OGDEN, - - SEPT. 26, 1899.

ANOTHER SALOON TRAGEDY

Charles Wessler Dies as a Result of Injuries Received from Thomas Topham.

Ogden City Council—County Affairs—District Court—Tabernacle Fair Closed.

For some time Ogden has been free from any tragedy, but the quietude of the city was changed on Sunday morning at about 1:30, when in the saloon on 25th street, the proprietor, Tom Topham, and Charles Wessler (he says Swedish, but the name is German) had a quarrel, the result of which Wessler now lies in the cold grave of death and Topham is undergoing parole. There are various reports around as to the cause of the trouble; by some it is claimed that Wessler came to the saloon partly intoxicated and chaged Topham, calling him the names, and call Topham liard, a game liard, a good card, and hence gave him a threat-ening look. It is reported that Wessler came to collect a little coin, owing his so had against Topham, and that he produced a pistol and said it is the same, and that Topham asked Wessler to set up the drinks, which he did, and at about afternoon gave him a second round and Topham freely stocked Wessler, knocking him to the floor and jumped upon him and stamped him severely. Wessler, after getting up from the floor, went home and went to bed, but was unable to get up again. He Conroy was sent for and pronounced Wessler as suffering from congestion of the brain, and accordingly so. He died early yesterday afternoon at 4:30 (Mark when he breathed his last. Sheriff Hall was notified of the affair, and on a warrant of arrest was placed in his hands, having been sworn in by Justice of the Peace Joseph Hall, charging Thomas Topham with murder. The warrant was served on Topham at his saloon, and he was placed under arrest and taken to the county jail, where he will be held for preliminary hearing in Justice Hall's court in Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. J. C. Hurlbut has posted bond in the sum of $500 to the city jail to await the trial of Topham, as one of the acting witnesses. Mark Wessler was a young man about 21 years of age, a German by birth. He leaves a wife and one child. He has been in the city now nearly two years, now in Ogden for several years, and has during that time gained many friends who speak in the highest terms of praise of him as a business man and a companion. The affair has caused considerable excitement throughout the city.

Wessler shows a severe blow on the side with towards the back, and on his head, also a scratch, on his right temple, and his face was bruised considerably. It is one of the most tragic affairs that has blighted Ogden for a long time.

Connors Murder Trial Now On—Payson Disturbance—Other Weddings.

Special Correspondence.

Provo, Sept. 25.—The trial of Connors for the murder of Officer William Stewart in June last was called yesterday morning in the Fourth District court. Great difficulty was experienced in getting a jury, which was not completed until 5 o'clock p. m. The evidence, upon which the State expects to hang the life of the crime, is purely circumstantial. The web of evidence has been closely drawn around Connors, and it is thought that it will be hard for him to escape conviction.

COURT BUSINESS.

The following business was transacted in the court yesterday:

Estate of Ezra Harper, deceased: final report of administrator and petition for distribution to parties thereto, and order of distribution was made.

Estate of John A. H. Owen; Charles L. Owen appointed administrator with bonds at $[illegible]. C. Clarke, E. H. Harris and J. H. Owen were appointed appraisers.

DIVORCE CASES.

In the case of Jane Chilton vs Isaac Chilton, divorce, the defendant failing to be represented, the evidence was heard and the court granted the divorce.

Myra S. Bray today commenced suit against Mark S. Bray, asking for a divorce on the ground of desertion. The plaintiff asks for the custody of the one minor child.

SUIT ON PROMISSORY NOTES.

James E. Cowan has instituted suit against Frank F. Finlayson and E. H. Harper, to collect $[illegible] and interest at the rate of 12 per cent, on the promissory notes given by the defendants to W. F. Laugher by the defendants, and turned over to plaintiff. The plaintiff asks for judgment for the above amount and $[illegible] attorney fees.

ANOTHER DETACHMENT SUIT.

Another detachment suit has been filed in the fourth district court. Cliff Gibbons is the plaintiff, and the defendants are Joseph Gibbons, et al. Value of property involved, $[illegible].

The city tax collector reported total expended on 26 days for September, and he turned over to the recorder. Accepted.

To Think Well Means

Success

Healthy Brains

ARE MADE BY

Grape-Nuts

THE STUDY OF FOOD.

When a man knows that he depends on food alone from which to make his brains and that his success in life is entirely owing to the kind of brains he has it would seem the part of wisdom to study food a little.

All men do not have the opportunity to make a careful statistical study of the subject and are therefore not able to have the food experts attend to this for them.

A food specially made to supply the nourishing elements needed to rebuild the brain and nerve centres bears the name Grape-Nuts, and its use for ten days or two weeks produces a sturdy, substantial and powerful condition of the thinking machinery, enabling one to do things, to make money or succeed in whatever enterprise is reasonably undertaken.

Dyspepsia, bowel troubles, constipation, nervous prostration, insomnia, etc., are unknown to those who use Grape-Nuts. Their energy shows in the user and being in the form of a delicious food, they have become a valuable addition to the table of living people in all parts of the country.

TODAY'S TRIAL OF CONNORS.

Special per Deseret Telegraph.

Provo, Sept. 26.—When court opened this morning on the second day of trial of Frank Connors, the jurors and a number interested spectators present, heard the ruling behind the scenes for the defendant and the fame of the deceased officer added to their interest. All witnesses were ordered from the court room when not on the witness stand.

Colonel Attorney King made his opening remarks to the jury, outlining the territory which the prosecution intended to delineate by the witnesses for the State. He explained a map of the local streets and the state of the moonlight, which would be used in the testimony.

M. M. Warner for the defense gave the line of defense, which was that he will endeavor to prove that Morris, who escaped from the county jail, was the man who killed Officer Stewart, unknown with and never had anything to do with Connors, who left the station and was in bed and innocent of the murder.
