Do You Take A RIDE?

No more pleasant ride can be found anywhere than that to the suburbs Southeast of Salt Lake City. If you drive, ride horse back, or use a bicycle, the nicely sprinkled roads afford continual pleasure. The popularity of the East Boulevard is attested by the hundreds of wheels and thousands of people that daily throng it.

Why not combine business with pleasure? If you buy a home in Forest Dale, you can enjoy the ride to and from your residence that hundreds are anxious to take for pleasure alone.

What is more invigorating during these warm days than a ride on an open electric car? Try it early any morning or after your work in the evening; and then if you wish a home, buy in Forest Dale. By doing so you can enjoy the canyon breeze, and still be near your work. Can have water belonging to yourself piped to your door and still not pay city taxes. Can have the benefit of good schools, and of pleasant associations, and yet have none of the smoke and discomfort of residence in a city.

Inducements to build. Small payments and long time at low interest will be allowed desirable parties.

Call at Cannon's office, 335 Constitution Building, and get plat and prices.

AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. Richards, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been in nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am frank in my opinion that this valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are low in price, and produce profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and solicit those seeking pleasant and profitable homes to locate in this country."

The Utah Commission.

It was late yesterday afternoon when the members of the Utah commission got down to business, all the members except Commissioner Thatcher being present. The general progress of the registration was reported as satisfactory all over the Territory. One additional polling place was ordered at each precinct in Salt Lake City, and Registrar Conn was instructed to arrange for suitable polling places in each precinct, as near the center of population as may be. As to Emery and Carbon counties, the vote on constitutional delegates will be taken jointly, as the two counties are entitled to three delegates between them. This arrangement is necessary owing to the fact that Carbon county was created after the enabling act was introduced. The necessary places for election were ordered and the county courts instructed to furnish two ballot boxes for each poll. Commissioners Lercher and Sherman were appointed as a committee to prepare instructions for the judges of election. The rate of compensation for copying the registration lists was agreed upon and the accounts of County Registrar Conn were approved.

Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation of the Bell Gold Mining & Milling company, with a capital stock of $1,000,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $5 each, were filed with the county clerk last evening. The object of the company is the buying and selling of mining property, furnishing mills with steam and water power, doing custom work and reducing their own ores. The establishment will be at Osceola, Nevada, with offices in this city. Following are the names of the incorporators, with the number of shares of each:

F. Rehrman, 25,000; George Peal, 25,000; E. C. Howell, 19,000; William Schade, 19,000; W. W. Phillips, 19,000; J. M. Howell, 5,000; W. H. Hofheimer, 2,000; W. M. Bixby, 2,000. All are of Salt Lake except Mr. Peal, who resides at Osceola.

"College Chums"—Or Otherwise?

On behalf of Charles Frohman, Attorney Barlow Ferguson has filed the promised suit against Manager O'Malley of the Lyceum theater in this city. The complaint charges Mr. O'Malley with pirating the play Charley's Aunt, written by Brandon Thomas, of London, the American rights to which are owned by Mr. Frohman. It is alleged that the play College Chums, which has been lately holding the boards at the Lyceum, is almost identical with Charley's Aunt, a few changes having been made in it with a view of evading the copyright law. The petitioner, therefore, prays that a restraining order be issued preventing the representation of the play; that Mr. O'Malley be required to give an accounting of the profits during the time the play has been running, and that he pay $1,000 damages.

Chief Justice Merritt has issued a temporary restraining order and ordered that the hearing on order to show cause why a permanent injunction shall not issue be had on September 15th.

THE LOST TRIBES.

A LECTURE BY A LUTHERAN CLERGYMAN ON THE SUBJECT.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

The first of a series of lectures was given yesterday by Rev. J. H. Allen in the German Lutheran church on Mission street, between Fifth and Sixth streets. His text was from the 49th chapter of Genesis, 1st verse: "And Jacob called unto his sons and said: 'Gather yourselves together that I may tell you that which shall befal you in the last days.'" Following this verse are the prophecies to the twelve tribes and the special promise made to Joseph that his people shall inherit a double portion.

The lecturer said he intended to show that the prophecies made 4,000 years ago have been fulfilled in this our own age. When Jacob was dying Joseph took his two sons, half Egyptians to his deathbed. Jacob, being told they were there, said: "Who are these with you?" for he was blind. Joseph said: "These are my two sons, Ephraim and Manasse." Jacob adopted them and said: "Ephraim and Manasse are mine, the same as Simeon and Reuben," giving thus the birthright to Joseph's sons. Jacob, although blind, was inspired by divine power to discern between Joseph's sons, Ephraim and Manasse, who were brought to him strangers and unknown. He crossed his hands above them.

"Guiding his hands wittingly," as the scriptures say, and thus placed his right hand on the left child. Joseph, seeing this, said to him: "You have blessed my youngest child." He answered: "I know it, my child," and when Joseph wished him to remove his hand to his first born, he said: "Not so; Manasse shall indeed be a great people, but Ephraim shall become a multitude of nations."

After the revolt of Ephraim, in the days of Rehoboam, the ten tribes were called the House of Israel, and the two others, Levi and Judah, the House of Judah. Israel was lost and unidentified, while Judah was well known. The prophecy was that Israel should become the strongest power on earth and Judah without might.

"The theory," said the speaker, "that the ten lost tribes of Israel have been found in the Anglo-Saxon race is a question which is rapidly forcing itself to the front in religious circles. This is so in view of the fact that prophecy teaches that when the 'House of Judah,' or Jewish people return to Palestine they are to be accompanied by their brethren of the 'House of Israel,' whose identity among the nations has remained so long undiscovered. The subject is intensely interesting alike to Jewish and Christian people.

"For many years devout minds, with a view toward vindicating Biblical historic prophecy, have been engaged in investigations that have yielded continuous streams of light from sacred and secular history, chronology, astronomy and numerous other sources. Scores of men eminent in the realms of religious, historical, scientific, ethnological and philological research have pursued their inquiries unceasingly, and at last have discovered that the Anglo-Saxon race possess all the distinguishing marks whereby prophecy declares the lost tribes are to be finally identified and recognized by themselves."

Fatal Mine Accident.

A fatal accident occurred on Tuesday afternoon in the Bobtail mine at Central City, Colo., which caused the instant death of Mr. E. Reed, the general manager and superintendent of that property. He had been examining the property through what is designated as No. 5 shaft, in company with W. S. Forbes and Edward B. Kirby, mining experts, who arrived in Black Hawk on the morning's train. After examination of the working of the seventh level, the two latter got into the bucket, Mr. Reed stepping onto the rim of the same. The bucket and three men arrived safely at the collar of the shaft. For some reason unknown, Thomas Quinn, the brakeman could not stop it. The bucket ascended, striking the sheave, eighteen feet above. Mr. Reed fell away to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of 535 feet, landing on top of his head on a trolley with such force as to bend the axles. Forbes and Kirby escaped without injury. Mr. Reed had for a long time been connected with the Gregory and Bobtail mines. He is well known in Denver, where he has placed a number of mining schemes upon the market.

Engineer Carlisle Laughead, wishing to try his luck at fishing, and desiring some bait for that purpose, stationed a boy on the cowcatcher of the engine on the way up to the front of the Oregon Pacific with a large sack, the mouth of which was distended with a hoop. As the grasshoppers would rise before the engine, flying to one side, the boy would hold out the sack and scoop them in, thus being able to swoop down upon the unsuspecting hoppers with the power and swiftness of steam. He gathered in a half bushel or more. With those fat grasshoppers Mr. Laughead succeeded in luring from the placid waters of French creek 302 speckled beauties to attest his prowess as a fisherman.—Albany (Or.) Herald.
