HARRIMAN HAD CANCER

Prof. Struempell of Vienna, Whom He Visited, So Diagnosed His Case.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

Services Will be Held Sunday And Will be Strictly Private.

Body Will Rest in a Grave Blasted From Solid Rock of the Hillside—It is Oldest Son So Buried.

Vienna, Sept. 10.—Prof. Adolph Struempell, the Viennese specialist whom the late E. H. Harriman came to Europe to consult, now admits that when he saw Mr. Harriman in July he diagnosed his complaint as cancer. Prof. Struempell, who is now at Bremen, has sent the following signed statement to the Associated Press:

"I diagnosed Mr. Harriman's complaint as carcinoma of the stomach the end of July. I could not, of course, communicate this to private inquirers, but I informed Mr. Harriman's American physicians that the conditions did not indicate that an operation was hopeless. I hastened Mr. Harriman's departure homeward."

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Arrangements for the funeral of E. H. Harriman, which is to be held here Sunday noon at St. John's Episcopal church, were completed today. The services, which are to be strictly private and attended only by the immediate family and a few life-long friends, will be conducted by the Rev. J. Holmes McGuinness at 2:30 p. m.

The active pallbearers will be the six men in charge of the casketed departure of Mr. Harriman's estate at Arden and Turner. They are Charles T. Ford, his general superintendent; William Viner, manager of the farm at Arden; William Robinson, superintendent of Mr. Harriman's stock farm and in general charge of his trotting horses at Goshen; P. W. Maundrie, his master carpenter; E. P. Schultz, master coach; and William A. McClellan, superintendent of the Arden farm's dairy company. The list of honorary pallbearers has not yet been announced.

THE GRAVE.

The millionaire's body will rest in a grave blasted from the solid rock of the hillside. This method of burial was adopted when his eldest son, Edward H. Harriman, Jr., was buried 22 years ago. The Harriman plot is in a corner of the graveyard and is the first in the enclosure where the bodies of the Harrimans lie. The surface men began work today quarrying out the grave.

A drizzling rain began this morning and the landscape presented a scene in commensurate with the sorrow that hangs over this portion of the Rainsboro valley. Little or no work was done today in the villages of Turner and Arden. The 200 or more workmen on the Harriman estate have not been laid off until Monday.

For at them know or not whether they ever will be allowed to return to their work, but anxiety regarding their future is for the time being shadowed by grief over the death of their employer.

W. A. McClellan, superintendent of the Harriman dairies, told a group of the believed that the work of completing Arden house and laying out the grounds would go on after the funeral, which was his wish, he said. "And I believe it will be carried out."

"I have had the best friend I ever had," declared Mr. McClellan, "and the best friend of every man here."

"Yes, that's so," said several of the dairymen. "There'll never be another man like him."

MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE.

The belief here is that the active management of the Tower hill farm will devolve upon his eldest daughter, Mary Harriman, and it is said that she will be in charge of the estate. The Harrimans have been in the business since 1820, and it is said that the family will continue to manage the estate. The Harrimans have been in the business since 1820, and it is said that the family will continue to manage the estate.

RECEIPT TO REPORTERS.

Sept. 10.—McClellan on their behalf asked the reporters to reach the house at 10 o'clock for a day or two. The Harrimans have been in the business since 1820, and it is said that the family will continue to manage the estate.

MAIL SACKS RIFLED AT EUREKA STATION

Following Pay Day, Thieves Seek Money in Outgoing Letters—No Clues Found.

(Special to the News.)

Eureka, Sept. 10.—In search of letters, carrying away money from this city after the pay day of yesterday, burglars last night broke into the Eureka post office and rifled all the mail sacks. Generally there is considerable money sent out through the postoffice following pay day. The sacks of outgoing mail were stored at the depot as usual to be ready for the early morning train.

The burglars secured an entrance through a window. All the registered letters were broken into and more than $150 is said to have been taken. A number of express packages were also broken into. A number of stock certificates which were being sent to Salt Lake brokers were also stolen. A suit of clothes was also taken.

The burglary was discovered shortly after 7:20 o'clock this morning and the city marshal was called in at once. Thus far no clue to the robbers has been found.

Postmaster A. L. Thomas of the Salt Lake office said this morning that two pouches, both of them containing registered mail, were stolen. The pouch from Salt Lake City, which reached Eureka about 10 o'clock last night, contained three registers. One was a package from Chicago, one was from Nephi, and the other was from Provo. The pouch from Eureka, which was to have come in by this morning's train, contained a larger number of registered letters for Salt Lake City, and it is thought a much greater sum of money. In addition to the registered letters both pouches contained a large number of ordinary letters, all of which were taken by the burglars, of whom no trace is reported at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

TEMPORARY SUCCESSOR TO LATE MR. HARRIMAN.

New York, Sept. 10.—While no meetings of the Harriman board of directors have been called it is expected that the executive committee of the Union Pacific railway will meet next Tuesday and arrange for the temporary successor to the positions held by Mr. Harriman.

It is believed that the powers of Mr. Kruttschnitt, general director of maintenance and operation of the Union Pacific and of Mr. Stubbs, general director of traffic, will be increased. The Kuhn, Loeb-National City Bank interests are expected to continue as the chief financial agents for the Harriman properties. Jacob H. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. declined to make any statement today regarding the future policy of the Harriman lines, except to say that Mr. Harriman's plans of construction and development will doubtless be carried out.

HOUR OF DEATH.

The following statement was given out at the Union Pacific office in this city today:

"The report published today that Mr. Harriman died at 4:30 p. m. is absolutely untrue."

"He died at 3:45 p. m. as was announced immediately both at Arden and at 120 Broadway."

Mrs. Shinn did not arrive until after his death, and authorized me to deny that she intended to make any statement fixing the time of death."

SUGAR EXPERT IS IN THE CITY.

Mr. Charles F. Saylor, special agent of the United States department of agriculture, and general right hand man to Secy. Wilson, dropped into Salt Lake quietly last night and will drop out as quietly tonight. Mr. Saylor evidently tried to come and go without getting into the limelight of publicity, but his name is so well known in sugar circles that his presence in the city soon became pointed about, and he has spent the day receiving visits and answering questions from the sugar people.

Mr. Saylor was appointed by Secy. Wilson as a special, whose principal duty it should be to investigate the sugar industries in the United States. He entered office in 1907, and since then his activity has taken him into every state in the Union, and to every island on the sea protected by the American flag. How sanguine Mr. Saylor is regarding the possibility of the sugar developments in the United States is shown by a statement attributed to him which reads: "The United States has conditions for producing within 10 years enough sugar to equal all the sugar consumed from the birth of Christ to the inauguration of Taft."

In his travels Mr. Saylor investigates the conditions of soil, climate and water for the production of sugar from beets, cane or maple, and he promotes the industry where he finds the conditions favorable, working in connection with the government experiment stations. He has become an authoritative expert on sugar production and is so regarded everywhere.

A recent issue of the Beet Sugar Gazette says:

"The object and purpose of Secy. Wilson, whom Mr. Saylor has for 12 years devoted his time and talent to develop are:

1. The production of the largest tonnage of beets.
2. The production of beets of the highest quality and purity.
3. The best methods of sugar beet culture and soil management.
4. The production and use of the best implements for preparing the seed bed and cultivating and harvesting the beets.
5. The use in the factories of the most economical processes and the most effective machinery.
6. The best rotation of crops with sugar beets.
7. The fertilization of different soils for best results.
8. The proper drainage for reclaiming and maintaining soils.
9. The improvement of transportation facilities.

WRIGHT RETURNS TO LOGAN

Finishes Several Fine Portraits During Vacation Period.

A. H. Wright, the local artist, returned to Logan today where he enters upon his duties as professor of art at the Brigham Young college. During the summer Mr. Wright has been hard at work on a number of portraits, the latest now being completed being a likeness of Bishop C. W. Nibley in oils. Mr. Wright's work not only depicts a mere portrait, but he has interjected character in the canvas in several instances with a very happy touch. Among his best work which adorned his temporary studio at the L. D. S. university here are portraits of Prof. J. H. Paul, President William Fudge of the Logan Temple, Jacob Miller and wife, Andrew Allen of Cave, and two smaller portraits of Miss Flora Tanner and Miss Glover, together with a couple of landscapes.

After this term Mr. Wright may make Salt Lake his permanent headquarters.

EVERY WHEEL TO BE SILENT

At 1:30 Sunday, Mountain Time, All Trains Will Stop For One Minute

ON THE HARRIMAN SYSTEMS

At the Moment Funeral Services Commence at the Home of Departed Magnate.

Headquarters Are Being Draped in Crepe—Offices Closed Tomorrow—Local Sentiments.

At 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, mountain time, and at corresponding hours in other parts of the country, every train moving on the railroad comprising the Harriman system will be stopped for the space of one minute.

The funeral of Mr. Harriman occurred at his home at Arden, N. Y., at 2:30 o'clock. At the moment the services begin, every wheel will be stopped on all the roads in which Mr. Harriman was interested, and they cover every section of the United States, and some in Mexico.

In honor of the memory of Mr. Harriman, the general offices of the Oregon Short Line in the Deseret News building, the union station building, the foot of South Temple, the district office of the Union Pacific at Main and Second South and the Utah Light & Railway company on West Temple street are being draped in black. Every station of any consequence and every important office on the entire system will be draped with crepe.

ALL OFFICES CLOSE.

Tomorrow all the offices in the general office building will be closed, and not a single clerk will be permitted to work during tomorrow.

A call of sadness covers every department in the Oregon Short Line system. Sincere regret is expressed over the death of Mr. Harriman, and each man in the employ of the road, whether in official or lesser capacity, feels as though he had lost a personal friend. The hours of refraining from work in respect to his memory will be religiously observed in the local offices, and every possible way in which respect may be shown will be the leading sentiment of every employee of the Harriman system, for he was the friend of the workman and he was deeply interested in the building up of the west.

POLICIES TO CONTINUE.

It was stated by a man who is in a position to know the meaning of the policies and projects in which Mr. Harriman was interested will be carried out by those controlling the Harriman interests. His railroad and all Mr. Harriman's properties, were perfectly organized, and it is merely necessary to continue in the way in which they were going in order to carry out what Mr. Harriman knew to be his desire in the way of extension and improvement.

EXPRESSIONS OF REGRET.

Universally throughout Salt Lake expressions of regret were heard on the streets. The sentiment expressed was that Salt Lake City had lost a good friend in the departed railroad magnate. Among the sentiments expressed the following are reproduced at random:

W. H. Bancroft—I am scarcely able to express my sorrow at the death of E. H. Harriman. All my associates and all the employees of the road are sorely grieved at the sad event. A great loss has come to many thousands, and especially in all this country where the people are so much interested in his marvelous work in building up not only his companies, but the country. The whole country was affected beneficially by his untiring efforts. I feel a strong personal loss in the death of Mr. Harriman, as well as an irreparable loss in a business sense.

W. J. Halloran, president of the Commercial club—I look upon his death as a great loss to Salt Lake City. At his speech at the Commercial club last evening he said Salt Lake City was destined to be the biggest city between the Missouri river and the coast. At the same time he said the block secured for the new car barn between Fifth and Sixth South streets was too small and another block would be needed. He was preparing his plans regarding Salt Lake City for a big future, and his death is a distinct loss.

Ron C. W. Nibley—His death is a great loss to the whole west. To be honest is to be one man picked out of ten thousand, but to be Harriman is to be one man picked out of one hundred million.

Col. T. G. Webster—His death was a great shock to all of us. He was a most uncommon man, with great scope of mind, and his death is to be deplored by all as was a friend to Salt Lake City and the west in general.

W. E. McClellan—We cannot estimate his ability too highly. I regard Mr. Harriman as the greatest man of his age in administrative ability, as an organizer, a developer of properties. The country is largely made up with irreparable loss in this man's death. I do not know any one who can fill his place—he was in a class by himself. I believe the Harriman properties will be continued under the same general line that he had outlined. His death does not seem to have had any appreciable deterrent effect on the stock market, for Union Pacific went up 11 points since yesterday afternoon. Wall street had discounted his death, and the fall in stocks at the instant of his death was the discount. I see no reason why the stocks should have risen again.

W. W. Riker—I regard Mr. Harriman as a remarkable man in that with all his speculating and high financing, he still preserved a high moral character. He was a man of clean life, free from anything like the trickery that so frequently manifests itself in high finance. To the people of the west of the Mountain states, and especially to the people of Utah, Mr. Harriman's death is the greatest loss. I don't know when I have felt more deeply grieved at the death of a great man.
