THE ARGUMENTS.

Ex-Governor Robinson Concludes for the Defense of Lizzie.

FOR THE PROSECUTION.

District Attorney Knowlton Commences His Speech.—Felix Borden Located.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 19.—In his argument for the defense of Lizzie Borden Governor Robinson rehearsed, chronologically, the events connected with the crime. He saw no reason to connect defendant with it. There was no direct evidence against Miss Borden, no said, whatever, and no knowledge of the use of a weapon had been shown. The evidence shows that the defendant did not know where the alleged weapon was kept. There was not a spot of blood on her from head to foot with the exception of one as big as a pin's head on her skirt. Lizzie Borden was at home the morning the murders were committed, and if she had gone upstairs and looked under a bed she might have seen the body of her stepmother.

Both Lizzie and Bridget tell about a note which called Mrs. Borden out, and both were told of it by Mrs. Borden. Lizzie said that she had been in the barn twenty minutes. An ice-cream peddler who knew Bridget went by and saw a woman, but not Bridget, walking to the house from the barn.

"Bridget," said the governor after recess, "when she heard Borden was dead said she wanted go to Mrs. Whitehead's and tell Mrs. Borden if she was there. That corroborates the note theory. Bridget Sullivan, who for two years had been closer to the family than any one else, never heard of a quarrel between Lizzie and Mrs. Borden."

The speaker then related the fact of the alleged blood-stained dress and the burning of it.

"If Lizzie Borden killed her stepmother at 9:45, did she come down and greet her father in a blood-stained dress? She must have changed her clothing and changed it again after the second slaughter. Lizzie didn't try to get Bridget out of the house. Don't you think she would have sent her on some errand?"

The attorney pointed out that the doctors disagreed as to what had been used to kill the Bordens, and touched upon the claw-headed hatchet and the hatchet without a handle. If these were not the implements with which the murder was committed where are they? Anybody could have gotten into the house by simply avoiding Bridget on the outside and Lizzie on the inside. The lawyer held that the young man seen in the vicinity was an easy spy for the person committing the deed; that the job was not done by one person.

If there had been any blood on the defendant those who were bathing her face would have discovered it.

It was three o'clock when the ex-governor closed, and District Attorney Knowlton began to sum up for the prosecution. He said:

"However we may differ we can agree that this is a most heartrending case. The woman we are trying is a Christian. It is hard to consider a woman guilty of such a crime, but the greatest criminals of the world have been women and we must face this case as men. No one who has told it to saw Lizzie Borden burn that dress. While Mr. Borden was down at the bank that morning the assassin met Mrs. Borden and killed her. Lizzie was the one woman in the world who believed the old woman stood between her father and herself. There was nothing in those blows, but hatred and a great strong man with one blow only, would have made an end of it."

The speaker reviewed the movements of the family on the morning of the tragedy and said,

"Up to the time the murder was committed there was no opportunity for an assassin to come in. When the two hundred pound woman fell it must have been heard by whoever was in the house. If Lizzie was down stairs she was in the passageway of the murderer. If she was upstairs she could not have helped hearing. She alone was in the house with the murdered woman and knew by and by there was coming into the house a stern, just man who would have noticed the absence of his beloved wife. He came in and she said to him: 'Mother received a note and has gone out.' But there was no note; there never was anyone sick, and the note story originated with Lizzie Borden."

Court was adjourned with Knowlton's argument not finished.

FELIX BORDEN.

NEW BEDFORD, June 19.—Felix Borden has been located here. Young Borden says he knew Lizzie's father only by sight and reputation, and it he said Mrs. Hanney at Rehoboth that Lizzie committed the murder his opinion was formed on newspaper reports and not from any knowledge of Lizzie's character. He could not remember either just where he was at the time of the murders because he was then in the citrus business and it kept him traveling most of the time, but he had an idea he was in Providence.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

The Probable Successor of Minister Blount.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—Proctor Knott of Kentucky will probably succeed James H. Blount as minister to Hawaii. There is no longer any doubt that President Cleveland has received Mr. Blount's resignation and that it has been on file in the state department for some days. It leaked out here today that President Cleveland telegraphed Proctor Knott to come to Washington so he could have a conference with him.

Mr. Knott hastened to the capital city, and since his arrival has had conferences with President Cleveland, both at the White House and at his summer home at Bellair.

There is no doubt whatever that had the Georgian had any idea he would be kept on the islands so long he would not have accepted the position as the roving representative of the government. He accepted it with the idea that he would be sent on diplomatic missions of this kind to very many sections of the world, and had no idea then that the irksome position of minister would ever be his. It is stated that he accepted it under duress and now absolutely refuses to continue.

AGAINST PENSION FRAUDS.

An order was issued today by Commissioner Lochren of the pension bureau, and approved by Secretary Smith, with a view to preventing fraud in making application for pensions. The order requires in the preparation of testimony in support of claims in pension cases that all statements must be written or prepared to be type-written in the presence of witnesses and that oral declarations thus made to the person who prepares the testimony. It is believed that the printed forms heretofore used permitted an unprincipled attorney to make an apparent never falsely.

GRESHAM WILL GET EVER WITH NEW YORK.

Secretary Gresham is much wrought up over the criticisms of the Gotham papers in reference to the government's way of entertaining distinguished foreign guests. The moment any foreign guest of the government gets out of the limits of the metropolis a fuss and cry goes up in that city over the enormous amount of money the government is spending to entertain these guests.

Gresham, it is claimed, will now see that no more of the government guests will be allowed to remain in New York. Prince Gweniher of Germany, a brother of the emperor, will be the next distinguished foreigner to arrive, and the secretary of state promises that immediately upon his arrival in New York he is to be brought to Washington and that he be sent direct to Chicago from the capital city.

Attempt at Murder.

MOCCOW, Idaho, June 19.—An attempt was made this morning by Mike H. Leitch of Pullman, Wash., to kill Robert S. Browne, president of the Moscow National bank. Leitch is indebted to the bank and after talking with Browne fired through the screen over the cashier's desk. The bullet struck the bar of the screen and glanced over Browne's shoulder, hitting him in the neck. Leitch was immediately arrested.

Money for the West.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The shipment of currency by New York banks to the interior today amounted to $1,500,000.

Congress of Commerce.

CHICAGO, June 19.—The opening meeting of the Congress of Commerce and Finance was held tonight. It includes a congress of bankers and financiers, railroad commerce, board of trade, insurance, water commerce, mercantile credit, and building and loan associations.

For a Pint of Beer.

NEW YORK, June 19.—John T. Haggerty jumped from Brooklyn bridge this afternoon on a wager of a pint of beer. He was not injured in the slightest way.

Provisions at a Will Sustained.

CHICAGO, June 19.—The provisions of the will of the late John Crerar, giving two and a half million for a public library in Chicago, a hundred thousand for a monument to Lincoln, two hundred thousand to churches and missions and other smaller bequests, which has been contested by distant relatives, was sustained in the Illinois supreme court today.

Gold Increasing.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—Gradually, and in the absence of exports, the gold in the treasury is increasing. Today it was $92,270,546, an increase since Saturday of more than $700,000, and a gain of nearly $5,000,000 the past three weeks.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the Ford's Theater Inquest.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—The coroner's jury investigating the Ford's theater disaster today brought in a verdict holding Colonel F. C. Ainsworth, Contractor Grant, Superintendent Covert and Engineer Rass guilty of criminal negligence.

The testimony this morning was principally with reference to the character of the material used by Contractor Dant in doing the work beneath the old theater building. Witnesses testified to selling Dant the best materials, but when shown samples taken from the debris said they were very poor materials and not the same as sold.

After being out two hours the jury returned a verdict setting forth that Frederick B. Loftus came to his death by a disaster at Ford's Theater building, June 9, 1893. They recited all the circumstances connected with the accident, and find Frederick C. Ainsworth, in charge of the building; William G. Covert, superintendent; Francis Rass, engineer, and George W. Dant, a contractor, responsible for the killing of Loftus. The jurors further find that the failure of the government of the United States to provide for skilled superintendents of the work of repair and alteration of its buildings in charge of the war department most undoubtedly led to the accident, and they are of the opinion that if such superintendents had been provided the awful tragedy might have been averted.

Loss from Fire.

VIRGINIA, Minn., June 19.—The gross loss from the fire yesterday is not less than $1,000,000, and the insurance is estimated at $300,000. There is no positive evidence that any persons perished in the flames, but some bones were discovered in the ruins which several people think were the remains of women. Not a single one of the leading business houses escaped. In the residence portion not a building is left standing. Between the railroad tracks and the western limits of the city thirty buildings are standing. Of forty-two saloons all but three were burned, and these were closed today by order of the mayor.

At the Commodore and Franklin mines the engine house and office were burned, as were also those at the Ohio and Meeker. The Mountain mines at Burgess Camp were totally destroyed, and at the Jones and Bonnefelles mines all the improvements were consumed. At the New England mine the boarding camp was burned. Tents and provisions were by night here from the grading camps. The Mesaba train that arrived at noon also had a liberal supply of provisions on board, but barely adequate for the day, and it must necessarily be followed by further aid. A meeting of citizens of Virginia was held this afternoon and a committee appointed to receive supplies and distribute them.

No details of the fire at Merrian have been received, but it is stated that two-thirds of the town have been destroyed. At Mountain Iron only two or three dwellings and a depot were burned. The only building destroyed at Hibbard was the depot.

TURKISH METHODS.

Sentenced to Death with no Evidence at Guilt.

NEW YORK, June 19.—At the Armenian Board of Foreign Missions in this city it was learned today that the outcome of the trial conducted in Angora, against the Armenians charged with plotting in Cesarea and Sivas was last springgreatly surprised the board. Rev. Dr. C. H. Daniels, clerical secretary of the board, said today:

"All of the prisoners are natives. The two prisoners who were sentenced to death, Mr. Tomanyan, sweet professor of the college, and Professor Kayayan, are innocent. They were arrested and imprisoned January 25th, and every request to see them or give bail for them was refused. Rev. Dr. C. C. Tracy, president of the college, who has just arrived here, stated that there was no evidence connecting them with the issuing of seditious placards, yet the two native professors were not released. If they have been declared guilty it must have been done by the forgery of alleged documents and by perjured witnesses."

A Washington special says that Secretary Gresham was shown a cable dispatch from Constantinople regarding the professors sentenced to death.

"This is the first news I have received of the result of the trial," said the secretary. "No official information on the subject has yet come to me, and I am, therefore, unprepared to say what, if anything, will be done about it by our government. While our government, as a government, has no authority to interfere in the matter of the two professors condemned to death, neither of them being American citizens, it has pledged every facility at the disposal of the American friends of the accused. The American consul general at Constantinople was to the relatives of the about counsel who could be procured."

It is not believed here that anything further will be done.

ENGLAND INTERVENES.

LONDON, June 19.—The question of Armenians sentenced to death at Angora by Turkish authorities came up in the commons today. Sir Edward Gray of the parliamentary foreign office said the English charge d'affaires at Constantinople had been directed this evening to prevent the sentence being carried out pending a full consideration of all the circumstances involved.

TO DEFEAT WILLIAM.

Radicals and Social Democrats in Germany Combine.

Government Supporters Fighting Richter Bitterly—Complimentary Vote to Bismarck.

BERLIN, June 19.—Eugene Richter, leader of the opposition radicals, has agreed formally with August Liebel and Wilhelm Liebknecht, leaders of the social democrats, to deliver to the social democrats in the second ballots, all the radical votes he can control in constituencies where the contests will be between social democrats and candidates favoring the army bill. In return, Liebknecht and Liebel will order social democrat voters to support the Richterites in constituencies where the latter contest seats with representatives of the government parties.

The bitterness felt by government parties toward Richter is excessive. In Hagen, which Richter represented in the last reichstag and which a recount gives him the right to contest with Herr Brolli, social democrat, the national liberals say they will vote with the socialists so as to throw Richter out.

In Bunderen a complimentary vote of 923 was cast for Prince Bismarck.

The Recent Drought.

BERLIN, June 19.—The recent drought has caused such a scarcity of farm produce and so blighted the young crops that Herr Von Herlepsch, minister of trade, will propose a suspension of duties on corn and maize.

The Queen's Gold Medal.

LONDON, June 19.—Richard M. Hunt of New York received at the Royal Institute of Architects today the Queen's gold medal of distinction conferred on him in view of his work at the World's Fair in Chicago. Hunt is the first American whose name is inscribed on the institute's roll of honor.

In the Catholic World.

ROME, June 19.—Cardinal Serafino Vanutelli, arch-bishop of Bologna, has resigned the ex-nuntial post held by him at the Vatican. The resignation is due to differences between the pope and Vanutelli regarding the policy of his holiness.

His holiness today gave audience to the American bishops who were recently promoted. In the course of his remarks he advised them to work together to preserve harmony among the American clergy. He also expressed a hope that the bishops would accept, without discussion, the encyclical on the school question in America.

Challenged to a Duel.

PARIS, June 19.—As a result of a verbal altercation in the deputies today during the debate on the electoral reform bill between Clemenceau, Paul Deroulede and Lucien Millevoy, the former challenged each of the latter to a duel. Both refused Clemenceau reparation, but Millevoy said he himself would challenge Clemenceau after debate on the Hugh extradition case.

Sales and Failures.

BERNE, June 19.—About fifty Swiss workingmen attacked today a gang of Italians who were imported to work in the street. The police arrested fifteen of the attacking party and locked them up. This evening a turbulent crowd gathered near the jail and when the police tried to disperse them the mob made a rush for the jail to release the prisoners. The police fired upon the rioters but were unable to drive them back till ten were arrested and fourteen wounded.

During a pause in hostilities a company of soldiers was brought up to guard approaches to the jail. By repeated charges the police then drove off the crowd. Later a thousand or more workingmen gathered near the jail, and a detachment of artillery was brought from Thun to hold them back and are now stationed before the jail.
