

CHAMPION GANS AS A TRICKSTER

Has Retired to Let the Other
Lightweights Scramble
Among Themselves.

WILL MEET BEST OF THEM.

Says There Is No Use Going Around
The Country Breaking His Hands
On a Lot of Dubs.

Joe Gans, who "retired" as the recognized champion lightweight of the world, has proved to be just as good a trickster as a boxer. After the Baltimorean beat Nelson at Goldfield Sept. 2, 1906, there was no one else in sight eager for the title of champion, who, according to Gans' idea, could draw a profitable gate. So he put Kid Herdman and Jimmy Britt away in big time trials along with George Menzies for 20 rounds, of course winning the decision, and then retired.

While in New York last week Gans said: "Of course I retired. What is the use of a champion who is 33 years of age and who has been fighting for 17 years, going around the country breaking his hands on a lot of dubs? Let Packey McDaniel, Jack Blackburn, Packey Gardner and all the other aspirants for the title get together and prove which is the best man. Then show me the coin and I will take a chance at the winner. You know there is a national prejudice against the negro, and for that reason I have always kept in the background, challenged no one, but have been ready and willing to defend the title. I am the legitimate 135-pound champion of the world, and the man who meets me must make that weight."

Of the three men named by Gans, McDaniel is the only one whose work is yet to be judged by Quaker City sports. Efforts are being made to get Gardner and Blackburn together in that city. If it succeeds before 1908, a national prejudice against the negro, and for that reason I have always kept in the background, challenged no one, but have been ready and willing to defend the title. I am the legitimate 135-pound champion of the world, and the man who meets me must make that weight."

JACK O'BRIEN BARS
FAKERS FROM CLUB

Self-confessed faker Jack O'Brien, should argue the following rules in his new fighting club house in Philadelphia:

"1. Any one, boxer, second or spectator, who uses the word 'fake' in this club house will be ejected and permanently barred."

"2. Any boxer so lost to all sense of respect, and so forgetful of the glorious traditions of his profession as to double-cross an opponent, after having agreed to a drawn battle, will not receive a cent of the purse, and will not get another match at this club."

"3. Contestants who enter into a private agreement as to the outcome of a bout that is at variance with the published articles of agreement must notify the referee 10 hours before entering the ring so that a 'business' conference can be held previous to the event. By strictly adhering to this provision boxers will avoid embarrassment growing out of being at cross-purposes with the referee."

"4. Any man who agrees to feign a knock-out in a specified round must rehearse the same in the presence of the referee 10 hours before the bout in order that both men may be perfect in their parts."

"5. No boxer who is so clumsy in his methods as to give rise to a newspaper charge of 'fake' will again be employed at the club. None but artists will be permitted to work here."

RACE TOMORROW NIGHT.

Lawrence Vance and "Tuff" Mumford

Principals in Mile Contest.

A mile roller skating race that promises to be exciting is scheduled to take place at the Auditorium rink tomorrow evening between Lawrence Vance and "Tuff" Mumford. The rivalry between these two speedy skaters is decidedly keen and it is quite probable that the mile record will be broken. Some time ago Mumford had a narrow victory over Vance, but he did not get a square deal and immediately challenged Mumford for a return race. They agreed to race a mile at the Richards street rink for the

Severe Pains

When a prominent nerve is affected, the pain is severe. It is called neuralgia. It may be in either the head or body. Relief comes only when this nerve trouble is overcome. By its soothing and strengthening influence upon the nervous system Dr. Miles' Nerveine removes the cause.

"It was about two years ago that I was taken down with what the doctors claimed was neuralgia, and some called it lightning rheumatism. Sharp pains would go from one place to another, mostly in my head, and they would last two or three days before I could get relief. During these spells I would be so nervous that I hardly knew what I was doing. When the pains were so severe and exhausting that my husband would have to steady me when walking, and my heart would palpitate, and in a day or two I would feel better. Just as soon as I would express myself the very next day I would have a spell of neuralgia. I have taken lots of doctors' medicine, but it did not do me any good. My aunt kept writing me to just try Dr. Miles' Nerveine, and I am thankful that I was persuaded to do so, for the Nerveine has cured me—has driven it out of my system."

TAFT AND FORAKER.

Decision to Recognize Taft Committee

Results in Suit for Injunction.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 5.—As a result of the decision by the Republican state central committee to recognize the Taft committee in Cuyahoga county, followed by a telegram from Secy. of State Taft, has been seriously involved in the money stress and banking troubles.

So far as known, Morse had no pressing engagements which would keep him in the city just now. The New York county grand jury has been investigating the local banking situation and some of the transactions which are alleged to have helped to make possible the recent crisis of financial calamities. Morse has appeared before the jury to give that body such information on the situation as he possessed.

Arthur Brain, private secretary to Mr. Morse, said tonight:

"I have not seen Mr. Morse since one day last week. I do not know where he is. I know nothing about the reports which have been circulated about his probable whereabouts, and I could not help anybody to find him."

Mr. Morse was called to testify before a referee in December and January in regard to a loan of $200,000 which he obtained from the Knickerbocker Trust company in October, 1906, through the medium of the cashier of the National Bank of North America.

The referee's report on this loan was filed with Justice Clark in the bankruptcy court in Richmond two weeks ago, and there has been no ruling on it to date.

Mr. Morse has not been seen in the financial district this week, but a close friend is authority for the statement that he saw him Monday and that Mr. Morse told him at the time that he intended to go to Europe. No steamer called for Europe on Monday and Morse is not on the list of any steamer sailing today or tomorrow.

Troubles have been piling thick and fast on Morse ever since last October. He was involved in the unsuccessful corner in United Copper stock engineered by F. Augustus Heinze, which marked the beginning of the panic. When the corner went to pieces, United Copper stock came crashing down. It was reported that Mr. Morse had sold out the other members of the pool and had caused the slump. As the stock and bonds of the Consolidated Steamship undertaking also declined with sensational rapidity, when the corner failed, it is a question just what part the Morse transaction played in the affair. The failures of Otto Heinze & Company and of Gross and Kieberg were soon announced.

ARCHITECT HUSTON.

Practically Turns State's Evidence in Pennsylvania Capitol Case.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 5.—Architect Joseph M. Huston, who was turned over to the state's evidence by proxy against his state's evidence, Contractor Sanderson, former Auditor-Gen. Snyder, former state Treasurer Mathews and former Public Buildings Supt. Shumaker, in the trial for conspiracy today in the Dauphin county court.

Through his assistant, Stanford B. Lewis, the architect, who remained in seclusion in his room at a hotel near the courthouse and was accessible only to his lawyer and confidential friends, has damaging testimony against Sanderson and the former state officers.

Judge Kunkel dispensed with tomorrow's session to allow one of the jurors to attend the funeral of his brother's child.

FEDERATION OF LABOR

FAVORS THE PEAIR BILL.

Washington, Feb. 5.—In addressing the house judiciary committee today on the Peair bill, the purpose of which is to regulate the issuance of restraining orders and injunctions, and to limit the meaning of the word "conspiracy" in certain cases, T. C. Spelling, representing the American Federation of Labor, declared that he believed that if Secy. Taft were in position to study the conditions of labor and the abuses by courts, he would go to the bottom of the trouble and make recommendations that would remedy the evils. This statement was brought out by a question asked by Daniel Davenport, Bridgeport, Conn., who attended the hearing to represent certain property interests.

"I want to say that the American Federation of Labor, the greatest organization body of labor in this country," said Mr. Spelling, "favors the Peair bill in its entirety. At two of its annual sessions it has passed on it. The purpose of the bill is to top off abuses practiced in dealing with labor. That these abuses do exist, such men as President Roosevelt and Secy. Taft have recognized."

"Mr. Taft suggested that notice be given," said Mr. Littlefield.

"Yes, but unless it was for six months, I do not see what good it would do us," declared Mr. Spelling.

"Have you read the recent decisions of the supreme court?" asked Mr. Davenport. "The ones that caused the president to issue his last message?"

"No, I have not, but I know that the president and Mr. Taft are aware of abuses to labor. The attitude of Secy. Taft should be more satisfactory than that of most public men in that he speaks without reserve or ambiguity and tried to find the proper remedy. No doubt, if he were where it became his duty, he would go to the root of the trouble and make the proper recommendations."

Mr. Spelling stated that he did not believe that any reputable laboring man would do away with the injunction altogether.

Hugh R. Fuller of Beaver, Pa., representing the Association of the Railway Trainmen, Engineers and Firemen, declared that he was sorry a hearing had been given for the reason that he thought it was useless. The matter, he said, had been thrashed over many times, and the records make volumes.

"Action is what we desire," he said; "we have been heard by committees of three Congresses."

CREDITORS AFTER CHARLES W. MORSE

They Attach the Home and Property of the New York
Ice King.

HIS WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN.

Not Seen Recently in Financial District and He May Have Gone To Europe.

New York, Feb. 5.—Charles W. Morse, organizer of the American Ice company, and the Consolidated Steamship company, could not be seen tonight regarding the court actions instituted against him today. He was not at his town house here, it was said, and it could not be learned that he was either in Boston or at his home at Bath, Me.

His creditors today attached his property in this city, including his residence at No. 725 Fifth avenue, in a suit begun by Charles A. Hanna, national bank examiner, as receiver of the National Bank of North America, which Morse controlled.

In the papers on which the attachment was granted, it was stated that Morse had "probably left for Europe or departed elsewhere from New York within the last few days."

A judgment by default for $155,753 in another suit was also entered against him today.

Morse, whose wide embracing operations in the business world had made him one of the most prominent of financial men, has been seriously involved recently, consequently the money stress and banking troubles.

So far as known, Morse had no pressing engagements which would keep him in the city just now.

S.S.S. REMOVES BLOOD HUMORS

Itching, disfiguring eruptions, rashes, boils, etc., as well as pimples, black-heads and rough, scaly skin, show the presence of some irritating humor in the blood. These acids and humors with which the blood is infected are being constantly thrown off through the pores and glands of the skin, and the flesh is kept in an inflamed, diseased and unsightly condition. Nothing applied externally can change the condition of the blood or prevent the outflow of these burning acids; only constitutional treatment can do this. Washes, salves, lotions, etc., cannot reach the humor-laden blood, and are therefore useless, except for the temporary comfort and cleanliness they afford. The acid poison in the blood must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. is a real blood purifier, possessing all the requirements necessary to neutralize and remove the humors from the circulation. It completely eradicates every trace of impurity and restores the vital fluid to its natural healthy state. S. S. S. cools the acid-heated blood so that instead of pouring out acid matter on the skin, it feeds and nourishes it with health-sustaining properties, and then the eruptions and diseases of the skin pass away. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free.
