The trouble between Principal Dudley and the school teachers at Bingham has been settled by the action of the local school board, which upholds the principal and mildly rebukes the teachers who have been opposing him. This school session this morning without change of teachers. The board passed a resolution Saturday evening as follows:

"The board of trustees of school district 41 after two investigations of the differences existing between principal and teachers, found that the opposition of said teachers to the principal was carried further than the case would warrant. We find that the principal is the head of the school, and in the case of differences between principal and teachers, his authority must be recognized unless reversed by said board.

There were from twenty-five to thirty men, including superintendents, officials and miners, from each camp. The banquet was held in Castle Hall, the opera house and lodge rooms of the local Knights of Pythias. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with evergreens and flowers.

The guest of honor was met at the depot and escorted to the hall where there was an impromptu reception held until 8:30 when the invited guests adjourned to the hall below and proceeded to take their seats at the tables which were set for 200 banquets. Hon. Joseph R. Sharp, superintendent of the Sunnyside mines, was toastmaster, while Mr. Williams acted as emcee. The banquet was a most successful one. Mr. Sharp responded in his happiest vein. Then followed a number of speeches from officials and miners, all of whom paid the highest tribute to Mr. Sharp's qualities and at the same time expressed universal regret that he was leaving them. A map of the definite location of the Boise Basin railroad, noted in the "News" a couple of months ago, has been filed in the Boise and office for transmission to the secretary of the interior. The section covered by the map extends from the mouth of Moore's creek to the junction of More's creek and Greiner's creek, a distance of about 11 miles. This procedure is necessary in order to obtain the right of way over government land. The map was filed by N. M. Hulick, the president of the company.

"Keep Your Eyes on Us! Watch Us Grow!" is the slogan on the New Year's card received by the "News" from the headquarters of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake road in Los Angeles.

The "News" is in receipt of a handsome New Year's card from the freight and passenger traffic department of the Union Pacific at Omaha. The general earmarks of the artistic hand of Alfred Darlow are apparent on the design.

Mr. Hood, the first Pullman car to be turned out of the Denver shops, was completed last week. It took two and a half months to build it and it is said to be equal to any of those turned out in Illinois. The California, of the same pattern, will be ready in a few days.

THEY ALL FORGOT TO VOTE.

People of Mendon, Cache County, Have Singular Lapse of Memory.

On November 5th last an election was in progress throughout Utah. All the cities and towns were stirred to their centers. It being a general municipal election. Local orators and imported spell binders were going up and down the state and all the while the provincial town of Mendon was sleeping in serene oblivion. Neither rancor of defeat or joy of victory darkened nor gladdened their lives. "For from the Maddening Crowd's ignominious state, they kept the even tenor of their way."

A day or two since, when the citizens of Mendon learned of the election the question arose as to the identity of the acts of the town authorities, some of whom, no doubt, were indebted to the singular lapse of memory of the whole town for their positions. In order to settle the matter Robert Fowler wrote to the attorney general saying:

"The people of Mendon failed to take a primary in time for an election this year. Would you kindly advise as to the present officers holding over for the next term?"

In reply Attorney General Brecken said: "I beg to say that sections 213 and 287 R. S., provide that incorporated cities and towns shall hold elections until their successors are duly elected and qualified, and you are advised accordingly."

STATE PRISON ENDEAVOR.

Society Holds Semi-Annual Meeting And Elects Officers.

The semi-annual meeting of the state prison Christian Endeavor Society was held yesterday morning in the prison chapel before a good attendance. There were a number of Endeavor workers from town present, and Secretary Sanders' annual report gave much encouragement. It said: "When this movement was inaugurated here, those earnest Christian workers in charge of the movement had but one object in view, that of doing all they could to help the inmates of this institution lead a new and better life. The exact amount of good results resulting from this movement begun two and a half years ago, is not and never will be known. But one thing can be said, viz: that there have been many from this place since the society's organization, men whose lives since leaving here are a pleasant contrast with their lives previous to coming in contact with the society."

The roll call at the time of organization included three honorary, fourteen active and twelve associate members. A year ago it was three honorary, thirty active and fifteen associate members. Today, the roster contains three honorary, twenty-eight active and seven associate members. The past year has seen 20 active members discharged from this institution, several of whom have been faithfully heard from and whose good influences on this society as a stimulus to living a Christian life. These figures show that the society is steadily gaining."

The secretary in closing said: "Now as you will elect today new officers for the next six months. I would say that in order to insure the further steady growth of the society, and to give the new officers real encouragement let each member make up his mind to put forth special effort to extend the influence of the society and thereby help himself as well as others."

The following officers were then chosen for the ensuing six months: President, J. P. Moss; vice president, Frank Lyons; secretary, John Sanders; look out committee, George Allen and C. W. Draper; music committee, Joseph McMillan. These are all considered good and faithful men, earnest for their society's welfare and advancement and this society is considered one of the best prison societies in the country.

NEW CHAPEL IS OPENED.

Impressive Exercises in the Eighteenth Ward's Remodeled Building.

President Smith and Bishop Whitney Speak to an Immense Audience.

The opening of the new Eighteenth ward chapel took place yesterday in the presence of two large congregations, the first assembling at the regular fast meeting of the ward at 2 o'clock, at which the customary class-day exercises were held; the choir of fifty voices rendering several selections, H. S. Goddard singing "The Psalm" and Mrs. Beattie Edwards Newman "The Bright Beyond."

In the evening the place was thronged to suffocation and many people were unable to obtain admission. Bishop Whitney delivered an interesting and eloquent address on the subject "What Mormonism has Accomplished," tracing the growth of the church from its origin in 1820, and bringing it down to the present day. Preliminary to his address, he gave a short talk on what the Eighteenth ward branch of the church had accomplished. He spoke with pride of the fact that the title of "offerings of the ward for the past year" were the greatest in its history, amounting to over $25,000, but in spite of some recent setbacks, he spoke of $3,000 had been completed, and a large number of poor had been supported there before.

Bishop Whitney added that he had held his present position just twenty-three years, exactly one-half his life. The membership of the ward had increased from 300—twenty-three years ago, to over 1,000, and the property owned by the ward today, built by the donations of the people, exceeded in value $25,000.

President Joseph P. Smith, who was present, followed Bishop Whitney and in a most interesting manner indulged in some reminiscence of his life. The day when he had first arrived in the Salt Lake valley, contrasting the hardships and trials of those times with the conditions of the people today. He contrasted the hardships of his early life, and the people on what they had accomplished and paid a warm compliment to the beauty and commodiousness of the new building.

President Joseph P. Taylor, offered the opening prayer and benediction was pronounced by Bishop George Romney. The choir of fifty under the direction of H. S. Goddard, sang two special numbers, "Praise to the Father" and "Thy Powers," and closing with the "Benedictions."

A beautiful duet, "Sometime, Somewhere," was tenderly rendered by Geo. D. Pyper and Mrs. Florence Pyper, who were accompanied by a male quartet consisting of Messrs. Pyper, Whitney, Patrick and Spencer sang "Home Love."

The occasion was not a dedication ceremony, but a simple prayer service, a morning prayer. The dedication will not take place till all the bills incurred in the improvement have been paid, and this will take some time yet.
