MARVELLOUS ESCAPE.

JOHN HANFORD DESCENDS NEARLY 800 FEET ON A SNOWSLIDE.

A special to the NEWS, from Alta, received this morning, says: "Yesterday afternoon, as John Hanford was passing the Emma Hill, on his way from Big Cottonwood to Alta City, he started a snowslide in Stoker Gulch, and was carried 800 feet. His being near the top of the mountain when the slide started undoubtedly saved his life. He escaped with a few cuts and bruises. He stopped within 20 feet of a cliff fifty feet in height."

FOUND DEAD.

B. F. PENDLETON DIES SUDDENLY WHILE HUNTING.

A special to the NEWS, received this afternoon from St. George, says:

"Benjamin F. Pendleton, an old citizen of this place, went out hunting rabbits yesterday afternoon. This morning his family gave notice that he had not returned. A party immediately started in search of him and found his body about a mile from town. Both barrels of his gun were loaded, and no marks of any kind of violence found on the body. He had evidently died of apoplexy."

FATAL ACCIDENT.

MRS. SARAH PETTIT INSTANTLY KILLED.

Yesterday, about noon, Mrs. Sarah Pettit, aged 73 years, who has been mentally deranged for about two years, left her home and wandered some distance below the city. It appears that in the evening, she sat down upon the east side of the Utah Central track. When the freight train due at the depot at 5.35, and which was late, came along, the unfortunate woman was struck by the cowcatcher and thrown into the ditch by the side of the line. Subsequent investigation showed conclusively that she must have been instantaneously killed, the back of the head being broken in. It is more than likely that it was struck by one of the projecting timbers connected with the cowcatcher.

Although it was dark, the engineer, H. W. Russell and also the fireman saw the engine strike an object, and thought it was an animal. The conviction grew upon them, however, that it was a human being, and on arriving at the depot an engine was sent back to the spot, about three miles south, when the body of Mrs. Pettit was discovered in the position already named.

The railroad officials notified Coroner Taylor, who held an inquest on the body, which during the investigation was identified by Blanchard Pettitt, a granddaughter of the deceased. The unfortunate woman had, according to the testimony of the party who identified the remains, lived at the house of Mr. Sanford Abrahams, in the 15th Ward; her demented condition was the result of having been sunstruck.

The investigation developed the fact that no blame for the accident could be attached to the engineer of the train or any other party.

During the inquest four different surgeons were sent for, but it appears none of them were able to attend.

MISSIONARY EXPERIENCE.

INTERESTING DETAILS CONNECTED WITH THE MINISTRY IN THE NORTHWESTERN STATES.

Yesterday afternoon we received a call from Elder William M. Palmer, of Glenwood, Sevier County, just returned from a mission to the Northwestern States, including Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and Ohio, over which field of labor he presides. He left here for that region in April, 1880, having been away a little over a year and a half. During that time 67 persons were added to the Church by baptism, 19 of whom he administered that ordinance to himself.

Although he visited all of the States named, his personal ministry was more especially confined to Michigan. As our readers are aware, he has kept the NEWS informed of his movements up to September. Since that time, however, he has passed through a somewhat varied experience. At Spencerbrook, Isanti County, a company of rough men congregated at a school-house, where he was holding meeting. While he was praying at the opening of the services, these fellows sought to drown his voice by uttering horrible oaths, imprecations and curses. A justice of the peace interfered, however, and succeeded in enforcing order.

After Elder Palmer left the building, he was set upon by the crowd and pelted with rotten eggs until he was covered from head to foot with filth. After the stock of eggs was exhausted, the cowardly ruffians threw stones and clubs at Elder Palmer and a brother named Clements, who was with him.

At Cambridge, in the same county, while meeting was being held in a school house, a number of disturbers brought a large dog to the door, which they kept open. They held the brute and abused it, causing it to keep up a constant howling, in order to disturb the proceedings. After the meeting was dismissed and the congregation had left, Elder Palmer was followed by a crowd who pelted him with dirt and sand. They also made several attempts to throw a lariat over his head, but did not succeed. A lady, not a member of the Church, was struck in the back and injured.

Subsequently Elder Palmer preached several times at the same place without molestation, the Probate Judge having interfered in behalf of good order and fair play.

A week before Elder Palmer left for home, he was forced into a four-nights' discussion with an Adventist preacher. On the fourth night the latter left the house before the proceedings should have terminated, being completely closed up and left without a word to say to sustain his side of the subject.

Just before his departure for Utah Brother Palmer received a letter from Elder M. Anderson, President of the Minnesota Conference, giving an account of a singular circumstance. It appears that, a year ago this fall Elder Anderson, associated with Elder Jacobson, baptized a man and his wife in Minnesota. These people had a boy, about twelve years of age, who was blind from his birth, being barely able to discern light. Last Spring this lad dreamed that Elders Anderson and Jacobson preached the only true gospel, and if he would be baptized by them he should receive his sight. He told his parents and they consented for him to be baptized.

Next day Elders Anderson and Jacobson, who had not been in that part for six months, called that way and baptized the boy. He began to receive his sight from that hour, in accordance with the manifestation given him. In the latter part of the summer, however, he met with an accident, by having a large nail run into his foot, from the effects of which he died in the fall. Shortly prior to his death, being a boy of unusual understanding, he preached to a number of young men and women with such peculiar power and spirit that they were not only astonished, but convinced of the truth of his testimony. As a result of this, when Elders Anderson and Jacobson called at that locality last month seven of the young people who had heard the boy preach made application to them for baptism and they are now members of the Church.

Elder Palmer will continue to preside over the Northwestern States' Mission, and proposes returning to his field of labor in the spring. He says if a number of efficient Swedish and Norwegian Elders can be sent to that part of the country a good work can be accomplished.

If persons in Utah having relatives and friends in any of the States composed in his field of labor, will forward their addresses to Elder Palmer, at Glenwood, Sevier Co., he will take pleasure in sending them to the Elders engaged in the ministry.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, NOV. 19.

Reached Orderville.—President Taylor and party reached Orderville, Kane County, yesterday afternoon. All were well.

Death of a Respected Lady.—We regret to learn that Mrs. Rhoda Richards, of Farmington, wife of Apostle F. D. Richards, died at her residence, either last night or early this morning. The deceased was an invalid for a long time prior to her demise.

We have learned since the above was in type that deceased expired at one a. m., to-day. She was formerly the wife of the late President Willard Richards. Her own family name is Foss.

Church and School Statistics.—Secretary Thomas has taken great pains to make the church and school statistical report from Utah as complete as possible. His correspondence on the subject has been very extensive, he having written no less than 2,000 letters to different parties in relation to it. Where he has not been able to obtain the desired information by other means he has visited different parts of the Territory personally. The result is very satisfactory, as the report from Utah will probably be as complete as from any of the States and Territories. It will soon be ready to forward to Washington.

Prodigious Yield.—We have seen a large number of notices in our exchanges of enormous yields of potatoes to the acre. We learn from Brother Harvey H. Perkins, of a yield that surpasses everything of the kind we have ever heard of. We doubt if it has ever been exceeded in the history of potato cultivation. On a farm owned by H. H. Perkins and Ether Coltrin, and cultivated by M. Mabey, one acre gave a product of 1,076 bushels of fine large Early Rose tubers. In order that there might be no mistake in the matter, the ground and potatoes were measured by four men. Who can beat that?

The ordinary yield at Wood's Cross or Bountiful, this year, on good soil, was about 600 bushels to the acre.

Hurt About the Head.—The Ogden Herald says that:

"Mr. Peter McFarlane, jun., a young man about 22 years of age, brakeman on the C. P. R. R., met with a serious accident at Pequot, Nev., about two o'clock p. m. on Thursday. Mr. McFarlane left Ogden on Wednesday and when the train neared Pequot, he got on the top of a car to put down a brake, just previous to entering a snowshed. He was on the forward car. A blinding snowstorm prevailing at the time prevented him from seeing their proximity to the shed, one of the timbers of which came in contact with his head, knocking him down on the top of the car, where he remained senseless for some time. The train traveled about six miles before he was missed and discovered by the engineer. He was taken to the caboose, and on arriving at Wells, his wounds were dressed. He was placed on the east bound express train and arrived home this morning.

He has an ugly wound on the left side of his head, and the left side of his face and left ear are terribly lacerated. But with proper attention it is thought he will recover in a few weeks."

From North Carolina.—Yesterday we were pleased to meet Elder James H. Moyle, of the 15th Ward, just returned from a mission to the Southern States. He left this city for the field to which he was appointed, on the 1st of July, 1879. He was assigned by President John Morgan to labor in North Carolina. It was hard work to make openings for the gospel in that part of the country at first. In February 1880, President Morgan organized that section into a conference, and appointed Elder Moyle to preside over it. The value of organization became at once apparent, as the work began to prosper more abundantly, and has continued to do so to the present. Elder Moyle visited and traveled in twenty-one counties in North Carolina, and five in Virginia opening new fields for the Elders laboring in connection with him. He baptized seventeen persons during his mission. Last June he and the brethren with him were challenged to a discussion by some Baptist ministers. The challenge was accepted and the Elders were on the spot at the appointed time, but their polemic opponents failed to put in an appearance. Threats of mobbing were made oc-asionally, but were never carried out. The people of that part of the country are represented by Elder Moyle as generally kind and hospitable. When he went there he found but two Elders in the field, and now there are fourteen. Elder Geo. Passey, of Bear Lake Valley, has been appointed to succeed Elder Moyle as president of the North Carolina Conference.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, NOV. 21.

Bad News.—A dispatch received on Saturday, by Mrs. Sarah D. Rich, of this city, stated that Apostle C. C. Rich was not so well as he was a short time back. His condition constantly fluctuates.

Returned Home.—This morning we had the pleasure of meeting Elder Geo. R. Hill, who returned last week from a mission to the Southern States, in charge of a company of Saints from that section. He left Ogden, where he resides, on the 4th of November, 1879, and by appointment of President Morgan, labored about three months in East Tennessee, where ten baptisms occurred during that time, when the door seemed closed again.

He then went to Virginia, laboring in Tazewell, Smith and Bland Counties, where quite a number of additions to the Church occurred. In May, 1880, he went to North Carolina. Subsequently he went to Alabama, where he labored till released to return home. He enjoyed his labors, having been greatly blessed and prospered of the Lord, to whom he gives the credit for whatever good he was enabled to accomplish.

The Temple.—In the NEWS of Friday some observations were published about the Temple. Our informant made an error regarding the distance from the present height of the walls to the square. As previously stated, 13 courses will take them to that point, a distance above the present level of the walls of 18 feet 9½ inches. From the square to the top of the battlements will be 9 feet, making a total of 25 feet 9½ inches. As to what the exact height of the buttresses will be has not yet been definitely determined. They will, however, be from 3 to 4 feet above the battlements. Our attention was directed to this matter by Brother Truman O. Angell, the architect. We regret that the gentleman's health is not so good as desirable, but he still keeps his mind absorbed in his work, to which he is intensely devoted.

AN UNFORTUNATE AFFAIR.

JAMES F. CROWTHER IS UNINTENTIONALLY SHOT BY A FRIEND.

On Thursday, November 17th, about 10 o'clock a. m., a very deplorable mishap occurred about 12 miles north-east of Fountain Green, Sanpete County. A number of young men were out hunting. James F. Crowther, aged 21 years, one of the party, having killed a deer, was in the act of dressing it in a grove of mahogany timber, when William Collard, about 17 years of age came along a short distance above, and seeing something moving in the timber, and thinking it to be a deer, fired; the bullet struck Crowther in the left arm, near the elbow, passed through and entered the hip, and lodged within a quarter of an inch of the surface. The first wound is quite a serious one, as it fractured the bone. The wound in the hip is about four or five inches in length, but no bones in that part are broken. The wounds are quite large, as the shot was fired from a 50 calibre rifle.

Doctor Higgins Davis, of Manti City, was telegraphed for, and arrived about 10 o'clock on Thursday night. He immediately extracted the bullet and set the fractured arm, and the patient is doing as well as could be expected, though he is much weakened by the loss of blood. The two young men are on the best of terms, and are respectable members of the community.

We are indebted for the particulars of the unfortunate affair to Brother Lewis Anderson.
