was held at $91 today and ready bid for at $95. Horn Silver and Daly West maintain firm positions on the market and have given no signs of weakening during the last two weeks. The former sold as an offering today at $8.15 and was bid at $8.40, while the latter would have been purchased at $4.35. Mercur sued out in bold relief as an offering at $6.35, the stock receiving a bid at $6.20.

A moment of $2.75 was made by holders of Swansea for the stock, but the bid fell 25 cents below that figure, standing at $2.40, an advance of 5 cents over yesterday's best bid. Scott Swansea showed increased strength and would have been freely taken up at $1.20, but possessors of it held it up to $1.35. Forty-nine cents was bid for Northern Light stock which was thrown on the market at 52, while Sunbeam was held high, being on offering at no less than 375 cents with bid 18 off for it. Hercules, a property which adjoins the Ajax, had stock on offer market at 25 cents yesterday but no bids were posted therefor.

News From Mercur

Special correspondence of the News.

MERCUR, Utah, Nov. 17, 1896.—The boom in mining circles seems to be increasing. The values at the Ophir continue to keep up to the first standard, and work on that and adjoining properties is being carried ahead.

Claim owners are getting their assessments worked, and the hills present a lively appearance.

Several big transfers of property have been made in the last few days.

Work on the Valley View will commence tomorrow. This property is owned by Omaha people, and E. A. Benson has been in camp a few days looking after the interests of his company.

The Geyser mill is almost completed and will be in running order in a few days.

Work on the Northern Light mill is progressing rapidly and it will be completed and ready to run by January 1st.

MINES OF SLOCAN

Washington Prospectus That Are Creating a Good Deal at Business.

General Agent C. G. Dixon, of the Great Northern, returned yesterday from a trip to the Slocan country, says the Spokane Spokesman-Review. He has his eye on various which will come from the mines of that section. Sandon, Cody, Kaslo and Nelson are the busiest towns in the camp now. There is twelve inches of snow at Cody, and the indications are for an early winter, which means that the ore will move earlier than last season. As soon as there is sufficient snow on the hills, the mines away up in the mountains commence sacrificing their ore to the railroad, hence the desire for early snow and plenty of it.

A large contract for the ore is going to Everett, although smelters at Tacoma in the west and the big plants in the east will receive a good share. The ores of the Slocan have been an important item in the freight departments of railroads this summer. Hitherto, an amount of work in transportation in the mountains, there has been practically no movement of ore between the months of April and November. To show the development of the country, there is now a wagon road to the Sixth mine, another to the Whitewater, and highways to the Payne group, Rose and others, whose name is more than local. The Slocan Star has a concentrator and a tramway, which make it easy to handle the immense output of that queen of silver mines.

The Noble Five is almost ready to start its concentrator. The building is completed, the machinery is placed and a tramway from the mine 3,100 feet in length has been constructed. The improved methods of transportation have reduced the cost of delivering ore considerably. Where it once meant $20 a ton to lay the new product over a at the smelter, $15 will now pay the bill. It is only by the building of rail, wagon and tram roads that the saving has been made possible.

Rips and Spurs

A. H. Pettis of the Blue Mountain mining district, was in town yesterday.

The Sunbeam is reported to have encountered the main ore body in drifting its way through sulphides for some time past.

The Valejo mine at Park City is making a great record for itself in the production of high grade ore. The property has a tunnel now in a depth of 120 feet, and it is expected to cut the vein at a depth of 300 feet.

A new force of workmen has been placed on the Stockdale Bonanza property in Silver City, and the owners of the property state that they have just completed arrangements whereby they will have sufficient money to keep up continuous development work.

Otto Hudson was in from the Big Cottonwood mining district yesterday. He says that the work on the Silver King Extension mine in Mineral Fork, and on it is the intention of the owners to vigorously prosecute development work on the property, Mr. Hudson has moved his family from their former abode at Lehi Junction to this city, his purpose being to give his entire attention to the management of the work.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tennessee's Partner at the Theater.—Only a fair sized audience witnessed the performance of the above play at the Theater last evening. It is one of those romantic idyls of the mountains so quaintly and picturesquely told by an author of Bret Harte's style, and carries very strongly of Bartley Campbell's play My Partner, lately produced here. There is much to enjoy at times in plays of this kind though the company presenting Tennessee's Partner last night hardly made of it what is possible to make of it, and without entering into detail as to the individual merits of the members of the company, it can be said that Mr. Howe's rendition of the part of the "magnificent Star" lacks either Hay, or the Grant he was compared with, the mantle given by the Golden Nugget quarter. Tennessee's Partner will be given again this evening, the performance closing the engagement here.

The Grand—Another splendid audience viewed Ned Royle's play at the Grand last evening and similar expressions of praise were accorded it as upon the opening night. From present appearances one of the longest weeks, from a financial point of view that the Grand has ever known, will be recorded. The matinee Saturday will be crowded, the home being almost sold out now.

The Lyceum—Town Topics has caught on at the house and business is booming. It is one of the best things Manager Gale has given his patrons for a long time, and will certainly do a profitable week's business.

THE CRIMINAL COURT

Case of Oscar Pearson is Being Tried by Judge Hiles.

RECEIVER'S ACCOUNTS APPROVED

By Judge Ritchie in the Equity Court —Judge Street So's Law Cases in His Division.

The trial of Oscar Pearson on a charge of fornication commenced in the criminal court before Judge Hiles this morning. A jury of eight was secured and Attorneys John M. Zane for the defense requested a jury of twelve men, which would have been given under the law as it existed at the time the offense is alleged to have been committed. Judge Hiles denied the request, an exception was noted and the trial proceeded.

The information charges that the offense was committed upon Millie Day at Draper, on July 4, 1895.

Mrs. Harriet A. Day, of Lehi, was the first witness called for the prosecution and testified that she was the mother of Millie Day, Millie was 17 years old and lived with witness at Lehi and at Draper. We negotiated with Oscar Pearson, the defendant, who commenced to visit Millie in April, 1895, coming to the house on Sundays. He came to witness's house. On the Fourth of July Pearson took Millie to a party at a hall at Union and did not return until between 3 and 4 o'clock in the next morning. A child was born to Millie on April 7, 1895.

The witness was cross-examined by Mr. Zane as to her testimony before Justice Harvey.

Millie Day testified for the prosecution that she was 17 years old and unmarried. Had kept company with Oscar Pearson from April, 1895, and on July 4th of that year left home to his company about 9 o'clock in the evening and went to a ball at Union, leaving the hall room about 2:30 in the morning for the return home. The offense charged was committed on the afternoon of the Fourth at the home of the witness, there being no one there but witness and Pearson.

Mr. Zane cross-examined Miss Day and she said she thought she was twice committed again, but that the defendant made such proposals to her when he returned to Draper from his city in the September following.

Charles W. Brown, a young student at the University, was called this afternoon for the prosecution and testified that he had a conversation with Pearson between Sept. 22nd and the end of November in which the defendant admitted having intercourse with Millie Day, at the same time saying she was a "loose character."

The witness was subjected to a very rigid cross-examination by Mr. Zane.

Prosecutor Whitmore, assisted by Mr. Eichner, conducted the case for the government and Messrs. Moyle, Zane & Costigan appeared for the defendant. Young Brown was under cross-examination when the News report closed.

FRANK CARPENTER PROPER

He Appears Before Justice Wenger in the Police Court Today.

The Charge Was One of Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses—His Record as a Journalist and Traveler.

Is Frank G. Carpenter, the noted newspaper correspondent, deceiving the public or is he not? Did he visit Japan and China, as he claims, and there glean and gather the information contained in his syndicate letters with regard to those countries, or did some one else do that work for him? These are pertinent questions and will have to be answered by Frank if he desires to keep up his valuable reputation, and take the words of a fellow who claims to have done that work for him.

His name is Howard F. Heidden and if his own story be true, he has qualifications possessed by none, and although at present penniless and without a cent in the world, has jobs galore, attached to each of which is a salary "which, your honor I don't care to divulge, because I consider it my own private business and no one else's." He gets his flowing locks in the center and travels by wheel or train as he sees fit. He is a station artist of no mean caliber and did intelligent service of the war with China and Japan for Frank Carpenter and other "brains." He is now circulating the globe on a Sunrise wheel, and in the interim jobs down instances by the wayside. He was yesterday subordinate to Carpenter but that day has passed and gone and he is now a "greater Carpenter," his specialties being descriptive railroad work, historic vernacular, advertising schemes, national political conventions, magazine correspondence, and a generous subscriber of literary gems to the leading Sunday issues of America. He now has a contract with the Union Pacific, which he got through his second cousin, whose name is either Lorenzo, Barlow, Barlow or any other such a pedigree. The Heidden is engaged in writing Heidden's Travels, or How I Bunceed Hotel Men.

The illustrious gentleman came to this city on November 10th. He registered at the Templeton Hotel and the day after his arrival he enlisted Mr. D. H. Parter the proprietor and his journalistic plans at that gentleman's feet. He evolved a scheme for Mr. Parter the boost of industries his hostelry in "Heidden's Travels, etc.," for the small sum of what he might conceive objectively to eight hundred dollars, which he promptly left town. Mr. Parter though it "a reasonable proposition" and Heidden declared he was engaged in the meantime the illustrious gentleman left in with Miss Dupont and Mr. Wyngate, well known theatrical people, and he submitted a proposition to them, whereby their Chauncey would appear to great pecuniary advantage on the Buffalo Express for instance. The cost would be but $15—a mere trifle, when compared with the benefits the respective parties could derive from the investment.

Last evening Heidden thought to leave town, so he went to Mr. Parter for proper funds. Mr. Parter saw the drawing young business man to settle up, but he didn't like that was necessary, so the proprietor of the hotel had said his scheme was "a reasonable proposition" thereby accepting its terms. Besides, the plan had taken hold well with the hotel man "to black and white," through a letter from Heidden to Porter, before the former's arrival. The genial hotel man thought the fellow was putting up a job on him, so he had him arrested, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

This morning all the parties concerned appeared in the police court, and after the defendant had entered a plea of not guilty and Mr. Porter had told his story, the newspaper man was put on the stand and narrated his version. He was then taken in hand by Prosecuting Attorney Shaup and Attorney Gunter also on the prosecution, and cross-examined so severely that the poor fellow got so tangled and bamboozled, he hardly knew what to say.

Justice Wenger found him guilty, but as Mr. Porter wanted to give him a chance to settle up, sentence was suspended until tomorrow morning and the defendant's bond fixed at $200.

Bitten By a Dog.

Stella, the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. Robert Aveson, was bitten today about noon, the result of which was a wound which necessitated the attendance of Dr. Richards, who put several stitches in the bite and the young lady is progressing favorably now. The dog belonges to Mr. A. H. Raybud, who is much aggrieved at the occurrence. A still fire alarm had been sounded at the Wasatch school and the excitement caused by the children running most have "rattled" the dog, with the painful results noted.

Seriously Ill.

Many friends will be pained to learn of the serious illness of the wife of John R. Hanson, of the News editorial department. A few days ago it was necessary for a surgical operation to be performed; and this afternoon the serious stage of Mrs. Hanson's illness still continued, but it is hoped that a marked improvement will be shown soon. She is receiving the most careful nursing and the best of medical skill.

Shoe Thieves Jailed.

James Sanders alias Gunderlung and Jack Fagarson were each sent to jail for forty days today for petit larceny. The men were caught yesterday stealing shoes from the Bee-Hive store on East Temple street, and as the evidence was conclusive against them both were sent to jail. Sanders got an additional dose of thirty days for a suspension of sentence which hung over him from yesterday's session of court.

LITERARY NOTE.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly is the first of the Christmas magazines to appear, and it is in every respect a beautiful number. Under the title A Magic Island, Juliette B. de Loire writes entertainingly of the picturesque Catalina of California; Cornell University is described by Herbert Crombie Howe in the second paper of the profusely illustrated series on American Universities and Colleges; Major General O. O. Howard has something of the Character and Campaigns of General Robert E. Lee, and among the illustrations to the article is the last portrait of the great Confederate; there is an interesting paper on pottery by Lawrence Mendenhall; an excellent Christmas story is contributed by Margaret E. Sangster; in Canoeing Down the Rhine, Rochester Colfelon takes the reader through the Black Forest to Heidelberg; Frances Wilson's new play, Half a King, is described and pictured with portraits and views of principal scenes; Varina Anne Jefferson Davis, the Daughter of the Confederacy, has something to say of the proposed Battle Abbey of the South; and there are numerous short stories and poems, and an attractive poetic talks' department. More than the usual one hundred illustrations are given in this number. Frank Leslie's Publishing House, New York.

MINOR MENTION.

W. J. McDonald will have a hearing in the police court tomorrow at 2 p. m. for assault and battery.

Col. John Mosby, the famous Confederate guerrilla, now a prominent lawyer of San Francisco, is in the city on a brief visit. He is registered at the Knickerbocker.

In the police court today Thomas Antonio, James Cheating and James O'Malley were sent to jail for ten, fifty and twenty-five days respectively for vagrancy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship company today declared a dividend of 1 per cent cash, payable on December 1st. It cannot be definitely ascertained whether the disbursement is the quarterly or semi-annual one, as it is the first dividend declared by the company for many years. The company is reported to have cash on hand amounting to $1,500,000. The directors have authorized President Huntington to contract for the construction of an additional steamer.
