CRUSHED UNDER STREET CAR

Raphael Grange Loses One Leg And May Lose the Other From Accident.

HOLIDAY IN HONOR OF G. A. R.

Weber County Closes Business on Parade Day—Veterans Made Welcome in Junction City.

OGDEN, Aug. 10.—A shocking accident occurred on Washington avenue near Twentieth street last night at 6 o'clock through which Raphael Grange lost his left foot and may also lose the other.

The man is employed at the Ogden auto garage and was on his way home on a bicycle when the accident happened. He was riding on the street car track and when a car approached from behind he failed to get out until the car was nearly upon him. As he turned out his wheel slipped on the rail and he fell with his feet across the rails. Both legs were run over. The left one was so badly injured that it was necessary to amputate it between the ankle and the knee. The bones in the right one were also broken and the doctors fear it will be necessary to amputate that foot also.
Grange was taken to the Ogden general hospital where Dr. J. W. Paddock attended him, assisted by Dr. F. W. Osgood. Last night he was reported resting easily. He is a young man of 35 years with a wife and one child. His home is at 1741 Riverside avenue.

WEBER COUNTY HOLIDAY.
OGDEN, Aug. 10.—At the session of the board of county commissioners yesterday afternoon it was decided to close all the county offices tomorrow in honor of the big G. A. R. parade in Salt Lake City.
It was ordered that a retaining wall be built at Horse Shoe bend in Ogden canyon at as early date as possible. The Wheelwright Construction company was awarded the contract for the construction of a bridge over Salt creek for the sum of $393.
The request from the Intermountain Fair association for a county horticultural exhibit was referred to Horticultural Inspector Rasmussen and Commissioner Moore, with power to act.
Chairman Madison reported that he had visited the state board of equalization and had protested against the increased tax on sheep in Weber county.
County Assessor Dix reported that there are 50,000 head of sheep grazing in Weber county at the present time. He recommended that if the owners could not produce certificates showing where the sheep were assessed in other counties that they be assessed in Weber county. The usual routine reports were received and filed.

VETERANS MADE WELCOME.
OGDEN, Aug. 10.—Another very largely attended open air concert was rendered at the band stand on city hall square last evening by the Nichols Military band. The streets were brilliantly illuminated and the beautiful and lavish display of bunting upon the buildings upon the main streets gives Ogden a decided holiday appearance.

All the incoming trains bearing the veterans en route to the encampment at Salt Lake City have been met at the depot by members of the local post as well as by members of the citizens' committee. The visitors are urged to get off the train and stretch themselves in the arms of their friends. A musical round of pleasure that awaits them at Salt Lake City. One or two of the delegations yesterday had small drum and pipe bands and they marched around at the depot and played patriotic airs.
About 300 veterans and their friends attending the encampment have secured accommodations in Ogden and spend the night here and the days in Salt Lake. Nothing is too good here for grizzled old warriors wearing the five-pointed bronze star suspended by the little red, white and blue ribbon.

IN THE PROBATE COURT.
OGDEN, Aug. 10.—The will of the late Elizabeth O'Neill was filed for probate in the district court yesterday afternoon by Alma Keyes and Adeline Greaves who are named as executors in the will. The estate is valued at $3,000 with the following named as heirs: John C. Summers and Adeline Greaves, who each receive a third; and Elizabeth Van Doozer and Charles Summers, who each receive a sixth.
In the probate division of the district court Judge E. C. Caswell has filed a petition for letters of administration in the matter of the estate of Francis E. Roche, deceased. There are 16 children who are the heirs in the estate, two of whom reside in England.

JUNCTION CITY BRIEFS.
Information charging Edward Hoven with the crime of grand larceny was filed with the clerk of the district court yesterday afternoon. Hoven was charged with stealing a horse from J. Henderson.
All the victims of the runaway accident of last Wednesday during the circus parade are reported to be recovering and are now out of danger. The condition of Mrs. Ellen Holmes of North Ogden is reported to be much improved.

Toquerville, Utah, Aug. 8th, 1909.
To whom it may concern:
Recently there has been a movement on foot by the residents of Toquerville to pipe water on to the barren and desolate looking grave yard. Many people, former residents of this town, have buried a father, mother, brother, sister, or child there, and we suppose, of course, that they will be glad to be given the privilege of contributing some of their means to assist in defraying the expenses of making this city of the dead look as if our love and respect for and remembrance of the loved ones who have passed before has not entirely faded from our minds. This trial plan has been set on foot in the past, but now it is under fence, the brush has been cleared away, and we desire to pipe the water there, so that shrubby trees, vines, and flowers can be grown.
Any amount you feel like subscribing will be very much appreciated.

NEPHI WOKING FOR ELIMINATION OF SALOONS

(Special Correspondence.)
NEPHI, Juab Co., Aug. 9.—A meeting in keeping with the spirit of the times is called by the Juab county commissioners for this evening when the citizens of Nephi are asked to be present to consider the proper steps to take towards closing the two saloons now being operated in Nephi to the detriment and demoralization of the youth. While a little behind many of the other towns of the state the movement towards the closing of saloons will be none the less vigorously pushed and eventually accomplished. The leading citizens of the town are in perfect accord with this question of the hour and the public sentiment prevails the early closing of the places of vice in this city will soon be accomplished.

BIG DRY FARM CROPS.
NEPHI, Aug. 9.—Very encouraging reports continue to come from the dry farm section following the harvesting and threshing of the wheat crop. There is every assurance of a good crop as last year, which is something remarkable considering the continued dry spell.

NEPHI BRIEFS.
The various school buildings in the district are being repaired and preparation being made for the opening of school early next month. At the Whitmore building the carpenters are installing the school furniture, desks and fixtures preparatory to the opening of the high school in its new home. The trustees are issuing a new school circular which will be ready for distribution soon, announcing the corps of teachers employed for the coming year.
Many Nephi citizens will take advantage of the cheap rates over the Salt Lake Route and attend the G. A. R. encampment at Salt Lake. A special excursion train will be run from Nephi on the 11th prox., leaving here at 6:20 a. m. It is expected that the town will be practically deserted upon that date.

Who's Who and What's What.

In a private, out a captain. Active service from '61 and mustered out in '66. This is a small part of the record of Capt. H. M. Austin, of Birmingham, Ala., custodian of the Masonic temple and a prominent Elk of the southern manufacturing city. A grizzled veteran is Capt. Austin, but he has a springy step and the fire of youth still glows in his dark piercing eyes. Capt. Austin did not care to dwell long on his war experiences, but said: "I enlisted in April, '61, at Davenport, Iowa, and served in the army until March, '65. When Fort Donnellson was taken I was among the first to enter in the memorable dash to gain possession of the works. Yes, I was wounded; shot in the left hand. That was at the battle of Shiloh. When I was mustered out it was captain of L company, Fourth U. S. Cavalry."

A genuine Pennsylvania "Bucktail," among the encampment visitors with a long strip of fur on his hat to signify that he belonged to the Thirtieth Pennsylvania Reserves. His name is Daniel F. Williams.

Col. John Donnellan is participating in the great reunion from Sacramento, Cal., with his old comrades in arms.

G. S. Marks of Winfield, Kas., a veteran of the Ninety-ninth Illinois, and father of Utah State Senator Marks, is at the reunion. T. G. Marks of Prides, Texas, a brother of the senator, is also in town.

Among the veterans here is Lee Glandon who years ago walked from Fort Leavenworth to Salt Lake.

Charles A. Cooley of the One Hundred Eighty-sixth New York Volts, is in the city from Monticello, Utah, his home. He has not seen any of his old comrades since the war.

ENCAMPMENT NOTES.

Only two of the famous Hawkins' Zouaves, the Ninth New York, are here, one of them being Richard Vurke of Denver. This was the only regiment whose members brought their uniforms back home with them from the war. Of the 1,400 original members of the command only 140 are left. Extended military honors were accorded to the Ellsworth Fire Zouaves, the Seventy-fourth New York, or of the famous Billy Wilson Zouaves. The Ellsworth Zouaves, who were out in May, 1863, but participated in suppressing the New York City riots in July, doing effective work.

The section of the New York delegation that came over the Union Pacific had something of an experience in Echo canyon before daylight yesterday morning. Three tough sneaked into the roof of the tourist car, and while the train was in motion, knocked in one or two windows of the car with clubs with the intention of getting and robbing the travelers. An alarm was given and the train was stopped; but the train hands failed to look over the top of the car. A second attempt was made and the train stopped a second time, when the toughs managed to make their escape.

The First Arkansas Cavalry has five representatives here.

The Lyndonville, Vt., band has made an excellent impression by its fine playing on the streets. This organization is an old timer, the members having been together for many years. In explanation of the fact that none of the more notable bands of the state are present, it is urged that it would have cost more money than was at command to have brought these organizations along. So the Vermonters have the distinction of having the only band organization to come from east of the Missouri. They are all business men.

An old time newspaper man is with the Missouri delegation, in Calvin K. Reifelder, commander of the Ransom post of St. Louis. He served in the One Hundred Sixty-second Ohio volunteers, and for 38 years has figured in the journalistic field. He is editor of an agricultural journal named "Farm Machinery" and president of a publishing company. The Ransom post is here in its entirety, the only full post to be present from the state. Considering that Missouri was half Union and half rebel, Mr. Reifelder thinks it has done well in being so well represented here.

Thomas B. Rogers represents the famous One Hundred and Eighty-eighth New York, the command that went into the battle of Hatcher's Run wearing straw hats. The lady friends of the regiment at home thought it was terrible that the boys had to sweat under cloth hats in that hot, southern climate, so they "chipped in" and bought straw hats for them. These hats at once attracted the attention of the rebel artilleryists, with the result that the regiment was cut to pieces—in fact almost destroyed.

The Union Pacific band of Ellis, Kansas, is with the Kansas delegation. The organization has with it 21 men, shop hands, train hands and operating men living at the division terminal. E. G. Pierson, a passenger train engineer, is the bandmaster, and S. L. Hamilton is drum major. The band is clad in a neat uniform, and the way it played on the streets this morning showed it to be an organization of high attainment. The serenades given the "News" was appreciated. The Kansas delegation came west with 12 coaches.

The San Pedro is running specials to Garfield where G. A. R. visitors may see the working of the big smelter plant there. The Rio Grande is issuing an attractive folder, giving information as to excursion rates to the many places of scenic attraction along that line in this state.

After a lapse of forty years, J. W. Lynch of Utah and John Neale of Arizona, comrades through the war, met yesterday on east Second South street. They threw themselves into each others' arms when they first recognized each other and wept. For four years they fought side by side, spilled their blood together on the same field and were mustered out of company A, First Arkansas volunteers at Fayetteville, Ark., in 1865. They separated at that time and had not seen each other since, although they have attended the same encampments before.

The W. R. C. headquarters is located on the Parlor floor of the Kenyon, and presents a most busy scene. The first meeting of the organization is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when an informal gathering will be held, following which reports will be received. On Thursday and Friday evenings
