A BIG MEETING AT SCIPIO.

Despite Unfavorable Weather Reception Planned for Their Arrival at Nephi.

Special for Deseret Telegraph.

Scipio, Utah, May 26.—Yesterday was the first day of springtime in Utah, yet expected by the President's party. It was ushered by the heavy wind and dense clouds of dust. But the ride was not a long one, being only fifteen miles. The party arrived at Scipio at 3 p. m. In spite of the unfavorable weather all the inhabitants had gathered to do the President honor and to pay recognizing their respect to him, paid no heed to the wind, but left his carriage and shook hands with all of them. After the necessary application of water and brush, necessitated by such a drive, the members of the party were soon in the meeting house, where but little is some for the rough journey.

The meeting which was held last evening was well attended and enjoyed by all. It was a long meeting, there being four speakers who addressed the congregation in the following order: President Snow, Bishop Preston, Apostle A. O. Woodruff, Elder Seymour B. Young, William B. Dougall, Horace White, Arthur Winter, President Joseph F. Smith, Elder Le Roy Snow and Apostle F. M. Lyman. The "News" will contain a synopsis of the speeches tomorrow.

The wind has now abated and the weather is delightful again. The President rested well last night. "I am feeling as well as I ever did in my life," he said.

We are about to leave for Nephi, some forty miles distant, where we are due at 4 o'clock. The party will take lunch at Juab. A reception is to be tendered at Nephi and a meeting held this evening. The party will arrive in Salt Lake tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Left here at 4 p. m.

The board of county commissioners met this morning and took additional testimony in the case of the Washington Rock company against James Thompson. The plaintiff company claims a right of way through certain property in Spring Hollow canyon owned by James Thompson, who, it is said, has placed an obstruction across the road leading up to the canyon. Attorney Rawlins, who appeared for the half of Thompson, claimed the board has no jurisdiction in the matter, and cannot therefore legally determine the question raised by the other side. The matter was referred to County Attorney Pierson for an opinion as to whether the board has jurisdiction and if so should a suit be brought by the county to compel Thompson to remove the obstruction. Mr. Pierson will report at the next meeting of the board, which takes place Monday.

GOLD PROSPECTOR BACK IN TOWN.

The Specialty Burglar Pays Dr. Hudson a Visit.

VISITS CAPITAL AND OGDEN.

Robs a Junction City Hostler's Office Last Night and Does a Trick Here.

"Jack, the gold prospector," is back in town, or to be more correct he was last night. Jack is an acquaintance of the visiting Dr. Dorsey's and Dr. Tillman's when not roaming at the gold scrape in sight, he visited Dr. Claude their place of business in the Templeton building at the unusually late of 1:30 on Monday morning; however, before the young doctor could doff his robe or and and coat into his "combination" the door had been burglarizing Jack had decamped. The individual with a weakness for dental parlors was next heard from in Ogden, where he has been running drug during the last few days upon the prescriptions of the Drs. Dorsey and other dental material that he had acquired on Sunday night. Last night he broke into the Junction City office in Ogden and escaped down upon some more pay ore in the scrap can, together with twenty pair of horses, valued at 10 each, and a pair of the hostler's shoes. Jack must have turned this trick early in the evening, for by ten o'clock he had reached Salt Lake on a railroader and left the town apparently for San Salt Lake City, at least so said the Ogden officer in his message.

Dr. W. S. Hudson, the dentist, who shares offices with Dr. Beer over Templeton's, was the victim of Jack's visit. Dr. Hudson reported to the police that the prospector was in town early this morning, for when he unlocked his door at 8 o'clock he found over a piece of lead pipe, that was resting against the door jamb. An examination of the premises brought to light the fact that each of the three doors leading into the hallway bore the unmistakable marks of a burglar's handiwork; the door at the end of the hall in particular bore seven distinct impressions of the housebreaker's tool. Dr. Hudson has been looking for some dark desperado when he found the pipe, but Dr. Hardy, who occupies the room next door to Dr. Hudson's, discovered a man on the landing who left rather hurriedly when he saw a seven pound tool the individual had been engaged in jerking the pulpit out of the keyhole of the door that leads into the dental laboratory. A good description of the fellow was obtained and Detective Shoels has had his eye peeled for the dental prospector. Last night he was located in Ogden by the local police there, or rather he be was located there, but he had been there but had left town.

Had anyone disturbed the gentleman during his somnolent nap they would have in all probability received the bad gas pipe over the beak. The pipe in question is about ten or fifteen feet up the sewer and from the fact that there is a groove cut around nearly at one end of the weapon with a cranking wheel it is presumed that unlikely belonged to a man who knows something of the plumbing business. The sewer is red as so to hold a brief thing to reader the thing to retach his grip during warm weather. The gas pipe he carried the weapon is a big one from the length of the pipe.

At 9 o'clock this morning a shabby dressed man entered Dr. Hudson's office and stated that he wanted to see a doctor in the Templeton building. He has been in this every noon, when suddenly he saw the piece of pipe lying on the table of the inside room where the dentist had placed it pending the arrival of the police. The dentist, who had been searching for the owner of the pipe, changed color and made an exit downstairs stating that he would be back in a few minutes. He never came back. Dr. Hudson says he is positive that he was the man who had carried the weapon is a big one from the length of the pipe.

In the meantime the police are looking for a tall, fairly dressed man with a black mustache, rather decently dressed and wearing Dr. Fenchan's clothes, one of which is split near the bottom.

SALT LAKERS GO UP TO OGDEN

Large Crowd of Friends of the Gallant Sixteenth Greet Them.

MORE COMING TOMORROW.

Complement of Officers Not Yet Obtained. About Twenty-Six of Them and Seven Hundred Men.

Five hundred members of the Sixteenth infantry passed through Ogden at 10 o'clock today en route to San Francisco. It was learned today that the following officers in addition to those whose names were published in last night's "News" accompany the gallant Sixteenth: Captain McFarland, Lieuts. Gowan, Hewetson, Stimson, Schaum, Hallinan, Hays, Lieut. Dose of the Twelfth, and Dr. Dade.

Tomorrow there will be three sections of the sixteenth infantry pass through this city on the Rio Grande Western. Assistant General Passenger Agent Evans says there will be about twenty-five officers and 700 men. He has not yet received the list of officers although he has telegraphed for it. It is possible that the Rio Grande Western will give an exceedingly low rate to the city of San Francisco for the troops to Ogden. But as to this no definite action has been taken.

The special on the Oregon Short Line left here this morning at 8:45, the rate for the round trip being only $1.

A large number of friends of the Sixteenth availed themselves of the opportunity and went from here up to Ogden this afternoon to assist in giving the soldier boys a royal welcome.

They are to be running westward by special train, which will be run to Portland. There a chartered steamship will be boarded for the trip to the country of gold. He has figured in most of the large railroad deals during the last six months, including the purchase of the Atlas and Peoria Short Line.

Mr. Harriman desires to give to the public a true account of affairs in Alaska, hence this trip.

PAISE IN WOOL RATES.

All Roads East of the Mississippi Will Do So on June 1st.

On June 1st all roads east of the Mississippi will raise the wool rates.

At present the rates from the Mississippi to New York, Boston and Philadelphia are 30c, 31c, 32c per hundred respectively. The new rates are 35c, 37c and 39c cents.

The railroads will make the common points in this state to Boston, all rail, 32c, as against the present rate which is 30c. In addition to the raise in the rates from points in this state to the Eastern cities, it makes a difference of 6 cents between the new all rail and the rate by water.

This is how the wool men look at the matter. The city of the Denver Lead Co. shipped a consignment to Boston, the other day, amounting to 100,000 pounds, for last year it was forwarded by J. E. Clinton, and A. W. Wright, of Chicago. The city of the Clinton firm company, amounting to 140,000 pounds. Now, say the woolmen, if the all rail rate is 32c, and the rate by water is 17c, the difference will be $2.40, this sum will be shipped by water and will at 15.20, thus saving considerable. After 1 the last difference would not be so great, but the difference would be 5 cents, but that amounts to a good deal. A change at this time would be a loss, because a number have contracted for wool based on the old rate, but as it rained more until after the 1st of next month, a heavy loss would result.

The idea of any change is not being entertained by the wool and railroad men. Yet H. G. W. has already aired a strong protest that against the advance of rates and in all probability the honest will influence other lines and be able to stop the change.

The color of the Rio Grande Western passenger equipment is to be changed. The "Gem" is now being used but has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. Hereafter the Vandyke brown will be used. The reason why this change is to be made is that the brown will not show the dirt so much as the present color. The Vandyke brown will be the same style will not be in contrast with the Pullman coaches which are quite dark.

COURT MATTERS.

LOWER COURT REVERSED.

Supreme Court Holds Action of Judge Dusenberry to Have Been Illegal.

The Supreme court handed down an opinion yesterday in the case of John Lees, appellant, vs. T. R. Freeman, respondent, reversing the action of the lower court, which overruled the judgment of the court below.

The question involved in this appeal was whether a court can change or modify a judgment after an entry of the same has been duly made in the minutes of the court.

Judge Dusenberry tried the case in April, 1897, wherein John Lees was plaintiff and T. R. Freeman and J. J. Freeman defendants. The court rendered judgment against J. J. Freeman alone, and the clerk made an entry in the records which said that the court "renders its judgment and findings for the plaintiff and against the defendant." Subsequently the attorney for plaintiff prepared the findings of fact and conclusions of law, awarding judgment against both defendants, which the court signed the papers. As soon as I. E. Freeman became aware of the fact that judgment had been rendered against him, too, he filed a verified petition, praying for a modification of the judgment, so as to exclude the defendant. Judge Dusenberry thereupon vacated the previous findings and decree of the court and entered a decree exonerating J. J. Freeman from the judgment. From this order the plaintiff appealed.

It appears that the order modifying the judgment was not made until after the expiration of six months from the date of the judgment of the form at which the judgment was entered.

The application to modify the judgment was not made until after the expiration of six months from the date of judgment was entered. Under such circumstances the Supreme court holds that the court below had no jurisdiction over the subject matter, and the action of Judge Dusenberry in modifying the judgment was illegal and void.

The court further finds that the record in the case presents a strong argument in favor of the equitable jurisdiction of the court below, in the form of bill in equity, but the statutes does not give jurisdiction under the circumstances named. The court also holds that if a party to have been the proper remedy by which all the parties may be brought before the court and the rights of parties may be adjusted and tried on all the facts connected with the transaction.

The court therefore reverses the judgment of the court below be set aside and ordering that the findings as originally made be reinstated, and leaved for proper proceedings, commenced for that purpose.

Justice Miner delivered the opinion, which is concurred in by Chief Justice Bartch and Justice Bailey.

Jury Could Not Agree.

The jurors in the case of W. S. McCornick vs the Queen of Sheba mining company came into court at a late hour yesterday and informed Judge Morris that they could not agree on a verdict. Judge Cherry thereupon discharged them from a further consideration of the case.

The action involved an overdraft for $2,000 on a bill of exchange, bank and the question was whether George H. Haven, who is now on the bank, was acting as agent for the mining company or for an Eastern syndicate who had a bond and lease on the mine. At the time the debt was incurred. The case will not be tried again.

Trial of Long Bair.

The test case set down for trial on the criminal calendar in the State section, Ernest T. Bair, the Deseret Evening News, and John Henry Moyle, will be tried on Wednesday next, the 31st inst.

She Never Came Back.

Yesterday afternoon Deputy Clerk George E. Hair took testimony of the plaintiff in the case of Jonathan Bowen vs. Edward Nesson, in the matter of the divorce of the plaintiff, which was commenced in his report to Judge Hilton. Mrs. Bowen testified that she left home with the prayer of plaintiff's complaint.

According to the husband's statement the parties were married in New York, Nov. 7th, 1896. Nowell further said he is in the Fifth Pennsylvania infantry and was in the Chickamauga hospital in November, 1898, his wife left home and never came back, although he had repeatedly asked her so.

Mrs. Bowen did not represented, neither has she filed an answer to her husband's complaint.

Not Yet Finished.

The $2,000 estate suit of C. E. Crocker vs William Hyting, the trial of which began yesterday, was not finished yesterday, nor yesterday afternoon, nor this morning, and it will not be completed when the "News" report closed today.

Petit Jurors Accepted.

The following named persons were examined as to their qualifications to sit in cases, all of whom passed muster: John Hansen, Joseph Sutton, Samuel J. Brown, Edward Nixon and Jonathan W. Evans. Mr. Evans, on his own motion, was excused for the term, while John Nixon was excused until Monday morning. Mr. H. Rossiter failed to appear and was fined $5 for the default in N. Sonn.

PARTY NOW AT LITTLE CHICAGO.

Pres. Snow and Associates Arrive at Nephi This Afternoon.

RECEPTION AND BANQUET.

President Snow is Feeling Better and Stronger Than When He Left Home Three Weeks Ago.

Special per Deseret Telegraph.

Nephi, Utah, May 26.—President Snow's party had a most delightful drive from Scipio. Lunch was taken at Juab at Mrs. Taylor's. From Juab the party drove very rapidly, making the 15 miles in one and one-fourth hours. On approaching the city, the presidential party was met by a large body of horsemen and a brass band to escort them into the city. President Snow was received with the cheers of the city and was paid a high tribute of respect on entering the city. All the inhabitants had gathered to do the President honor. Several hundred beautiful children greeted him with waving flags and handkerchiefs, after which the President alighted from his carriage and was escorted to the hall. The honored visitors have been received into the vestry of the tabernacle preparatory to a reception. At 7 o'clock the meeting will be called to order and the program will be carried out, after which a banquet will be given in honor of the distinguished guests. The President is stronger and feeling better than when he left home. All of the party are well.

ORIGIN AND DESTINY OF WOMAN.

The following article appeared in the Mormon, a publication issued in New York City in the fifties, under the editorial management of the late President John Taylor. The date of the issue containing it was August 20, 1857. It was originally been reproduced in the columns of the "News," but the circumstances required of a number of subscribers it is again given space.

The Latter-day Saints have often been charged with the degradation of female in the predominence of spirits, and in marrying for time and for all eternity, but the Latter-day Saints have often been requested to give our views in relation to these principles, but considering the things of the kingdom be equal to the children of this kingdom, therefore not meet to give them to those without. But being very frequently asked by the ladies of the office, is member of the Church, to answer the following questions, we could not consistently refuse—viz.: "Where did I come from? What is my origin? What am I doing here? Whither am I going? What is my destiny, after having obeyed the truth, if faithful to the end?"

We have long and all others concerned, we will endeavor to answer the questions in brief, as we understand them. The reason will be apparent for our belief in relation to the spirits, and in marrying for time and for all eternity.

Lady—whence comest thou? Thine origin? What art thou doing here? Whither art thou going, and what is thy destiny? Dearly—into me if thou lost understanding? Know thou not that thou art a spark of Deity, struck from the Sun of this universe, and brought forth in the midst of eternal burnings?

Know you that that eternities ago, the spirit, pure and body, dwelt in my Heavenly Father's bosom, and in His presence, and with thy mother, one of the spirits, and thy mother, one of the spirits, and thy mother, one of the spirits, among the Gods?
