OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - - MARCH 7, 1896.

Directors Elected.

The Bear River Irrigation & Ogden Waterworks company held a stockholders' meeting and the following named persons were elected directors for the company for the ensuing year: W. H. Rowe, president; Samuel H. Jarvis, New York, vice president; Stanley L. Conkling, New York, secretary and treasurer; John Hollingworth, England; David Eccles, Ogden; James H. Bacon, Salt Lake; William Adams, England; John Watson, Ogden; E. H. Horbert, London.

Notes.

Sister Ann Roberts, the wife of Patriarch Evan Roberts, died yesterday, aged 67 years. Death was caused by a tumor in the stomach. Sister Roberts was a pioneer resident of Utah. Funeral services will be held at the North Morgan meeting house on Monday.

A large herd of sheep is reported starving to death on Wenner island, Great Salt Lake, the persons in charge of them having deserted them. The owner of the herd, Mrs. Wenner, is absent on a visit east. It is reported that about ten per cent of the herd is already dead. Mrs Wenner is a resident of Farmington.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - - MARCH 7, 1896.

Mines Near Provo.

Articles of incorporation of the Cerro Gordo Mining company were filed with County Clerk Jones yesterday. The capital stock of the company is placed at $1,000,000 in shares of the par value of $1 each. The incorporators, who are all Provo people, are E. A. Wedgwood, president; Joshua V. Jones, vice president; A. McCartain, Sam Schwab, Dan H. Carey, directors; George Havercamp, secretary, treasurer and director.

The company owns seven claims situated about one and a half miles east of Provo between Rock and Slate canyons, but little development work has been done on the claims but assays showing $7 gold have been obtained. Some of this ground was located years ago by the late S. H. Moore, an experienced miner, but the small percentage of gold prevented work being prosecuted at that time. Several other claims have been located in the neighborhood of the new strike and many prospectors are looking over the country.

At Rest.

Michael Strong, of Alpine, son of Don C. and Eliza Strong, died in this city at the residence of J. M. Jensen, Thursday evening, after four months' illness from heart disease, superinduced by typhoid fever and pneumonia. He was born at Alpine, March 23d, 1866. The remains were taken to Alpine, yesterday, where the funeral will be held tomorrow. The deceased was an exemplary young man, and endured his sufferings patiently. He was ordained to the office of an Elder a few hours before his death by Elder David John of the Stake Presidency and Bishop Evan Wride of the Second ward.

Notes.

F. H. Daniels, of Park City, was visiting his brother-in-law, E. H. Knowlden, yesterday.

David E. Thorne, aged 20, and Mary E. Kestch, aged 19, both of Pleasant Grove, received a marriage license yesterday.

Henry Wallace, of Salt Lake City, was a visitor to Provo yesterday.

Hon. W. H. King lectured before the Brigham Young Academy Polysophical society last evening.

A PREHISTORIC ARIZONIAN.

DISCOVERY OF A MUMMY IN THE CLIFFS ON THE VERDE RIVER.

Phoenix Republican: John McCarty is a hunter of renown in the north central part of the territory, and by his rifle, traps and dogs has for several years managed to secure for himself a livelihood of profit. Yesterday, however, he masqueraded as an amateur showman, presenting for the public inspection a genuine mummy, found by him in a cliff dwelling on the Verde river, about a dozen miles north of the mouth of the East Verde.

The region is one of the roughest known in Arizona, yet along the river under the cliffs on either side of the valley are to be found many evidences of the prehistoric cliff dwellers. Into one of these cliff dwellings a couple of years ago came McCarty, drawn by curiosity. One of the rooms seemed smaller than the outside walls seemed to warrant. The hunter was built to the cliff, when sounded with a pick from the inside seemed hollow, and a few blows made an opening into a sealed up crypt. In this was found the mummy.

It had evidently been propped up in a sitting position against the wall, though there were indications that the cliff dweller of long ago was sealed up alive and left there to die of starvation or suffocation. By the side of the shrunken mummy were found several broken pottery bowls and a stone axe, and in the vault were picked up a dozen obsidian and flint arrowheads, several of them of exceptional size and of rare workmanship. The mummy, which weighs about twenty-one pounds, was taken away by the finder on an Indian litter dragged behind a burro till a wagon road was reached. Since, till yesterday, the precious find has been wrapped up and carefully kept from exposure to air.

Yesterday Mr. Cliff Dweller was brought to view and, as he showed signs of disintegration, was carefully given a coat of the best coach varnish, prior to being placed in an air tight glass-topped box for public inspection.

The mummy was seen by a Republican reporter where it was on exhibition in a little tent at Five Points. It's the genuine article without the slightest resemblance of the performer's mummy of East Indian fame. It is of a male, 7 feet 1½ inches in height. What the color was in life is not known, at present it is like dried leaf, black. The skin in several places is broken away, leaving bones visible. The arms are of an extraordinary length and the fingers almost spider-like in development. The trunk is perfect, the skin entire around it.

In the skull, however, lies the element of greatest interest. The formation is entirely different from that typical of the ancient dwellers in the valleys of Arizona. The valley dwellers were Toltecs, of almost Caucasian features. The skull of this mummy, with forehead retreating from the nose and large rear development, is of the Aztec type. The teeth are entire and well preserved and protrude, as in the canine tribe.

The mummy is the first that has ever been found in the cliff dwellings of Arizona, though a number have been reported from the Sierra Madre mountains of Chihuahua. It is of undoubted authenticity and antiquity, and is therefore of the most decided value as an acquisition to a local museum.

BUT ONE SAVED

Out of ten who suffered From Kidney Disease and Gravel.

And that one, T. N. Arnold of 146 West Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., was the only one who used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

This remarkable statement was investigated and published recently in the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. Mr. Arnold said: "Some years ago I was taken sick, which ran along until this [illegible] I found out the real cause. There were ten of us, friends, all sick in the city of Rochester at the same time with kidney disease or gravel in the bladder—nine died. The doctors exercised their utmost skill on those nine men but could not save one of them. I picked up a book one day on Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and saw my case described exactly, and I resolved to try it. I commenced its use, and how shall I express my gratitude, for it cured my life. The pain I have suffered no mortal man can describe. I have lain on my back with my feet against the wall to try to get in a position to ease the pain. After I had taken three doses of Favorite Remedy, I commenced to feel better; of course the pain and swelling continued until the stone was all dissolved. From the time I went to bed and commenced to use until I was all right again was just four and a half months. I have recommended this remedy to a great many people, but nobody knows how highly I value it."

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S

Many other instances of the kind are widely talked of here in Rochester, where Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has effected cures after physicians had given up hope. It restores the liver to a healthy condition and cures the worst cases of constipation. It is a certain cure for all diseases peculiar to females, and affords great protection from attacks that originate in change of life. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, rheumatism, dyspepsia, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, gravel, diabetes and Bright's disease. In this last disease it has cured where all else failed.
