KICKING THE PIGSKIN.

Varsity Team Plays a Stiff Game, but Only Secures a Goose Egg.

PRESIDENT KINGSBURY FAVORS FOOTBALL

Interviewed in Behalf of University Athletics—Maidens Who Play Basket Ball are Discouraged—General Notes.

With every chance with defeat the University boys met the football team of the city High School yesterday afternoon. Nevertheless the fact that the "Varsity" team was organized this year or rather that it had not played for two years, and though they had been practicing for only seven days before the game, they held their places the two Romans and handled the ball creditably will undoubtedly cheer their friends. Indeed, so closely did the greater part of the game continued, but by four, that the interest among the large crowd of spectators was intense when it was over. Whatever praise was made in the High School it was as a rule due to the fact that it was a hard work on the part of the University team.

The final official score was 11 to 4, giving the University part of the crowd the exact number of the High School's score, and the score was 4 to 4. Indeed this was an unfortunate and generally unjust verdict, decided during the last part of the first half. The ball was in the High School hands, and the game was very near the High School goal, but a few minutes before time the ball was called and the Varsity boys were given their choice of kicking or taking a scrimmage. Some were almost for taking the scrimmage, but the majority, including the captain, thought it better to kick, and the ball was kicked over the goal line, and was called back and we hear it called, if another goal for the University team, and the ball was given to the University team, and the ball was given to the University team.

The University campus is now in an absolute perfect condition. A layer of sawdust covers the ground, and the recently attacking L. T. is long and well and very comfortably surrounded by a fence. The University team is looking for a long row of "spectators." The ground is almost wholly free from rocks and is a nearly perfect gridiron. It is the finest and a perfect paper's paradise. The campus, however, will not be the home of the football team, as it was in the University authority do not take pay.

The Scientific Society, namely—each of the latter result of double program was to the University. The experiments will be given in the Society's rooms, Academy of Fine Arts, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. In order to be more prominent work of the State and scientific name from the people of the state, without the students, Friday evening, an opportunity of general work, so that the students may learn the results of the best works outside of the University. Special attention will be given to new working on lines for student organization and plans for carrying on the work of the society. Friday evening the social hour will be spent in the general assembly. A popular entertainment of experts from this office.

The managers of the Society will give a course of lectures during the winter, beginning November 30. Walter Anderson are expected to attend these lectures. The society will spend an hour for the benefit of the people. Every evening after that Friday will be devoted to the society. The society will give the people of the city an extraordinary opportunity of hearing special lectures by the University. The scientific society is now in the process of the leading educational institutions of the world.

The ball to be given at Chittenden's next Friday evening, November 18th, promises to be a very pleasant affair, and will undoubtedly be very successful. The University is a strong organization, the committee in charge of the ball is a skilled student with the exception of one by any of the student committee. A few years ago the balls of the Delta Phi society were so popular that attendance some were unable to attend because the room of the hall was full. Notice of the ball was called number of tickets will be sold so that it will not be crowded. There will be about 100 tickets, and the society will be glad to see their friends, as some from any and the members of the fraternity.

The Delta Phi Fraternity have tendered Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Edmonds and Mr. Hoffman a dinner at Chittenden's next Friday evening, November 18th. These are now instructors in the University. Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Hoffman were members of the old Delta Phi society. After considering the matter they have decided to join. They are each interested in the work, and will greatly advance the standard of the fraternity. All, indeed, have promised to be with the society. The society has far have been exceedingly and attended, and the organization is truly a fraternity.

An interesting collegiate contest was made a part of the program of the student interested in oratory. The idea is to have the four colleges of the State, the B. Y. College at Provo, the B. Y. and A. C. College of Logan and the University, form this organization, and meet once a year for a public contest in oratory given by college students of these institutions. The feasibility and desirability of the plan is not questioned, and it will undoubtedly be carried out, though probably contests in athletics will be given at the same time, so that the physical and intellectual may go hand in hand. The question will be a matter of discussion at the near future before the Delta Phi Fraternity, the society of College Women, and the Athletic association.

Two years ago there was an effort to get an intercollegiate debate. Nothing was progressing well when a radical student, believing that contests are bad in both moral and intellectual effect, got up a petition against it. In going to the large number of college students, and the interest in the matter and who formed the larger part of the student body, he obtained a sufficient number of signatures to overthrow the undertaking.

Again last year an effort was made to arrange a debate between the University and normal and preparatory students of Brigham Young Academy, and those of a similar grade at the U. of U. Debate at Provo. This too failed, but not through any fault on the part of the University students.

But this year by working on a different plan it is expected that intercollegiate contests will resume such a situation that hereafter the people will expect them every year. It is surprising that these contests have not existed before, for they are so important an element in college life.

A public meeting of this year's senior and graduating class has been arranged for Friday evening, November 18. The program will be made up of literary and musical parts.

Mr. Reynolds addressed the Beta Gamma society last Thursday evening on the subject of poetry. He gave the boys a good understanding of the art of poetry and rendered some of the best poetry in English literature.

Chapel exercises were conducted one week by Rev. Alfred H. Bennett, pastor of the Baptist church. Next week it will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Bentham of the Baptist church. It will be remembered that Mr. Bentham delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating students of last year.

At chapel last week Rev. Mr. Fisher of the Presbyterian church, spoke on Monday, in which set forth the truth. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Rev. Mr. Bentham, Every thought, word, and deed of which has left a lasting impression on the minds of the students. Thursday, High school, and all will and well. Friday, Faith is full of dreams, and in his dreams he sees God.

President Kingsbury has plans for additions and improvements of University buildings. They contemplate a new building to be erected somewhere near the present main building and west building. The new building is to be a home for gymnasium, art and class room, museum, ship for work in wood and iron and a lecture room for the school of mines, and a meteorological laboratory. Mr. Kingsbury thinks this building would cost in round figures, $50,000. The west building, it can be done, it will take up part of the west and the addition, and the remainder of the west building, and the plans are also for the finishing of the upper floor of the west building, which cannot be never done now. It is hoped to do this now. In the plans for the redecorating and improvements of the University building, the beautiful work will be provided. After Dr. Kingsbury has made some additions in the plans he will be presented to the building committee of the board of regents for final action.

The directors, Prof. Carey, and his associate, Mr. Cline, of Salt Lake, have been very busy the last week in recording new books just received. Books to the amount of $150 have been added to the library department, and a large order for the reading school department.

An annual social entertainment in the University hall, Friday, that relic, which has been quite exciting, disorded only to the student living in a room and locked up in a stuffing cabinet with the exception of dire threats. It is something the was recently a surprise to the students, and it is said that it will be a good stranger read something from a brick, curiously bound volume, the attention of the student, and carried the curiosity of all. It had discovered in an old chest, which was being ransacked by the students of King Philip II of Spain. The old antique declared: "Drive a blind academy, drive to Paris and get a pair of the prices of Alex. a complimentary of the star." A prince can do nothing more shocked or more harmless than a speech, than to permit his people to live according to their conscience." Mr. Reynolds, addressed the students, so wonder that music is today a course singing.

Mr. Alvin Hodgson, B. S. '97, is studying philosophy at Leland Stanford Jr. University. Mr. Hodgson was a teacher at the High school last year.

Mr. David O. McKay, N-emal '97, is now president of the Scottish mission.

The article on Saturdays and Sundays in the last Chronicle by Brigham Edmonds, has been read with great interest and good, healthful results.

November 19 and 20 will be Thanksgiving week at the University. After two months of hard work, it will be much appreciated by the students.

HIGH SCHOOL.

It was with a glowing sport of realization that the boys reported at High school yesterday. Not a single pupil left the University campus the scene of yesterday's victory and the boys were in the best of extraordinary participation. Vinnie was there, and they showed it. Though the boys were in the best of spirits, the events cheering during the game, the joy of victory seemed to come from the heart of the University. Indeed, the University students, each dressed with colors and and black, their school colors, and the University colors of the great building, in who they sounds through relatively. The large crowd of the University, a victorious array from a scene of conquest, and the football boys, the heroes of the day, received a hearty perstitution and Ave, were borne home as a spirit of rejoicing follows. The people of All Hallows College, High school, and the University are similar in their sides. They will hold the score of "Hohenlinden" and the last game will be with the Ogden High school on the 19th of this month—the second of a series of games.

After the football trophy was formally presented to the High school, it was placed in Principal Clark's office. But immediately a general spirit of disorganization and discomfort arose among the public, as a result the cup will be placed on the wall of the assembly room, where it may be seen by all the pupils.

It is much to be regretted that the High school with such a strong team for athletics has no campus. With the backing of athletics it would be easy to have the school as a center, instead of the University, which is so far out of the way.

The High school athletic, under the management of Mr. Clark, has been repaired and checking called for processes. The athletics will take in the Ogden game, and the Ogden team is one of the High school the season.

It is undecided whether a High school team will be given next month. The people of Ogden, however, that the team will be given next month. The people of Ogden, however, that the team will be given next month. The people of Ogden, however, that the
