about to be taken up, he would first like to go into the other motions, and both Attorney Irvine L. Wilkins, for the contestee, Judge Harris said that Judge Bartch had previously spoken to him on this subject and desired that it be not taken up until he could be present.

Mr. Zane suggested that Judge Bartch was "with us" on the matter.

Judge Harris then said he might be mistaken, but he thought he had Attorney Ogden Hiles who spoke to him.

Mr. Hiles, who was now in court, said it was so, and suggested that perhaps it was Judge Miner.

Without discussing the matter, Chief Justice Judge Harris said the order might be given with the affirmation. Counsel time the Salt Lake Ice and Cold Storage Company and Jacob Sutter and Sons, 3:00.

VIOLATING A PUBLIC TRUST.

In the case of Judge Hendrick, the youth charged with forgiveness of a sister copy of Newly's and had previously pleaded guilty, the prosecution did not offer any objection to a continuance on the April term, as asks Attorney Curtis's request it was so ordered.

RICHARDSON'S PLEA.

Charles H. Richardson was arraigned on five indictments charging him with fraudulently keeping and disposing of money, etc. This is the case arising out of the Park City bank failure.

GENERAL ORDERS.

In the case of George Crocker vs. James M. Kennedy et al., setoff and judgment were vacated.

Spencer Clawson & Co. vs. J. D. Howitt et al. Hearing on motion to dissolve attachment continued for two weeks.

Salt Lake Building & Manufacturing Co. vs. the Salt Lake Amusement association. Hearing continued till the second week in February.

Estate Judge Sutton.

The case of E. W. Ringer vs. the Salt Lake Copper Manufacturing company engaged Chief Justice Merritt's attention for a short time. The plaintiff holds ask that he be awarded $600 of treasury stock in payment of a note according promissory notes to the amount of $100,000 to supplied prior to the recorded deed of trust in which the trustee is Hayward.

Judge Dey (by G. Hirsch) on the part of certain defendants, asked to have the hearing on the order to show cause taken up forthwith; but Attorney F. L. Williams announced that the plaintiff was not ready to proceed, he being now on his way here from Chicago.

Judge Dey thought that the whole matter could be disposed of on one question of law. He then said that Mr. Ringer had a position which, he intimated, would preclude him, and an injunction was not needed.

Mr. Williams stated that the hearing would occupy one day at least, and the most important witness was a woman. The side, he said, desired by the defending valet, was prepared with the consent of the defendants before the temporary injunction was issued.

Judge Dey said the claim was for $50,000 and the ex parte application $100,000 worth of property.

Mr. Varian contended, however, that ownership was immaterial in this the validity of the mortgaged deed of trust were established it would cut for the sum of $100,000.

Judge Marshall, of counsel for the intervenors, urged a speedy hearing. The plaintiff's claim was for $5,000 only, he said, and the holders of the $75,000 intended in the mortgaged free of trust were in opposition to him.

After some further talk Judge Merritt fixed the hearing for Saturday next.

Annual Reunion.

A grand ball will be given by E. C. M. I. employes at Christensen's casino on Wednesday evening, January 23, 1895, it being the occasion of their annual reunion. There is no doubt but an enjoyable time will be had.

Novel and Entertaining.

The "Carnival" to be given at the Tabernacle next assembly room Friday evening, January 25, for the benefit of the Sunday school and Y. L. M. I. A., promises to be a grand success. The committee in charge are working with vim and energy, and judging from the interest taken manifested by the people, together with the variety of attractions to be provided, the Carnival will be both novel and entertaining. Besides a little show entitled "Nature's Wonderland—or, Week" will be illustrated by the stereopticon by C. H. Savage.

THE THIRTIETH QUORUM.

Promotion of the Senior President, Edward Stevenson.

Last evening the officers and members of the Thirtieth quorum of Seventies met in the Nineteenth ward assembly room with their wives and other members of their families, and some invited guests, and showed respect to their senior President, Edward Stevenson, who has been called to the First Council of Seventies. The gathering was not confined to present numbers, but brought greetings and mementos showed honor to the occasion by their presence. The meeting was called to order by President Joseph M. Walker, Elder M. J. Thomas, member of the quorum and chief leader in the ward, who by excellent choice, made the singing exercises of the evening a very interesting feature. Miss Y. Lund gave an appropriate piano recital resplendent, and "O, My Father" was sung by Hester Cooley Pike.

President Joseph M. Walker introduced Elder Harrison B. Wells to speak.

Brother Stevenson stated that in June, 1883, he became the junior president of the Twelfth quorum of Seventies and has been with the quorum ever since, the greater portion of the time senior president. Having been associated with the quorum half his life, it has naturally become very dear to him. Among those who have been presidents and members of the quorum are President George Q. Cannon, Elder Heber J. Grant, of the Council of the Apostles, Edward Stevenson, M. Cannon, George H. Taylor, David H. Cannon, Joseph Bull, James P. Frost, William C. Stokes, John S. Bowen, M. F. Cowan and J. W. Turner. Brother Stevenson had served the second quorum three and the eighth twenty-seven times, mostly in missionary labor, and sought to Utah Martin Harris, one of the witnesses to the Book of Mormon.

Elder Heber J. Grant, of the Council of the Apostles, then addressed the meeting in connection with the quorum. He felt that his present condition of advancement was due to such men as Edward Stevenson, George Goddard and others with whom he had associated in the Sabbath school and in this quorum.

Elder Angus M. Cannon, a former officer in the quorum, related reminiscences of his youthful history, the hardships he has passed through, and rejoiced exceedingly in the privilege of having found so noble a friend as Brother Edward Stevenson. The call to the Council of Seventies found no echo in his breast. His brother, President George Q. Cannon, succeeded to the presidency of the Britisch mission, and he was a missionary in Hawaiian Islands in 1884. The speaker succeeded his brother in 1886, and Gen. H. Taylor succeeded him.

Elder Geo. H. Taylor related his early experience with Bro. Stevenson and spoke of his virtues, especially in keeping the Word of Wisdom.

Elder O. G. Workman, a Tabernacle member of the quorum, said he was ordained when eleven years of age a member of the quorum, which was organized Sept. 25, 1844, in the City of Joseph, and had been with the quorum ever since. He witnessed the dedication of the Nauvoo Temple, and accompanied the Mormon Battalion to Mexico.

The presidency of the quorum now stand as follows: James Perkins, Joseph M. Walker, Andrew Kimball, William Paxton, John N. Cole, Joseph H. Dean and A. B. Wright, the latter having been an apostle in 40 the vacancy caused by the promotion of Elder Stevenson.

A Tour of the County.

Owing to the requests from different parts of the county for information relative to roads, the selectman have decided to make a tour in the county and personally inspect the condition of the roads, in order to have the expense as light as possible they have divided the county into three districts, each taking one district. Another object of the tour is to ascertain the number of unclaimed houses of all kinds in the county that would come under the license ordinance, and if any can be found to have the business without a license to so inform the sheriff so as to collect the license and the money goes to the county and to property property.
