LOCAL NEWS.

Miss Edwards, on "How to maintain order in the school-room," gave a few practical ideas; just what we want.

Chart class recitation, by Miss Bowman, was given with interest.

General discussion, "The growth of the mind," was quite interesting.

Song by Mr. R. S. Horne.

After some miscellaneous business, the association adjourned for two weeks.

Sudden Death.—F. M. Cast, the well known ice dealer, died at his residence in the Tenth Ward, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He was slung the roof of a coal shed, and his wife observed him getting it was rather slowly and carefully, as if something was the matter with him. He entered the house and walked to a chair, stepping carefully so as to avoid his little child playing on the floor, and having reached the seat, gasped and expired in a couple of minutes.

The supposition is that it was heart disease that caused his death. He had sold to Bishop Spira more than once that when he died he expected to go just that way, very suddenly.

The deceased leaves a large family. He was a member in good standing in the above named Ward, was of an eccentric but inoffensive nature, and though having many acquaintances, and few if any enemies. We sympathize with the bereaved family in their affliction. There was some talk of an inquest being held over the remains. The time of the funeral has not yet been named.

ALLEGED POLYGAMY.

COMMISSIONER MCKAY'S OFFICE—MORE WITNESSES.

Hanson's case was resumed before Commissioner McKay yesterday, at 2 o'clock, when a number of new witnesses were introduced.

Mrs. Hanson was the most important witness of the afternoon session. When questions were put by Prosecutor Dickinson, which she considered of an intimate nature, she would not answer them until they were put in a different way. She testified to the effect that she had never seen Mr. Hanson and Miss Valentine in bed together, and said she did not believe they had ever occupied the same bed.

Ludwig Hanson, a nephew of the defendant, testified as follows: The defendant is my uncle; I know Mrs. Valentine; I have seen her at my uncle's house. There are two rooms in my uncle's house; I sleep in one on a lounge; my uncle and aunt sleep in the bed; the little girl sleeps in the other room; Mrs. Valentine sleeps in the left; I have seen my uncle since I was subpoenaed; he said nothing to me except that I must come; neither did my aunt; I never saw Mrs. Valentine in bed with my uncle; I only heard he was married to her about two weeks ago; I asked him about it; he said no, and I guess he told the truth.

Hedvich, a little girl eight years of age next testified. She did not know her own age; she knew Mrs. Hanson and lived with her; she knew it was wrong to tell anything said her mother was in Denmark; she knew Mrs. Valentine; had seen her at Mr. Hanson's and said she (Mrs. Valentine) slept alone in the left. In answer to Mr. Dickinson's question she said neither Mr. or Mrs. Hanson nor Mrs. Valentine had told her to answer the questions in the way she had.

Deputy Marshal Ferguson testified he had served the notice on Mrs. Iverson (daughter of Mrs. Valentine), who seemed very nervous and said she could not and would not come, did not want to hear the subpoena read.

Testified signed by Dr. Shipp was given in to the effect that Mrs. Iverson was too ill to attend court. Mr. Iverson said his wife was not sufficiently strong to come, but was willing the court should go and wait on her, and said furthermore, if Mr. McKay would not guarantee not to keep her long, he would not bring her up. Mr. McKay said "I will guarantee nothing." An attachment was issued, but it was deemed advisable to postpone bringing her up until this morning.

Mr. Anderson testified he had known Mr. Hanson since last May and Mrs. Valentine for about three years; she lived in a house in May last, which he moved into with his family and remained until September; there were four rooms in the house. He said himself and family occupied one bedroom and Mrs. Valentine the other, and he had seen Hanson in the bedroom once and knew of him occupying the bedroom three nights with Mrs. Valentine, whom he had heard speak of Hanson as her "man"; he had heard Mrs. Valentine call Mr. Hanson into the house, saying it was bedtime; also said Hanson had denied to him as being married to Mrs. Valentine.

Hanson told Anderson he had his wagon and him sleep in it. The case was here continued until this morning at 10 o'clock, but owing to Mr. Iverson stating his wife could arrive before half-past 10, the proceedings were stayed for her arrival.

Mr. Sprague was again called in as interpreter.

Mrs. Iverson arrived at 10:15 a. m., and took a seat. Her testimony began and after she had answered a number of questions, the fact dawned that she had not yet taken the oath. This being administered she again repeated her answers and testified as follows: I am 24 years of age, live in the Fifth Ward, and have known Mr. Hanson, the defendant, for about a year and a half. Mrs. Valentine is my mother. Never spoke to her about her being married to Mr. Hanson, he was very kind to my mother having taken some chickens to the city for her several times.

Mrs. Valentine was the next witness. Testified through Mr. Sprague, interpreter. She had a few chickens, and one day Mr. Anderson, who was living in one part of the house, came to her and asked how many eggs she had taken, and said they belonged to him. He talked loud and looked angry, from that time she was afraid of him and asked Mr. Hanson to come over and protect her from Anderson that night, which he did, and didn't know where he slept after she went out of the house. Anderson was living in the house but only for fourteen days. Hanson had never slept with her. He had never remained in her room all night. He lived two miles from her house. He slept in his wagon and she could call him up if she needed him.

Mr. Hanson was called by Mr. McKay, the U. S. Commissioner, if he (Hanson) wished to testify in his own case. Mr. Hanson said yes, and the oath was then taken and he proceeded to testify. He said his name was Ole Lars Hanson (with an e). The first time he saw Mrs. Valentine was about 18 months ago as he was passing her house, on his way to this city. He stopped his team and asked her about some rye, growing near by. She did not understand him and he discovered she was Danish. He then spoke to her in Danish. She told him she was a widow and had four children. "She wanted me to take a few chickens to market for her, and I did, and she felt thankful and often went to the city with us. We had to pass her place close to the fence on our way. I asked her where she was from and she told me. We found out that her name had been my school teacher. We became friends. Anderson told me he had bought the property and told the old lady she could live there, and she was very glad. Afterwards something disagreeable came up and she asked me to come over and stay as she was afraid. I went, talked over religion a while then went to bed in my wagon; took breakfast with her in the morning and then went to town. I did not speak to Anderson about the difficulty. Never went to Mrs. Valentine's house without first being asked by her. Never slept in her room; did not think it proper for me to sleep on the floor; always went to my wagon; don't remember of her ever telling me it was time for bed. Never was married to her, and never slept in her bed. She afterwards said Anderson had abused her and she wanted to move. She came to this city and remained two or three months. She wished me to call occasionally. She asked if she might not come to my home and live. I told her yes, but she would have to help my wife in the house and I could not pay her anything. Her son in Idaho wanted her to have endorsements. I prepared a recommendation for myself to go with her as interpreter, as she could not speak English. Gave my recommendation to President Angus M. Cannon. Don't remember if he gave me any paper back or not, he told me to go and see President Taylor. I did so and he gave me permission to go as interpreter. Did not see Mrs. Valentine.

We have some further information from Brother Greenwood relative to new developments in the opening up of the work in New Zealand, which we have not space to introduce to-day, but will present at another time.

Elder Greenwood enjoyed good health while absent from home, and arrives in that condition with the exception of being somewhat fatigued from the effects of the long journey. He was met on the homeward trip by Mrs. Greenwood, who accompanied him to this city from that point.

T.) returned last night from the Blackfoot agency, where they succeeded in recovering six of the horses stolen in the Yellowstone country and effected the arrest of two of the thieves, Antelope Shirt and Tall Feathers, Pagan braves. The Indians are now in jail. Mr. Antelope Shirt is an old offender, and is familiar with the inside apartment of the jail. He also bears the distinction of having served a term in the penitentiary at Deer Lodge. His prospects of going over the road once more are good.

Richard George Lemley, Earl of Scotland, says the River Press (M. T.) was a Liberal member of the House of Lords.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY!
 How to detect diseases and the cause, and how to cure after all other remedies have failed. All can have positive proof, free of charge, by calling on

DR. WM. JONES,
 ELECTROPATHIST.

Three quarters of a block west of the north-west corner of Temple and Main streets, where he will examine by his late science and tell the afflicted how they have left for years, before they tell him. He then will show how he cures and why others have failed. The treatment in fifteen minutes can have better effect of their limbs and bones than other diseases they have had for years can have the cause detected and be speedily and permanently cured. Who doubt this, please bear in mind that they can have positive proof, free of charge. All are cordially invited to call and investigate.

I, my wife, son, and others I know, who have been treated by Dr. Jones and cured of diseases of years standing, thought to be incurable, comes here to know to a certainty that Dr. Jones has a new and superior science to detect the cause of poor health and cure the sick.

H. S. Gray, Superintendent and Architect.

After the best of medical treatments had failed to prevent a fatal Rheumatism from drawing my life out of me, and I had been nearly paralyzed and withered to half its natural size and I said had the worst of rheumatic pains, Dr. Jones had cured me of them, and my limb is now about its natural size and my health is generally improved.

Bishop Ellard, Philip Fensley, Joseph Matthews, and many others now in the city have been greatly benefited by Dr. Jones.

loved the people as they passed from room to room, but I was always one room behind. There were other Danes getting their endorsements who later, after for her, so I was not needed. Remained in the House about three hours, then went to the tithing yard to attend to some business. It was some time before she came there; then we went home together. I did not speak to her about what was said in the House, and I wouldn't tell you (Mr. Dickinson, who was cross-examining witness) what is done in the Endowment House, if it cost me my life. RETURNED FROM NEW ZEALAND.
 THE AUSTRALASIAN MISSION PROGRESSING.

This afternoon we received a call from Elder Alma Greenwood, of Fillmore, who arrived home this morning from a mission to New Zealand. He left here for that part of the world, May 2nd, 1882. We have published several interesting communications from him, that have given accounts of his labors, which have been fruitful of much good, he having taken an active part in the missionary operations among the Maories, with whom an extensive work, had been done, and still progressing, many of the people having embraced the fulness of the Gospel. Elder Greenwood himself baptized 120 persons and assisted in inducing 120 others into the Church by the same ordinance. Most of these additions were aborigines, very few being white people. He also assisted in organizing five branches of the Church. The new members are generally quite intelligent, and perform their religious duties with zeal and ability. They are as a rule exceedingly hospitable, and quite exemplary in their conduct, or at least soon become so when they embrace the Gospel. In fact the change that takes place for the better in them is almost marvelous in its suddenness. The reformatory work among them introduced by the Elders was so striking that it was even observed and commented upon by some of the public journals, usually unfriendly to the "Mormons."

We have some further information from Brother Greenwood relative to new developments in the opening up of the work in New Zealand, which we have not space to introduce to-day, but will present at another time.

Elder Greenwood enjoyed good health while absent from home, and arrives in that condition with the exception of being somewhat fatigued from the effects of the long journey. He was met on the homeward trip by Mrs. Greenwood, who accompanied him to this city from that point.
