

NORTH DAKOTA BUSTS BOILER

Was Going Along at Twenty-one Knot Gait When the Accident Occurred.

ROBBED OF COVETED LAURELS

Exceeded Contract Requirements—Her Builders Anxious for Another Test.

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 4.—As the new battleship North Dakota was completing her four-hour endurance run at 21 knot gait, off the New England coast today, with the battleship speed championship of America almost in her grasp, a boiler room accident robbed her of the laurels a few sent her scurrying to this port to land four injured men.

hours, 21.64 in the third hour, and 21 knots flat as she hurried in on the fourth hour to this port. The injured men are William H. Grance, water tender; John Souden, coal passer; A. Peterson, fireman; and Peter McConnell, fireman.

Souden was badly scalded. The North Dakota jogged out of the harbor shortly after sunrise today increasing her steam as she proceeded until at 1 o'clock she was well south of Monhegan.

Shortly after that she began her trial. In the first two hours, the engines developed 3200 horsepower and the water rate was well above the contract. A few minutes after the battleship had passed Cape Ann, and while she was entering the fourth hour test, a seven-inch tube in one of the lower rows of boilers blew out and filled the room with steam. The engineers immediately cut off four of the 19 boilers.

As soon as the extent of the injuries of the boiler had been ascertained the North Dakota was swung around and headed back to the coast for this port, where it was known a good harbor could be reached shortly after the expiration of the time limit.

All four of the injured men bravely urged the engineer force to disregard their injuries and keep the battleship on her work. Under the 10 boilers, 21 knots was maintained for the balance of the time, and at 4 o'clock the North Dakota steamed into this harbor and sent the injured men ashore.

The defective tube was replaced and arrangements were made to leave at midnight for the 24-hour run, at a speed of 19 knots an hour.

The battleship is expected at Boston tonight at midnight tomorrow, and during her run it will be decided whether there will be a continuation of the trials and whether the four-hour test will be repeated.

Although the North Dakota fulfilled her contract today her builders, the Fore River Shipbuilding company of Quincy, Mass., are anxious to see what she can do on a four-hour test, with her usual steam equipment.

A DA VINCI BUST.

English Art Critics Say Dr. Bode Did Not Get One.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The emperor today summoned Dr. Bode, curator of the Emperor Frederick museum, to report on allegations by English art critics that the wax bust recently purchased by the emperor from an English dealer, was a work of Richard Cockle Lucas and not of Leonardo Da Vinci. Dr. Bode, in behalf of the museum, paid an English art dealer $40,000 for the life-sized bust of a woman. The bust was supposed to have been the fifteenth century workmanship of Da Vinci. Since the sale a sort of Lucas has offered evidence to prove that the bust was made by his father in 1846. The elder Lucas was a sculptor of some prominence in London.

Today Dr. Bode submitted to the emperor the proofs of the genuineness of the bust as representing the workmanship of Da Vinci. He said the bust had been examined by the best German art critics and the judgment of these as well as that of foreign museums agreed with his own.

FRIENDS OF PACKARD SURPRISED BY MARRIAGE

New York, Nov. 6.—The friends of Edward Winslow E. Packard, a bachelor of about 30, and now a prominent clubman in this city, who a year ago inherited $10,000,000 from his uncle, John Q. Packard of Salt Lake City, have been surprised by the announcement of his marriage to Mrs. Helen Piffard Oakes, widow of R. Everett Oakes, and a daughter of Henry G. Piffard. Until the marriage was announced their friends did not even know that they were acquainted. Mr. Packard has lived in Salt Lake since his uncle's death.

NORDICA DIDN'T BREAK AUNT'S WILL

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 5.—A decision adverse to Madame Lillian Nordica, the opera singer, and several of her sisters and cousins, who attempted to break the will of their aunt, Mrs. Vannie P. Allen of Melrose, was handed down by Judge Ruger in the state supreme court today.

SLAPPED HER ANNOYER'S FACE TILL IT WAS RED

Thomasville, Ga., Nov. 5.—"Now, madam, slap him in the face just as hard as you can. Kick him, too, if you like."

This invitation extended by Conductor Lewis on a Coast Line train today was acted upon vigorously by Mrs. A. M. McBride of New Orleans and she slapped her annoyers' face until it was crimson. "I guess that'll do, Mr. Conductor. Thank you," she said, going back to her seat while the other passengers applauded.

The slapping little drama was enacted because a man persisted in pressing his attentions upon Mrs. McBride. She tried ignoring him, but he did not care for that. Then she warned him without result. As a last resort she appealed to the conductor.

"Sure, he'll have to leave you alone," insisted that official. "Here, just wait a minute."

Then Conductor Lewis Collared the man, pinned his arms behind him and held him firmly, while he suggested that the aggrieved woman administer corporal punishment. The annoyers left the train at the next station, Camilla. He had intended to ride further, but decided he did not like that train anyway.

BROWN STUDENTS NOT STRONG ON HISTORY

Providence, R. I., Nov. 5.—None of the 24 members of Prof. Wilfred H. Munro's history class at Brown university, composed of seniors and juniors, was able to give correctly the full names of the presidents of the United States, a justice of the supreme court of the United States, the governor of Rhode Island, a justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island and the mayor of Providence, when the questions were proposed as a test today.

Prof. Munro desired to make an experiment based on the recent attempt to secure a constitutional amendment in Maryland requiring from voters ability to answer correctly similar questions.

Eighteen of the 24 members of the class gave correctly the president's full name and two knew only his last name. No one succeeded in giving the full name of a justice of the United States supreme court. Seventeen had a name partly correct. Seven could not give even the last name of a justice.

A DRAMATIC SUICIDE.

Paris, Nov. 5.—A man, believed to have been either an American or an Englishman, dramatically committed suicide in a Mont Martre cafe tonight. He had asked the orchestra seven times to play the waltz, "When Love Dies," and as the last strain died away he placed a pistol to his head and shot himself.

ONLY HALF OF WIDOW'S FACE WAS BEAUTIFIED

New York, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Ella Houghton, a rich widow, living at the Hotel Ansonia, complainant in a police court against a woman beauty doctor, Mrs. Houghton's face is a strange sight. One-half is as clear of wrinkles as that of a young girl. The other, as Mrs. Houghton told the court, is marked with cross's feet. The beauty doctor, according to Mrs. Houghton, had refused to complete the job of rejuvenating her complexion unless she would agree to attend a reception at the Ansonia with her face in its present condition, as a "before and after" advertisement.

The beauty doctor said in her defense that Mrs. Houghton had agreed to her terms when she began to treat her, which Mrs. Houghton denied.

MAYOR-ELECT GAYNOR WIL WORK AS A FARMER

New York, Nov. 6.—William J. Gaynor, who will become mayor of New York city on Jan. 1, spent his first day of rest after the election by taking a 20-mile walk on the roads near his Long Island farm and then by donning overalls and assisting his farm hands to husk the fall gathering of corn.

Mr. Gaynor proposes to devote the next three weeks to hard work as a farmer on his place. He will build a shelter for his dogs, make an addition to the barn and lay a cinder path from the house to the cistern. He says he will see no politicians.

PLAN TO RAISE FUND TO AID GOMPERS ET AL

New York, Nov. 6.—The Central Federation of Labor has passed a resolution calling on the convention of the American Federation of Labor which meets in Toronto next week to assess the two million members of the national body for the purpose of raising a fund to carry the appeal of President Samuel Gompers, Vice President Mitchell Reilly, Morrison to the United States supreme court. The three national officers, who have been sentenced to jail for contempt of the federal court, were unanimously endorsed.

A Peep Into Primitive Days

Our forefathers, Pioneers of the wilderness, blazed the trails for civilization. Into the forests they forced their way. Trees were felled, stumps cleared, smoke curled from log cabins and the soil responded to the plow. The narration is easy—but the long hours of toil, the privation which we of latter generations are incapable of appreciating, were of daily occurrence.

Our grandparents, the children of those times, handed down to their children and they to us the story of the first settlers, their plain mode of living, their pleasures, and of the hope of home reward which so richly crowned their endeavors.

We know that they were of undaunted determination and of sterling worth. And we know further that in those cabins were queenly women of quality, brave as are all women in an hour of trial, where sweetness and gentleness and firmness are refreshing inspiration to trill masterful men. Perhaps they sometimes wearied under incessant drudgery, toiling often beyond their strength, isolated as they were day in and day out with little to break the routine. But the joys of a home unfolding from the shadows of talling forests, from fields yielding bounteously, were relieved by the neigh of horses, the bellow of the cattle, the trill of the birds became comforts which buoyed them to song. Then the blessing of children, their romping spirits finding full sway in the open.

And so these women, jeweled with unselfishness and deep love, lived wholly for their homes. How tidy they must have been. How happy, such homes! What splendid children sprang from such environment!

As neighbors settled near, as hamlets grew, as prosperity yielded its reward, the full joy of living—live close to nature was theirs.

With the settlement of the country came conveniences. New comforts—but love of home remained steadfast.

Thanksgiving and Christmas were the big times. Thanksgiving Day was one of blessing—from Nature's Cornucopia there poured an abundant yield into the lap of the land.

The mother found delight in cooking. The repast over which she presided on the Thanksgiving occasions was sumptuously prepared and served in comely fashion. A meal fit for the gods! And such appetites! No wonder the housewife prided herself on her cooking. There was the wild turkey, the innumerable relishes, the sauces and the jams, bread that melted in the mouth, pumpkin pie, cakes, rich cream, apple cider and so on. A table weighted with things carried with it table linen, made on the mother's own loom from home grown flax.

And the inherent love of linen is equally strong today.

One hundred odd table cloths and our complete line of scalloped round cloths and napkins. To be discounted 20%, 25% and 33% These discounts are unusual on high-grade table linens, but we want to make this a banner sale. Our fine moravian damasks included in this sale at a third less than regular price.
