MILFORD MATTERS.

One of the Towns That Will Go Like a Whirl.

AND YOU MUST DOWN LIKE A STICK.

Gal Robbery Sign of a Revival—The County Divided and the Cattle Thermometer Varies.

MILFORD, April 21.—Spring is here and we can look for new life in all things in our mountain towns. I was at your northern county town a little time ago to hear Senator Allen "do his stump speech." I failed to be impressed much.

Auditor Lewis, usually addressed as "the Auditor of State," is reported to have said in his speech that the Utah Southern railroad was worth more to the state than the Union Pacific, that Governor Wolcott was a wide awake man, and that the Mormons were good people. I was not present at the time of delivery, but I understand that the Senator's remarks were received with cheers. I am sure I would have cheered if I had been present. I was quite interested at the time I read the report of the speech, because I was in Salt Lake when Senator Allen was there last winter, and I was quite anxious to see how he would treat the people of Utah. I was not disappointed, for he did not say anything about them. He did not say anything about Wolcott, and he did not say anything about the Utah Southern. He said a great deal about the Union Pacific, and he said that the road was worth more than it was capitalized for, and that the people of Utah were good people. Senator Allen is a very good speaker, and when he talks with Senator Dubois he is very entertaining. The Senator from Idaho is a very good fellow, and he is a good talker himself. The Senator from Nebraska is a big man, and he talks big. He is a good fellow, and he is a good talker. The Senator from Idaho is a good fellow, and he is a good talker. The Senator from Nebraska
