GETTING READY

For The Inaugural Ball of the Chamber of Commerce.

Last evening the committee of the inaugural ball to celebrate the opening of the new Chamber of Commerce premises met and executed the following business.

The invitation committee reported that 1500 invitations would be issued forthwith. Owing to the fact that requests for invitations have been much larger than was expected, it will be necessary to issue a second edition, and the committee has addressed a communication to all members requesting them to send to the secretary names of all persons whom they wish invited, as there are a great many strangers in the city who may be unknown to the committee.

The committee on hall and decorations stated that they would at once put a force of men to thoroughly overhaul the exposition building. All the organizations of both political parties are requested to lend the Chamber of Commerce their club banners.

Mr. Wells, of the committee on music, stated that they had left the matter of hiring musicians to the general committee. He had propositions from two musical organizations, Olsen's orchestra, and the First Brigade band and orchestra at the same terms.

The committee was instructed to engage Olsen's orchestra, which will be supplemented with additional pieces.

The following committees were instructed to have a special meeting on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce:

Florida's Labyrinthian Waterways.

"Where have you been?" said a guest at one of the hotels as a friend walked up the steps, well laden with souvenirs from south Florida.

"Oh!" was the reply, "I've been down to Charlotte harbor and up that river with the innumerable name."

"Calooschatchee?"

"Yes, that's it. I spent six days trying to pronounce it and haven't succeeded yet. These Indian names are beautiful names, but they are desperately hard to pronounce. By the way, where have you been?"

"Well, I went over to the Suwanee river, cut over the country, and shot 'gators on the Withlacoochee, fished for bass in Tsala Apopka, sailed on Thonotosassa, shipped over to Okeechobee, walked by the shores of the Weohyakapka, plucked flowers by Hickpochee's limpid waters, visited the sugar fields on Okahumpka, sailed on the fortunes Kissimmee, was buffeted by the waves of Okeechobee, and have also captured tarpon on the Caloosahatchee. I expect to visit Istokpogaville, Lochapopka, Hatchenocha and Eustochatchee before I leave the state."

"Gosh!" ejaculated his companion, as he stepped into the hotel.—Florida Times-Union.

A Hotel with Key Locks.

The new Hotel Metropole at Brighton has been provided, according to Sir George Chubb's address to the visitors at the Wolverhampton works, with between 500 and 600 locks. Each is said to be different, but a single "master key," as it is called, opens the whole number. There are also, it appears, several sets of sub-master keys. Thus the manager or proprietor of a hotel can have access to every room in the building, but each tenant can only get into his own room, while the officials can each have "master keys" to the particular sets of rooms of which they have charge. The rather stringent views which our judges have taken of hotel keepers' liabilities makes the question of hotel locks more than ever important from the hotel keeper or manager's point of view.—London Tit-Bits.
