UTES IN SAN JUAN.

Letter Received from the Governor Today.

THE INVADERS WERE ACTING UGLY

And Troops Might Be Needed to Move Them—Later Reports, However, Were Favorable.

The following, received by the NEWS as a special from Ogden at 4 p. m. today, is a letter which this morning came to the executive office in this city, and was immediately forwarded to Secretary Richards, who is very ill at his home in the Junction city. It is direct from the "seat of war" and of course is official:

SAN JUAN COUNTY,
Wednesday, Dec. 12.

Hon. C. C. Richards, Territorial Secretary, Salt Lake City:

Colonel Lawton and Day, the Indian agent, arrived at 3 p.m. today. After a conference with the governor they had a conference with the Indians at the schoolhouse. After a talk of several hours no result was reached other than that the Indians refused absolutely to return to Colorado. They professed to doubt the authenticity of the telegrams from Washington, etc. When the question was put to them, whether, if the "Great Father" at Washington told them to return they would go, they would not answer me in regard to it.

Col. Lawton telegraphed to Gen. McCook the situation tonight, saying they refused to return, and that if the orders of the department are carried out, troops will be necessary. The Indians profess to be peaceable if they are allowed to remain. They claim the country belongs to them as much as to the whites.

Your telegram transmitting message from the secretary of the interior received. A special messenger will carry the telegram from Colonel Lawton tonight to Thompson's Springs, arriving there tomorrow at 1 p.m. He will await an answer there. This letter is sent by him. All well.

Sincerely yours,
CALEB W. WEST.

Private dispatches received in this city today, and consequently of later date than the letter, are, however, of a different and far more hopeful character. These advices are in substance to the following effect:

The Utes have consented to return to their own reservation in Colorado and are even now on their way back. Colonel Lawton, it is understood, will remain personally upon the ground until the invaders are well off Utah soil and the orders of the government officials fully complied with.

The settlers of the whole of the San Juan county are extremely jubilant over the favorable turn of affairs and the ending of a condition which threatened to precipitate a destructive and costly Indian war. While the Utes will go back very reluctantly, it is firmly believed that their departure means absolute and perpetual cessation of hostilities between tribes and the whites on this side of the line.

It is felt that there is great cause for congratulation in the trouble being terminated with the loss of life or shedding of one drop of blood. That the consummation of the difficulty has been so successful is due entirely to the firm, conservative course maintained by Utah officials and citizens from the beginning. Uncle Sam is entitled to no part of the credit and should take back their Indians with the best grace possible, give them better treatment in the future and remember that the "dumping business" is a game they have lost every time when they have played it against this Territory. The lesson is a wholesome one and can be taken to heart with profit.

"Juvenile Instructor."

The number of the Juvenile Instructor just issued is the last of volume twenty-nine, and is in every respect equal to the previous numbers of that excellent and much appreciated publication. It opens with a Christmas story in verse, The Orphans' Home. The illustrated articles are Haymaking Under Difficulties, giving an idea of some of the dangers attending most peaceful pursuits in mountainous countries; and Antioch in Syria. Two Christmas Gifts is the title of a charming little story by "Zenobia." A poem by L. C. Rebecca is devoted to The Brigham Young Memorial Monument. This is followed by a brief article on Peruvian Sepulchres. A well written and timely editorial treats on The Word of Wisdom. The story entitled Cattail Farm is concluded in the present number. Under the heading Topics of the Times the editor advances some deep thoughts on the all-important subject, The Sunday Schools, and offers valuable suggestions to sup'rintendents and teachers. Alice's Christmas is a little story by Blanche Thomas, fourteen years old. The young author is to be congratulated for the effort it exhibits. Buy Your Own Liberties is reminded. Slander is the title of a little poem by J. C. and in One Moment an incident is related showing the value of time. There are also several "Short Lessons, Stories and Sketches," by B. Y. Academy students and well selected Young Folks' Stories and several other features. The paper closes with A Little Song for Little Singers, music by Prof. A. C. Smyth. The community will find the Juvenile Instructor now as always an ideal publication to place in the hands of the youth of Zion.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

billion belonging to the Cane Springs Consolidated Gold Mining company.

The motion was based upon error on the part of the court in its decision on motions of law arising during the trial, misdirection of the jury and error in charging the jury as follows: "The court further charges you that if you find that the defendant fraudulently took the bullion in Tooele county, to this Territory, and then with intent to convert it to his own use and deprive the owner, whoever he might be, of this property, carried it into Salt Lake county, in this Territory, then he is guilty of grand larceny. If you further find the value of the property so taken and carried away exceeds the sum of fifty dollars."

It is also urged that the verdict is contrary to law and the evidence.

Newly discovered evidence material to the defendant, and which he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced on the trial, is another ground.

Judge Skewes having replied on the part of the prosecution in opposition to the motion, Judge Hatch took the matter under advisement.

CHARGES DISMISSED.

Disappearing that the grand jury had ignored all the charges against Minnie Haley, the alleged accomplice of Nellie Davis in the abortion of Edith Kinsler, she was now ordered released from custody.

MOSCHO RICHER.

The motion for a new trial in the case of Moscho Richer, recently convicted of voluntary manslaughter, was set for hearing on Monday, the 17th inst.

SULLIVAN VS NORTHERN SPY.

The motion for a new trial in the case of Sullivan vs the Northern Spy Mining Co. was continued till Monday morning next.

THE PETIT JURORS.

When a verdict had been rendered in the Waite case this morning Judge Hatch excused all petit jurors until Monday, at 10 a. m. That will be their last appearance.

A COMPLICATION.

Motion was made by Judge Powers, on behalf of the defendant, to set aside a stipulation in the divorce suit of Fred King vs Jennie M. King.

The plaintiff was represented by Day & Street.

Mr. King is a R. G. W. engineer and resides at Ogden. In the year 1892 he commenced divorce proceedings against his wife in the Third district court, alleging adultery. Mrs. King being then absent in the state of Maine the decree was granted, by default, by Chief Justice Zane. Subsequently the lady caused the case to be reopened and then put in an answer denying her husband's allegations. Later there was some talk of a settlement, by which the decree might stand. Attorney Ogden Hiles, Mrs. King's attorney at that time, was eventually given to understand that her mother had been so arranged and thereupon agreed by stipulation that the decree should stand. It was filed now by Judge Hatch. But afterwards Mrs. King repudiated the whole proceeding, saying she knew nothing about it.

The hearing was set for Tuesday next.

Before Judge Merritt.

Maud Lawrence was granted a divorce from Frank Lawrence on four grounds—desertion, failure to provide, cruelty and drunkenness. Attorney Kroeger represented the petitioner.

The marriage took place at Argentine, Kansas, in April, 1887, and there are two children, girls, aged four and a half and two years respectively. Mrs. Lawrence informed the court that at the end of April, 1893, her husband left her and has since remained away—this without any cause on her part. For more than two years past he had been a habitual drunkard and had failed to provide for his family the bare necessaries of life. Since the marriage, petitioner also stated, the defendant had treated her in a most cruel and inhuman manner, repeatedly threatened to kill her, swore at her and used violent language. A sensational feature in connection with this case was that the defendant tried to take his life some time ago by shooting himself with a revolver over the region of the heart, and although for a while his condition was somewhat critical, he eventually recovered.

In addition to granting the decree the court gave the wife the custody of the children. No alimony was asked for.

Consolidated Implement Co. vs Frank D. Jay et al. Motion of plaintiff for judgment on the pleadings and to strike out answer as frivolous argued and overruled. On motion of plaintiff, L. C. Moore was appointed to take evidence (and report) on Tuesday, Dec. 18.

Mandamus Proceedings.

Two additional mandamus suits have been filed against the Utah Commission this afternoon in the Third district court. The plaintiffs are Pete Lowe and W. H. Gibbs, the former residing in Millard precinct and the latter in Portage precinct, Box Elder county. Those gentlemen were successful candidates for the office of delegate to the Constitutional convention, and they now seek to compel the Commission to desist from canvassing the votes, and to issue their certificates of election.

TO THE Y. M. M. I. A.

A Letter From the General Superintendency.

Another Issue of the Association Manual, Part I, is Arranged For.

OFFICE OF GENERAL SUPERINTENDENCY Y. M. M. I. A.,
SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 13, 1894.

To the Officers and Members of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Associations throughout Zion:

Dear Brethren—There have already been issued and distributed among the Stakes of Zion 17,500 copies of the Mutual Improvement Association Manual, Part I, and still there is a demand for this work for our young new members of these associations. There is also a call for a compilation of advanced lessons of Manual, Part II, which have been and will continue to be published in the Contributor.

Through the liberality of the young men in paying their annual fifty cent donations the General Superintendency are enabled to publish and distribute the three works, upon which the success of the associations so greatly depends.

Under the pressing circumstances it is deemed advisable to secure the publication of a new edition of Manual, Part I, and a pamphlet containing twelve lessons in each of the subjects planned for Manual, Part II.

The Contributor Co., therefore, acting under our approval and advice, will issue another edition of Part I of the Manual, which they will sell the associations at twenty-five cents (25c.) per copy, postpaid; with reasonable reduction in quantities.

They will also issue for the use of the associations which have completed Part I, and best some more advanced studies, a pamphlet containing the first twelve (12) lessons in each of the subjects planned for Part II. This will be sold at fifteen cents (15c.) per copy, postpaid.

Both of these pamphlets will be on sale at the Contributor Office, Salt Lake City, where they can be obtained at any time after December 20, 1894.

We hope the young men will take an interest in these lessons and purchase them regularly, thus acquiring a fund of information which will be useful to them in the ministry, either at home or abroad.

Your Brethren in the Gospel,
WILFORD WOODRUFF,
JOSEPH F. SMITH,
MOSES THATCHER.

Taken to Provo.

Sheriff McQueen this morning started for Provo, taking with him as individual names Frank Woods, adjudged insane a few days ago. The sheriff will bring back to Salt Lake, from Provo, the defendant Waterhead, against whom the grand jury has found an indictment for grand larceny.

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - DEC. 13, 1894.

$25,000 Damage Suit.

The Ogden Electric Railway Co., which was known as the old Henderson-Brinker Railway Co., has brought suit to recover $25,000 damages from Ogden City. The company had its rails laid down on Twenty-fifth street. The track was taken up by the city to allow the paving to proceed. This the company claims the city had no right to do and now sues for damages. The city claims that the tracks were a nuisance and an obstruction, and that the company had forfeited its franchise. Richards & McMillan appear for the plaintiff, and City Attorney Walpole for defendants.
