HAD "BLOWN IT IN."

Joseph Chapman's Excuse for Again Disobeying the Court.

THIS TIME HE IS A PRISONER,

To be Held Till He Pays the Uttermost Farthing—Also Loses His Wife by Divorce.

The recalcitrant husband who took money out of the bank to keep his wife and children from getting it, and thereby violated an order of the Third district court, is now in the custody of the United States marshal, there to remain until he complies with a third order of the court, which he may find more difficult than either of those which preceded it in the hearing of his case.

The divorce of Caroline Chapman vs Joseph Chapman was again called up in Judge Merritt's court today. J. H. Kaighn had withdrawn as counsel for defendant, but suggested that the case should be postponed.

At this point Judge Merritt asked if the money had been re-deposited in the bank. Chapman said it had not. He had drawn it out, and "thought it all to having a good time."

Judge Merritt—This man has deliberately violated an order of this court, and I direct the district attorney to take the matter up in the interest of public justice.

Judge Howat was in court and to do a good lick at Chapman, against whom his order was directed.

Then the divorce case was proceeded with, and Mrs. Caroline Chapman testified to the marriage in 1883, to the drunken habits of her husband, and to repeated cruelties, in which her husband kicked and beat her in a most inhuman manner. She wanted the custody of the seven minor children and $40 per month for their support, or $1,000 wouldn't satisfy her as full partition of the property. The plaintiff's daughter testified to seeing her father kick her mother, and to his generally treating her in the most miserable manner. He was very vile language, and often got drunk. A son of the Chapman's gave similar evidence.

Mr. Chapman's attorney, Walter Harper, asked the court to order the defendant to convey to Mrs. Chapman their home, worth about $800, and pay to her $1,000 for the support of her children.

The court then called Joseph Chapman as a witness. In reply to Judge Merritt he said: I drew the two thousand dollars out of the bank, and I threw it in, I don't know where. It's all over town. I can't tell you how I spent it.

Judge Merritt—You spent $2,000 in forty-five day and can't tell how you did it?

Chapman—You can soon blow in that, treating everybody. I went into every saloon in town. The Union saloon is my headquarters for beer, but I went into all of them.

The witness said he had bought no chickens or real estate. He had not been working much; had just blown his money in.

Judge Merritt—Draw the order that the man turn over the homestead to his wife, pay $100 attorney fee, $25 out money, and $1,000 of that money, and that the wife have the custody of the children.

Mr. Murphy—Since he has wilfully disobeyed this court on two occasions, I ask that he be committed until he complies with this order.

Judge Merritt—That order will be made. He will be committed until this order is opened.

Chapman was then escorted to the U. S. marshal's office, and was still a prisoner at the time the NEWS went to press, as he had not complied with the order of the court.

The point the attorney does not believe Chapman's story is having spent all the money. One reason for disbelieving his story is that already he has made several contradictory statements in court.

HEARING OF C. S. SPLAIN

For Using Abusive Language Toward W. H. Bywater.

The case of the city vs C. S. Splain, charged with using abusive language toward Fireman Wm. H. Bywater, was heard this morning in the police court, before a jury of six men. The defendant was represented by Attorney D. N. Straup, while Prosecutor John Jones conducted his usual role.

The plaintiff was put on the stand and testified that on Sunday, July 14, 1895, he was in charge of House No. 2 and that Mr. Splain on that day entered the house and when asked as to what his business was there he addressed him with very insulting and abusive language.

John T. Berry testified that he was a driver at House No. 2; saw Splain there on the day mentioned; heard Splain use profane language towards Mr. Bywater, but nothing abusive; would have heard abusive language had it been uttered.

The prosecutor was called on the stand by Mr. Straup, and Mr. James desired to know why he wanted him to take the stand, which information Mr. Straup proceeded to give. In getting on the stand Mr. Straup asked Mr. James to state to the jury what he knew about the intimidating of the witnesses for the prosecution.

Mr. James—I decline to answer that question.

Mr. Straup—That is all.

Mr. James—I would like to give my reasons for so declining, but believe, however, that they are well known to Mr. Straup.

Straup objected to James giving his reasons, and it was sustained by the court.

The defendant, Mr. Splain, took the stand and admitted having used swear words, but has said nothing abusive.

In his address to the jury Mr. James took the position that any conversation between an attorney and his client was sacred and could not be exacted from them by the court.

This ending the testimony, the jury considered the matter for about five minutes and found the defendant not guilty.

In every report Dr. Price's Baking Powder is superior to all others.

DEALT WITH BY LAW.

Lefevre Dismissed for Lack of Prosecution.

Mrs. Cardall's Divorce—Wanted for Embezzlement—Case of Battery —Neighborhood Quarrel.

D. D. Lefevre, who is accused of having married, under the name of Henry Johnson, a second wife, thus committing bigamy, was released from the penitentiary today, upon the order of United States Commissioner Greenman, who dismissed the case for lack of prosecution. Subpoenas had been sent out for Mrs. Lefevre, Mrs. Hansen and other witnesses necessary to prove the case, but no returns had been made, there being no showing that any of the witnesses intended to be present, or even that they had been found. United States Attorney Judd was away from town, his assistant, Judge Howat, was already so crowded with business before the grand jury that he had not a moment to devote to the case, and the county attorney and assistant had their hands full with county business, so time was going on and Lefevre was held in jail without a chance for a hearing. This state of things impelled the commissioner to order the discharge of the prisoner. The case may be taken before the grand jury at Ogden, in which district the bigamy is alleged to have been committed.

N. W. Macleod, one of the proprietors of the Great Campaign, is after a young man, Paul Kreig, whom he accuses of embezzlement. He says Kreig was employed by his firm and collected $25 or $40 of its money, with which he skipped, supposedly to Ogden. Mr. Macleod made complaint to U. S. Commissioner Sommer's court today, and a warrant for Kreig was placed in the hands of the U. S. marshal.

C. F. Martinez, a peddler accused of embezzling $48.50 belonging to E. H. Watts, a Park City merchant, was taken to the Park this morning.

John Dee Eldene or Adene in the name given to an individual on a complaint made in U. S. Commissioner Sommer's court today, by Helgen Hansen, charging the said Eldene or Adene with assault and battery, and with threatening to kill. Hansen's ranch at South Jordan and Hansen himself are named as the place and object of the assault and threats. The accused has not been arrested, but the U. S. marshal's men are after him.

W. C. Jacobsen has secured a warrant in U. S. Commissioner Sommer's court, for Mary Crofts, accusing her of disturbing the peace by calling the Jacobsen children "d. n. d. cats." This is a second step in the Jacobsen-Crofts case which was before U. S. Commissioner Greenman yesterday afternoon, when Jacobsen was under arrest on Mrs. Crofts' complaint, and the court let them all off with a recommend and a suggestion that they go home and dwell in peace as neighbors.

The divorce case of Margaret P. Cardall vs John S. Cardall was taken up in the Third district court today. Mrs. Cardall testified that she had three minor children, whose custody she desired. Her husband had not provided for the family for four years. For the past year Mrs. Cardall had not lived with her husband. He had wasted his money in gambling. He could earn good wages. She desired alimony of $15 per month for the support of herself and the three children. Mrs. Cardall's brother, D. Pearl, corroborated her testimony, and the divorce was granted, and $25 attorney's fee.

The following short orders were made by the court:

Charles Fletcher, a native of England, admitted to citizenship.

Palatine Insurance vs W. S. McCornick et al; permission granted to use receivers of E. S. Jaffray & Co., namely, H. S. Jaffray, A. D. J. Hillard and James G. Cannon.

Walter J. Price vs L. G. Hardy et al; C. O. Whitlemore enters appearance as counsel for defendant.

Franz Ross vs Greenback company; leave granted to file amended and substituted complaint.

Taylor, Hurley, Armstrong company vs Prussian National Insurance company et al; Baetis, Lee & Gray enter appearance for the Frost Furniture company.

Salt Lake Hardware company vs Tintic Milling company et al; suit dismissed for failure to file amended complaint as required.

Frank Malloes vs Alex Rogers et al; demurrer to complaint argued and submitted.

HAYKEN INDICTED.

Against Him Are Three Charges of Attempt at Bribery.

EACH EX-SELECTMAN NAMED.

Hayken Arraigned, Pleads Not Guilty, and Gives $6,000 Bail.

All minutes before 3 o'clock this afternoon the grand jury filed into the Third district court, and about the same time Mr. Hayken, his attorney Mr. Day, ex-County Clerk Maloy, and other officers entered, at once arousing the suspicion that something of an unusual character was under way. None of the present or ex-selectmen were present.

Upon being called, the foreman of the jury, R. S. Wells, handed the court some documents, which were indictments against Hayken, on the charge of attempted bribery. There were three indictments, the bail in each case being fixed at $2,000.

Judge Howat, assistant U. S. attorney, asked that a warrant issue, or the defendant surrender himself, as he was in court. Mr. Hayken agreed to surrender himself until bail was given.

Judge C. C. Day, attorney for Mr. Hayken, asked that the defendant be arraigned. This was done, and Mr. Hayken pleaded not guilty to the three charges of attempted bribery, admitting they were committed March 1, 1894, at Salt Lake City.

The indictments state that the attempts or offers to bribe were with the three ex-selectmen, H. Hamburger, Jos. R. Morris and J. P. Cannon.

Bail was given as required, before U. S. Commissioner Greenman.

The hearing before U. S. Commissioner Pratt, as to the arrest of a witness from another state, was again postponed, this time till tomorrow.

BEFORE THE COUNTY COURT.

Had it not been for the fact that Mr. Hayken was before the district court this afternoon, he would very likely have appeared before the county court. As it was, however, Judge Day appeared before the county selectmen in his behalf, and he was given the privilege of bringing Mr. Hayken before the court as soon as he is able, as he wants to be willing to hold a special session for that purpose at any time.

McDONALD FOUND GUILTY.

On the Charges Lodged Against Him by Chief Pratt—Held in the Grand Jury.

The hearing of Officer F. P. McDonald, charged with drunkenness and conduct unbecoming an officer, and also with an assault with intent to kill, came up before the fire and police board last night.

The defendant was not present, and his attorney, D. N. Straup, asked that a continuance be granted, as he would not be able to conduct the hearing without the presence of his client.

To this Chief Pratt raised an objection, stating that it would be detrimental to the department to further postpone the hearing, and that the defendant should either be tried immediately or the case dismissed.

This was the concurrent opinion of the commission, and the hearing was ordered proceeded with.

The first witness called was J. C. Davis, deputy marshal at Saltair, who stated that McDonald was badly intoxicated at the resort in the early part of last August, and that he used abusive language to such an extent that he placed him under arrest.

Testimony corroborating that of Davis, was given by the beach traffic conductor, Wheeler, brakeman T. F. Bailey and employes Charles W. Miller and Matthew Miller.

The charge of assaulting Emil Sackerson then came up, and the same evidence given by him, as has been previously related, Mrs. Sackerson and Martin Olsen corroborating it, when a continuance was taken till this morning at 9 o'clock.

The testimony in the case was resumed this morning and the defendant not appearing, he was found guilty on both charges, which will, without doubt, result in his permanent dismissal from the department and being held to the grand jury on the charge of assault with intent to kill, on the person of Emil Sackerson.

A report was made by Chief Devine as to the cost of erecting and equipping a fire station in the Fourth precinct. The cost would be about $,000, with an additional cost of $455 per month for maintenance, which would require about five men.

The commission in reporting the petition of the firemen for a fifteen-days' vacation each year, decided to petition the Council for the employment of an extra man, that such a vacation could be given.

It is wholly free from the least taint of impurity, Dr. Price's Baking Powder.

The Case of Jacob Madsen.

EDITOR DESERET NEWS:

The Scandinavian Democratic society of this city in meeting assembled last night appointed a committee, consisting of C. A. Carlquist, F. S. Fernstrom, C. M. Nielson and Johannes Halvorsen, to look into the case of Jacob Madsen, an insane man, who for the last two weeks been detained at the county jail on account of a refusal by the county court to pay a fee of $2.25 to the county clerk for filing the seal of the county upon the papers necessary to get Mr. Madsen admitted to the asylum. In visiting the court the committee was told by that official that a restraining order had been left on file in his office by the county attorney prohibiting the clerk to affix the seal on the papers. The committee then went to the attorney, who declared that it was not a matter of money but simply a fight between Democrats, and as such it was the purpose to keep Mr. Madsen in the county jail until the fight was over. The feeling of the friends and acquaintances of Mr. Madsen is running high and justly so against the action of the county court for such brutal treatment of a human being.

JOHANNES HALVORSEN.

Regarding the Eisteddfod.

The following telegram were received today by Secretary John Jones, of the Eisteddfod, from Mr. Mosel:

"We have military to enlist. You notice did not come in time to bar us. Can we enter? Send full state of music. J. H. LEVSON."

"We have military band here, can it now be entered?

TOM RICHARDS."

Mr. James shrewdness scented and saw President A. L. Thomas, midlle leaders of the two bands, Dennistoun and Hein's, who, by the way, are the only ones entered for the contest. They were only too glad to have the privilege of meeting with the Butte fellows.

Gov. Thomas said that as these already in the contest were the only ones who could offer any strenuous objections, and as it appeared they did not object, but on the contrary would rather meet them in competition, he saw no reason why the Butte band, in view of the circumstances, should not be allowed to enter.

Accordingly Secretary James telegraphed Messrs. Levson and Richards that the band was entered, and the music sent by mail.

Police News.

The Cholera in Honolulu.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 17.—A gentleman in this city has received a letter from a brother, member of the national guard at Honolulu. The letter bears date of September 1, and is concerning on the cholera situation on the Sandwich islands, expresses the belief that the reports received in the United States are exaggerated. The U. S. S. Bennington was summarily outside quarantine and there had been no death from cholera on board. U. S. steamer Olympia arrived in Coiina and claimed not to enter the harbor and coal was to be taken out to her. The letter says the cholera is confined almost entirely to the native population. Up to this time the disease has been difficult to trace and few cases are really reported in time for successful treatment. As a result, the death rate is very large. The native think the doctors give them medicine to kill them if the disease does not. Nine out of ten cases are fatal. The infected districts are under strict quarantine and soldiers are constantly on duty.

State Bank Fails.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 17.—A special to the Star from Perry, O. T., says: Great excitement prevailed here this morning because of the failure of the First State bank of Perry to open for business. Attachments to the amount of $30,000 were put on the bank. The bank carries about $1,000 deposits and it is said there is not $1,500 cash on hand. The liabilities are estimated between $40,000 and $50,000, with assets of nearly half that amount.
