Fifteen Days for "Little Bear."

Henry Grant, a voluntee Blackfoot Indian, better known as "Little Bear," was convicted in the police court yesterday afternoon of carrying obscene pictures. He was sent to jail for fifteen days. "Little Bear" pretends to be a good Christian, and carries testimonials from the Y. M. C. A. of this and other western cities whom he has evidently imposed upon.

UTAH MAN FROM AFRICA.

Arthur J. Hollingberry Returns From a Trip Around the World.

Spent Nearly a Year on the "Dark Continent" and Water Accidents to Stay Long from the Empire.

A. J. Hollingberry, of Salt Lake City, Utah, says the Denver News of yesterday, who has left Denver from an extended tour of the world, covering a period of a year and a half, is at the Albany. Nearly a year of the time he was absent Mr. Hollingberry spent in Africa, among the gold mines and the great diamond fields of that wonderful and as yet undeveloped country.

Africa has a future before her, the traveler says, that the most vivid imagination cannot paint. It was a dangerous exploit to travel through, as a man takes his life in his hands, and the mortality is appalling. Eight out of ten foreigners who winter two years of taking up their residence there. What the country needs is capital to develop its resources. He thinks a poor man makes the mistake of his life in thinking of going there. There is absolutely no opportunity for a laboring man to secure employment, as all the work is done by the negroes, who receive little pay, and who, being treated to the colonies, are much more valuable to the owners of the mines and diamond fields.

The Beira railroad, now in progress of construction, is being built through "the dark country." The region is infested with a pestiferous fly which takes special delight in attacking domestic animals. A horse does not live five miles than ten days after the fly has begun to do its work. Another deadly enemy to all form of domestic life is an ant, which frequently kills man and beast. There is only one punishment in the country for offenses against the king, and that is death. There is no intermediate sentence ever prescribed. When a man has been found guilty of treason or any other crime against the sovereignty, he is bound to a stake out on ant hills and in a short time the animals have carried out the death penalty and have eaten the victim bodily.

Johannesburg is a wonderful gold country, producing $30,000 a month. Most of the mines are under the management of Americans, although they are owned by English syndicates. There are 6,000 negroes in South Africa, the Transvaal, doing the rough mining work.

The railroad which is invading the tropical forest is 150 miles east of the Zambesia river. The wet season is now on there and will last until about ock Jo of March. This great river overflows its banks and submerges the adjacent country for a distance of 100 miles. Mr. Hollingbery says that during his moist period it is no unusual sight to see the stream filled with hippopotami crowd ing and other creatures of that kind, who make the region a howling swamp.

Mr. Hollingbery also visited East India, the Red sea, Egypt and the Holy land. Prior to making his trip he was manager of the Salt Lake Herald.

STUDENTS' SOCIETY.

An Interesting Program—Lecture on Modern Legislatures.

The first session of the Students' society after the holidays was held last evening, Jan. 11. The society was first favored with a song by Miss Effie Morgan, after which instructor J. T. Woodbury delivered an instructive lecture on the subject of "Modern Legislatures." He traced the beginning of government from the early Aryan race of chief or president, down through the several nations, and compared them with the existing forms of government to-day. He showed the relation between the law-making body of England and the executive, legislative and judicial divisions of our own government, also pointing out the advantages of having the present Congress composed of two houses. State legislature was dealt upon briefly, also referring to that of U. S.

Then a very small boy, Master Bertie Olive, gave an excellent violin solo, followed by an encore. This was responded to by a recitation by Miss Mabel Olive, which closed the exercises for the evening, and meeting adjourned for one week.

Wm. Anderson,
Corresponding Secretary.

Municipal Matters.

The joint city and county building committee has received the resignations of Superintendent Willard and Assistant Carden Brown Jr. The resignation of these gentlemen is supposed to be due to the fact that they did not think and act in accordance with the views of the officials set over them.

Henry Brough and Frederick Clawson were employed by the board of control for the city and county respectively as engineers at a salary of $75 per month each. They will be compelled to act as their own firemen. The county members favored the appointment of firemen at $60 per month each, but were voted down.

The joint committee allowed bills aggregating $401.25 and referred the claim of Hoskins & Hoffin for $4,900 worth of extra work to Commissioners Watson and Scheelman Geddes.

Notes From Riverton.

Riverton, Salt Lake County,
January 10, 1895.

Editor Deseret News:

An industry company of the Utah mills has been organized here, with N. J. Christensen as captain, William Sonberg as first lieutenant, and Thos. P. Page as second lieutenant. Captain Christensen went to Salt Lake City today for the purpose of obtaining equipments for the company. He was informed by General Dillinger that the universe could not be furnished as there were not enough to supply them, but that the guns and other equipments would be provided in the near future.

The Riverton Dramatic association will present "The Rebel Chief" at the Draper hall on Friday evening, January 18. The proceeds will go to assist Elder Charles Jensen, who is now laboring as a missionary in Samoa. The following characters will take part in the play: W. H. Bowlden, John Hansen Jr., Wm. Slater, F. W. Weir, N. J. Christensen, E. A. Weiler, Ninth Miller, Mrs. Rawlins and Josie Peterson. The company made a great success of this play at the opening of the Riverton theater on January 3rd, and the people have requested that it be reproduced here. C.

ALSO VERY SUCCESSFUL.

An Immense Audience Witnesses Another Splendid Performance by Prof Gleason.

When Professor Gleason and his corps of assistants stepped into the roped arena last night they were surrounded by an audience that filled every part of the great hall outside of the enclosure in which their performing was done.

Some very elaborate animals were dealt with and were left to show themselves to be conquered. High kicking and very hard kicking came from a couple of them. But finally, shorn of their own vicious temper and bad training but much theirs, they yielded and became as docile and quiet as Mary's lamb is popularly supposed to be. The coal wagon fiasco which astonished every one the evening before, was full of fight again last night, and so he stood on his hind legs he backed his front ones in the capacity of a most dangerous striker. He paved Mr. Beaver's umbrella from his hands and stamped it into fragments. But the pandemonium of noises and numerous devices for overcoming his heels and breaking down his bad disposition were eventually successful and he was driven about the ring with and without lines.

Then came a boy which has long had the reputation of "going over backward," turning complete somersaults and the animal gave an exhibition of its fondness for such feats by vaulting into the air and coming down with tremendous force on its back. This load was operated upon till it could neither be coaxed nor compelled to repeat its positions.

That Commissioner Empey will soon have a circus performer in his beautiful and intelligent equine is evident, for at the command of the trainers last night it raced a drum from one end of the hall to the other and back again, told its own age, counted twenty by pawing on the floor, picked a handkerchief up, took it from its own back, etc., to the manifest interest and amusement of the audience. One week ago the animal was as unbridled and practically unmanaged colt.

There was much work and much sport over the gradual discipling of the ordinary of a young lean from the Fort. Tonight the performances will be repeated and a new there will be new horses to handle.

On Monday night a nine foot pen of strong timber will be erected in the center of the arena and one of the wildest and most vicious animals procurable will be put therein. Then Professor Gleason will enter the enclosure and subdue the animal without rope, halter, strap or whip. It will be a great exhibition and one that should again pack the auditorium to the fullest capacity.

TARSNEY MAY RESIGN.

Next Few Days Will Determine His Line of Action.

A rumor was current Thursday that Adjutant General Tarsney had resigned his office to assume the duties of district attorney of the sixth judicial district. Last night, says the Deseret News, General Tarsney denied the rumor and said that he did not know but that he would resign his state office before the expiration of his term. He was elected district attorney of the sixth judicial district at the election in November and his term of office began January 8. His term of office as adjutant general, however, will not expire until May 1. General Tarsney will decide the matter within the next few days.
