Inhuman Act of a Blacksmith at Cripple Creek, Colo.

BREAKING THE "POLE" RECORD.

Strange Funeral in Arizona.—Shocking Death of a Child.—Miscellaneous.

Seattle, Wash., has just entered upon a municipal campaign which promises to be most lively.

Meanwhile, the Indian who killed an Indian sheriff in Bear Navarin, recently, has been captured near Cassia.

Leadville miners have been threatened at the Fresno (Cal.) gymnasium, and actually the mill men will resort to physical culture.

At Cheyenne Wells, Colo., work has been commenced on the brick work of the experimental station building.

Crowley papers announce that the mining fever on the mesa is the very fad and frenzied to date therewith.

At Durango, Juguache county, last week the mains mine produced a $1,000 gold brick as the result of a week's run.

Grand Junction, Col., calls on trade users to patronize home industry by buying their fuel parking tokens at home.

At Fruita, west of Grand Junction, Colo., the people have petitioned the Mesa county commissioners to establish a ferry across the grand river at that point.

Gunnison county, Colo., increased its coal output last year 42,000 tons over that that of 1892. Its coal production was about 250,000 tons of coal in 1893.

At Santa Fe last week a counterfeiter and a burglar kicked a hole in the jail wall in broad daylight and walked out. They disappeared, leaving no trail behind.

Ladies of Grand Junction, Colo., have organized the Mesa Political and Social Science club and they now meet once a week to discuss political economy and civil government.

Senator Carey has obtained 5,000 packages of seeds for distribution in Wyoming. Congressman Coffeen obtained 3,000 packages, thus giving Wyoming 8,000 altogether.

Garfield, Colo., in the San Luis valley, has developed a flow of natural gas 700 feet deep, which flows without force as it flows a stream of water at feet high. It has great discovery for the San Luis valley.

Manitou, Colo., mining camp has established these prohibitory regulations: No saloons, no Chinese or Italians, eight hours for a day's work, Sunday school every Sabbath and prayer meeting every night.

Washington county, Colo., people are calculating the county commissioners to contribute towards the experimental boring for coal. The prospect for finding coal near Akron is said to be very encouraging.

Fort Hall Indian reservation is to be opened to settlement soon. Around Pocatello, Idaho, it is said that thousands of acres of irrigable land will invite settlement as soon as Congress does its duty in that direction.

Wong Kim was garroted in San Bernardino on Wednesday night by two Chinese, who robbed him of a diamond ring and $25. Ah Que, one of the robbers, was arrested and held in $2,500 bail.

The Comstock silver mine at Virginia City, Nev., is so hot on the lower levels that men are unable to work more than ten or fifteen minutes at a time. Ice must be taken down to the bottom of the shaft.

Indian Agent Ray had 300 head of cattle driven off the Shoshone reservation last week, and in driving them over the ice on Wind river the ice broke and about 100 head of cattle were drowned.

Several cases of measles have appeared in widely separated parts of Denver city, being the first cases of this disease which have shown themselves for some time. The health department has traced them down to a common night in one of the small church Sunday schools.

Yellowstone valley, in eastern Montana, has experienced a very mild winter. Investigations made by "Cattle raiders" show that cattle have not been scattered by storms or driven to the brush and timber for shelter. Miles city settlemen report the Montana range cattle in excellent condition.

Two settling pots of slag exploded on Wednesday afternoon at the Arkansas Valley smelter, Leadville, Colo., with terrific force, terribly cutting and burning Mike Hendrewitch and James Stebbins of about the head and face. They were taken to the hospital and are reported as being in a very serious condition.

A large cougar has been killing hogs, sheep and calves in the vicinity of Tenwax, Wash. None of the hunters in that portion of the country have been able to capture the animal. As a last resort the farmers have made arrangements for the man who will kill the cougar, and Hunter Northower, who has taken many large game, has set out to destroy the beast.

A shocking accident happened on Wednesday afternoon to a little orphan named Warren, a lad of 9 years, who lives near Boise, Idaho. There was a Winchester rifle in the house, and one of the girls picked up the rifle and pointed it in a playful manner at the boy. It was discharged, blowing the top of the boy's head off and scattering his brains over the room.

A strange funeral could be seen going down Church street Saturday afternoon, remarks the Arizona Citizen. The participants were all of a party. A Mexican, perhaps the father of the dead child, was carrying the coffin on his head. It was a large coffin, that of a person one half grown. Behind him walk two dejected looking men, apparently of any nationality, followed two of these women. They attracted considerable attention.

The owner of a band of Angora goats ranging about twenty-five miles northeast of town says that a band of 150 of the number has increased in two years to 850. The market for this breed is very variable and they should go ranges where cattle would starve. There is very little snow on the ranges, but the heavy rains last winter have made quite a very heavy return. The only loss sustained was from the depredations of coyotes, which frequently killed the kids that become separated from their mothers until the herders recovered them and took them home.

Three men in Nye county, Nev., drove of water since October in the range where the land is rough, which is more extensive than anywhere else in Nevada. All in the party killed the border men the hard per "Nine Bar" is so greatly in the character of land.—Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise.

Among the farmers of Whitman county, Wash., there is a strong secret organization in which the members are sworn to mutual protection. The agents of the car companies which distribute wholesale incendiary notes have received emphatic notice warning them to desist from action in these hard times or take the consequences. After the telegraphic in "Chewaw" is a warning sign of a skull and cross bones. Attorneys for the big car companies who received the notice have employed detectives to run down the authors of the anonymous threats. Horses raised up every night the farmers complain that but not many farmers are unable to pay the interest on their mortgages. They asked an extension of time on the next steps are harvested, but some companies stand down mortgages, hence the opposite to.

On Wednesday of a Cripple Creek, Colo., lynch mob in which a blacksmith was made drive a young man named John Gardner. The injured man was at the shop asking for a job and was asked by Kinsley, the proprietor, if he wanted to go to work. On receiving an affirmative reply, Kinsley said, "Can you pick up a horse's foot?" "Yes," said Gardner. "Show me the horse." Whereupon Kinsley said, "I'll just thrash you," and having a bellow iron, lifted it into the man's thigh, making a terrible hole, burning within the hard iron in a stream, filling and scorching the muscle show. The young horse was taken into a drug store near by. Where doctors were summoned to care for the wounded man. Gardner is in a critical condition and it is not known yet whether he will survive. Kinsley was arrested and bound over in the sum of $1,500.

Butte, Mont., has a world-wide reputation for its large strikes on games of cards. The record for size was broken there on Tuesday, says a special dispatch, in a game between Leonard Charles Warren and Miss Finlen. Several weeks ago Mr. Warren secured an option on the Pioneer mining claim near Centerville from John E. Lloyd for $10,000. On Tuesday a one Miles Finlen in Lyons saloon, Butte, offered the general $10,000 for Mr. Margarita or $20,000 for the mine. "Here is my check for $10,000," said he, pulling out a check, "and I will bet double or nothing on the mine." The general demanded $20,000 for the mine, and Miss Finlen made another proposition. "I'll throw the mine with you to see if I take the hand of your hands at $10,000." "I'll go you," said the general, as he reached for the tea. A pair of fives turned up. The 5 x was passed to Finlen, who threw three deuces and won $20,000. Two months ago the mine was for sale for $10,000, and one of the claims for $10,000, payable to Warren.
