

was found, nor anything to indicate how the men came to their death. The miners are now more than ever inclined to the belief that the long-lost Pegleg has been discovered, and since that time, though the thermometer is 150 degrees in the sun, work is pushed rapidly and all ore is under guard. The owners are convinced that a bonanza of big proportions is waiting for them. They believe the skeletons are the remains of men who had found the treasure and were killed by Indians. No attempt has been made to clean out the old shaft, but this will probably be done soon.

Idaho Falls, Idaho, Register: Mr. F. H. Matthews, of Ogden, has been in town two or three days this week looking up the water power proposition. Mr. Matthews is a practical electrical engineer and has been engaged in the business for several years. He has just completed putting in an electric light plant at Garfield Beach, Utah. He comes here with the proposition that if the citizens of Idaho Falls will interest themselves in a first-class water power an electric light plant can be in running order within the next six or eight months. On Saturday last Idaho Falls was infested with a gang of tramps. After telling plying tales about having had nothing to eat, and asking for the price of a loaf of bread, they secured enough to buy a bottle of alcohol, and going into an empty box car, got drunk. Sometime during the night they broke into John Oley's barber shop by prying open the door. Fortunately he had taken all his tools home with him, but George Brunt, who is agent for an Ogden laundry, had about forty dollars worth of clean laundry in the back room all put up ready for delivery. They cleaned it all up, and after making an entire change of underclothing and donning "holled" shirts took the passenger train south. Between Idaho Falls and Shelley they threw away what they had not put on.

Ephraim, Sanpete county, Enterprise: Last Wednesday was a great day for bears. Just about sunrise a threshing crew at Chris Peterson's place in Pigeon Hollow saw what they at first took to be some stock feeding on the stubble. A closer examination developed the fact that it was bears. There were four of them all full grown. The men got horses and started after them and drove them into the hills east of the county road. There was but one gun in the party and only three cartridges for that. They wounded one of the bears, and after driving them around for some time got them so exhausted that they laid down, unable to go further. They stoned the wounded one until it was stunned, when they threw ropes on it and succeeded in tying it up so they got a chance to cut its throat. In the meantime a man had been dispatched to Spring City for cartridges, and when he arrived the other bears, which were lying down resting, were soon dispatched. One of the men, Dell Alfred, of Chester, came very near being caught by the largest bear while he was off his horse stoning it. The largest of the four weighed 395 pounds and the others averaged about 350 each. They were of the cinnamon variety.

Day; the Denning, New Mexico,

Headlight: The local custom house has received notification from Collector Charles Davis, at El Paso, of the intention of the department to enforce strictly the provisions of the quarantine against Mexico and that in consequence a ruling had just been made which covered the broad ground that American cattle grazing near the line and straying over must remain on Mexican soil until December 1st, when the quarantine will be raised, unless they should happen to stray back again. The custom house regulations are becoming very strict with reference to American stock on Mexican soil and the annoyance to cattle owners whose ranches are near the line, is very considerable. According to this recent ruling, an owner is helpless to get back his stock from Mexican soil until after December 1st, unless the animals should come back across the imaginary line of their own free will. Heretofore it has been so that the Americans, owning ranches near the line, were free to come and go almost when they chose, and there was not the slightest difficulty experienced in rounding-up in Mexico at any time, but ever since the quarantine line was run across to California, the regulations have become stricter and stricter, until the business on the border requires very considerable diplomacy.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 3.—The engagement of Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt and Moses Taylor, though not formally announced, is now conceded by their friends. The great fortune of Miss Vanderbilt is almost matched by the millions of Mr. Taylor. He is the second son of Henry A. C. Taylor and his inheritance came from his grandfather, Moses Taylor, a successful old-time merchant.

OBITUARY NOTES.

TOSIE M. NICHOLS.

Died, at Moscow, Livingston county, New York, August 28, 1895, Tossie M. Nichols, daughter of M. L. and Fannie B. Nichols. The funeral services were conducted by Elder Turner of Salt Lake City, and Elder Baker, of Mendon, Utah. The family have the sympathy of a host of friends in their sad bereavement.

LYDIA JANE ANSLEY BURLEY.

The funeral services over the remains of Lydia Jane Ansley, wife of Edward Burley, who departed this life on Sunday, September 1st, was held in the Nineteenth ward meeting house on last Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock. A large concourse of friends was present, and among the speakers were Brothers Geo. Poulter, Owen, Savage, Newton and Bishop Barton, the first four being in the London conference at the time Sister Burley was baptized into the Church. They spoke of their hospitality to them while in London and to the many noble traits of character which she bore. She has been a faithful Latter-day Saint and her loss is deeply mourned.

Sister Burley gave birth to a boy on Tuesday, August 20th, and it died on the day following. The child was named Charles Edward Burley. Floral offerings were very profuse and the services were largely attended.

WILLIAM HENRY KELSEY.

Died in Springville, August 5, 1895, of la grippe, William Henry Kelsey, who was born in Dover, Kent, England, November 21st, 1830. He was a son of Edward Kelsey and Ann Gibbons; was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints February 16th, 1848; in August of the same year was ordained a Teacher, in November following a Priest, and an Elder in February, 1850. Soon after his ordination as an Elder he was appointed to travel in the London conference, which duty was faithfully performed. June 6th, 1850, he opened the Gospel to Croydon, and, following that place, he carried it to Epsom, Red Hill, Merstham, Reigate and other places in the County of Surrey and baptized about seventy-five persons. In 1852 he was set to preside over about twenty branches on the south side of the river Thames, London conference. January 1st, 1856, he was called to preside over the Kent conference which embraced also the counties of Surrey and Sussex.

May 15th, 1861, he was released from the presidency to gather to Zion, which he did the same year, after having labored in the ministry over eleven years. He arrived in Springville, October 12th, 1861; was ordained a Seventy in March, 1862, and in 1870 was called to act as counselor to Bishop William Bringhurst, in which position he served until the death of the Bishop in 1882. In 1871 he was sent on a mission to England and returned in the fall of the same year. In 1885 he was appointed to preside over the High Priests in Springville; in 1889 was set apart as first counselor to Isaac Bullock, president over the High Priests' quorum of Utah Stake. He was appointed on the home missionary staff seven times and served as such seven years between 1865 and 1890. At his demise he was first counselor to Jas. Daniels, president of the High Priests' quorum of Utah Stake.

His life was both eventful and serviceable in the Church and Kingdom of God. He was a sound theologian and an ardent scholar in history, a practical horticulturist and gardener and president of the Utah County Farmer and Gardeners club.
