NOT WANTED.

An American Mission Station in Turkey Burned.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.—The secretary of state today received a telegram from the United States consul at Constantinople informing him that the house of Dr. Hartshi, the American missionary at Scutari, province of Kesia, Asia Minor, and the lives of the missionaries there were in danger. He believes if prompt action is not taken the lives and houses of the missionaries will be in serious danger in other places. The building of Dr. Hartshi's residence was originally acquired by the local authorities. Permission to complete the same was refused. Dr. Hartshi would furnish a bond or guarantee that he would not use religious worship nor instruct children on the premises. The Legation replied to the Sublime Porte for permission claiming that the treaty rights of Americans extended not only to the purchase of land but to the enjoyment of the same.

THE PERMIT WAS FINALLY GRANTED by the Sultan. Immediately after the receipt of the permit by the authorities the house was burned.

Secretary Foster immediately cabled the charge to make an urgent demand for effective protection, for the prompt punishment of the guilty parties and to instruct the authorities if found remiss.

The United States cruisers "Newark" and "Bennington," now on the way to Genoa, will be ordered to the vicinity of the outrage to support the demands.
