WHO WILL BE PRESIDENT?

Question with Reference to the Annual Election of the Chamber of Commerce Next Week.

The annual election of the Chamber of Commerce which was scheduled for tonight, but which has been postponed for one week, will have a number of important matters to consider. The question that will receive first attention will in all probability be that of electing a president to succeed Mr. J. H. Bacon. The latter said today that under no condition or circumstances would he again be a candidate. "Even in the event of election," he added, "I would be compelled to resign, as I simply have not the time to devote to the office."

A News representative spent considerable time today in ascertaining the views of business men and members of the chamber as to who should be chosen as president. The names of several citizens were suggested but that of F. Auerbach most frequently. It appeared to be very generally considered that in the event he would accept it the honor should be conferred upon him. The secretaryship is also exciting unusual interest and a number of gentlemen have been named as possible successors to Judge Colburn.

PUBLIC LECTURE COURSE.

Prof. Whitley Speaks on the Making of History.

Prof. Whitley was the speaker at the meeting of the University lecture course last night. In dealing with the subject The Making of History, he said: There are few branches of knowledge that have a more copious and varied treatment than the subject of history. Taking history as one grand total of human action—the sum of human force on the earth, it will readily be seen to have dimensions and endlessly varied complexities far beyond our grasp or power of possible measurement. To bring it even approximately into an intelligent view, we must take it by sections; allowing the different groups to fall in their proper place, as classes of special historic phenomena, marked off from each other by their distinctiveness of nature and order of development.

Each group will be found to have a central fact, an indwelling vitality from which and around which all the other facts spring and reveal their respective activities. In the history of such groups it will be seen that certain mind forces have, at certain periods of such history, given birth to wider life issues. Every great movement of human endeavor owes its beginning and subsequent growth to some one mind. In this sense we say that Herodotus was the father of history, Chaucer the father of English literature, and Washington the father of the American nation.

From the dawn of the historic period to the present day we may count on our finger ends the world's original thinkers, who in their respective fields have worked out a work of universal interest for the race.

In our use of the word history we mean it to stand for and to cover all the kingdoms of human activity that lie within the whole empire of human life. We purposely broaden it so as to free ourselves from the narrowness, bigotry and prejudices of the older outlined forms of history. It is in this regard we see the charity of science—the true catholic feeling of universal brotherhood. Science knows neither Jew nor Gentile, bond nor free, Greek nor barbarian; it takes man as the embodiment of them all, and finds its interest in him as having the same value, whether found in Peru or Pekin, in Greece or Rome or Zululand. So when the Christ soul of man looks into the future, it sees clearly enough that the kingdom of heaven embraces all the kingdoms of this world—"all nations, peoples and tongues." Happily it is on these broader lines that history is now studied. We are outgrowing the narrowness of narrow classics, whether as to so-called classic ground in space or classic period in time.

All countries and people have made their histories and take their places as factors in the race movement towards higher and higher forms of a common humanity. Accepting Prof. Freeman's definition that history is the record of man in his character as a political being, then indeed there has been and is now a great deal of history making, for there is not a form of polity on earth from the tribal life of the American Indian to the French republic, that has not literally to make its way through a long series of conflicting interests and bloodshed. The very theory of the dream of science—the survival of the fittest—covers the struggles of countless millions.

Geology is endlessly rich in wondrous evidence that there has been world making going on for illimitable periods of time. And not a whit less marvelous are the interweaving facts of human thoughts, feelings and volitions that have imbedded themselves in the depths of our past humanity. We see them in the ruins of Rome, cities and empires. There is not a single relic from Pompeii, Memphis or Old Mexico but what stands for the past of some throbbing human life pulse.

In science, politics, ethics, literature, philosophy and in religion there has been history-making and history makers. The field is too wide even to touch all its departments. We may select a few of its sections for research, confining ourselves to such points as have a bearing upon some of the problems that confront our efforts today.

To see how history has been made, may do something toward teaching us how history should now be made. For in very deed we also are making the history of the nineteenth century here and now.

During the last forty-five years Utah has written a considerable portion of United States history, and within the last few years completed her record of territorial conditions and started on the journey of Statehood. She blooms with hopes and promises of a future equally great and good. In this very present hour of Utah's civic life in this first session of her State Legislature, Utah is writing the first sentence of her history that is to be. And one cannot but pray that her representatives and senators may be richly endowed with a statesmanship that both shall conceive and effectively accomplish the very magnanimous issues of her manifest destiny.

The next lecture of the course will be given Friday evening, Jan. 31st, by President James E. Talmage, and will be illustrated by specimens, diagrams and stereopticon views. His subject will be "Pictures in the Rocks; the origin and significance of fossils and petrifactions." Tuesday, Feb. 4 Prof. Geo. M. Marshall will speak upon "Our Language." The lectures are held in the laboratory building, on First North street between First and Second West streets, at 8 o'clock. The public are invited and those who come are requested to be seated before the time of commencement of the lecture.

Licensed to Wed.

John T. Hone, aged 42, and Belle C. Davenport, aged 28, both of Bountiful, took out a marriage license today. The following secured a license yesterday afternoon: Stephen M. Theobald, aged 23, and Florence Smith, aged 20, both of this city.

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - JAN. 29, 1896.

Burns's Birthday.

At the celebration of the birthday of Robert Burns at the Union Opera house there was a large gathering of Caledonians. B. H. Roberts, of Salt Lake, was the orator, and his effort was well received. All the musical numbers were in good hands. Mrs. Bessie Dean Allison's O Laddy was Someone's Darling and Ben Bolt were sung very effectively, bringing tears to the eyes of many.

Notes.

We have a gold excitement and crowds are leaving town to prospect the field of the new discovery, which is at the Little Mountain situated east of Plain City and close to the Lake.

The Kiene orchestra, composed of young ladies, left for California yesterday; they have been engaged to play at the Arcadia hotel, in Santa Monica. They will return in the fall.

A marriage license has been issued to Charles Brown, 22, and Ada Heath, 17, both of Ogden.

The case of Bernard Huse the seducer is being investigated by the grand jury.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - JAN. 29, 1896.

A Mysterious Personage.

Monday morning a stranger who had been sleeping for some time in Mr. Johnson's barn in the First ward, was found there without any clothing on except a pair of trousers. He was bleeding from wounds on the head, and appeared to be drunk or sick—the officers thought drunk. In the afternoon he had so far recovered that he could walk up to the jail and he was placed there over night. Next morning he was asked how he came to be found in the condition he was, and could not give any account of himself except that he came from Chicago about eighteen months ago to Colorado and to Utah about six weeks ago. He claimed that he was not drunk, and did not have any idea of where his clothing had gone. The man is about 25 years of age, and gives the name of George Washington. He expressed himself as anxious to obtain a place to work for his board, and told the officers that he had chopped wood for parties around town for his food till the mysterious disappearance of his clothes. Deputy Sheriff Wilkins says he saw the man about a week ago, he then said he had come from Charleston, where he had worked for some clothing and his board, and at that time he had good clothes on.

Notes.

At a meeting of the city council held Monday evening, Mayor Holbrook appointed James Gray, Democrat, policeman, and Eph Homer, Republican, superintendent of waterworks. Both appointments were confirmed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gray, who are living in Mercur, brought in the corpse of their 4 year-old daughter Monday. Funeral services were held in the afternoon in the First ward meeting house.

A marriage license has been issued to Robert T. Banks, aged 24, and Ellen G. Johnson, 24, both of Spanish Fork.

SLEEP TONIGHT.

Stop Insomnia Before it Becomes a Habit.

Neglected, Shabbily Treated Nerves the Cause.

Rev. Doctor Smith at the Age of 86 Loses No More Sleep.

Unbroken Rest Natural to a Fully Nourished Brain

Paine's Celery Compound Has Never Failed to Cure.

From childhood to old age health is very much a matter of sound, refreshing sleep.

No one can digest well, work well, feel well, or be well, who is night after night deprived of good sleep. It is physically impossible for any brain to keep on providing nervous energy unless the nights are devoted to nourishing its used-up parts. Protracted sleeplessness, where no effort is made to feed and calm the irritable nervous system, ends in nervous prostration and insanity.

Today there are far more neuralgic headaches, far more rheumatism, sleeplessness and nervous prostration than during the last generation.

To combat this growing evil, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D. LL. D., of Dartmouth college, made nervous diseases his special study. The fruitful outcome of his long years of professional investigation was Paine's celery compound. Difficult nervous disorders that had persisted despite long treatment, at once yielded to it. Men and women who had suffered for years from broken and unrefreshing sleep, from headaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, found that Paine's celery compound not only speedily cured these troubles, but that they worked better and felt more encouraged than had been possible to them for years.

As a practical instance of what this remarkable remedy is doing all over the country, the following from Rev. Dr. Wm. A. Smith, one of the best known divines in Southern New England, deserves careful reading. Dr. Smith is today 86 years of age, yet enjoys better health than ever in his life, and never loses a single good night's sleep. He writes:

Groton, Conn.

"Dear Sirs—In my early days, by great and prolonged mental suffering, I broke down in health and became a dyspeptic, being obliged at one time to give up my work in the ministry on account of ill-health. I am now 86 years of age, and during my long life have suffered greatly from dyspepsia, torpid liver, constipation and insomnia, at times thinking that I should die for want of balmy sleep, and it is a wonder to me that I am alive today with all that I have been through. I am a wonder to myself, and to those who witness my habits and know my age. I tell them that I try to obey the laws of nature, and that I take Paine's celery compound whenever I need it.

By the use of several bottles of Paine's celery compound, I have so far recovered my health as to consider myself a well man for my age. It regulates the liver, stomach and bowels, without any question. My appetite is now good, my sleep is refreshing, my liver active, and bowels regular, and my crutches not needed, as I can walk without a staff. People are surprised at my improved appearance and activity.

Gratefully yours,

WM. A. SMITH.

Paine's celery compound does not stop its restoring work till new, healthy tissues have taken the place of the old, shattered portions. There is not the deepest, most minute portion of the body, whether it be nerve or brain, or some vital organ, that escapes the rejuvenating, strengthening power of Paine's celery compound. In cases of severe neuralgia, rheumatism, heart palpitation, dyspepsia and nervous feebleness, Paine's celery compound is the only remedy that goes to the root of the trouble, fortifies the weakened system against these disorders and builds up a strong, healthy body.

"Five years ago," says Anna A. Lewis, Rickard, N. Y., "I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after using two bottles was completely cured."

Don't worry. Don't run in debt. Don't trifle with your health. Don't try experiments with medicines. Don't waste time and money on worthless compounds. Don't be persuaded to take a substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the best of blood-purifiers.

ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler boys made a great showing in the Ogden races. The first event of the day was the ten mile road race in which McConahay finished third, taking third prize and third time prize. The same the track race, Joe Beck taking second in the novice. Fowler first, Weber second, and Thatcher third in the mile scratch, class B, all "Rambler" boys will note. In the half mile class A, May took second, Corrie third. Half mile, class B, Thatcher second, Fowler third. Five mile, class B, Fowler second. In this race a man in a yellow suit on his head and fell. Connibear and Weber being immediately behind him, the result was a spill for these parties and the race left to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Rambler event, May taking first, Joe Beck second and McConahay third. Fourteen prizes in one day is glory enough for any one.

People may laugh and people may cry,
And once they scorn it they placate,
But Rambler's win races whatever they go,
