BERLIN CONGRESS

Mrs. Alice M. Horne of This City Returns and Gives Story of What They Did.

MOST CORDIALLY RECEIVED.

Brilliant Functions, Pretty Scenes, Visits of Interest and Incidents of Pleasure - The Home Trip.

Mrs. Alice M. Horne, who went to Berlin to represent the National Woman's Relief and National Improvement societies at the International Council of Women, has returned, and gives an enthusiastic account of the great congress and of the many functions and details included in the trip in which the delegation of Utah women participated.

The Utah delegates were Mrs. Horne, Mrs. F. S. Richards, Mrs. Ida Smoot Dusenberry, and Mrs. Lydia D. Alder, and Mrs. C. E. Allen, and besides these were Mrs. C. D. Schettler and Miss. Ludeen Christensen, who were numbered with the party. All of the delegates gave speeches, and all were most favorably received, with perhaps the exception of Mrs. C. E. Allen, whose bitter reference to "Mormon" women, Mrs. Horne said, seemed very coldly received. Mrs. Horne made two addresses, by special request of the committee, one upon art and another upon "The Woman Legislator," in the latter giving personal reminiscences at request of her experience in the Utah Legislature. The German women were much interested to see a "Mormon" who had not only the franchise, but had also held office, and said that they henced that many such would be sent hoped that many such would be sen to the congress, as it gave more hope t those struggling for similar principle The committee were the Baroness Olgavon Bescknitz, Frau Marie Stritt, and von Bescknitz, Frau Marie Stritt, and Frau Alice Saloman, and from all these Mrs. Horne received the most cordial attention. Social favors in abundance were showered upon the Utah women, among them receptions given by the Countess von Bulow and the Countess von Graffenberg, a reception at the American embassy, by Ambassador and Mrs. Towers, and numberless functions

American embassy, by Ambassador and Mrs. Towers, and numberless functions given by more private personages to say nothing of the large reception given by the president of the International Council, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, to the elected delegates, at which all of the latter made speeches of greeting, and the great final reception at the Raut or state house to all the visitors, which ended the congress. Among the many delightful entertainments was a reception given at an old country residence of one of the German kings, the delegates going by special train to the are requested to meet at the Beesley music store, 46 south Main street on Friday evening at 7:30 with instruments.

A pretty function at which Mrs. Horne was present was an artists' luncheon at which were present writers, painters, sculptors and multipliant of the contract Mrs. Rev. Dr. W. M. Mrs. Horne said that the greatest respect and esteem were shown the Utah women at the congress. Mrs. the Utah women at the congress. Mrs. May Wright Sewall sent her best love to the women of Utah, and said that she knew them to be noble and true, and that they commanded her warmest esteem. This spirit seemed to be prevalent. Mrs. Horne attended and spoke at many of the Mormon meetings in London. Liverpool, Boston, Brooklyn and New York, She states that Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Alder and Mrs. Dusenberry are still in Europe but will return in the fall.

Mrs. Dusenberry will spend some time in New York studying the Kindergarten systems, and will afterward visit the world's fair, as a delegate at the National Relief society council to be

The following is a description, writter for the "News," of the great final re-ception given at the Raut house in Berlin, from the pen of Mrs. Lydia D.

RECEPTION AT THE RATH HAUS The great Quinquenial congress of Women held in Berlin, closed on June 18 ,1904, with a grand reception a the Rauth Haus (town hall of Berlin) This reception was tendered by the city of Berlin to the officers and delegates of the International Council, the speakers of the congress, and the local com-occasion.

At 8 p. m., the hour named, hundreds of carriages filled with fair ladies, and their gallant escorts, stopped at the entrance of the imposing structure. We ascended the wide front steps, and reached an imposing staircase, adorned with flowers and plants on every step. with flowers and plants on every step.
At the foot, on either side a servant took the tickets, then on to the brilliantly illuminated halls above. Immediately in front of us a fountain threw its cool spray into the air, about 20 feet above its base, a large ring of many colored electric lights, emitted their various hues. Sometimes the ef-fect was green, now red or yellow which overspreading, the tall palms potted plants, ferns, flowers and trailing vines, the varied tints shading through the fountain spray, can all better be imagined than described.

At 8:30 the banquet hall was thrown open and amid the buzz of light con-versation, gay laughter and strains of music, the richly dressed assemblage, charged through its inviting doors.

Quickly at the many long tables, artistically arranged, with flowers and groaning under the choicest viands Germany can produce, the happy guests were seated.

The banquet hall is of great height the ceiling and walls, adorned by beauther than the ceiling and walls, adorned by beauther than the ceiling and sequisite. tiful paintings, gold, and exquisite statuary. A balcony encircles the upper part, where a few spectators were admitted and the band was playing glad notes of welcome.

Amid these strains of melody, the feast began. At the table of honor, which was placed in the center of one side of the hall were seated, the mayor, and some of the city officials, with their ladies; also the veteran leader of the suffrage movement.

In music, speeches and feasting m than two hours were whiled away. The address of welcome given by the mayor was followed by long and loud ap-

This was a souvenir of this ever to be remembered event. Utah was represented on this occasion by Mrs. Alice Merrill, Horne and Lydia D. Alder. Ere the midnight hour chimed, all were speeding homeward, still feeling enthralled by the evening's happy association. The grand banquet was over.
