Amusements at Brigham.

Last evening the good people of our air Brigham City had an enjoyable time.

The officers of the Young Ladies' M. I. Association of the various wards arranged for and participated in an old time and modern party in our new Second Ward Hall.

STAID AS IT WAS.

At 6:30 p.m. the hand struck up a giant march, when the people of whom there assembled their promenade.

The dance for a few minutes was carried back to the good old times of early Utah, when men dressed in hickory shirts and dreamers and jean pants, when women were considered well attired in calico dresses and sun bonnets.

At 7 o'clock a programme was rendered consisting of singings, recitations, etc., all done in the innocent, good old-fashioned manner. After intermission of an hour was represented in all its advancement and culture.

At 9 p.m. refreshments were served, then a truly modern entertainment was given, duet, quartet and other musical items were enjoyed.

The whole affair was a success and reflected great credit on the young ladies who so ably managed it.

VERDICT, NOT GUILTY.

Albert Kerm Acquitted in the Third District Court.

THE CHARGE WAS BURGLARY.

Evidence On Both Sides—Defendant Testifies in His Own Behalf.

The trial of Albert Kerm, for burglary, took place in the Third District Court yesterday afternoon before Judge Zane. The indictment alleged that on the night of September 29 last, the defendant, who had a short time before escaped from the United States Marshal's office, entered the residence of William Wood, near the Warm Springs, and stole a silver watch and $140 in cash. S. P. Armstrong appeared for the defendant, while Mr. Critchlow prosecuted.

Wm. Wood, Jr., testified—On the night of September 29th last I went home at a late hour. While sitting in a front room reading I heard a noise at the door, but supposed it was a cat. In a few minutes I went across the room for a match, and as I turned I saw a man standing by the table, in which was the cash. He told me that if I made any noise he would kill me. I rushed into the next room and shouted "Robbers!" and then came back and saw the man going out of the room.

To Mr. Armstrong—The man had a handkerchief over his face and was standing in the dark when I first saw him. After the robbery I went to the police station and reported the affair, but was unable to give a description of the man. When the newspapers published a description of Kerm, I came to the conclusion that he was the man.

To Mr. Armstrong—Kerm escaped from the marshal's office while on trial for resisting an officer. I was looking for him when I went to the depot. He was unarmed.

Sheriff Isaac—I assisted Deputy Marshal Cannon in arresting Kerm.

This closed the evidence for the prosecution, and the defense called Frank Rainoff, salesman at Goldsmith & Co's. He testified that on September 22nd last he sold a bill of goods amounting to $23.80 to a young man. Part of these goods he identified as being worn by Kerm, although he could not say that Kerm was the man he sold them to.

Henry E. N. Phelps, the broker, was called and testified that he handled a great many watches of the same kind as the one found on Kerm and alleged to have been stolen from the Woods residence.

Wm. Wood, Sr., said—On the night of this robbery I was awakened by hearing my son shout "Robbers." I rushed into the room and saw my son standing there, but the man was gone.

Arthur Hodgett testified—On the night of this robbery I was living at Mr. Woods' house. The next morning I found that my pants had been taken into the hallway and a silver watch and some money had been taken from them. The watch was afterwards shown to me by the marshal, who found it on Kerm at the time of his arrest.

Deputy Marshal Cannon stated—I first saw Kerm when he was on trial in this court in September last. The next time I saw him was when I arrested him at the Rio Grande Western depot. He wore a duster, a dark hat, a pair of goggles and a dark suit of clothes. I searched him and found on him $134 in money, the Centennial watch introduced in evidence here and a ticket to Denver.

Charles P. Adams—I was at the penitentiary in September last while Kerm was there. He had then an open face watch and we borrowed it probably twenty times to time ourselves while pumping water. It was exactly the same as the watch introduced here by the prosecution.

To Mr. Critchlow—I was sent up for burglary. I never saw Kerm until he was brought out there.

John Flynn testified that he was in the penitentiary in September last and was acquainted with Kerm. The latter had an open face silver watch while at the penitentiary, which was of the same appearance as the one introduced by the prosecution.

Mrs. R. Unsell said she was keeping furnished rooms opposite the Natatorium in September last and a young man of the same general appearance as the defendant stopped there three nights.

D. W. Dyll stated that he had been in the jewelry business for thirty-five years and had handled a great many Centennial watches. A second-hand watch of that kind would be worth about a dollar. Such watches were generally scratched on the back, as the metal was easily marked.

Albert Kerm, the defendant, was sworn. He said—I came to the penitentiary in September last, waiting trial on the charge of resisting an officer. When brought down for trial I escaped from the marshal's office. This was on Friday, and I was rearrested on the following Monday night. I bought the railway ticket found on me from a scalper. I bought a suit $22 worth of goods at Goldsmith's on the day I was arrested. When I left the marshal's office that day I walked down State with my coffee and started up Main street to First South. Then I went to the Valley house and wrote a letter to a friend of mine named William Hays, saying he would meet me there. He came and I told him how I was situated. He gave me $5 and told me to stay in town until Monday, when he would get me some money. He owed me $200 which I loaned him in Denver. After I got this $5 I went to Mr. Vincent's and took a room. I stayed there until Monday. I was at my room all of Saturday night, and I knew nothing about the Wood robbery. Hays gave me $50 on Monday morning. I sent $20 of it to my aunt. The watch found on me when I was arrested I got in the penitentiary. I never in gambling dens. The prisoners used to gamble a great deal, and they had a face table and some poker game and stuff.

This closed the evidence and the arguments were presented with.

After being out over an hour, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Kerm has yet six months to serve on a conviction for resisting an officer.

THE Home Dramatic Club will play "Young Mrs. Winthrop" at the Temple on the afternoon and evening of Monday next, in honor of Washington's birthday.

A DARING BREAK FOR LIBERTY.

Exciting Occurrence on the Road to the Penitentiary.

It was a lively scene that occurred on the penitentiary road, within about a mile of that institution, yesterday afternoon, and in it the notorious Sanpete James Young played a conspicuous part.

Two of the penitentiary guards, named Dickenson and Field, started from the office of the United States Marshal about four o'clock, having in their custody eight prisoners awaiting trial and one who had already received sentence. Among these black sheep was Young, whose trial on three distinct charges of highway robbery has been set for next Tuesday. Nothing unusual occurred until the party were nearing their destination. Young made the first desperate move. He suddenly jumped to his feet, presented a revolver at Guard Dickenson, and called upon him to "surrender." His companions in crime made a similar request of Field, and while the astonished guard was trying to realize the situation he was from the wagon into the road, and attempted to escape. Guard Field, as soon as he saw that things were beginning to look serious, drew his gun. A citizen named Halliday took up another gun by permission of his conclusion, instantly covered Young with it and ordered the latter desperado to drop the revolver which he had just before flourished in Dickenson's face.

All this occurred in less time than the wagon and mules took to stop, who were trying to get away. Being handcuffed together, their progress was somewhat retarded, and when the bolter began to fire and fall around them the prisoners balked and were specially secured.

There is little doubt that, but for the prompt action of Halliday, the treacherous desperado would have been most serious. This is the third occasion on which he has played an active part in preventing the escape of desperadoes under arrest.

A messenger was despatched to the penitentiary, and Deputy Marshal Vanderbeek was soon on hand with a conveyance and drove back to the penitentiary wagon. The prisoners were escorted the remainder of the distance under strict surveillance and safely lodged in jail.

When and by what means Young obtained possession of the revolver cannot be learned, but the supposition is that it was smuggled to him by an accomplice when walking from the "cage" in the Marshal's office to the wagon outside the Wasatch building.

Probate Court.

The following orders were made in the Probate Court yesterday afternoon by Judge Sutton:

Estate and guardianship of Claude Benton Harrocks, a minor; time for hearing of an annual account of guardian set for March 9th.

Estate of Peter Kropf; time for hearing of annual account and petition for distribution set for March 16th.

The Theatre.

Shakespeare's delightful comedy "Twelfth Night" was presented last night at the Salt Lake Theatre to an immensely large audience. The performance in every particular was a success, and the large house present so testified by its repeated and prolonged plaudits.

Marie Wainwright as Viola exhibited her popularity with Salt Lake theatre-goers. Her charm of manner and grace of person have suffered no diminution. Her speaking and acting were both good.

Miss Walsh, as Olivia, was easy, graceful and natural. Miss Muldener as Maria was full of fun and merriment.

Mr. W. F. Owen made a first-class Sir Toby, and Mr. Brooke, as Sir Andrew, was excellent. Mr. Barton Hill's Malvolio was well received and was rendered very creditably. And so were all the minor parts in the play, except Sebastian, who made himself as dry and stale as Bill Nye.

In stage equipment and in costuming "Twelfth Night" was truthfully and artistically presented.

Tonight Miss Wainwright will give the "Honeymoon," one of her pronounced successes.

The City of St. David.

Editor Deseret News:

Since our last correspondence this town has been somewhat diminished in population, many having gone to the Gila and other parts. Still, the Saints in the place are numerous enough to maintain three schools.

Owing to the great amount of rains last season the St. David canal was completely washed away for nearly a mile, and what is worse, there is no place left to make another. The company have now driven the piles for a new dam, and intend to take the water away from the river and not have any more levies to wash away. There is good belief of engineers who have been operating in this country, that a dam, if properly made, will withstand any amount of pressure that may be brought to bear upon it by floods. There are never more than just in the river at that time stood more than one or two seasons, and although the dam now in progress is an immense structure, being 60 feet in width and 20 feet high, the people have no faith in its efficiency.

Our soil and climate are well adapted to the raising of many kinds of fruit, besides small grain and all kinds of vegetables, and if our supply of water could be increased, it would produce a variety of nearly everything that can be raised. There is an abundance of water under the surface, and many believe that artesian wells could be tapped, but as it required a large amount of capital, there is no one at present willing to make the venture.

The health of the people is generally good, and all seem to manifest a spirit of the Gospel, and to be looking forward to a good great work. Our Sabbath meetings are generally well attended, and the Sabbath School is in good running order. The Relief and Young Ladies' Societies and the Priesthood are doing their utmost in the great work we have begun.

On account of the various employments that have been pursued by the male population, it has been thought wise not to organize a Young Men's Society.

Yours &c.,

DARING HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Near George M. Cannon's Residence in Forest Dale.

A RAPID TRANSIT CAR HELD UP.

The Desperadoes Subsequently Captured and Lodged in Jail.

A bold and deliberate highway robbery was perpetrated at the terminus of the Rapid Transit street car track, at 11:30 last night, near the residence of George M. Cannon, in Forest Dale.

The perpetrators were a rough trio of recent arrivals in the Territory. The victims were Fred. Sleeper and Frank Gibson, conductor and motorman, on the Forest Dale car line. The pair had been carefully planned and was coolly executed. But fortunately the entire details of the conspiracy were revealed to Chief of Police Youngs, at early hour yesterday, by a young man who claims to have accidentally overheard the schemers planning the robbery.

The design of the bandits was to enter and rob the passengers on the after Theatre car. The plot was communicated to the car men, who were loaded for bandits. A squad of police under the direction of the Marshal were to secret themselves near by, and after the holdup to emerge suddenly upon their hiding place and place the robbers under arrest. The performance was executed to a nicety.

The highwaymen stopped the car, and with the usual formula of forty-niners pointed at the heads of the conductor and motorman, (as it fortunately happened there were no passengers aboard) they ordered them to throw up their hands. The order was quickly, if not willingly, complied with. Two silver watches and $4.80 of the company's money constituted the amount of booty captured.

"Shine goals bring little gain" is an old saying and the truthfulness was exemplified in this instance. When the valuables had been pocketed the trio proceeded to make good their escape. They had scarcely commenced their journey, however, when they were surrounded by six burly policemen armed with Marlin magazine rifles. The capture was complete. The prisoners were brought in the city on the car they had ridden.

They gave their names as George Stafford, Franklin Archer and Harry Perkins, and they are Englishmen and twenty-six respectively.

Archer and Stafford were arraigned in the Police Court this morning on the charge of highway robbery, and three o'clock this afternoon was set as the time for them to plead.

Perkins is said, feigned sick and remains in his cell.

HENRIEVILLE AND GEORGETOWN.

Two Thriving Settlements in Southeastern Utah.

HENRIEVILLE, Feb. 13, 1891.

Editor Deseret News:

Henrieville, a thriving little settlement, is situated in the southeastern part of Garfield County, on what is known as the Parash Creek.

The population of this little settlement numbers about twenty-five families, who seem to have the hero and energy which help to make an enterprising town.

The water for irrigation and culinary purposes is conveyed from the creek on which the town is situated.

About six miles southeast of Henrieville lies the little village of Georgetown.

Georgetown is situated in Kane County, the line between Kane and Garfield Counties being between Henrieville and Georgetown.

On the 11th of the present month your correspondent had the pleasure of attending an entertainment given by the Georgetown Dramatic Association. The entertainment opened with the comedy entitled "The Rough Diamond," and was concluded with a laughable farce entitled "The Yankee Peddler," and at the conclusion the young people tripped "on the light fantastic" until a late hour.

The winter in this section has been very mild thus far, there having been no great amount of snow to prevent navigation, but enough for the convenience of sheep and cattle where no water can be found.

Ogden Democrats.

The following circular has been addressed to the Democrats of Ogden, signed by many citizens:

"The condition of political affairs in Utah Territory, and especially in Ogden City, demands a Democratic organization of all Democrats. Local party organizations which have for so many years been dormant, have been recently revived in order to enable Democrats who have not allied to actively participate in politics are not continuing in the disorganization due to political proscription.

A strong, active and permanent Democratic organization is necessary to the interests of this city and Territory.

Therefore, we call upon all friends of Ogden and Weber County, who believe in the great principles of the National Democratic party to assemble at the Pioneer Hall, corner of Lincoln and Wall streets, on the evening of Monday, February 23d, 1891, to consider the best means to be adopted to secure success to the Democratic party in Ogden and Utah.

Sanpete Freight Rates.

Mr. Brown, the assistant general freight and passenger agent of the R. G. W., promises the people of Sanpete the same freight and passenger rates from Manti to Salt Lake as the U. P. gives from Ogden, which will be as follows: Passenger rate to Salt Lake City $5.50 single fare and round trip $9.25. Freight, first class, per hundred, second $3, third $2 and fourth $1. Agent Brown further thinks his road can give the same rates as the U. P. give from Ogden.—Sanpete.

A VERY BRIEF SITTING.

Today's Business in the Third District Court Lasts Half-an-Hour.

When the Third District Court convened this morning, Assistant District Attorney Critchlow asked that the charge against Joseph Curtis, of stealing water, be dismissed. He informed the Court that certain papers in the case had been lost. He had, however, had a conversation with the prosecuting witness, and from what he could gather, it appeared that the defendant took the water under the impression that he had a rightful claim to it. In Mr. Critchlow's opinion the case did not amount to one of larceny.

Judge Zane directed that the charge be struck out.

DEFAULTING WITNESSES.

Attachments were issued to compel the attendance of several witnesses who had failed to put in an appearance on the Court assembling this morning.

About a quarter of an hour later however, they presented themselves, gave a satisfactory explanation and were excused.

CONTINUED FOR THE TERM.

The case of John Yates and John Berry, indicted for robbery, was continued for the term, on the request of Mr. Critchlow, owing to the sickness of one of the principal witnesses, named Donalson. Attorney McKean, who is retained for the defense, offered no objection to the postponement under the circumstances stated.

BOND OF ATTACHED REFERENTS.

The bonds were declared forfeited in the case of William J. Allen, indicted for perjury. The testimony adduced against the defendant is that of tampering with ballot papers at the last school election. The names of the witnesses, James Hepworth, T. A. Davis, and the defendant himself—were called three times by Clerk McMillan, but there was no response. Hence the order by Judge Zane enforcing the bonds, which amounted to $1000.

The grand jury came into court and reported three indictments under the laws of the United States and two under the laws of the Territory.

BURGLARS.

The charge of grand larceny against Charles M. Carlew was ignored by the grand jury.

Mr. Critchlow stated that had the whole of the cases set down for Thursday been proceeded with they would have occupied the entire term. The list was now exhausted.

Court was therefore adjourned until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, the business having occupied less than two hours.

PAYSON PARAGRAPHS.

A Budget of Newsy Items from a Growing City.

The Walker Comedy Company held forth at the Opera House tonight.

Wm. D. Galbraith, the Park City exhibitor and furniture dealer, is here looking for a location to establish a branch store.

The Woman's Suffrage Association held another party in the Opera House last Friday evening. It was well attended.

The Y. M. M. I. A. gave their social reunion and ball in the Opera House last evening. It was well attended, sixty-four couples being present, and a very pleasant time was enjoyed.

A great deal of sickness is prevalent in Payson. During the last week three infants have succumbed to the effects of croup or pneumonia! Never brought up by the hand, but always smaller.

The new City Council will probably take formal possession of municipal affairs next Saturday night. Great changes are looked for and "progression" will now be the watchword.

Mr. Sam Stark is now the Union Pacific station agent at this place. Mr. John D. Irvine resigned some few weeks since, and is interested in the firm of Brewerton, Simons & Co. Sam is a genial, and time-serving young man and well deserves the situation.

Active preparations are being made by the members of the district school for the final and midwinter session of the Utah Stake Academy Association, which will be held at Payson on Saturday next. The Opera House has been engaged for the occasion, and a large attendance is expected from all over the country.

Near the U. P. depot is an old log house, the property of D. T. Clark of Provo, which has been made a veritable nest for tramps, who make the place sometimes seeking shelter there. As they built fires in the house, burning up the floor, and otherwise misused the premises, Constable Smith received orders to prosecute anyone trespassing there. The tramps, taking the hint, have left for a more congenial clime.

The Electric Light Co. have now nearly twenty lamps on the streets, although as yet no order has been given by the city. Twenty dollars has been appropriated to the company for street lighting while nearly twice that amount of forty dollars has gone into the pockets of the committee of electric light, who have been working for nearly three months to find out whether the city needs lighting or not. The company say they are putting up the new lights "on the strength of the new City Council."

City Marshal Argyle and Officer Beckham, of Spanish Fork, are in Payson this afternoon. They inform us of a robbery which occurred in their city last night. In the store of the Spanish Fork Mercantile Co. was broken into by some individual, an axe being used to break open the door casing. About two dozen razors, several pocket knives, an overcoat and two pairs of shoes are missing. Not content with carrying off goods the dirty fiend entered a quantity of white sugar by depositing between pulse therein a foul spittoon. The time of the burglary is not known, but it was after the store was closed. The store safe contained about $1300 in cash but was not tampered with.

The Leader has again changed hands. The editor failing to work on the sympathies of the "Germans," was aided out of his difficulty by Judge Sassy of Provo and M. B. Tilton of Payson, who, we understand, have taken the responsibility of paying the debts of the institution. Twenty shares of stock was donated by the directors and stockholders (dead gain), who were glad to get out of the scrape so easy. The paper will again be under the editorial management of E. H. Parrish, but what its policy will be is not known. The "Liberal" party, as a party, will have nothing to do with it, and it is a certain thing that the People's party will not be drawn into the scheme. No paper has been issued from their office for nearly two weeks, the entire matching a course in pure a few days since by the press falling upon him.

THE SHERMAN FUNERAL.

Arrival of Distinguished Officials—Both Military and Civil.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Before the arrival of the hour for the funeral procession to start, carriages containing prominent officials, both military and civil, arrived at the house. Among the visitors were George W. Childs, A. J. Drexel, Rufus Hitchcock, Chauncey M. Depew, ex-President Cleveland and Mayor Joseph Chanler, Rear-Admiral Blake, General Schofield and Governor Pattison and Bulkely, with their staffs. The Senate Committee were present in a body, wearing the usual signs of mourning, and after them came a large committee of the House. It was close on to two o'clock when President Harrison with Lieutenant Ernest as his aid-de-camp reached the house.

Long before the procession moved, the spectators began to take position along the line of march.

along the route are not so numerous or so elaborate as when General Grant was buried, but, nevertheless, they are strikingly numerous and in great profusion.

Just about two o'clock the troop of the Sixth cavalry formed to the left of the hearse, facing down the street.

Six horses then appeared in the doorway, bearing on their shoulders the casket of the general, which they placed upon the waiting caisson. The members of the family, friends invited, officials and pall bearers then took their places in the carriages and were followed by the members of the Lafayette post, G. A. R., formed on either side of the caisson. The procession then commenced to move, but very slowly, so dense were the streets were crowded with humanity, carriages waiting to take their place in the line.

Burning at Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 19.—The people of this city observe the day as a half-holiday out of respect to General Sherman. The flags are displayed at half mast on all sides and many of the stores are closed, and but little business transacted in the courts. The public schools closed at noon.

Releases and Appointments.

The following is reproduced from the Millennial Star of February 5th: Elder Alma M. Matthews is honorably released from his labors as President of the Welsh Conference, to return to his home.

Elders Wm. Leigh and John T. Evans are honorably released from their labors as Traveling Elders in the Welsh Conference to return home.

Elder Ezra C. Rich is released from his labors as Traveling Elder in the Birmingham Conference, and is appointed President of the Welsh Conference.

Another Suit Planted.

In the Third District Court yesterday afternoon Thomas L. Thomas and S. W. Pullan brought suit against the Bullion, Beck & Champion Mining Company. In their complaint they allege that they were the owners of the Alice mining claim situated in Tintic district; that since January 10th the defendants have trespassed on said claim and have extracted 1000 tons of ore of the value of $10 per ton. By reason of this, plaintiff have been damaged in the sum of $100,000, for which amount they pray judgment. They also ask for an injunction restraining the defendants from further trespassing on their grounds.
